Korean PoWs Threaten To Break Out Of Camps

"WHAT'S A CHAFFEE, DADDY?" little Michael asked his father, Jerry McAuliffe, today after his dad had said :"There's a chaffee, Mike." Rather than explain it, Mr. McAuliffe took his son over to the Chaffee M-24, a tank used during the Second World War. The tank was part of a mobile recruiting unit from the Royal-Canadian Dragoons which was in the city today. Using simple words which young Michael could understand, Cpl. Arthur Honeyust of London (in turret) explains the tank and its uses. The unit will move on to Port Hope Saturday, then to Oshawa and north to Sault Ste. Marie.

Begin Rescue Of 400 Trapped Men

Fire Cuts Off Miners At Work In Bradford Mine

MANCHESTER, Eng. —(CP) —More than 400 miners, trapped underground when a surface fire destroyed the elevator in the main shaft of the Bradford colliery near here, today groped their way to an emergency exit where they waited patiently for rescue.

The only means of bringing them to the surface is a small cage into which they must squeeze six at a time. Mine officials estimated the rescue operation would take five or six hours.

The fire destroyed the winding-house at the top of the main shaft which contains equipment for hauling the elevator to the surface. A coal-laden cage being drawn up at the time hurtled to the bottom of the shaft, but no one was hurt.

The miners made their way to the foot of the small second shaft, where they huddled awaiting their turn at escape. The first group to reach the surface shouted to anxious watchers:

"Everything's okay below."

Eliminate Controls

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to eliminate all remaining "watch-dog" controls on steel, it was learned today. Under existing regulations, steel buyers must show on their order forms the use for which the steel is required. Regulations also call for the industry to keep records on stocks which may be open to government inspection.

Dodgers Release Dressen; Goes To Oakland

BROOKLYN (AP)—Charlie Dressen was given his official release as manager of Brooklyn Dodgers today in order to become manager of the Oakland club in the Pacific Coast League in 1954.

Dressen led Oakland to a Pacific Coast League pennant in 1950 prior to taking over the reins of the Dodgers in 1951. Oakland is not affiliated with the Dodger farm system.

The announcement was made jointly by Dressen and E. J. (Buzzie) Bavazi, vice-president of the Brooklyn club.

Last Wednesday Dressen and the Dodgers split over the length of a new contract.

Dressen demanded a three-year agreement as a reward for leading the Dodgers to two straight National League pennants.

Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, refused to give him more than a one-year contract.

The length of Dressen's contract at Oakland wasn't disclosed immediately but it was learned he had bought into the club.

"I am very happy about it," Dressen said.

Bavasi said the Dodgers also were glad that the situation had been worked out.

"It probably will be a couple of weeks before we have anything concrete on a new manager," Bavasi said.

Peewee Reese, veteran shortstop and captain of the Dodgers, is reported one of the top candidates. Other candidates: Walter Alston, manager of Montreal Royals and Clay Bryant, manager of St. Paul. Both are Dodger farm clubs.

Dressen replaces Augie Galan at Oakland.

No Magic Formula For Peace

Dulles Stresses Way Ahead Hard, Would Ease Tension

LONDON —(AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers resumed their collective search here today for a step-by-step approach toward a solution of cold war problems. Their major task was how to keep a hot war from starting over Trieste.

U.S. State Secretary Dulles, Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Bidault planned three days of conferences in Britain's gray and gloomy foreign office.

Dulles, arriving in London Thursday night, warned they would not produce any "magic formula for peace," but said he was "confident this exchange of views among three friends will advance the cause of world-wide peace and justice."

MANY PROBLEMS

In addition to Trieste, they were to take up their new overture to the Kremlin for Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to discuss Germany and Austria with them, the next moves in Korea and Indo-China and other pressing problems around the globe.

Prime Minister Churchill as expected to inject, through Eden, his proposal for the West's top leaders to meet with Soviet Premier Malenkov. Dulles was ex-

Reds Want Vote On Trieste

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Russia warned the Big Three Thursday night that she will tolerate no decision on disputed Trieste unless the Soviets have a hand in it.

Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky issued the challenge before the 11-nation UN Security Council deliberating a Russian request that the council try again to set up an international administration for both zones of the Adriatic territory and give it independence.

The warning obviously was aimed at the U. S., British and French foreign ministers meeting in London today with the explosive Trieste issue high on their agenda.

CHURCHILL INTERVENES

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today personally urged French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to work for parliamentary approval of the six-nation European Defence Community (EDC) project this year.

Indian Troops Withdrawn, Cancel Explanation

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Thousands of impassioned North Korean prisoners threatened to break out of compounds in the Korean neutral zone today, forcing cancellation of the second day of Red attempts to woo them back to Communism. The Indian custodian command said it withdrew a battalion preparing to force 500 PoWs to hear Red interviewers after 2,000 massed North Koreans armed with clubs got set to break out of nearby compounds at the first sign of violence.

"Korean prisoners in all compounds of enclosure G were drawn up in neat rows with the front rank of men stripped to the waist and ready with clubs to scale or break through the barbed wire fencing on signal," the Indian command said.

RISK OF CASUALTIES

"In another compound, the fence poles were being loosened to crash through the wire fencing," the statement added.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission called off the scheduled explanations to 1,000 North Koreans after Maj.-Gen. S. P. P. Thorat, the Indian commander, reported that to use force in such a explosive situation "would undoubtedly result in heavy casualties."

WILL PROTEST

Meanwhile, some official UN observers indicated they would protest if the prisoners were dragged forcibly before Red explainers.

For the time being, the Indians gave up trying to budge the frenzied North Koreans from their stockades. The NNRC announced that instead of North Koreans, 1,000 Chinese would be interviewed Saturday.

Thursday, the Indian command congratulated its troops on winning a battle of wills after 500 angry Chinese were persuaded to attend Red explanations. But today the battle went to the prisoners, North Koreans this time.

"We've done all the appealing we can," said Indian Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya.

He said the neutral nations repatriation commission, of which he is chairman, would consider how to enforce its rule that the PoWs must attend the interviews. The rule was backed by the Reds, but strongly opposed by the Allies.

Thimayya said the commission is empowered to use force if necessary.

As soon as the guards withdrew, the North Korean PoWs triumphantly marched from their tents singing and waving flags. Thimayya said they later began digging trenches between the tents.

Red explainers and Allied and neutral observers were asked to return at 8 a.m. Saturday.

The Reds asked that Chinese PoWs be sent to Saturday's explanations, presumably in hopes of meeting less resistance.

Drag 4 Pickets From Line In Plant Fracas

HAMILTON (CP)—Four more strikers were dragged struggling from the picket line before the Wallace Barnes works here today as a double phalanx of police provided protection for several carloads of workers as they entered the plant.

As tempers flared and tension increased, several hundred spectators, lined on the opposite sidewalk, taunted police and shouted to the strikers to overturn workers' cars.

At one time the mass of strikers broke order and dashed along Sherman avenue to the nearby railroad crossing where a passing freight train had halted several cars. Police dashed after them as the strikers sought to form a picket line across the avenue.

The strikers, members of local 520, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers, today concentrated their pickets at the main gate, leaving almost unguarded the side gate through which workers had fought their way into the plant Thursday, with police protection.

Cars carrying workers had all doors locked and squeezed, with little trouble, between the lines of police backing hard against the surging pickets.

The arrests were made after strikers argued with police about tactics. One striker swung wildly with his feet at an officer as police pushed the strikers back. He was rushed to a waiting patrol wagon by seven policemen, carrying him bodily.

Using a public address system Ross Russell, regional organizer for UE appealed to the police to allow the strikers to exercise "their legitimate rights to speak to approaching workers."

By 8 o'clock the excitement had died down, and pickets from other plants were told they could go back to work.

Union sources this morning said that fewer workers got through than on Thursday. Six cars passed the picket line.

Declares Seaway No Disadvantage To U.S. Interests

NEW YORK (CP)—There is no evidence that the St. Lawrence seaway would bring disadvantages to the United States, Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian co-chairman of the international joint commission, said today.

He told the Engineers' Council for Professional Development, in an address prepared for delivery, that Canada has no wish to deny the use of river facilities to the U. S.

Dealing with impending court challenges to the project in the U. S., Gen. McNaughton said it seems to Canadians that "every conceivable argument" against the development already has been answered fully.

START IN SPRING

As a result, he added, Canadian authorities are proceeding with preparations to launch the work. He expressed the hope this will go on as soon as the ice is out of the river in the spring.

Gen. McNaughton expressed the view the seaway development will have a beneficial effect on the level of water in Lake Ontario, which has been destructively high in recent years.

Regulating works to be built in connection with the seaway, he said, will for the first time enable the commission to control the water levels both upstream and downstream from the power and navigation works.

Israel Accused Of Aggression

JERUSALEM (AP)—The U. N.-sponsored mixed armistice commission has accused Israel of aggression in connection with an attack on three border Jordan villages in which 46 Arabs were reported killed and 15 wounded.

In a resolution adopted Thursday night, the commission censured the Tel Aviv administration and declared Israeli authorities should "take immediately the most vigorous measures to prevent a recurrence."

Jordan charged a battalion of Israeli troops attacked the villages, near Latrun about 15 miles northwest of Jerusalem, Wednesday night.

UN observers were quoted as saying that the attack was thought to be "in retaliation for the killing of a Jewish woman and her two children."

Find Girl's Body In Ditch Police Seek Identity Clue

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP)—Police today sought to identify a nude brunette found dead in a roadside ditch Thursday. The girl, about 17 or 18, had been stabbed to death and is believed to have been tossed from a car. Police said this morning they have no idea who she was.

Dale Hutts, 15-year-old farm boy, found the body while cycling to a store on an errand for his mother.

He spotted the dead girl lying in the ditch beside a road skirting his father's farm. The ditch was half a mile south of Dixon's Corners, a hamlet eight miles north of this St. Lawrence river town and about 35 miles southwest of Cornwall.

Shortly after young Hutts found the body, he was joined by farmer William Hall, Morrisburg district farmer who was passing in a buggy. Hall and Hutts went on to Dixon's Corners and phoned police.

Inspector J. Reavy, head of the Ontario Provincial Police detachment at Cornwall, described the victim as a "very attractive" girl of slim build.

The bruised body had numerous stab wounds and what appeared to to a bullet wound, police said.

Investigators expressed belief the body was thrown into the ditch within an hour of the time it was found.

Residents of Dixon's Corners said they had never before seen the girl.

Arthur Johnston, postmaster and operator of the village's general store, said no one in the community saw anything suspicious during the afternoon.

Inspector Thomas Wright was sent from the provincial police criminal investigation branch in Toronto to take charge of the investigation. Arrangements were made for Dr. I. Hay, Queen's University pathologist, to conduct a post-mortem examination.

Big Development In Scarboro

TORONTO — (CP) —Suburban Scarboro township has a $150,000,000 industrial development which it expects will develop into $500,000,000 value by 1963.

The development began in 1948 and one of the largest factories, an electrical appliance plant, is valued at $15,000,000. The company has 86 acres and says it's going to expand.

About 1,000 homes for workers are being built every month on the township's rapidly-disappearing farmland.

Nine Killed In Train Crash

LYON, France (Reuters)—Nine persons were killed and 14 seriously injured today when a speeding locomotive crashed into a crowded passenger train standing in a station near here.

A baby was found unharmed in the arms of his dead mother. The bodies of two men and four women were recovered from the debris and three other victims died in hospital.

The locomotive turned turtle after hurling three passenger cars off the track.

Swerve To Miss Car 7 Soldiers Injured

TRENTON (CP)—Seven soldiers were injured today when their station wagon swerved to miss a car loaded with children and overturned in a farmer's field near here.

Names of the injured and extent of their injuries were not immediately available. All were from a gunnery school at Picton, 25 miles east of here. They were brought to hospital at Trenton.

Red Beachhead In Guatemala

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.) said today "communism has established a strong beachhead in Guatemala" and has taken root to "considerable extent" elsewhere in Latin America.

Wiley, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, in an address prepared for a luncheon meeting of the City Club here, said one way to assure the continued security of the United States is to make sure "that we do not overlook our own backyard, our own hemisphere."

He said a foreign relations subcommittee will shortly issue a study of the world-wide strength of the Communist party, country by country.

"This study," he continued, "will indicate the considerable extent to which communism has unfortunately taken root practically right 'under our own noses' in this hemisphere."

Grandmother 72, Lands 40-Pound Trout

FORT WILLIAM (CP) — Mrs. Mary Legault, a 72-year-old grandmother, Wednesday landed a 40-pound lake trout, the largest one taken this year in district waters.

Mrs. Legault was trolling in Lake Superior off Rossport, 115 miles east of here, when she hooked the trout.

The fish was the third largest lake trout caught off Rossport by trolling. The largest trout registered—41½ pounds—was caught by the late M. J. MacDonald on July 17, 1938.

In 1950, Victor Cucci of Montevideo, Minn., caught the second largest trout, 40 pounds, 12 ounces.

Floods Batter Southern Europe

LONDON (Reuters)—Cloudbursts and floods Thursday caused the deaths of 23 persons and blocked roads and flooded towns in Spain, Italy and France.

Twenty-two persons were killed when a bus crashed into a road obstruction caused by floods near San Sebastian, Spain.

The driver and four other passengers escaped, while the wrecked bus was carried away by the torrent.

An Italian airman was crushed to death by a falling wall near La Spezia, as violent cloudbursts drenched the northwest Italian coast. The Via Aurelia, main highway from the French border to Rome, was closed by four landslides.

In southern France, heavy rain flooded main roads, some to a depth of three feet.

Doubt Soviet Will Accept

Deep Freeze Continues On Conference Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Diplomatic sources expressed doubt today that the Russians would accept an anticipated renewal of the Western bid for a Big Four conference to discuss reunification of Germany and an Austrian independence treaty.

As far as they could make out, these diplomats said, there still is a "deep freeze" on East-West relations in the Soviet Union. They think the Kremlin is not particularly anxious to talk now at any level, particularly at the top, as Britain's Prime Minister Churchill has been suggesting.

The attitude of the Soviet press lately seems to bear out this feeling. Impatient with the idea of a Big Four meeting on Germany and Austria alone, the press has been all but saying outright that the Soviet Union wants the next talks to cover all world tensions.

This would involve Western acceptance of Communist China at the conference table and the discussion of such topics as a Far East settlement and Japanese rearmament.

In a Sept. 29 reply to a previous Western note, the Soviets suggested two conferences:

1. A five-nation meeting of the United States, Britain, France, Russia and Communist China to discuss the lessening of "tensions in international relations."

2. A Big Four parley of the three Western powers and the Soviet Union on the German problem. The Austrian question, this note said, could be discussed through "regular diplomatic channels."

"Terrific" Tourist Year Reported

Ontario, Quebec Expect To Set Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

More visitors than ever before flocked into Canada this year, exchanging better than one-quarter of a billion dollars for a holiday at a wide variety of resorts and cities.

Tourist operators report a "terrific" year, particularly in Quebec and Ontario where records for the volume of tourist traffic and revenue are expected to be established before the year's end.

The industry was "spotty" in the Maritimes but New Brunswick's parks, lakes, rivers and seashore attracted record numbers with more money to spend than in previous years.

In the west, figures are incomplete but British Columbia reported entries in greater numbers and higher spending than last year.

In the first eight months of the year 1,854,792 automobiles entered from the United States. The cars were in Canada more than 48 hours. The number compared with 1,753,278 in a similar period last year. The number of persons involved was about 6,000,000 and they stayed an average of 4.62 days.

This flow was swelled by 200,277 entering from the U.S. by train up to the beginning of July, down slightly from the 220,877 recorded in that period last year. Another 116,046 came by bus against 141,406 last year, 67,821 by boat against 54,948 last year and 91,129 by plane against 76,655 last year.

To these entries were added about 22,000 who came to Canada from overseas and an estimated 16,000 overseas visitors who entered Canada from the U.S.

The Canadian government travel bureau estimates that visitors from the U.S. will spend $257,000,000 by the year's end, equal to the peak spending of 1948 and 1949. The overseas tourists are expected to spend about $18,000,000.

This is the way the provinces report the tourist picture:

ONTARIO

Officials expect 1953 to be the eighth consecutive year of record revenues. They expect spending to hit $225,000,000 compared with $222,000,000 last year.

More automobiles—1,158,199—entered the province up to Sept. 1 than ever before. August entries of 355,617 also were a record, five per cent higher than in August, 1952. The estimated 4,000,000 persons staying more than 48 hours found only a few places where U.S. funds were worth less than Canadian dollars.

The average of 3.5 persons per car stayed an average of six days and spent about $166.

By the year's end, entries by rail are expected to reach 200,000, by bus 300,000, by boat 125,000 and by air 70,000.

More than half the U.S. visitors were sightseers and motor tourists. One-fifth of them headed for Ontario's fishing resorts. About 375,000 non-resident fishing licences are issued yearly in the province.

QUEBEC

Tourist traffic is estimated at 4,657,500 for the year compared with 4,500,000 in 1952. Average spending is estimated at $35.19 against $34 last year. Total spending is expected to total $158,355,000 against $153,000,000 last year.

Quebec City's old-world atmosphere appears to have been the main attraction. The city estimates it catered to 169,114 tourists compared with 163,395 last year. Average spending there is estimated at $27.17 against $26.25 last year. Total spending by visitors is estimated at $31,607,984 compared with $30,539,115 last year.

About one-fifth of Quebec City's visitors came from other provinces while the remaining visitors were from the U.S.

NEW BRUNSWICK

The $1,500,000 value of last year's tourist industry is expected to be topped this year, establishing a record. In the first seven months of the year, the province reports 82,086 U.S. cars entered the province, five-per-cent higher than last year.

These figures do not include the heavy influx from other provinces or entries by train, bus, boat and plane for which figures are not available. Nor does it include the August figures, usually the highest of the year.

Visitors to Fundy National Park and the province's lakes, rivers and seashore spent an estimated $80 each.

NOVA SCOTIA

A moderate increase is expected this year over the 400,000 visitors in Nova Scotia between June and September. The value to the industry is estimated at $29,000,000 with the average tourist spending between $7 and $8 a day.

Visitors are almost evenly divided between Canadians from other provinces and Americans. They headed for the beaches and for hunting lodges and fishing camps inland and on the coast. Cape Breton island was a big attraction, particularly Cape Breton National Park and the Cabot trail.

P.E.I. AND NEWFOUNDLAND

P.E.I. expects a seven-per-cent increase in the 80,000 tourists who visited the island last year.

The visitors were expected to spend about $5,000,000, an increase of about $200,000 over last year. Warm sea bathing, fishing and the countryside attracted the visitors.

Newfoundland doesn't compile tourist figures but there are indications that the number of fishermen and hunters entering the province is increasing. Officials say better highways and an increase in the number of hotels are a necessity before the province can handle a big tourist influx.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Up to the end of August, 618,000 tourists entered the province, a five-per-cent increase over entries for the full year 1952. Entries by automobile rose to 206,000 from 195,000.

The value of the industry is estimated in the first eight months of the year to be between four-and-five-per-cent higher than the $63,000,000 in 1952. These increases were recorded despite poor weather in June.

ALBERTA

In the first seven months of the year, 38,581 automobiles entered the province from the United States almost nine-per-cent higher than for a similar period last year.

The number of visitors entering national parks totalled 678,365 in the seven-month period, a 2-per-cent increase. In the full year of 1952, entries totalled 1,027,766.

Banff reported entries of 274,341, Waterton 111,694 and Jasper 67,099. Elk Island Park, 30 miles east of Edmonton, had more than twice as many entries as last year at 125,231.

SASKATCHEWAN

In the first seven months of the year, automobile entries from the U.S. rose to 25,011 from 23,970 in a similar period last year. In the first six months, train entries from the U.S. rose to 3,616 from 3,514, and bus and plane visitor increased.

Most of the visitors, including unrecorded numbers entering from other provinces, fished, vacationed in national and provincial parks or visited relatives.

Reports for Manitoba have not yet been completed.

Bar Press At Next A-Test

Second Blast Will Take Place Shortly

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — The press and outside observers will be barred from Britain's next "major" atomic explosion at Emu field in the South Australian desert, it was announced here today.

Prime Minister Robert Menzies said after the blast Thursday at Woomera range that the next test was due "shortly."

No one in Australia beyond the proving ground will know another test has been held until Menzies announces it—or someone sees the huge mushroom could boil up out of the desert.

It is known that scientists must spend a number of days gathering data on Thursday's explosion.

Menzies told the House of Representatives today that he had not yet received a report on the big boom Thursday, but "you can be quite satisfied on the question of the safety of the people of Australia, and that there has been no danger."

Menzies received a congratulatory message today from Britain's Prime Minister Churchill on Australia's part in Thursday's test.

The cable said: "I have learned with keen interest that the first of this year's atomic tests has been carried through successfully. The assistance of the Australian government has been invaluable and success could not have been achieved without the closest collaboration between our experts. Thank you so much for your help."

French Pressing Big Offensive In Indo-China

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—French forces, pressing their first big offensive against Vietminh Communist rebels in two years, today landed commando units behind enemy lines in the second phase of a nutcracker operation. Thursday land forces jumped off near Ninh Binh 50 miles south of here in a drive against 35,000 to 50,000 Vietminh believed massed on the central Viet Nam plateau. Today's landings, carried out in a misty drizzle, were at Cape Rond, 50 miles south of Thanhoa at the extreme southern tip of the Red river delta.

The shock troops swarmed onto the red sandy beaches from hundreds of fishing junks. French warships stood offshore, but their guns did not fire as the troops hastily collected their equipment and pushed through flooded rice paddies toward the tree-clad foothills of the plateau.

OTHER LANDINGS

Other French and Viet Nam units landed Thursday farther up the coast at Phat Diem and pressed inland in a diversionary operation.

French Army spokesmen said that so far little resistance had developed. The main force pushing south in the Ninh Binh area has crossed its first natural obstacle, a limestone ridge, and now is pressing against another hill position.

"The Vietminh so far have failed to launch any counter-attack," a spokesman said.

With the Vietminh holding back, the attackers' main enemies were steamy heat and rugged terrain.

Tanks, guns, trucks and ambulances choked the red roads running from Hanoi to the battle area as the French and their Viet Nam Allies broke out from the defence ring they established last year in the fertile delta.

THREE OBJECTIVES

Observers here said the offensive had three aims:

1. To disorganize Vietminh rebel preparations for an autumn offensive against the Hanoi area.

2. To stop supplies reaching the rebels by sea from Communist China.

3. To try to destroy the crack Communist 304th and 320th divisions concentrated in the area.

Maurice Dejean, French commissioner-general in Indo - China, said Thursday night France is committed to a "fight not talk" policy.

Gambling Casino Officer Shot

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A gambling casino's special officer was fatally shot Thursday night, police reported, by a youth who first seriously wounded a cocktail waitress because she would not sit down at a table with him.

Special officer Lester F. Thomas, 47, died in a hospital an hour after receiving a .25 calibre pistol wound in the head.

Dale Lee Sollars, 21, whose address was not immediately determined, was booked at the city jail on suspicion of attempted murder.

Police said he asked Mrs. Jean McColl, 22, the attractive waitress, to sit down at the table with him. When she refused, he started firing. She was wounded in an arm and the back.

Officer Thomas fired once before being shot.

To Buy U.S. Jets For New Carrier

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is planning to place orders in the United States for Banshee jet fighters to equip the new Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure, it was learned Thursday.

The Bonaventure is not expected to replace the carrier Magnificent until late in 1956 by the Fleet Air Arm is expected to start conversion to jets late next year. The Fleet Air Arm now uses propellor-driven Seafury fighters and anti-submarine Avengers.

It is believed the navy will require about 60 jets—25 aboard the carrier, 25 in support at Dartmouth, N.S., and another 10 for trainers. Total cost would probably be more than $20,000,000.

Government officials said the Banshee has been flying off U.S. carriers in Korean waters for two years and that its early kinks have been worked out. A purchase order would have to be placed shortly to have at least some jets on hand when the pilots start conversion.

Must Work Together Reuther Stresses

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 600 delegates to the 17th annual convention of the International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) held closing usiness sessions today after hearing a keynote address by the leader of their parent organization.

Walter Reuther, president of the giant Congress of Industrial Organizations, told the convention Wednesday that the peoples of the Free World must prove their ability to "harness the tools of industry and progress to give mankind freedom and bread."

Both labor and management must work together in developing a distribution system geared to match the world's expanding production, he said.

The Free World must solve the problem of obtaining full employment and full production in peacetime or perish.

HISTORIC CHANGE

The Gregorian calendar devised by Pope Gregory in 1582 was adopted by England in 1752.

Electric Power Project Urged

TRURO, N. S. (CP)—A union official thinks electric power development may some day provide a steady market for millions of tons of Maritime coal.

Stephen Dolhanty, vice-president of district 26, United Mine Workers (CCL) made the prediction at a union convention Thursday.

He said Nova Scotia collieries now supply about 600,000 tons yearly to steam-electric generating plants. If the province produced all the power it could use, 2,000,000 tons would be needed.

Experts forecast that in 15 to 25 years a hydro power shortage would require steam generation sufficient to double present coal consumption.

Cyclist Hits Door Of Car

A youthful cyclist, Douglas Lummis, 12, of R.R. 3, Peterborough, suffered a cut head and bruises when he ran into the door of a car Thursday afternoon.

William E. Larmer, 55, of Toronto, was pulling away from his parking spot on the east curb of George St. just north of the CPR tracks. Lummis hit the left front door of the car and the impact threw him to the road.

Four stitches were needed to close the wound in the boy's head. He was treated at the Peterborough Clinic by Dr. R. K. Magee. Constable Bert Howden investigated.

Bus Forced Off Road, 2 Hurt, 13 Shaken Up

BANCROFT (ENS)—Two passengers were slightly hurt and 13 others received a shaking-up when a bus proceeding from Toronto to Pembroke left the road on Highway 62, four miles west of Combermere, at 7.20 p.m. Tuesday evening.

The two injured men were David Mathieson, 66, of Deep River, and Charles Sanders, 70, of Pembroke. Both received rib injuries and Sanders also sustained a lacerated temple. They were treated by Dr. L. Roy, of Barrys Bay.

The driver of the bus, Dennis L. Acreman, of Peterborough, complained that his vehicle was forced off the road by a small English car. Bancroft OPP investigated the accident.

City To Repair Damaged Rip-Rap Facing

Crescent St., rip-rap at Little Lake is to be repaired by the board of works as soon as possible, as recommended by the finance committee of the council.

"Several spots in that bank will get a lot worse if they are not soon attended to," said Ald. H. T. Rehill.

This work was mentioned in a letter to the council by Mrs. Robina Paquette, 199 Crescent St. She also suggested that the jetty opposite the end of Lock St. should not be used as a swimming place. There was no accommodation for undressing, it was not intended for swimmers, and is a nuisance to the people on one of the finest streets in the country, Crescent overlooking the lake.

CONDITIONS IMPROVED

Mrs. Paquette complimented the authorities on the reported progress in improving the condition of the water. Growth of reeds require some dredging, and altogether the council should maintain the lake in the best condition possible as a asset to the whole city.

Ald. J. A. Dewart, chairman of the board of health, said "we have had fine co-operation from individuals in trying to clean up Jackson Park creek, and we are expecting from Dr. Berry of Toronto a report on the investigation of sources of pollution of the lake."

ASSUMED BY CITY

It was reecalled that the city assumed the responsibility of maintaining the rip-rap facing which was constructed by the federal government during the depression years.

As to the cause of disrepair, Ald. Rehill said that probably some of the stones of which the wall is built were pulled out. "Maintenance will be money well spent," he remarked.

As to swimming from the jetty, that item in Mrs. Paquette's letter was not considered pressing as an October concern, and was letf over for next summer.

Urges Raising Of Rates For Advertising

MONTREAL (CP) — Newspapers were urged by an advertising executive Thursday to increase their advertising rates.

The suggestion was made by Walter D. Hogue, director of advertising for Procter and Gamble Limited, at the annual meeting of the Newspaper Advertising Managers' Association of Eastern Canada.

Mr. Hogue said that with newspapers running up to 64 pages and over the effectiveness of individual newspaper advertisements is falling.

"The reader these days has no more time to spend with a newspaper than formerly," he said. "In fact modern life gives the average reader less and less time to spend with a single issue of a paper."

"So with less time for the reader and greater advertising lineages there is lower readership and less effectiveness per ad."

Mr. Hogue advised newspapers to raise their rates until lineages get down to "a reasonable size and so that each ad stands a better chance for readership."

He said newspapers will inevitably lose national business to other media unless able to show greater effectiveness. He urged advertising executives to sell their services more effectively.

Indian Troops

"I firmly do believe that if we had the Chinese today, they would have come quite easily," Thimayya told reporters.

It took seven hours Thursday to pry the first 500 Chinese prisoners from their compounds for the opening interview sessions. The prisoners did most of the talking and all but 10 refused to rejoin communism in a stinging rebuke to the Reds.

Thimayya said Maj.-Gen. S.P.P. Thorat, the Indian troop commander, would try to meet with the PoW leaders.

Thimayya said the commission met briefly this afternoon, but put off a decision on how to force the North Koreans from their compounds.

A commission spokesman said two anti-Red Chinese who attended Thursday's explanations and returned safely to their compounds were sent into the stockade to allay the fears of the North Koreans, but they still refused to budge.

Stork Winning Over GE Firm

NEW YORK (AP)—The stork was winning today over the General Electric Co.

The company thought it would be nice to give five shares of stock to any baby born to a GE employee Thursday on the firm's 75th anniversary.

A bachelor who cooked up the idea figured there would be a dozen or so lucky children, but by today company accountants had tallied 118—with more to be reported.

That means the company must fork out more than $47,000 in stock.

"And the west coast hasn't been heard from yet," said a company spokesman, a bit desperately.

Bancroft Man Jailed Year For Breakins

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Reginald Tippin of Hespeler Thursday was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary for a series of garage break-ins in this district.

George Coe of Bancroft was sentenced to 12 months in jail and Leslie Keeley of Galt to six months on similar charges. The trio had pleaded guilty to the charges earlier and appeared in court Thursday for sentence.

Say Testimony On Radar Secrets Soon

NEW YOK (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) says he expects "complete testimony" to arrive today from the mysterious German scientist who is reported to have said the Russians told him they had access to secret radar data at Fort Montmouth, N.J.

The scientist, not identified, was said to have fled from East Germany into the western zone of Berlin more than a year ago and to have talked to U.S. Air Force intelligence officers.

In Germany Thursday, an air force spokesman said they were "baffled" by McCarthy's statement and had no information about the case.

TO CALL SCIENTIST

But McCarthy concluded his permanent Senate investigations subcommittee session Thursday night with the assertion that the refugee scientist's full testimony would get here today. The Senator said the scientist ultimately will be called as a witness before his committee.

Among witnesses scheduled to testify today in closed hearings are Maj.-Gen. Kirke Lawton, commandant at Ft. Monmouth, and Maj.-Gen. George I. Back, head of the army Signal Corps.

The sub-committee has been probing into possible Communist subversion by civilian employees at the vital radar defence centre at Ft. Monmouth.

Among names introduced during Thursday's day and evening hearings were those of Morton Sobell, serving 30 years in prison for his part in the Julius and Ethel Rosenberg atom spy plot, and David Greenglass, Ethel's brother, whose testimony helped send the Rosenbergs to the electric chair.

TELL OF SOBELL

McCarthy said several witnesses brought up by the name of Sobell, an electrical engineer who once worked at Ft. Monmouth. Rosenberg worked for the Signal Corps in New York until fired for being a Communist.

The senator said one witness pictured Rosenberg and Sobell as asking him repeatedly to become part of a Ft. Monmouth espionage ring. He refused, but did join the Communist party.

McCarthy said further testimony disclosed that Sobell, fired from the radar centre frequently was a visitor to Ft. Monmouth and had "friends" in the laboratory there.

McCarthy said the name of Greenglass, serving 15 years in prison; "has come into the picture at least a dozen times during taking of testimony here."

McCarthy said he expected to visit the Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary "as soon as possible" and talk with Greenglass.

No Magic

pected to look on this British idea with a wary eye.

Dulles Thursday night emphasized his view that the way to peace is through "continuing painstaking efforts to deal concretely with actual complicated situations which could become the starting points of war."

The current meeting, he said, "is part of that continuing process."

Bidault, arriving hours later from Paris, also said: "We mustn't expect any spectacular results from this meeting."

WANT NO DRAMA

Both men—and informants close to them confirmed this—obviously were more intent on specific ways of dousing brush fires around the world than upon making any dramatic new gesture to the Kremlin.

There were numerous suggestions of what might keep peace in Trieste, where the British-American decision last week to turn their occupation zone A over to Italy brought a threat from Yugoslavia's President Tito to move in his own troops from zone B which they already occupy. Some of the ideas reported under consideration:

1. Delay withdrawal of the Anglo-American forces from zone A;

2. Try to persuade Italy to send only police, not troops, into zone A, and then try to get Tito's agreement;

3. Agree to Tito's proposal for a conference of Italy, Yugoslavia, Britain and the United States, with France a possible fifth attendant.

TAKE SOME DOING

Presumably such a conference would require considerable arranging. In Rome Thursday Premier Giuseppe Pella told the Big Three's ambassadors Italy would take part in the get-together when she and Yugoslavia were on "equal terms"—with Italy in zone A, or with Yugoslav troops out of zone B.

And at the United Nations Thursday night chief Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky, pressing a Russian resolution for an internationalized, independent Trieste, warned that the Soviet Union would not tolerate any Trieste arrangement in which Russia didn't have a hand.

Before taking up Trieste, the ministers were expected to approve the draft of their newest note to Russia. It is reported to propose that Molotov meet them in Lugano, Switzerland, about Nov. 9 to discus Germany and Austria.

From Moscow, however, it was reported that diplomatic sources there expressed grave doubts the Kremlin would accept the bid.

Dulles dined Thursday night with Churchill at No. 10 Downing street and Bidault was invited there for lunch today. Presumably the 78-year-old statesman was pressing on them his proposal for talks with Russia's Premier Malenkov.

Police Re-open Boy's Grave

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The lime-filled grave of kidnap victim Bobby Greenlease was re-opened today, but officers found nothing to indicate another body had been buried there.

John Downs, prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county, directed that the grave at St. Joseph, Mo., be re-opened on the chance that they might find the body of Tom Marsh, an ex-convict first named by one of the kidnappers as the slayer of the Greenlease boy in the $600,000 kidnapping.

Carl Austin Hall, 34, and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, 41, have confessed they committed the crime, and buried the boy's body in the yard of the woman's home at St. Joseph, 60 miles northwest of here.

Marsh, later absolved by Hall and Mrs. Heady, has not been located.

Find Prices Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were higher in early afternoon stock market trading today.

Industrials led the rise with a gain of more than two points. Western oils and base metals each gained more than a point and golds were up less than a half point. Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals were about the same as Thursday.

In industrials almost all groups gained, with retail stores, steels, refining oils and manufactures in the lead.

Western oils were stronger, following the pattern established earlier in the week. Base metals also gained in both seniors and juniors. Uraniums and New Brunswick base metals showed little change as activity was slight.

Golds were up mostly in seniors as McIntyre was the principal gainers. Juniors and holding companies showed a few slight gains.

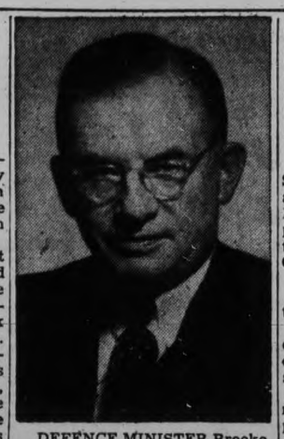
Independence Indo-China Cry

SAIGON, Indo-China (Reuters)—A national congress summoned by Bao Dai, head of the Viet Nam state, today called for complete independence from France, with no strings attached.



Bao Dai, ex-emperor of Viet Nam, one of the three associated states of Indo-China, called the congress to determine what degree of independence it should seek in future negotiations with France.

The congress, made up of religious and political representatives of Viet Nam's three provinces, unanimously favored the principle of "total independence." France has already indicated willingness to negotiate on these lines not only with Viet Nam, but with the states of Laos and Cambodia.

The congress called for a mutual aid alliance with France, but said that all treaties signed by the Viet Nam government should be ratified by a freely elected national assembly on a basis of universal suffrage.

PoW Gets Home Finds Wife Red

GLOUCESTER, England (AP)—Sgt. Donald Lee of the British army, who fought off 11 months of Red brain-washing in a Korean prison camp, came home this week to find his young wife had turned Communist.

Lee told reporters Thursday: "After a quiet all-night chat, I think I've talked her out of it."

"I don't admit he's talked me out of my views," retorted 23-year-old Maureen Lee. "I don't feel so strongly about them now, though."

Mrs. Lee said she received a number of Communist books and pamphlets by mail from Russia after her husband was captured. Included were "photographs of tortured women" and alleged proof of American "warmongering."

"I know the Americans, I was with them," said Lee. "They hate war as much as we do."

Lee said he was forced to undergo hours of Communist lectures in prison camp and "I got into trouble for writing rude answers in a question book they gave me."

GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemala's congress approved a Communist-sponsored resolution Thursday night calling for an "energetic protest" against "criminal aggression by imperialist troops" in British Guiana. It also asked the other American republics to "express indignation" over Britain's current crackdown on British Guiana's leftist Popular Progressive Party accused of plotting to take over the colony for the Communists.

PAINTING TO QUEEN — A painting by Montreal artist William Goodridge Roberts was presented to the Queen at Buckingham Palace. The subject of the painting—Port Au Persil, a hamlet on the mountainous shore of the St. Lawrence River—is calculated to remind the Queen of her Canadian visit in 1951. The painting was presented by Air Vice-Marshal George Eric Brookes on behalf of the RCAF Association.

Continue Drive For Scholarships

MONTREAL (CP)—The 38,500-member National Federation of Canadian University Students today voted to continue their campaign for federal scholarships.

Some 55 delegates attending the final day of the federation's annual meeting voted to "continue and if possible increase" their campaign for the grants to university students, recommended by the Massey commission.

McGill, Laval and Bishop's universities and Sir George Williams College abstained from the vote on the grounds that the campaign might prejudice reception to a brief they intend to present to the provincial government.

The Quebec government has forbidden universities in this province to accept federal grants and several of the universities have protested that they are losing subsidies that would make unnecessary recent increases in university fees.

Fight Communism

COLOMBO, Ceylon (Reuters)—Sir John Kotelawala, new prime minister of Ceylon, told the nation Thursday that one of his main tasks will be to stamp out communism on the island.

Illegitimacy Declines In Ontario

According to the latest official report of the Registrar-General of Ontario (already outdated, be it noted, for it covers the year 1951) the rate of illegitimate births to legitimate births in this Province has declined to the lowest in a quarter of a century. In 1951 only 33.2 births in every thousand live births were illegitimate. Absolutely, too, the rate of illegitimacy has declined, despite the increased population and births. All told in Ontario during that year there were only 3,807 births recorded out of wedlock. There has been a constant decline in the rate of illegitimacy since the war ended. The rate was highest in 1945, when 51.5 illegitimate births were recorded in every thousand live births.

* * *

Illegitimacy in Peterborough is not common. There were only 33 children born out of wedlock (according to the records) in this city during 1951, compared with 1,038 legitimate births. This makes Peterborough a completely average town. Incidentally, the majority of illegitimate births in the Province occur to mothers under 25 years of age.

* * *

While we are on this subject, we wish to recall with gratification that since recent changes in recording methods were made, a person born out of wedlock no longer goes through life having to bear the stigma of illegitimacy on his birth certificate. Whether a person is born in or out of wedlock is not his doing and he should not suffer favour or fault because of it.

Opera Comes To Peterborough

One of the pleasantest incidents of the spring was the visit to Peterborough of the Royal Conservatory Opera, under the auspices of the local Rotary Club. Cosi Fan Tutte was well presented to two filled houses and this was, so far as we have been able to discover, the first time that a Mozart opera had ever been performed in this city. It was a great success, and we are glad that the Rotary Club has arranged to bring the Conservatory Opera back again so soon. We hope that these visits will become annual events.

This time the company will perform two short operas, La Serva Padrona by Pergolesi, and The Old Maid and the Thief by Gian Carlo Menotti. Taken together they should provide a delightful evening. The first is a wonderfully tuneful and funny piece, better known in Europe than on this continent, where one-act operas are a rarity. Pergolesi's music will appeal to anyone who enjoys the graceful fun of the eighteenth century. La Serva Padrona is one of his lesser works in size, but it is plainly the music of a master. Pergolesi died of consumption before he was twenty-seven, but the music which he wrote during his brief lifetime is filled with individuality, wit and melody. We look forward eagerly to La Serva Padrona in this city.

Menotti has made a great name for himself in comparatively few years; two of his shorter operas, The Telephone and The Medium enjoyed a success in New York comparable to that of a musical comedy—a rare thing in the world of opera. Last season the Conservatory Opera gave a fine presentation of his tragic work, The Consul. The Menotti opera which is to be seen here, The Old Maid and The Thief, is comic in spirit, modern in setting and idiom.

In the Conservatory Opera we have our own Canadian singers who bring opera to our door at prices comparable to other entertainments. They give excellent performances not only of the works in the standard repertoire, but also of such out-of-the-way pieces as those we are to hear on October 23 and 24. They deserve our support, and we are able to support them without putting our critical sense to sleep. We repeat, we are glad to see them back again, and we hope that they may visit Peterborough often.

Diplomacy On Wings

A rock is thrown in Trieste and the sound is immediately heard in Washington. Telephone lines buzz between Washington, Paris and London, and in a few hours the American Secretary of State is on a plane for a conference in London with the British Foreign Secretary and the French Foreign Minister.

The Trieste situation and the London conference show how quick have become the means of communication and the methods of travel. News carries around the world faster than it did from Aix to Ghent, and the old days have gone when Foreign Ministers conferred only after months of preparation and a week of grouse shooting on the spot as a warming-up period. While the London three-power conference may not have been whipped up as quickly as the news from Trieste makes it seem, it is certainly a record for speedy assembly, insofar as the public is aware.

When talk and travel between nations is now so quick and easy the wonder is that talk between East and West and travel between Moscow and London or Washington is slower and more difficult than it was in the days of the travelling Czars. Perhaps because of grouses in Moscow instead of grouse in the coppices.

Curious Award To Churchill

Honours have been heaped in the most lavish manner upon Sir Winston Churchill, and there are few laurels in his wreath which anyone would wish to take from him. Nevertheless we were astonished that the Swedish Academy should grant him the Nobel Prize for Literature; Sir Winston is a very eminent man who is also a fine writer; we question whether his eminence as a writer would have won him a Nobel Prize if he had not also been a great world figure.

It is by no means easy to estimate Churchill's quality as a writer. He has created for himself a sonorous style which derives heavily from the historian Gibbon; he has written notable works of history in this style, and they have been eagerly read. But is it as an historian or a stylist that Churchill has been given this prize? His history of the war cannot, in the nature of things, be the final word on that subject, for it is frankly partisan. Further, a great part of it is composed of documents which Churchill did not write. The worth of the book is unquestioned, but is it a work of history in the same sense as, for instance, the works of G. M. Trevelyan?

Sir Winston was awarded this prize which would otherwise have gone to one of two fine creative writers, Ernest Hemingway and Halldor Laxness. We do not assert that creative writers should at all times take precedence over historians, but we do ask whether the selection committee was so dazzled by Sir Winston's great reputation, and so attracted by the notion of adding yet another coveted honour to his collection, that their judgement wavered?

Great honours must be jealously guarded if they are to be fitting rewards for great men. There must never be any hint that they were awarded for a reason other than shining merit. Fine writer as Sir Winston is, we frankly question whether he belongs in the roster of Nobel prizewinners.

Peterborough Utilities Millions

The annual report of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission summarizes the assets, liabilities and operating accounts of municipal utilities commissions. These serve to remind us that the Peterborough Utilities Commission is big business. Its total physical assets (land, building, equipment and the like) amounted to $2,565,990 at the end of the last year—this after allowing $490,963 for depreciation. Add to this its cash in hand, its inventories and its equity in the HEPC, and the total assets are brought to $3,174,678. Subtracting from this its liabilities and reserves, there remained a surplus of $1,611,262.

That is the capital account. The current account on the year's operations also shows a million dollar business. In fact, the total earnings during the year were $1,103,932. Expenses (for power purchased, substation operation, maintenance, administration, depreciation, sinking fund and the like) were a little over a million dollars, leaving a net surplus during the year of $44,391.

The business of the Peterborough Utilities Commission is the people of Peterborough's business. The size of this public business warrants that the electors select good candidates for the one vacancy on the Commission which occurs each year, and vote for the best one.

NOTES AND COMMENT

We read that there is a critical shortage of garlic, though we must say that we had not noticed it.

Strange that a man should make a great reputation by travelling a mere twelve miles, but Professor Piccard has done it—ten miles up in the air and two miles down into the ocean.

A British medical journal says that severe cases of hiccups can often be cured by a lingering kiss. But what sensitive man wants to run the risk of hiccuping during a long, lingering kiss?

We are told that the 1913 dollar bought goods which would now cost $2.30. Very well; the Time Machine is at the door. Those wishing to return to 1913, and work their way forward again, form a queue on the right.

"Juvenile Delinquents Are Not Criminals" says a Montreal paper. Of course not. They are just fun-loving youngsters who are giving such wonderful imitations of criminals that their victims can't tell the difference.

How Fare East Germans?

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

IT IS NOW almost four months since Eastern Germany became the first State of the Soviet Empire to give its economic policy a "new look." On June 10 the Politburo announced that grave mistakes had been made in concentrating too much of the national effort on heavy industry to the detriment of the people's standard of living; and that in future there would be an ampler supply of consumer goods, and that measures taken under the old policy against private craftsmen, traders and individual farmers would be revised. Some of the promised concessions to the middle classes were immediately made law, and the following weeks saw an immediate release of foodstuffs and consumer goods from the State reserves, as well as a speed-up of Soviet deliveries —including deliveries on credit —and a general stepping-up of the import programmes for food and raw materials for the consumer goods industries. Now (on October 4) the revised figures for the economic plan and the budget have at last been announced, and it is possible to draw up a first provisional balance sheet under the "new order."

✧ ✧ ✧

AT FIRST GLANCE the impression is confusing and contradictory. The revival of private trade is real and substantial. The improvement in food supplies is noticeable, although prices are still high; but supplies of industrial consumer goods are lacking in both quality and quantity. Concessions to individual farmers are real but limited, and already there are tendencies to go back on them. Finally, the change in production and investment plans has so far been made very slowly and reluctantly, and gives the impression that a bitter struggle is going on behind the scenes between the advocates of bolder reform, apparently back by Moscow, and the stick-in-the-muds of the bureaucracy of Herr Walter Ulbricht, Secretary of the East German Communist Party.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE MOST STRIKING change concerns food supplies. For the first time in years, margarine and butter are widely available in State shops throughout the Soviet zone, although still at prices which make things difficult for the lower income groups. Acute shortage of vegetables has suddenly given way to glut. Meat was never really short for those who could pay, and supplies have further improved. Bread was never a problem, and sugar supplies, too, are slowly improving. For the inhabitant of the Eastern Zone it may still be worth visiting West Berlin for a free tin of fat, but it is now a matter of weighing the cost—and the risk—of the journey against the price of food in the State shop. It is no longer a matter of doing anything to satisfy a desperate need.

THIS SUDDEN IMPROVEMENT has nothing to do with the state of East German agriculture. The harvest has been indifferent, and the shortage of skilled labour continues. The amnesty for dispossessed farmers, and the offer to hand back their land to those returning from prison or exile, has stopped the mass flight to the West; but only four to five thousand abandoned farms have been reclaimed by their legitimate owners, less than five hundred of them by returning refugees, although twenty thousand farmers fled to the West in the preceding months. The "People's Chamber" has now decided to dispose of all land not reclaimed by October 15.

The reduction of delivery quotas and the cancellation of some old debts have been sufficient to keep the remaining farmers going, but not to give them a new incentive to better production: already Party spokesmen are complaining about slow deliveries and widespread applications for further reductions, and once again threaten stricter enforcement. The short period when some recently-formed collective farms were allowed to dissolve has already ended: Ulbricht has announced that only 280 were so dissolved, while 4,800, covering thirteen per cent. of the farmland, have been consolidated; and the campaign for "voluntary" formation of new kolkhozes (collective farms) has been resumed.

✧ ✧ ✧

INDEED, even if the new agricultural policy were far more consistent and successful, few fruits could be visible in so short a time. What, then, is the source of the improvement in food supplies in the first weeks the cause was the release from accumulated State stocks, and, directly afterwards, the "generous assistance from the great Soviet Union," which, although exaggerated by propaganda, was real enough in the period following June 17. But the most important cause since then has been, and will be, general and drastic change in foreign trading.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO TOTAL FIGURES are available, but reports show that Eastern Germany has suddenly appeared a buyer of foodstuffs not only in the markets of the Soviet bloc, but in those of Western Germany and Scandinavia, and even through intermediaries overseas; the same is known to be true of the Soviet Union itself, and of certain other satellite countries. It may indeed be said that the release of considerable amounts of foreign exchange from the Soviet bloc's common reserves for this purpose has been the most immediately effective strategic measure for starting the new economic policy all round.

IF the armament programme of the Soviet block is really slowed down, there is no reason why this measure should not continue to be effective: as soon as absolute priority is no longer given to materials and machines needed for the top-speed expansion of heavy industry, the Soviet empire must be in a position continually to devote a large amount of foreign exchange to the import of foodstuffs, fodder and of raw materials for making consumer goods. In the nature of things, a switch in investment programmes affects foreign trade much more quickly than it bears fruit in home production: in a country starved of food and consumer goods, imports in directly consumable form make a much more immediate difference to the standard of living than any quantity of imports invested in extending domestic production capacity for the same kind of goods.

In the special case of Eastern Germany, the change in foreign trade has been speeded up by the new Soviet credit. By that time that is exhausted, reparations will have ended — on January 1, 1954 —and this will enable the East Germans to switch some of their plant to domestic needs, and to finance future imports from their own exports. If some of the new funds are used to break the most critical agrarian bottlenecks, for instance by the import of fodder, agriculture's production problems, too, should be much diminished by the time of the 1954 harvest.

ANOTHER HOUSING PROBLEM

By William Butterfield in Vancouver Province.—(CP Photo)

The Old Nobility

(THE MANCHESTER GUARDIAN)

A GREAT work of reference is now in sight of completion. The first volume of the new, revised edition of "The Complete Peerage," by "G. E. C.," came out in 1910. It has now reached part one of its twelfth volume, "Skelmersdale to Towton" (Saint Catherine Press), and another volume should complete this great record of the House of Lords.

Strictly it comes down only to 1901, but there has been one volume on the creations from 1901 to 1938, and no doubt in a few more decades there will be still another covering peerages since then and peerages to be.

Its great value lies in its honesty and its detail. It is as open about the scandals of the peerage as it as about false pretensions and the more devious tricks of peerage law.

Why should it not be frank? A monumental record must not blink facts, and the nobility, whatever they may be now, were for centuries the stuff of our history.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND WHERE else could one find so much sheer British eccentricity? "Skelmersdale to Towton," edited with all the accustomed scholarship by Mr. Geoffrey H. White, is as rich as any of its predecessors. One can open the book at random and find a Duke of Somerset with whom fear of smallpox through inoculation became a mania. Or a Duchess of Somerset whose economy was so great that when her husband asked a parson to dine "on the table nothing was put but a leg of mutton at the top and a dish of potatoes at the bottom". Or the Countess of Sutherland who was frowned on by the family because she was "too young, not being much past fifteen, and no experience as to family keeping of accounts, and no beauty having somewhat of a squint look".

There was the Earl of Sutherland whom Swift described as "a blundering, rattlepated, drunken sot," and a much later Duke who was "fond of riding on locomotive engines and of watching the fire brigade at work." There was the Marquess Townshend who "always sat at dinner with his hat on".

The first Lord Teynham bought his peerage from James I for £10,000. A successor gambled a large part of his inheritance away. An Earl of Thanet, his contemporary won £40,000 in a night, breaking the bank twice; and another night lost £120,000. A Marquess of Thomond had for many years the reputation of being "a six-bottle man". The father of the first Earl Spencer died at 38, Horace Walpole said, "because he would not be abridged of those invaluable blessings of an English subject, brandy, small-beer, and tobacco".

Lord Stawell of Somerton, the friend of the elder Pitt, sacrificed "ev'ry honest consideration . . . to selfish cunning," died of apoplexy, and remained, with a lady in a rustling silk dress, to haunt Hinton Ampner. A Lord Tankerville became a misanthrope, and a later lord went round with Moody and Sankey; a Lord Stanley of Alderley became a Moslem.

The first member for Manchester, Poulett-Thomson, became Lord Sydenham but would have liked to have been Lord Waverly if the owner of the place had not objected. He also hankered after being Lord St. Lawrence but was crushed by Melbourne: "Why, damn it, I don't think we have done quite enough for that, eh? Scipio Africanus, eh?"

✧ ✧ ✧

ON SOME of the revived peerages "The Complete Peerage" is, as before, scathing. Thus on Strabolgi:

The invention of this fictitious Barony is due to the fact that a membrane containing a record of the transactions of the King's Council was somehow inserted in the Parliament Roll of 12 Edw. II.

There are some remarkably interesting genealogical notes. Thus the present Lord Stamford.

—is apparently the only male descendant of the 1st Earl and that Earl's grandfather, 1st Baron Grey of Groby. If the attainder (1554) of Henry Grey, Duke of Suffolk and 3rd Marquess of Dorset were rescinded Lord Stamford would be Marquess of Dorset (created 1475) and Premier Marquess of England.

The Duke of Suffolk, like his daughter Lady Jane Grey, whom he proclaimed Queen, was beheaded by Mary. There are signs in this last volume of some straitness of funds. It is to be hoped that the completion of this fine work will be assured.

Letter To The Editor

FLOWERS LIFTED FROM GRAVES

Sir: I attended the funeral of the late Mr. Cecil Thackery, and can sympathize with the family, in their disappointment in having their flowers taken.

A member of my family was in the cemetery, the day following the funeral and saw three girls, (two of them about eleven or twelve years of age, the third one older), take these flowers and ribbons and not only from one grave, but from all the new graves around.

The parents of these girls must know they have these things and they should be taught to respect the dead and their sorrowing families.

I planted some flowers on my son's grave this summer and just when they were nicely in bud, someone took them, roots and all.

A MOTHER.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then came to Jesus scribes and Pharisees, which were of Jerusalem, saying, Why do thy disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? for they wash not their hands when they eat bread. But he answered and said unto them, Why do ye also transgress the commandment of God by your tradition? (Matt. 15:1-3.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, By what authority doest thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?

And Jesus answered and said unto them, I also will ask you one thing, which if ye tell me, I in like wise will tell you by what authority I do these things. The baptism of John, whence was it? from heaven, or of men? And they reasoned with themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven; he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him? But if we shall say, Of men; we fear the people; for all hold John as a prophet. And they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things. (Matt. 21:23-27.)

The crew now is aboard the Suvorov, a foreign office announcement stated.

The British embassy had been informed that four Russian ships went to the aid of the Beckenham, but storm hindered rescue work and the Beckenham broke in two.

Thompson Going To Scotland Son Takes Charge In Canada

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Roy H. Thomson's entry into big-time newspaper publishing in Britain is a self-acknowledged milestone in the success story of a man who likes buying newspapers better than anything else.

"For the first time in my life I'm going to be a working newspaper man," he said after he added a three-quarter interest in the Edinburgh Scotsman and associated publications to 20 newspapers, five radio stations and other interests. "The Scotsman is just what I want.

"They used to tell me in Canada that I owned a lot of newspapers but wasn't a real newspaper man. How could I be when I was buying them all the time?"

To see what makes a national British newspaper tick, Thomson, 59, is handing over the North American interests to his 30-year-old son, Ken, and will move to Edinburgh. He will retain the presidency of The Canadian Press until his second term is up in the spring.

SCOTTISH ROOTS

In expanding in Britain — he started a weekly review of Canadian news in London last May—Thomson says he is killing four birds with one stone.

He thinks he has a good buy, which gives him satisfaction. On sentimental grounds, he has bought a newspaper in Scotland, land of his forefathers. And he's going to learn the business of putting out a newspaper. He has no plans for any immediate changes in the staid old Scotsman "because you don't rush into these things like a bull in a china shop."

Thomson also figures it's a good time to slip his son into the North American driver's seat.

"Ken will have no trouble," he says. "They likely won't even miss me."

There is no change in the Thomson policy of never ignoring a good newspaper expansion Expansion in Canada and the United States will continue as feasible and, while Thomson has no immediate plans to expand in the United Kingdom, he agrees that in time he'll probably look around for more papers.

Before he made his first newspaper purchase, he had wide business experience.

After leaving secondary school in Toronto at 13, he attended business school for a year and then took his first job—aside from being a newspaper carrier—with a firm selling fishing supplies.

During the First World War he was a lieutenant in the old York Rangers, restricted to Canadian duty by bad eyesight. In 1919 he went to Holdfast, Sask., for a year's farming, returning to Toronto to buy a small automotive wholesale supply firm. It was shifted to Ottawa in 1925, where his brother still runs it. A branch was opened at North Bay in northern Ontario in 1929.

Thomson confirms the story that he built his first radio station at North Bay in 1931 to supply a market for radios he was selling. He opened No. 2 station at Timmins the next year. In 1934 he started a third at Kirkland Lake and bought the weekly Timmins Press which became a daily in 1935. He was on the way to ownership of more Canadian newspapers than any man has owned before.

No back-slapper, smoker or drinker, Thomson says he may have worked hard as a young man but doubts whether he could now even if he wanted it that way. He prefers to work hard mentally and says he has a "terrific advantage in being able to think in numbers."

"I've always liked numbers," he says, acknowledging he was fairly good in school. "I can size up things with them."

Aside from his work, he likes travelling, reading thrillers (three or four some week-ends) and maybe a swim now and then. Now that he's bought the Scotsman, he has sold his converted Fairmile yacht in Florida. He says he'll miss that.

But he says he won't miss one phase of his life in Canada. He ran as a Progressive Conservative in Toronto's York Centre constituency in this year's federal election and lost.

Thomson says he's glad he lost but that it's wrong to get the impression that "I didn't try to win, because I sure did."

As an experience, he figures it was a good one. The door-to-door canvassing took him back to his radio-selling days, but "I'd never have been able to buy the Scotsman when the chance came up."

Thomson is a widower with two married daughters as well as his son Ken.

When he bought the Scotsman, Lord Beaverbrook's London Evening Standard described him as "a most able figure and a most attractive personality. . . affable, good-humored, good company, but strong and firm in business."

And the Daily Mail told an anecdote. It said he was introduced at a banquet in Canada to a man described as a fellow publisher.

"Want to sell?" Thomson asked abruptly.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A tall young man who six years ago was still at school comes home soon to take over one of Canada's largest newspaper organizations. He says he'll get a "big lift" out of the job.

Serious Ken Thomson, who has a fancy for sculptured ivory and 19th century paintings, will leave London, England, for Toronto in November to direct 19 newspapers, all but one in Canada, and five radio stations. He succeeds his father, Roy, who built the family enterprise from scratch in little more than a decade.

At 30, Ken is Canada's newest and youngest group publisher. His education, delayed by the war, was completed in 1947 when he left Cambridge with a degree in economics and law. He avoids flamboyant pronouncements on future newspaper policy.

"I want to feel my way along, working closely with the wonderful personnel in our organization," he says.

One long-term objective will be to make the Thomson papers a greater force for good in their communities.

"After all, what is a newspaper but a public service? Our papers are established now, my father has laid the foundations, and I hope it may be possible for us to go on from there, playing a progressively larger part in the communities, and building a reputation for service."

Thomson points to a community service project at Galt, Ont. One of the group's papers, the Galt Reporter, vigorously supported a campaign for a new hospital. He says he'd like to see many such campaigns.

He has a keen appreciation for the business experience handed out by his father and believes that to fulfil its function a newspaper must be sound financially. But he is also interested in editorial excellence.

"In most of our newspaper cities, three out of four readers rely entirely on the local newspaper. Only one in four subscribes to a metropolitan daily. This proves the need for a comprehensive world and local news coverage."

The Thomsons own 23 papers, including four in Britain and one in St. Petersburg, Fla. Roy Thomson, who plans to live in Edinburgh, will look after the British interests. Until Ken goes home he is in charge of Canada Review, a new group weekly published in Britain.

Ken, born in Toronto, was educated there and at North Bay, Ont., served in the RCAF during the Second World War and entered Cambridge on demobilization. He recalls his university years with affection, especially the influence of lecturer William Thatcher. The personal touch was so much in evidence that when Thomson was due to take a Canada-bound plane, Thatcher tipped him off about his examination results before they were officially announced.

Ken later directed the Galt Reporter. He considers his association with Allan Holmes, the publisher, gave him some of his best newspaper experience.

Young Thomson is single and does not smoke or drink. He likes walking and playing squash, but his particular passion is collecting ivory busts by a 19th century Englishman, Benjamin Cheverton. He has been told his collection is the world's largest, and he's determined to make it bigger.

INTERNATIONAL PUBLISHERS — Meeting in their London offices, Roy H. Thomson, 59 (right), and his son Ken, 30, discuss their newspaper holdings in Canada, Britain and the United States. Starting from scratch in Canada little more than a decade ago, the elder Mr. Thomson's interests now include 23 papers, including four in Britain and one in St. Petersburg, Fla., and five Canadian radio stations. He will take personal direction of his latest purchase, the Edinburgh Scotsman and associated publications, turning over direction of the North American interests to his son.

Ontario Seeks Power Pledge

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday night that eastern Ontario should be given specific assurance that it will receive "an adequate share of the new power" to be developed under the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

He told a church group he felt the area should receive one-third of Ontario's share of the 2,200,000 horsepower to be developed.

"This area has lagged in development up to now for lack of power reserves . . . In all equity therefore it seems to me that eastern Ontario has a right to ask for priority in the distribution of power from the St. Lawrence."

Mr. Chevrier said that "everything necessary in Canada has been done to allow Ontario hydro to start work tomorrow." The only delay was caused by legal disputes in the United States.

Fleeing Czechs Kill Two Red Policemen

BERLIN (AP) — A group of Czechs fleeing through the Russian zone towards Berlin shot and killed two Communist policemen and wounded a third, it was reported today.

Six men and a woman, apparently trying to reach the West through Berlin, were caught by the police on a train at Luckau, the report said. As the police attempted to arrest them, several of the men whipped out pistols and opened fire. They ran from the area and have not been found.

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—The well baby clinic, sponsored by the local branch of the Red Cross Society, opened last week with an attendance of 26 babies.

Clinics are held each Wednesday at 2:00 p.m. in Memorial Hall. Mothers are reminded that the clinics are not for sick babies.

Need Proper Type Of Prison Guard

GUELPH (CP) — A newspaper man who used to work for the reform institutions department said Thursday no reform program can be a success without the proper type of prison guard.

Frank Turner, news editor of the Guelph Mercury, said "the backbone of the staff of the reformatory here is the kind of custodial officer who takes a sincere interest in trying to carry out a plan of reformation."

However, he said in a submission to the legislature's committee on reform institutions, wages are too low to attract men of this calibre. As a result, the efforts of conscientious office were "continually hampered by inefficient fly-by-night guards."

Queen Gets Memento Of Canadian Visit

LONDON (CP)—A picture and scroll to remind the Queen of her 1951 Canadian visit were presented at Buckingham Palace today.

The painting by Montreal artist William Goodridge Roberts was handed over by Air Vice-Marshal George Eric Brookes, chairman of the RCAF Association. The picture is of the tiny St. Lawrence-side hamlet of Port au Persil, Que., and the scroll tells the story of the painting.

Brookes, wartime commander of the RCAF's No. 6 bomber group, spent 20 minutes at the palace.

Canadiens Murder New York 6-1, Marksmen Busy

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

They can hoist the storm warnings any time for the National Hockey League's goal-tending fraternity. Montreal Canadiens are blowing up a line squall. The elusive dream that has haunted general manager Frank Selke for years—a line featuring Maurice Richard and Jean-Marc Beliveau and another teaming Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion with the crafty Elmer Lach—became a reality Thursday night. Canadiens won 6-1 over New York Rangers. Beliveau and Geoffrion fired two goals apiece and Richard added a fifth. Lach and Geoffrion set up Eddie Mazur for the sixth. Wally Hergesheimer's early goal was the only Ranger reply.

Somewhat overshadowed by the slaughter in Montreal was Toronto Maple Leafs' 4-1 victory over Boston Bruins, their second on Boston ice in two seasons and the first loss of the year for Lynn Patrick's club.

IN FIRST PLACE

That left the Canadiens in first place with three wins against a single loss. The Leafs moved into a second-place tie with the idle Detroit Red Wings. Both have 2-1 records. Boston, breaking even in its first two starts, is tied for fourth place with the Rangers, who have won one in three. Chicago Black Hawks are winless in three tries.

The Hawks entertain Detroit in tonight's only NHL activity.

BELIVEAU GETS 1ST

Beliveau, the big rookie centre from Quebec, was the key to the Montreal victory. Wooed assiduously by Selke for years before he finally signed a Canadien contract, he started slowly this season and hadn't scored a goal in his three previous outings.

Actually he and Richard received no assists on each other's scoring efforts, but their teamwork was improved over previous efforts. Geoffrion, also scoreless in previous efforts, was the most dangerous of Johnny Bower's tormentors as the rookie netminder turned aside 32 Montreal drives.

The Leafs wrapped up their victory with three first-period goals by Ron Stewart, Rudy Migay and Eric Nesterenko. Harry Watson fired the clincher in the final frame after Johnny Peirson had counted a second-period tally for the losers, his third of the year.

Asks To Play With Dutchmen

TORONTO (CP)—Blake Taylor, fullback with Hamilton Tiger-Cats last season, has appealed to the Canadian Rugby Union for permission to play in the Ontario Rugby Football Union with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen.

Harry McBrien, CRU secretary, said the five-man CRU executive will vote by mail on the matter and the result won't be known for several days.

McBrien said the CRU received a letter from the former University of Western Ontario star asking that they allow him to play football in the ORFU. The Tiger-Cats won't release Taylor because they would have to put him on the waiver list and neither Toronto nor Ottawa will waive him out of the Big Four.

Taylor, who refused to play with Hamilton this season, is working in Galt.

Plan Painting Bee For Apsley Arena

APSLEY (ENS)—The Memorial Arena in Apsley will be painted this Saturday when a painting "bee" is planned by the Lions Club of the village, under club president Don Campbell. Everyone is invited to join in the community job, commencing at nine a.m.

No other repairs are required for the one-year-old arena, and preparations are being made for the skating and hockey season when the freeze-up comes. The arena, with Reeve Norm Wilson head of the committee, cost $28,000 a year ago and after a most successful season has paid off nearly three-quarters of this sum. Mrs. T. H. Lean was in charge of the canteen committee, which had a good winter.

Apsley is expected again to enter the East Peterborough Hockey League, as well as having a team in the rural circuit, and once more promoting minor hockey for the district. The arena was made possible through voluntary donations of village and district people, and by voluntary labor to a large extent.

McCarrell Rolls 901

Bert McCarrell rolled a nifty triple of 901 this week in men's City Bowling League, while high single went to J. Barnes with 355. Payne's led teams with 3708, including best single game of 1290. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

High school football started its season here fairly recently but it hasn't much further to go. A short, sharp season for the gridders as hockey hovers near. PCVS seniors and St. Peter's senior squad tangle at 8:15 tonight under the Morrow Park lights, and then Johnny Lynch's Saints are off this weekend for Toronto and a return OCC fixture with St. Mike's. Lindsay plays SPS juniors here next Wednesday, and the following Wednesday sees the windup of Saints' tilts with Cobourg juniors and seniors here. Senior PCI-ers have another fixture with Oshawa Combines later this month, and Kenner are listed for several more tussles ere hanging up the gear.

* * * * * *

Galloping Ghosts of Cobourg and Peterborough Orfuns have drilled hard this week for their big clash tomorrow aft at two in Morrow Park. It's the first of home-and-home ORFU intermediate "A" group finals, with points counting. Return joust on the Cobourg sward Oct. 24. Winners of the set goes right into provincial finals against the Western Ontario victor. Then, it's Eastern Canada finals and the Canadian finale. So, every scrap from here in is of utmost importance. Orfuns must not only win here on the morrow but amass enough points to carry the series in Cobourg a week later. Shapes up as a thrilling, tight series before a huge crowd of Cobourg and Peterborough football followers. Both squads are expected to be at full strength for the first one.

* * * * * *

Champs Will Be Strong

A senior "B" puck item from Kingston: "Manager Art Casterton has issued the call-to-arms that will inaugurate the Goodyear's training season in the Community Memorial Centre. It is expected that, in addition top several newcomers, all of last year's championship squad will be on hand. Mr. Casterton stated that Tommy Goodfellow, last season with Grand Rapids, will seek a berth. Al DeLuca, dynamic forward from Timmins, has notified the management that he will return for another whirl in the OHA series." Well, the Petes aren't taking the Kingston hockey threat too lightly, as the OHA champs of last semester will be plenty strong again. However, the Petes will be stronger this campaign than last year, also.

* * * * * *

While the local pucksters open their schedule against Oshawa in Bowmanville next Saturday—and are at home Oct. 30—they have a good test here this evening. It's a senior "B" exhibition at 8:30 in Civic Arena, TPT-ers tackling Aurora Lumber Kings from the Toronto Metropolitan Association. Playing coach Eddie Redmond hasn't been sparing local prospects (and the imports) in stiff drills for the past two weeks, and there has been a real fight for places in the lineup. He may experiment a little more in this first fray ere cutting the club to the legal limit. Only the pick of last year's squad will make it this fall as there's a lot of senior talent available. Fans will get their first look tonight.

* * * * * *

Junior "B" Unsettled

Not much new lately on an O.H.A. junior "B" group re-organization up this way. Red Creighton has been seeking sponsorship for a local club to replace Oddfellows, who dropped out. Belleville Hawklets also are inactive this season. Kingston Vics have received O.H.A. permission to go in a grouping down in the Ottawa Valley. That just leaves Lindsay as a sure starter in this area, though Oshawa may operate out of Port Perry. If they do, and Peterborough ices a junior squad, but one more club would be necessary for a compact four-team circuit, and that fourth entry might come from Cobourg, as they expect to have their rink ready again by Christmas. Some early re-organization activity is indicated.

* * * * * *

Secretary Dick Bridgman of Trenton advises that the annual re-organization meeting of the Trent Valley Hockey League will be held in the Batawa Recreation Hall at two p.m. October 25, a Sunday. All of last year's teams are asked to have representatives on hand for this session, and new entries may apply at this time. Campbellford of the T.V.L. northern section last spring swept league honors and will be back again. No doubt, Marmora, Hastings, Norwood and Havelock are again interested, but Lakefield has pulled out of the T.V.L. to go O.H.A. this coming puck campaign. Quite likely the matter of the O.H.A. imports on Trent Loop teams will be raised and ruled upon well before the schedule opens.

Woods with 278, followed by M. Flaherty with 277, Mary Gimblett 275, E. Stanbury 271, L. Crocker 257, A. Reid 240, Marg Arnold 239, L. Moulin and Betty Pogue 238 each.

Harris-Dressen Set-up Denied

BALTIMORE (AP)—A guess that Bucky Harris will be general manager and Chuck Dressen field manager of Baltimore Orioles is "the rankest kind of speculation," the secretary-treasurer of the new American League team said Thursday.

Gayle Talbot, Associated Press sports columnist, wrote Thursday "we have it on exceptionally good authority that this is the intended setup." Harris now is field manager of Washington Senators and Dressen is balking about returning as field manager of Brooklyn Dodgers for only a one-year contract.

"That statement about Harris is not true," said Clyde Y. Morris, secretary-treasurer.

"No decision has been made with respect to a general manager and no one may be said to have the inside track. We have not talked to Mr. Harris or Mr. Dressen."

McWhirter To Stay With Hamilton

TORONTO (CP) — Jimmy McWhirter will remain with Hamilton Tigers of the OHA Junior A series, league officials announced Thursday night.

Coach Hap Emms of Barrie Flyers protested McWhirter's presence in the Tiger line-up last Saturday when Tigers defeated Barrie 3-2. Emms claimed he had arranged to get McWhirter, a left-winger, from St. Catharines Teepees.

Bill Hanley, OHA manager, said at an OHA executive meeting that McWhirter's release from the Teepees and his signed registration with Hamilton were in the hands of OHA secretary W. A. Hewitt Saturday and that Emms had only a verbal agreement with St. Catharines.

Heavyweight Title Fight Considered At Toronto

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Max Waxman, business manager for Jack Dempsey, said Thursday the former heavyweight champion and his associates are considering a Rocky Marciano-Earl Walls heavyweight title fight at Toronto next summer.

"The thing that lures me," Waxman told a reporter, "is that Toronto has one of the largest outdoor places for its annual world's fair, a 10-day event which draws people from all over Canada.

"Besides, the Canadians are terrifically sports minded—hockey, baseball and horse racing. And Dempsey himself is very popular in Toronto, where he conducts the Jack Dempsey international heavyweight tournaments."

FEW U.S. CONTENDERS

Waxman said Dempsey would like to be associated with James D. Norris of the International Boxing Commission in promoting a Marciano-Walls bout if Walls is still a contender next summer. There were few contenders in the United States.

"The Marciano people may go to Montreal if they get enough money," Waxman commented. "A title fight in Toronto would do a tremendous business."

Waxman said he has been in touch with promoters Eddie Quinn of Montreal and Frank Tunney and Jack Allen of Toronto.

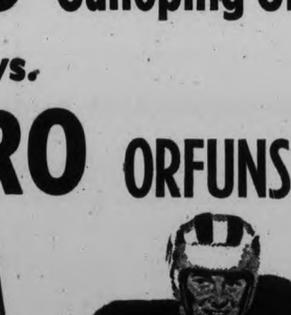
At Toronto, Tunney said he had talked with Waxman about the possibility of a Marciano-Walls fight next summer.

"After all, Toronto is the logical place for the bout because Walls is from Toronto," Tunney said.

Chamberlain Tries To Arrange Deal

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Coach Murphy Chamberlain tried Thursday to arrange a deal with Sydney Millionaires for the services of Alex Birukow, suspended by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association after starting the OHA Senior A series with Chamberlain's Windsor, Ont., Bulldogs.

Chamberlain wired the Maritime Major Hockey League asking what deal could be arranged and for permission to play Birukow in two games this week.



Millionaires said the suspension would stand, along with that of Fred Hildebrand, another Sydney product who also turned out with Bulldogs.

Millionaires asked the CAHA suspension after both players failed to report to training camp.

Chamberlain said he had signed Hildebrand after receiving permission from Ottawa Senators. Millionaires insist he is their property.

Senior OHA Opens 1953-54 Season With New Stars

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series opens its 1953-54 season tonight with new companies and new stars along with the veteran troupes.

Windsor Bulldogs newcomers to the eight-team league, open hte long schedule at Chatham against St. Clair Maroons. Stratford Indians clash with the Tigers at Hamilton.

Before the weekend is out the fledgling Niagara Falls Cataracts will have made their debut.

The regulars—Allan Cup champion Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen Sarnia Sailors and Owen Sound Mercurys—will also see action within the next three days.

HOPE TO REPEAT

The Dutchmen, who gave the Twin Cities their first Allan Cup in 35 years last season, are out to do it again. Netminder Keith Woodall, who turned down a regular berth with Kitchener this season, will act as the spare goaltender. Regular chores will probably be handled by Bill Harrington, who came up from the junior league where he performed with Barrie Flyers and Kitchener - Waterloo Greenshirts.

On the forward line are holdovers Bobby Schnurr, Don Bauer, Maurice Leveque, Charlie Brooker, Clare Martin, Harry Psutka, Howie Lee and Art Hurst. Veterans Jack McKenzie and Doug Verity, the team's 34-year-old grand-daddy, are back.

Newcomers on the forward line are Ken Laufman, with Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League last year, and Johnny Muritich of Smiths Falls Rideaus. New faces on defence are Mike Delich from northern Ontario and Joe Schertzl of Brampton.

Bob Rafferty, who took over coaching duties in mid-season last year, will again handle the bench.

NEW FACES AT SARNIA

Sarnia Sailors also went shopping during the summer. Dave Broadbelt, a standout with Montreal Royals in the Quebec junior circuit last year, will be in the nets. Art White, with Guelph Biltmores and Galt Black Hawks of the OHA Junior A series for the last two winters, will strengthen the defence.

Les Douglas, American League scoring champion with Cleveland Barons in 1949-50, will coach the Sailors.

Stratford Indians are stressing a youth movement. Howie Meeker, whose ailing back is preventing him from performing with Toronto Maple Leafs, was allowed to take up coaching duties.

Meeker is holding on to enough veterans to steady his squad. Five candidates are in the race for netminding berths — last season's Bruce Dale, Gerry Hesse, Boat Hurley of Kitchener, Don Head of Toronto and Bob Shropshire of Oshawa. Holdovers Bill Walsh, George Nicholson, Don Heinbuch, Tommy Walker, as well as Keith Tolton of Stratford at trying for defence.

TOP SCORERS BACK

Mickey Roth, Billy Flick and Dinny Flanagan, inseparable for the last four years, will again head the attacking units. The trio has led the scoring parade for three seasons. George Aitken, Herve Dejordy, Larry Lemenchick, Ken Ducharme and Bruce Burdett will all return as forwards.

Hamilton Tiger coach George Redding has a couple of problems. Walter Atanas, whom Redding would like to have, has been marked for San Francisco. The Tigers also want Kitchener's Harvey Jacklin.

But Redding's consolation is his netminder Al Bennett. Despite the poor showing of the Tigers last year, Bennett was tops. Harvey Fraser of Brantford, Steve Brklacich from Charlottetown, George McLagen, Leo McGinn and Bill Dinning will attempt to supply defensive support.

Doug McKay, with Brantford last year, Eddie Busch and Jack Taylor, fourth in the Senior A scoring parade last year, will make up the first string. Hub Anslow, Murray Comfort, Billy Hammond and Bill Hartsburg will add to the forward strength.

SIX NEW PLAYERS

Owen Sound Mercurys, who provided the opposition for Kitchener in the OHA Senior A finals last year, have signed six new players.

Elwyn (Moe) Morris and Elmer Skov, a junior with Windsor Spitfires last year, are on defence. New forwards include centre Herbie Carnegie, formerly with Quebec Aces of the QSHL, Jerry Horton, up from St. Catharines Teepees, and Bill Hagan, formerly with Barrie Flyers.

Holdovers are all-star goaltender Bob Gilson; defencemen Art Hayward, Harry Kazarian, Ralph Hosking and Bill Allum; and forwards Buck Forslund, Tommy Burlington, Jaydee McArthur, Bill McComb, Ray McCallum, Roy Leckie, Jerry Reid and Doug Gillespie.

Pat Reavy, all-star coach, will mastermind again.

MAROONS YOUTHFUL

Chatham St. Clair Maroons are following Stratford's youth movement. Average age is 23.

Coach Blackjack Stewart has 12 new faces. Much is expected of young netminder Henry (Red) Bassen from Calgary. Stewart also is hopeful of the abilities of defenceman Danny Blair, late of Guelph Biltmores, and Frank Bonello, third highest scorer in the OHA Junior A series with Galt Black Hawks in 1952-53.

Niagara Falls Cataracts, starting from scratch, present quite a challenge to playing-coach Pat Wilson.

Wilson, former Stratford coach, figures his defence to be one of the best. Goalie Don Lockhart expects strong support from Norvel (Red) Olden, Gord Byers, Tommy Buck and coach Wilson.

Leftwinger Lloyd Ferguson, third in the scoring race last year with Stratford, Ed Plata, Bill Kidatsky of Crowland and Springfield and Connie Switzer, a former St. Catharines Teepee, will pace the attacking lines.

GAVE UP FRANCHISE

Windsor Bulldogs gave up their Windsor Spitfire Junior A franchise to get in with the big eight.

Coached by NHL veteran Murph Chamberlain, the Bulldogs have Lyle Wiseman, right-winger from Charlottetown, where Chamberlain coached last year, and centres Clarence Jestor of Lethbridge Native Sons, Elwood Ritchie of Kitchener and Bill McPherson from Spokane Flyers of the Pacific League.

Defencemen include Dick Kotaken from Kamloops, Bob Cooper, with Glace Bay, N.S., last year, Bob Hayes, Don McLaughlin and Jack Power from South Porcupine.

Nick Pidsodny, reinstated after playing with Buffalo in the AHL, will tend goal.

AUSTRIA BEATS MOSCOW

MOSCOW (AP)—Austria's champion soccer team, Rapid, Thursday night defeated Moscow's crack Dynamo team 2-1 at Dynamo Stadium.

Not Safe To Make Predictions In Big 4

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Football fans in the senior league cities of Canada are in for another top-heavy week-end, but interest is centred mainly on two points—Montreal and Ottawa. That's where the tough ones are down for decision.

The Western Interprovincial Football Union has reached the stage where the windup is practically cut-and-dried, Calgary Stampeders being just about ready to call it a year. The Ontario Rugby Football Union race is developing into a tight fight and the Intercollegiate Union is just hitting its stride.

That leaves only the Big Four and, based on past performances of Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton clubs, it isn't safe to make predictions. Only two points separate the four teams and there aren't many experts in the East who would guess on the outcome of games from here in.

The 16-game schedule winds up Oct. 24 with Regina at Calgary and Winnipeg at Edmonton.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes share the Big Four lead with 10 points each, two up on Ottawa Rough Riders and Toronto Argonauts in the closest race in years. Rough Riders meet Tiger-Cats at Ottawa Saturday and Toronto plays the Alouettes at Montreal Sunday.

For the record, here's how these clubs did in previous meetings:

Toronto opened at home Aug. 26 with an 11-9 victory over the Alouettes and a week later the Als evened accounts with a 15-7 decision at Montreal. Tiger-Cats squeaked out a 14-10 decision at Hamilton over Rough Riders Aug. 29 and Riders squared it with a resounding 31-6 victory at Ottawa Oct. 3.

Three ORFU games are scheduled. Saturday, the league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen are hosts to Toronto Balmy Beach and the winless Brantford Redskins meet the Imperials at Sarnia.

Beaches and the Dutchmen finish the week-end activity at Toronto Sunday.

University of Western Ontario Mustangs, Intercollegiate leaders with two victories in as many games, meet McGill Redmen at Montreal and McMaster Marauders play Varsity Blues at Toronto. Both games are scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Presentation to 4-H Club Members Tuesday Night at Normal School—Parents Invited—Junior Farmers' Annual Meeting . . . Summary of Prices at Norwood Fair Auction . . . Ken Moncrief Re-elected Cream Producers' President . . .

Presentation of the prizes won by the 4-H Club members at their Achievement Day will be an interesting item in the program of the annual meeting of Peterborough Junior Farmers at Teachers College (Normal School) Tuesday Oct. 20.

Parents are invited to accompany the Club boys and girls. It will be an opportunity for both adults and the young people to join with the Junior Farmers in their business meeting which includes the election of officers. From the 4-H Clubs membership Junior Farmers will eventually be recruited, and Tuesday night will afford them an opportunity of seeing in executive action those whom they will some day replace.

Junior Farmers in this county provide an active sponsorship of the 4-H Clubs.

Meetings Conflict

It was learned yesterday that the annual meeting of Co-Op Services and the Farm Forum Rally are in date conflict. They have both been arranged for Monday, October 26.

Forum executive has been hoping that all the Forums of the county would be largely represented at their meeting one week prior to the first Forum broadcast Monday, November 2. Miss Eleanor Saracuse has accepted an invitation to Peterborough for that event. She is a past president of the Junior Farmers of Ontario.

✦ ✦ ✦

Three Rural Successes

District farmers will be the first to overlook an interesting fact. They can lay claim to three successful events of the last two weeks in the international plowing match at Cobourg, the Central Ontario Holstein championships show in Peterborough, and the Norwood Fair.

Of course they are grateful for the urban financial help in their publicity, such as programs, catalogues and so on, but in the planning and performing the achievements are their own. If they would take a good look at themselves in that role of organizers and supervisors, they could muster all the assurance required for any other undertakings which they decide to take in hand.

✦ ✦ ✦

Officers Re-elected

Ken Moncrief of North Monaghan was re-elected president of the Peterborough Cream Producers Thursday night. Bruce Graham continues as secretary-treasurer.

Frank Whitfield was named a director for North Monaghan at the request of Willard Waterman, whom he succeeds. The township directors are: Smith: Roland Scott and Milton Clark. Otonabee: Roy Stewart and Joe Sullivan; Asphodel: Ross Legge and Bruce Graham; Ennismore: James Gifford and Leo Scollard. North Monaghan: Mr. Moncrief and Mr. Whitfield; Douro: Ronald Frankish and Roland Bradfield; Dummer: Alan Olver and Stuart Clysdale.

James Gifford was re-appointed county director to the Ontario association and Mr. Moncrief is the delegate to the Federation of Agriculture.

✦ ✦ ✦

A Polio Victim

LeRoy Brown of Lindsay, agricultural representative in Victoria, reports that one of the boys of the county plowing team in the inter-school competition at Cobourg, was stricken there with poliomyelitis.

David Elliott of Dunsford was high boy in his class and helped win the contest for Victoria. He became ill on Wednesday, but immediate attention suggested that his illness was only an attack of 'flu. David was in bed two days, and his condition demanded closer diagnosis. He was removed to a Toronto hospital, and the report yesterday indicated paralysis of the left arm.

Mr. Brown said that new methods of treatment might restore the arm to full use. That is the hope of the friends of the young man. His mother died suddenly last January.

Brucellosis Control

Ontario townships must order all female calves in their areas to be vaccinated if more than two-thirds of the cattle owners ask for it, Hon. F. S. Thomas, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, said yesterday. This is now the law, since the regulations under the Brucellosis Control Act were recently approved by the government.

Each township council must name a committee made up of a provincial veterinarian, the agricultural representative, and three township residents, at least two of whom are cattle owners. The act also requires the council to hire one or more veterinarians for vaccination. Cost of the service will be borne by cattle owners.

Regulations provide for the exemption of female calves in federally-listed herds, and stipulate that females must be vaccinated after attaining the age of six months, but before nine months. They also provide for grants to municipalities to reimburse them for amounts paid to inspectors at a rate not exceeding 20 cents per calf vaccinated.

✦ ✦ ✦

Credit to R. Banbury

Ralph Banbury, of Brighton, agricultural representative in Northumberland, as secretary of the local committee in charge of arrangements for the plowing match at Cobourg is entitled to considerable credit for its success. Details were allotted to diligent committees, but they usually pass in one stage or another over the desk of the secretary.

The Northumberland-Durham men on the many committees attracted a new prestige to the International match of which John A. Carroll, as manager, was so long the active spirit. In his ambitions for its expansion first beyond provincial to the national status, it was often international only in name and hopes.

This year it really fulfilled the dreams of the Ontario Plowmen's Association, and can now boast as offspring the World Championship Plowing Organization that was instituted last year. J. D. Thomas of that executive spoke of it as the agricultural Olympic, and in that analogy it will be confronted with the national rivalries indigenous to Europe and more than occasionally the source of embarrassing frictions among competing athletes.

Canada and particularly the plowmen of Ontario has set an example for the WCPO which may be transferred to the soil of Europe.

✦ ✦ ✦

Ontario's Reverse

Extending this series of incidents relating to agricultural representatives was the further deposing of Lynn Fair and his Ontario county Holstein fraternity at the championships show Wednesday.

For six years Mr. Fair received in behalf of his county the trophy for the best county herd composed of two males and four females. Six years in succession the trophy went back to the office of Mr. Fair at Uxbridge. Durham jolted the Ontario group by bringing out the winning herd in 1952, but that was probably regarded only as temporary setback.

This week Ontario county retreated to fourth place, behind Simcoe, Peterborough and York. Naturally the Simcoe win should broaden interest in the show, especially in the Alliston-Beeton country, but that descent to fourth position in the county herd rating reflected dismay among the Ontario herdsmen as judge D. S. Dunton pointed three others to positions ahead of them in the final array of 30 animals in the intercounty contest.

The laughter of Lynn Fair in the company around the secretary's table was plainly an expression of the humorous aspect of the judge's placing. There is a touch of grimness in that humor, an odd sensation of seeing others moved up ahead.

However, it is all in the friendly sporting spirit that stands out among the Holstein breeders in their competitions

✦ ✦ ✦

"Forage Harvester"

A homehade corn cutting contraption labelled "forage harvester" in a display of antiques of agriculture at Cobourg last week was eloquent of the mechanical advances and refinements that have so radically changed farm practice in the last generation.

If the junior farmers have no recollection of it, their fathers can remember their own use of a crude cutting box through which corn stalks passed on their way to eventual rumination by the cattle.

That type of forage harvester was of homely simplicity. The box was about as long as a stalk of corn, with two containing sides, six or seven inches high.

This machine rested on four stout legs. The cutting device was a plain blade fixed in place at the working end of the trough. It operated by arm power, pushing the sharp blade down across the corn with the right hand, as the left moved it toward the knife.

The contrast with the huge field machines of present day invention was comic. Hardly any direct relationship between these two instruments could be traced by the most imaginative. As to expense, any handy farmer could turn out the corn cutter with a hammer and saw and a few nails.

The contrast is not only comic but even amazing to those who are not familiar with mechanics of this year's farming.

The tractor-drawn harvester rumbles up and down corn rows, knifing the stalks off close to the ground, chops them into required lengths for ensiling and blows the forage material into a big containing box on an attendant truck. The truckful is then hustled off to the barn and is run through a blower, operated from a tractor. The material is blown up into the top of the silo which gradually fills.

The handmade and hand-operated corn cutter underwent various development in its stationary form, and then took wings to the field.

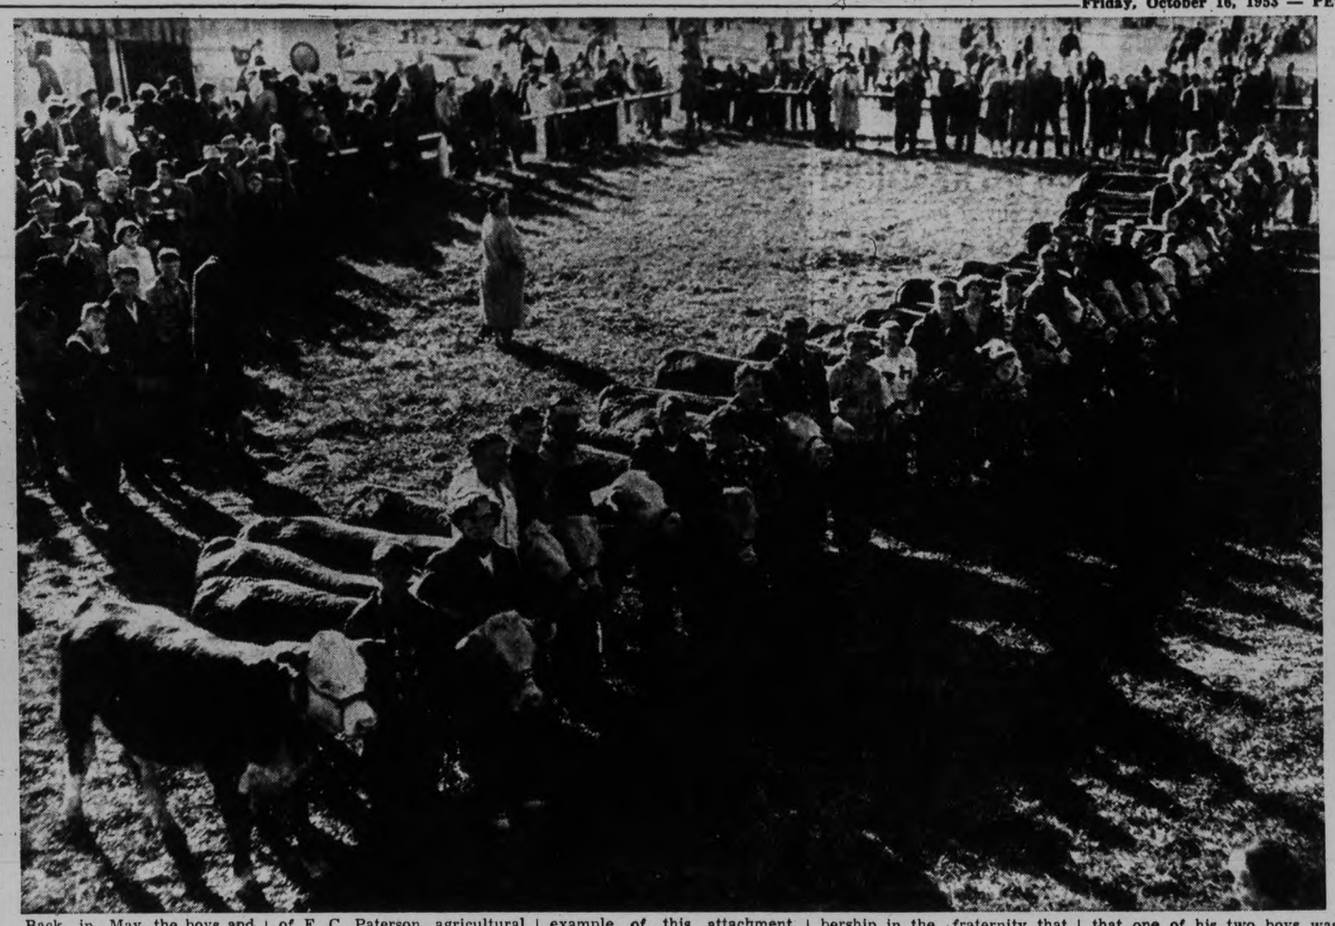
✦ ✦ ✦

Sell Calves and Pigs

Financial results to the junior club members of the auction of their Hereford calves at Norwood Tuesday afternoon are not available. Presumably it would require a great deal of delving to get an average estimate of the returns to the boys and girls who bought the 40 heifer calves brought from the McIntyre Hereford ranch, Alberta, last spring.

Ray Williams of Campbellford and Gordon Hancock were auctioneers.

The first bred heifer brought $270, another $300, as the first of the animals were led into the ring.



Open heifers followed at $210 (a 795-pound animal), two at $185. A bred heifer weighing 815 pounds brought $175. Seven or eight of the calves followed at $175, $180, $175 and down to $155. Other prices were around $145 to $160. Accepted bids declined to $135, $130, $125 down to several at $100. These prices considerably reduced the average for the sale.

The English Yorkshire hogs opened around $90 and according to weight and age declined to $50 and several slightly under that mark.

Distribution of the calves was in the district from Tweed to Bobcaygeon and Bowmanville.

The experience of club members should be entered as a valuable intangible in the reckoning of work and knowledge of the Norwood district boys and girls. As generally commented they surprised everybody by the transformation of the calves under the care and feeding of these youngsters.

The Hereford cattle show at Norwood was the largest of the exhibitions in Central Ontario. President G. A. Brethen said this co-operation of the breeders was greatly appreciated.

Back in May, the boys and girls of the Norwood Fair Hereford calf club couldn't have laid hand on those young range mavericks that were brought from the McIntyre Hereford Ranch in Alberta. At the Fair they were thoroughly domesticated, and were easily led on halter by the club youngsters of east Peterborough. "They did a wonderful job" was the tribute of F. C. Paterson, agricultural representative. That was apparent in management and feeding. In October they resembled the intractable young critters of the spring day of their unloading only in their white faces, and roan hides. Some of the boys and girls refused to part with their heifer calves when the afternoon of auction arrived Tuesday. As an example of this attachment, which kept some of the animals at home, it is told that a girl whose calf brought the top bid of $300 wept at the prospect of separation. She brushed away her tears only when her father offered an extra ten dollars, and retained the heifer at $310. Hereford breeders will recognize that spirit as the making of a strong recruit for membership in the fraternity that favors the white faced cows. If some of the yougsters made no profit in their club venture, and that appears to be likely in some instances, they have demonstrated ability in handling cattle that looked like a real problem as they hived together in the C.P.R. stockyard at Norwood in the spring.

Milton Cornish told the Examiner early in the club season that one of his two boys was knocked off his feet in trying to put a halter on a fractious calf within the narrow space of a stall. This photograph of the Herefords at Norwood Fair is evidence of the club members' accomplishment. In this experience, they have undoubtedly gained a confidence in themselves that may direct some of them into the ranks of breeders, —some day.

No Increase In Hog Breeding Survey Shows

Harold Lewis finished on Thursday the hog survey in Peterborough that is being made throughout the province for the marketing board that sprouted early this year from the Ontario Hog Producers.

Calls were made on 22 farmers, on the basis of one for each of the 22,000 hogs here in 1951.

"With only one or two exceptions, the Peterborough men I visited are not increasing their production program," Mr. Lewis reported. "They said they did not like the prospect of going back to the 23c level because they could not see how they could make any profit at that price. The feeling of most of them was that they could hardly avoid a loss if the market fell off to the control level Briefly, they said they were not increasing their breeding, and intended to keep just about the number of sows they have had for this year."

Mr. Lewis said the marketing agency intends to make this survey quarterly as a means of keeping in closer touch with production throughout the province.

Melville Johnston told the meeting that the western provinces have been watching the Ontario experiment and that Charles McInnis, president, has agreed to make a western speaking trip to explain the marketing policy which the hog producers of this province have so far found satisfactory.

Mr. Johnston said that at the recent meeting in Toronto further stress was placed on the selling of more hogs on the Toronto market as a necessary aid to the agency in following the price factors. He said that George Johnson of the Toronto office recently expressed the opinion that hogs would have been selling around 27c this summer and fall if the producers' agency had not been in operation.

Peak of prices was $37 for an average of about $12 over the floor. Hog production in Canada this year has dropped 19 per cent and in Ontario 22 per cent.

Pay Delegates For Time Attending Conventions

Expense allowance of delegates of farm associations, attending conventions and other business meetings which they should attend, is not enough, according to the proposal and decision of the Peterborough hog producers on Thursday night.

Expenses provide for transportation and hotel bills, but no provision is made for a delegate's loss of time from his own work.

It was suggested that more farmers might take an interest in association affairs if there was basic appreciation of the importance of having representatives at conventions and other such general meetings.

"Sacrifice of time away from home on association business and executive meetings, in Toronto for instance, why should he be penalized for loss of time from work on his own farm?

This question arose out of an expense account, and the action of the producers Thursday night was to pay each of four men, who were appointed to attend a meeting, five dollars a day for each of the two days they were away, plus their actual expenses of hotel and transportation. An economy in travel cost was obtained by three of the delegates motoring in the automobile of one of them who received an allowance for his car expense.

TCA President Denies Plane Contract

OTTAWA (CP)—A controversy developed Thursday over the history of Canada's multi-million-dollar Avro jetliner which still awaits production orders.

A British aircraft authority said the plane was built for Trans-Canada Air Lines, but that the crown-owned TCA cancelled its order.

However, G. R. McGregor, TCA president, said that though TCA may have expressed an interest in buying the plane, there had been no formal contract.

The reason TCA didn't buy it was that the plane's "complexion" was completely changed by the time it was built by A. V. Roe of Canada Ltd., at Malton, Mr. McGregor said.

Costing about $10,000,000, the jetliner was constructed some years ago, getting spectacular advance billing. But things didn't pan out as anticipated. Steps were taken to try to sell it in the United States, but no buyer materialized.

The jetliner now is standing idle at Malton with no buyers in sight.

To Receive Tenders For Ship Salvage

SARNIA (CP)—Tenders for the salvaging of the German motorship Wallschiff, sunk in a St. Clair river collision two weeks ago, will be received Saturday, it was announced Thursday by Klaus Fritzen, representative of the ship's North American agents.

While four Canadian salvage firms and two from the United States have indicated their intention to submit tenders, it was understood they were unwilling to make a firm bid until they could study the Wallschiff's building plans.

The 882-ton Wallschiff sank in 62 feet of water Oct.2 after she collided with the United States bulk-carrier Pioneer.

Acquit Wilson Of Manslaughter In Wife's Death

PEMBROKE (CP)—Kenneth Wilson, 31-year-old steamshovel operator, was acquitted Thursday of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death last May 7 of his wife, Lois.

A jury returned a verdict of not guilty at the end of a two-day Supreme Court trial.

Wilson, whose home is at Sandy Hook near Arnprior, 35 miles west of Ottawa, had originally been charged with murder after his 29-year-old wife died from injuries suffered following a drinking party the night of May 2. A grand jury reduced the charge to manslaughter.

HAD FIGHT

Wilson testified Thursday that he had found his wife lying on a couch with another man, Leo Piche, during the party. He fought with Piche and then picked up his wife. Wilson said he did not remember what happened after that. Other witnesses said they saw him beating her.

Defence counsel James A. Maloney, in his address to the jury, asked it to bear in mind the testimony of pathologist Dr. W. D. Hay who had said that an operation within 24 hours might have saved Mrs. Wilson's life. She died of a ruptured bladder and other injuries.

Hydro Man Electrocuted

STRATFORD (CP) — George R. Finley, 41, rural hydro commission worker, was electrocuted Thursday while working near Londesboro, 40 miles northwest of here.

Will Spend Millions On BC Industries

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's industrial future looked bright today with millions of dollars to be spent on a series of post-war developments.

Opening of the $93,000,000 Edmonton-to-Vancouver oil pipeline focussed attention on new pulp and paper plants, plywood and lumber mills, hydro-electric and aluminum production, oil refineries and manufacturing projects.

The biggest is the Aluminum Company of Canada electric power and aluminum smelting development in northern British Columbia where nearly $600,000,000 is being spent. The smelter is expected to be in operation next spring.

OTHERS ON WAY

But there are other big ones, either in the planning stage or under construction. They include:

B.C. electric public utilities development, $196,000,000, and B.C. telephones, province-wide expansion, $20,000,000;

Columbia Cellulose Company of Prince Rupert, a $45,000,000 pulp mill; Celgar development, an associated company, a proposed $65,000,000 forest products industry around the Arrow lakes in the Kootenays, 250 miles east of Vancouver;

Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Trail, Hydro-electric, mining and metallurgical installations, $57,000,000; MacMillan and Bloedeel, pulp, plywood, lumber plants, $55,000,000;

Shell Oil Company, refining, Vancouver, $13,000,000 and Standard Oil of B. C., refining, Vancouver, $10,000,000.

USE ALBERTA OIL

The refinery reconstruction and modernization program at suburban Ioco, recently completed, will take their oil supplies from the big pipeline.

Other projects include Elk Falls Company, Duncan Bay, Vancouver island, newsprint mill, $25,000,000; Power River Company, modernization and expansion, $15,000,000, and Alaska Pine and Cellulose, Port Alice, Vancouver island, Modernization and expansion, $6,000,000.

Another $15,000,000 is accounted for in plans of the New Westminster Paper Company, $2,000,000; Howe Sound Pulp and Paper, modernization, $5,000,000; Simpson-Sears department store and mail order house, suburban Burnaby, $4,000,000 and Woodward department stores, new construction, $4,000,000.

STRIKE VIOLENCE—Hamilton police clash with pickets at the strike-bound plant of Wallace Bruns Steel Springs. A kicking picket is carried from the line as fist fights break out between police and members of the United Electrical Workers (Ind.). The plant has been closed since June 24 when the union rejected a conciliation board report which did not recommend wage increases sought by the men. Violence started when non-striking workers tried to enter the plant through the picket lines.

Jury Convicts Man Keeping Young Child

WINNIPEG (CP)—George Prevost, who chose a five-year-old girl as a travelling companion on a trip ended by his arrest, was convicted Thursday in assize court on a charge of detaining a child under 14.

Chief Justice E. K. Williams remanded the 55-year-old Churchill, Man., laborer for sentence at the end of the assizes.

The all-male jury acquitted Prevost of taking a child under 14 years from the possession of her parents and another charge of taking a child under the age of 16 from the possession of her parents. The jury recommended mercy.

COUNTRY-WIDE SEARCH

The child, Linda Verfaillie, who testified at Prevost's trial, was the object of a country-wide search last June after she and Prevost failed to return from a visit to a farm near Winnipeg. Police arrested Prevost in Vancouver.

The child's mother said Prevost had been living at the Verfaillie home and was fond of children. He asked permission in May to take Linda for a holiday on a farm just outside the city. The mother eventually reported Linda missing June 12. The man and child were together for 31 days.

The Movie Column

Mack Sennett Returns To Film Job

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Pioneer laugh-maker Mack Sennett is back in the movie business after an absence of many years—too many, his friends agree.

The inventor of the tossed pie and film discoverer of Charlie Chaplin, Bing Crosby, W. C. Fields and many others, Sennett is now acting as script consultant on a future Abbott and Costello film, "High and Dizzy."

"The producer, Howard Christie, offered me an office out at Universal and everything," said the native of Denville, Que. "I didn't want to get involved in all that. So the script writer, Lee Loeb, comes to my apartment and we work on gags for the picture. I've got a storehouse of 'em."

This is his first return to active film-making since he and Steve Allen put together some of the old Sennett reels into a feature called "Down Memory Lane" in 1949. He also acted as supplier of gags and background for 20th Century-Fox's "Hollywood Cavalcade" in 1939.

THE EARLY DAYS

The Abbott and Costello opus concerns the early days of film comedy, and there's no greater expert than Mack. Although he keeps his youthful outlook—he now sports a sharp-looking crewcut — he is now delving into the past for his memoirs. He's telling them to Cameron Shipp, who did similar jobs for Lionel Barrymore and Billie Burke.

"That man Shipp is a digger," Sennett complained. "By the time he's through, there won't be a skeleton left in my closet.

"The book will be a history of the movies, but there's a thread of a love story running through it. The girl is Mabel Normand. We were childhood sweethearts and continued the romance when she became a star for my company. But we never married.

STORMY ROMANCE

"Why? Because I was married to my job. I couldn't worry about a wife and home; I was too concerned with meeting the payroll every Saturday. Mabel was the kind of girl who required attention, and I couldn't give it to her."

Mack tells some fascinating stories about their long and stormy romance. Once she found him alone with another actress. She stalked off in a huff, with Mack not far behind. When he arrived at her house, he found her sitting on the hearth, hammering away at the diamonds he had given her.

Support For Non-Support

MONTREAL (CP) — Det.-Lieut. Bill Phillips, head of the missing persons bureau, left Thursday night for Ontario where four men, wanted on non-support charges, are held for Montreal authorities. Two of the men are held in Toronto, one in Brockville and another in Sudbury. Police said the four men, whom they did not identify, have left 12 children here.

Plan Hospital Wing

BELLEVILLE (CP)—J. N. Yankover, chairman of the Belleville General Hospital board of governors, announced Thursday a campaign to raise $1,250,000 for a 100-bed wing for the hospital. Staff doctors have raised $60,000 of their $75,000 objective.

U.S. Should Buy More Goods From Canada — Whitelaw

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The United States should buy from Canada something nearer the amount Canada buys from the United States, John C. Whitelaw, assistant general manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today.

In a speech prepared for the Malleable Founders Society, an American organization of iron and steel producers, Mr. Whitelaw said that in 1952 Canadians bought from the United States goods worth $2,700,000,000, the equivalent of $186 worth of U. S. merchandise for every Canadian man, woman and child.

In the same period the United States bought from Canada goods worth $2,100,000,000, the quivalent of $13 for every American citizen.

"Can you blame us if we feel that such lowering of your tariff barriers as might make it possible to bring these per capital figures somewhat closer together would be not only fair and reasonable but in the long-term interest of both countries?"

WRONG ATTITUDE

The American attitude towards Canada, Mr. Whitelaw said, seemed to be one of buying as little as possible, unless it is something that can't be grown or made in the United States.

"Solemn covenants made by American representatives at Geneva in 1947 with respect to simplification of American customs procedures have yet to be fully implemented.

"The American government has imposed import quotas, embargos, prohibitions, and restrictions forbidden by the Geneva agreement to all countries except those in currency difficulties—and I don't think the U. S. is in that class."

The conclusion "obviously reached by your government" was that U. S. manufacturers are so inefficient, that they must be protected against Canadian manufacturers either by a tariff or the "mysterious methods employed by your U. S. customs officials" in determining duties to be levied, or "by some combination of these two trade barriers."

Some Americans, Mr. Whitelaw commented, are under the impression that Canada is among the countries which has received American aid. Far from receiving aid, Canada herself had given aid.

During the war, the United States had given $48,674,000,000, or $324 per capita, in aid to her Allies and Canada $4,700,000,000, or $361 per capita.

Planning Solid Farm Program President Says

KANSAS CITY (AP)—President Eisenhower said Thursday night his administration is ready to launch the final phase of a solidly-based national agricultural program that will protect both farmer and consumer.

"We will have that program ready for the consideration of Congress early next year," he said. "After that, of course, begin the exhaustive committee hearings and debate in the Congress.

"The end result will be as sound and as carefully thought-out a farm program as practical experience, expert knowledge and good judgment can devise."

The president spoke before the silver anniversary convention of the Future Farmers of America, a U. S. national farm boy organization.

"All of us know that the price support principle must be part of any future farm program," he told them.

Eisenhower had a breakfast meeting scheduled with governors of 12 drought-blisted states before taking off for a home town visit to Abilene, Kan. His current five-day speaking tour will take him to New Orleans, Texas and the northern edge of Mexico.

Whether present price supports will be continued after the December, 1954, expiration date, or whether the program will be drastically altered, as some propose, Eisenhower declined to predict.

In Washington, Senator Francis Case (Rep. S. D.) called Eisenhower's remark on the price support principle "heartening to a great many farmers in the Middle West."

Decide PoW Took Own Life

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (Reuters) A repatriated British prisoner-of-war who died during the homebound voyage of the "troubled" troopship Dunera from Korea committed suicide, army authorities said today.

L. Cpl. Kenneth Newby, 32, of the Gloucestershire Regiment, who was captured in Korea in 1951, was one of 200 former prisoners in the Dunera. He was found four days ago with deep neck wounds and slashed wrists. A razor blade was close by.

His comrades said Newby had "an extremely bad time" as a prisoner and once tried to escape. They said he seemed ill during the last part of the return voyage.

Pte. Terence O'Connor of Galway, Ireland, told reporters on the dock that conditions aboard the Dunera were "pretty bad" and "rather disillusioned us."

"Some men certainly were beaten up," O'Conner said. "This wasn't because of their Communist sympathies if they had them, but because they were known in the prison camps to have acted as informers."

Doctors To Decide Leg Amputation

PAISLEY, Scotland (CP)—Doctors will decide next week whether to amputate the leg of 21-year-old Angus (Gus) Galbraith of Dome, Ont., hockey player for Paisley Pirates, who fractured his thigh Oct. 2.

Paisley manager Bill Creasey said today there has been no change in the condition of the injured limb. It is feared at least part of the leg below the break may have to be amputated.

Youth Found Guilty Attempted Extortion

SUDBURY (CP)—Rene Martelle, 21, was found guilty Thursday of attempted extortion. He was remanded a week for sentence.

Dr. Paul Laflamme of Sudbury testified he had received a letter last June 12 demanding payment of $3,000. He called police and arranged to meet the writer in a city park. Police picked up Martelle at the meeting place.

Defence counsel claimed that a confession by Martelle, given earlier to police, had been obtained by violence. Three detectives denied the charge.

Judge J. M. Cooper blamed "this type of stupid crime" on the reading of comic books.

Beard An Honor

NORTH ADAMS, Mass. (AP)—Most of this city's adult male population today sported with pride a one-day growth of beard. City manager Robert H. Harp Thursday night urged North Adams' 22,000 residents to go without baths and the men without shaves today to help preserve the dwindling water supply caused by a long drought. "A Friday beard will be a badge of honor," he said.

Find Operations Very Successful

TORONTO (CP)—Operations of sexual psychopaths in Denmark have proven successful in preventing patients repeating sex crimes, Dr. George K. Sturup, head of Denmark's institution of criminal psychopaths, said Thursday.

Here to attend the 83rd Congress of Correction, Dr. Sturup said that of those who have undergone the operation (not practised in North America) only three per cent committed another sex crime after release.

Antoine Rivard, solicitor-general of Quebec, told the Canadian Penal Association that special places of detention ought to be provided for the habitual criminal and the mental deficients.

Mr. Rivard said the special institutions should be provided so that society would have permanent protection. The solicitor-general said he thought amendments to the Criminal Code should be made to take the habitual criminal out of circulation.

Serious Economic Trouble Not Expected During 1954

TORONTO (CP)—Not many economic records will be broken in 1954, but neither is there likely to be serious trouble, Morgan Reid, economist and assistant vice-president, retail, of Simpsons-Sears, Limited, said Thursday night.

In an address prepared for the Engineering Institute, Mr. Reid added:

"Next year may see some unused capacity and unemployment of a spotty character, as some capital projects are completed and other industries experience difficulties in selling their export surplus."

The Canadian economy was more resilient than ever.

FORESEES PAUSE

"The coming year may be a pause in the economic expansion which has been under way for 13 years."

Mr. Reid said there likely will be some decline in the price of the Canadian dollar in terms of the United States dollar, because of an unfavorable trade balance.

Export industries, particularly gold mining, would benefit.

"Don't think we are going bankrupt because we chalk up some large red figures in our balance of payments.

"To a large extent the size of our deficit ($365,000,000 in the first half of this year) is due to heavy requirements for machinery and equipment for our resource projects. We are actually making down-payments on the acquisition of a better standard of living in the future."

Canada will likely have wheat marketing problems, said Mr. Reid, but "there is no reason to suggest that any major downturn in our wheat exports is imminent."

Doug Landry's sketches of many well known people of the city that have been hanging in the window of the Downeyflake Shop for the past two weeks, have been drawing lots of attention from people passing on the street.

DONATE INCUBATOR

The Board of Governors of Civic Hospital Thursday night accepted an offer from the Women's Auxiliary to provide an explosion-proof incubator for the hospital.

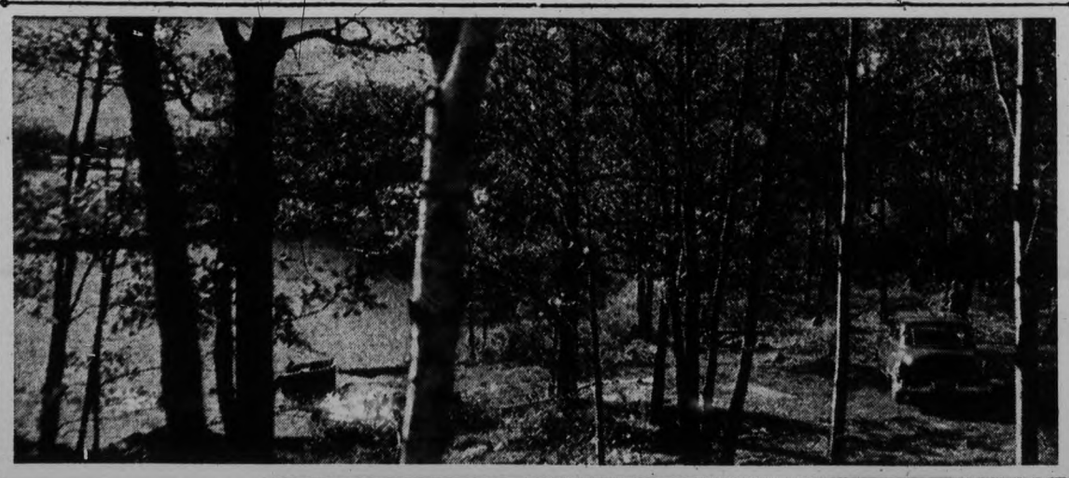
REGISTRATION NIGHT

Several displays of interest groups were exhibited Thursday evening at the YWCA So-Ed registration night held at the Y. More than 100 people were at the first meeting and besides the displays there was square dancing in the recreation room.

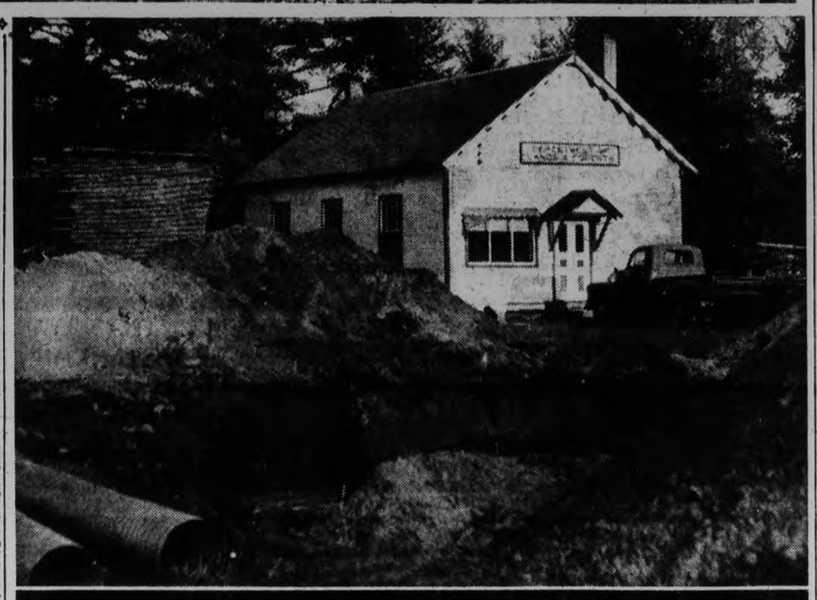
HOSPITAL EQUIPMENT

Civic Hospital Board of Governors Thursday night approved purchase with funds from the E. R. Wood estate of two pieces of capital equipment for the laboratory: a $582 spectrophotometer with accessories, for photo-electric analysis, and a $124 centrifuge, to speed up production of work owing to increased demand.

AT OAC TODAY



Three Peterborough 4-H Club teams left from Guelph Thursday afternoon for the inter-county competition at OAC. They were: grain team—Barry Wilson and Bill Chamberlain; forestry—Ann Wilson and Fred Stabler; tractor maintenance—Bruce Hill and Joel Redden. The winners of the competitions today will represent Ontario at the interprovincial and final round at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto.



CONDITION SATISFACTORY

Condition of Mrs. Charles R. Logan, 42, of Marmora, whose chest was crushed Monday in an accident on her husband's farm, is reported to be satisfactory. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital after being pinned to the barn wall by her husband's truck. She suffered a broken right collarbone and crushed ribs on the right side.

START POLITICAL FUND

Local 293, United Packinghouse Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), have started off the campaign fund for the city elections with a $100 cheque. Other locals in both the T.L.C. and the other C.C.L. labor council locals are expected to follow suit. These two labor bodies are planning to sponsor four candidates in the city elections. Local 293 are the bargaining agents for Quaker Oats Co. production workers here.

LANDS AND FORESTS PROJECTS are widespread throughout the Kawartha district. In the top photo is their newly-planned public parking area and picnic ground on the West Arm of Stony Lake Bay, Kosh Lake; a quarter-mile road connects it with the existing road approach and will have fireplaces and outside tables, next year. At Apsley (centre photo) the ranger's headquarters building—formerly a church mission hall—has been moved back to become a warehouse; a new building will be erected on the foreground excavation with a four-car garage behind it. Building progress was discussed by district forester A. B. Wheatley of Lindsay (left in lower photo), Apsley headquarters clerk George Carr and regional forester W. B. Greenwood of Peterborough.

Nursing Registry Asks Help To Avoid Closing

The Community Nursing Registry faces extinction unless it can raise enough money to write off an indebtedness which is expected to reach $2,000 at the end of the year and guarantee that it can operate a balanced budget in 1954. With annual expenditures of approximately $5,100, the registry is currently going into debt at the rate of about $1,000 a year.

The registry's plight was explained to the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital Thursday night by a delegation led by Dr. W. I. Taylor, medical administrator of the Peterborough Clinic. Others on the delegation were Ford Warren, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Fred Overend, a member of the advisory board of St. Joseph's Hospital, and Dr. Roger Chenoweth, a past president of the Civic Hospital medical staff.

Dr. Taylor said the registry could apparently not operate next year unless it was guaranteed $1,500 and asked the hospital board for a contribution of $1,000 in return for services during the year and to earmark another $1,000 for 1954.

The board referred its request to its executive committee for further study from the hospital's viewpoint and reconsideration by the board in a month's time.

NO CONTRIBUTION

Dr. Taylor said he had been advised that neither the city council nor the community chest felt they were in a position to contribute to the financial support of the registry, although such support was given in other communities.

A token contribution of $200 had been received from St. Joseph's Hospital and Mr. Overend stated that if the Civic Hospital Board granted the request he would undertake to have St. Joseph's Hospital Board raise their contribution to $500.

Police Cut One-Quarter Off Overcoats

Shorter Coats To Make Movements Easier

City police uniforms are not invulnerable to change, but in this case it is not Dior, but the police commission which is dictating the new fashion.

In the future the policeman's heavy great coat will be three-quarter length. Full length coats already being used will be cut to size and all future orders will be in that size. The main reason for the change is to facilitate movement.

Another addition to the uniform will be a silver cap badge, and an order for 50 such badges at a cost of slightly more than $200 has been approved by the commission. Three gold plated badges will also be ordered for Chief Constable John Thompson, Deputy Chief Constable John Naples and Inspector of Detectives William Clarke.

An order for 30 winter caps, "tested by the Toronto police", at a cost of $3.40 each, has also been approved. Shoulder badges, indicating officers as municipal police, are being discussed by the commission, but as yet nothing has been confirmed. It was decided to postpone discussion on these until further information was obtained.

Miscellaneous apparel to be purchased included one peajacket, which will complete the store, three leather coats at $47.50 each, three fur motorcycle caps at $12, and four pairs of one-finger mitts at $9.75 a pair.

Constable Reg McMillan was given a six-month probationary advancement to patrol sergeant.

Tenders for the purchase of new radio equipment are to be sought. The equipment now used is in first class mechanical shape, but it does not conform with the Department of Transport ruling. The wave length is not in the standard police range and some reports of interference have been reported.

Chief Thompson also requested that City Clerk Outram advertise for one man to fill a vacancy in the police department. Interviews will begin when the Chief returns from holidays, about the last week of October.

Plant Gate Collection

Today Peterborough members of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (Indep.) are taking up a plant-gate collection outside the Quaker Oats Co. to help the U. E. strikers at the Wallace Barnes Co. plant in Hamilton. During the strike at Quaker Oats this summer collections for the Peterborough strikers were taken up at the UE-organized Westinghouse plant in Hamilton.

D. Kerr Resigns As Manager Of Empress Hotel

Dave Kerr has resigned as manager of the Empress Hotel and in addition has disposed of his interest in the hotel, it was announced today.

He will be succeeded as general manager by Ronald Peck, eight years manager of the General Brock Hotel in Niagara Falls, and for five years manager of the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton.

Mr. Kerr, onetime goalie with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, has been general manager of the Empress for nearly nine years. During that time, many improvements have been made in the facilities of the hotel, and an addition containing up to date rooms was made.

Just recently, the front of the hotel and the interior of the coffee shop were remodelled. In that remodelling, the familiar balcony over the hotel's main entrance was removed.

Mr. Peck, who took over today as manager, said the directors of the hotel plan to continue the policy of improvement that was started under Mr. Kerr's management. Mr. Peck has signed a management contract with the directors.

Mr. Kerr said he had no immediate plans for the future.

"I'm going to stay around for a while. You could just say I'm retired; for the moment, at any rate."

In the hotel business since 1923, his successor, Mr. Peck, was associated with the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal, the London Hotel in London, Ont., and for five years he was manager of the Berkley Hotel in Montreal.

From Montreal, he went to the General Brock, and from there to the Royal Connaught in Hamilton.

$2,500 Fire Destroys Warsaw Barn

Equipment, Hay Lost; No Wind Lightens Danger

WARSAW (ENS) — Damage of about $2,500 was done shortly after midnight today when a barn owned by Ed Bell was destroyed by fire.

Mr. Bell lost about $200 worth of garden tools and other equipment, and Fred Sharpe, who used a part of the barn, lost three tons of baled hay, worth about $50.

Cause of the fire is unknown, and only a small part of the loss is covered by insurance.

The fire was first noticed about 1 a.m. today by Mrs. Don Sharpe, a daughter-in-law of Fred Sharpe. She telephoned an alarm that brought men of the village hurrying to form a bucket brigade. When she saw the fire, the roof of the building was already in flames.

As there was no wind, the threat to nearby buildings was slight. Closest to the flames was Fred Sharpe's home, which the bucket brigade kept soaked. They had no chance to save the 20 by 30 foot frame barn.

Within an hour, the fire had almost burned out, and the barn had been levelled.

80,000 Attend Plowing Match

COBOURG (ENS)—Attendance figures at last week's international and world plowing match show that 80,000 people took in the big show during its four days of operation.

This figure was smaller than anticipated. Some committee members predicted an attendance of 150,000.

Inclement weather on opening day caused a poor turn-out. As the world plowing match didn't start until Thursday, many postponed their visit to see the whole thing that day when attendance was said to be around 35,000.

Dorset Teacher Heads Haliburton Assoc.

BRANTFORD (CP) — Arthur Jackson of Dorset was elected president of the Haliburton Teachers' Association at the annual meeting held Thursday night. Fifty-five delegates attended the convention.

Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Cecilia Brown, Lochlin; secretary, Mrs. Muriel Brown, Carnarvon; treasurer, Mrs. M. Madill, Gooderham.

Russell Reid, public school superintendent for Brantford, told the teachers of the needs they must administer to the children. He set them out as social, physical, emotion and spiritual.

90 Years Old

STIRLING (ENS)—Mr. John T. McDonnell, Foxboro, father of Mr. Fred McDonnell, Stirling, celebrated his 90th birthday Monday at his son's home.

Despite his years Mr. McDonnell is in excellent health and maintains a keen interest in the events of the day.

Canon Fred Ongley Named New Rector Of St. John's

The Rev. Canon Fred G. Ongley, BA, MA, rector of St. Matthew's Cathedral, Brandon, Man., has been appointed rector of St. John's Anglican Church, Hunter St. His duties will begin December 1, with services in the church on Sunday, December 6.

Canon Ongley, who will become the 10th rector of St. John's, mother church of Peterborough's Anglican population, will succeed Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, whose retirement as rector will take effect October 31, his 71st birthday.

Archdeacon Robertson, who was appointed rector of St. John's in 1936, will remain rector emeritus at the behest of the parochial committee. The Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverly, Bishop of Toronto, has expressed his intention of retaining him as Archdeacon of Peterborough, to which he was appointed in 1947.

Canon Ongley comes to Peterborough with a reputation for outstanding work in church affairs and community life in Brandon, after serving with distinction as an RCAF chaplain during the Second World War.

HAMILTON EDUCATION

From 1938 to 1940 he served as assistant curate at St. Clement's Church, North Toronto, and was ordained priest by the Bishop of Toronto in 1939. He was rector of Collingwood parish from 1940 to 1942, when he joined the chaplaincy service of the RCAF, with which he served until 1947.

Canon Ongley is married and has three children.

Paul B. Wicks New President Baptist Assoc.

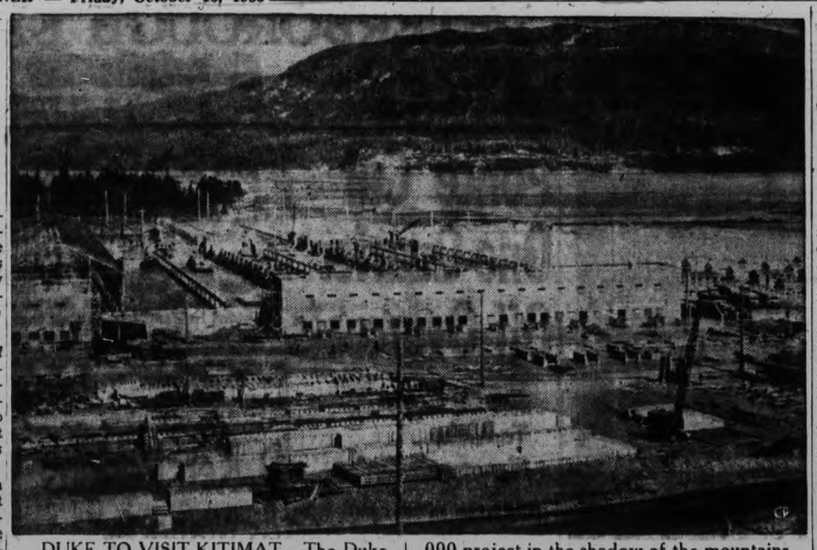
3-D Advertising Not Practical Experts Report

MONTREAL (CP) — While demand for color advertising in newspapers will probably increase, use of three-dimensional ads in dailies offers mostly "one-shot" novelty advantages, Martin Livingston, advertising head of Halifax's two dailies, said Thursday.



He told the annual meeting of the Newspaper Advertising Managers Association of Eastern Canada, that 3-D advertising in newspapers enables the advertiser to direct attention to his display, but is not practical as a continuous method.

An analysis of the situation in United States dailies showed that every newspaper printing in several colors would eventually have to investigate 3-D because the advertiser might demand it.

Earlier, Eric Wilson, advertising director of the Montreal Star, said in his presidential address that advertising lineages have generally shown satisfactory increases during the last year as national advertisers returned to the newspaper as an advertising medium.

He said classified ads are a "very profitable source of added revenue."

Other speakers included Court Conlee, promotion manager of the Milwaukee Journal; J. C. Anderson, the Kitchener-Waterloo Record; Harold W. Deadman, the Charleston, N.C., Daily Mail, and Ian H. Macdonald, the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association.

DUKE TO VISIT KITIMAT—The Duke of Edinburgh will visit Kitimat, B.C., site of a huge new aluminum project on the province's industrial frontier. This is pot line No. 1, looking southeast, of the $450,000,000 project in the shadow of the mountains. The Kitimat valley is big enough to hold a modern city of 50,000 population. The smelter is expected to turn out its first ingots shortly before the Duke arrives in Canada July 29.

Picket Cabinet At Hearing With Deep-Sea Shipowners

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet, in a special session picketed by unemployed seamen, Thursday heard shipowners' representations on a Canadian policy for deep-sea shipping.

The owners, a spokesman said later, told the ministers the ocean-going fleet of 33 ships cannot continue operations under existing government policy.

Federal subsidies were implied in the brief, it was indicated, though the owners' spokesman said they were not mentioned specifically. The government for some months has been studying the question of subsidizing a "nucleus" fleet of ocean vessels.

PICKETS AT DOOR

Prime Minister St. Laurent and other government members met in the East Block with members of the Canadian Shipowners Association, while a handful of men described as unemployed seamen walked a picket line in front of the building's door.

The five seamen were not affiliated with the Seafarers' International Union (AFL-TLC), which has been on strike against Canadian deep-sea shipowners since Sept. 28.

The placard-carrying picketers were headed by Danny Daniels of Montreal, one-time official of the now-defunct Canadian Seamen's Union (Ind.), which had a stormy 15-year career and eventually broke up because of its Communist domination.

WALK PAST PICKETS

Several ministers including Mr. St. Laurent walked past the good-natured picket line as it paraded before an East Block entrance. One picketer said Mr. St. Laurent called the demonstration "interesting." Finance Minister Abbott chatted with some of the picketers.

The meeting between the ship owners and the cabinet had no immediate connection with the strike of about 1,000 men on Canada's ocean-going vessels called by the SIU. It was arranged before the strike began, to enable operators to make representations on a long-range federal policy for the fleet.

After the meeting, a cabinet source said the government has come to no conclusions as to what should be done about the ocean fleet. The question of subsidies has been considered, he said, but will not be determined immediately.

NOT SPECIFIC

J. W. Fisher, manager of the shipowners association, told a reporter after the cabinet session that the operators did not specifically suggest a subsidy.

"It was merely pointed out that we cannot continue in operation under present government policy," he said. "We did urge that the government make a decision on its policy as quickly as possible."

Judge Settles Wife Dispute

TORONTO (CP)—The woman the late Henry Rupert Bain referred to in his will was his first wife and not the woman he married after switching wives with a friend, a court decided Thursday.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer handed down the ruling at Osgoode Hall and said the Idaho divorce of Bain and his first wife, Mary Eileen, was not legal "as far as Ontario laws are concerned."

The chief justice said "there was not the slightest evidence to indicate Bain changed his domicile to Idaho." He was asked only to rule on who the late stock broker referred to in his will when he said "my wife." Bain died in Cuernavaca, Mexico, March 25, 1952, and left an estate of $2,366,330.

Mrs. Bain obtained her divorce in Idaho June 30, 1951. On June 11, Mrs. Reginald Watkins, who later married Bain, had obtained a divorce from her husband, a business and social acquaintance of Bain, in Mexico. Mrs. Bain married Mr. Watkins July 7 and Bain married Mrs. Watkins July 20.

Find Death Accidental

BRANTFORD (CP) — Police termed accidental the death of Edward K. Hodson whose body was found Thursday between the rails of a Canadian National Railways line near here. Police said Hodson suffered extensive internal injuries. It is believed he was hit by a train.

Joe McCarthy Bruised

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Joe McCarthy, former manager of New York Yankees, escaped with minor bumps and bruises Thursday when his automobile was wrecked in a three-way collision in the suburban town of Alden. The 66-year-old McCarthy walked away from the wreck. He was treated by a doctor at home.

Delay Decision On Appeal For New Trial

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—New York state's highest tribunal reserved decision Thursday on an appeal for a new trial for two Canadians sentenced to die for the holdup-slaying of a Buffalo jeweler.

Maurice O'Dell, 27, and Walter F. Griffen, 26, both of Hamilton, were sentenced last May 1 on charges of first-degree murder in the shooting of Donald F. Hurd in Hurd's store Dec. 9, 1952.

In his argument before the court of appeals Thursday, district attorney John F. Dwyer contended that O'Dell and Griffen had been given a fair trial and had been convicted properly.

The defendants' rights, he said, "were carefully safeguarded by the court."

John S. McGovern, Griffen's lawyer, argued Wednesday that the defendants did not get a fair trial and that the jury failed to give fair consideration to the possibility of recommending life imprisonment.

W. Bartlett Sumner of Buffalo, O'Dell's lawyer, argued that the men were convicted improperly and that improper evidence was admitted.

Canada Said Facing Shortage Of Dentists

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. W. H. Reid, Toronto, Thursday told a Canadian Dental Association meeting that Canada faces a critical shortage of dentists and no national health plan would be practical unless training facilities are increased immediately.

Dr. Reid said Canada's five dental schools are filled to capacity and that this capacity has remained unchanged for 15 years while the population has increased by one-third. He said 50 per cent of Canada's 5,000 dentists are more than 50 years old.

Those Are Fighting Words

Churchill's Son Makes Front Page Every Time He Plans To Give Speech

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — Randolph's going to make another speech!

Those are fighting words today in Fleet street. Cheeky Randolph Churchill has Britain's press barons on the hook.

He's so nasty to the press they're calling him Randolph the rude-nosed rascal.

Randolph Frederick Edward Spencer Churchill, only son of Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill, is definitely front-page copy. A single speech did the trick.

At a luncheon last month to celebrate the launching of a book about a London newspaper, the stocky Randolph rose and smote the assembled guests.

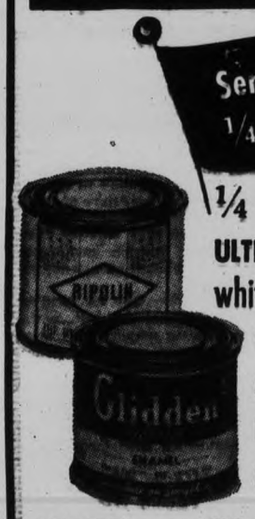
He criticized the press in general and certain newspaper lords in particular. He blasted the fourth estate for "cataracts" of pornography. The papers printed it, in whole or in part. One commentator said the premier's son had become a national figure overnight.

Randolph rose again in Manchester Oct. 7, saying much the same things, only more so. He named names. He reproached Sir William Haley, editor of the Times, for not publishing a report of his London speech. (The Times didn't cover his second speech, either.)

Soon after this second attack, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard announced that the 42-year-old Churchill had been hired as the paper's guest television critic. The Recorder, a weekly, signed him up to a regular stint analyzing the day-to-day performance of the national press.

IRONY IN SITUATION

There was irony in the situation since Churchill, a writer who depends largely on newspapers for his living, had talked himself into two newspaper jobs of criticizing—the newspapers.



Hannen Swaffer, one of Fleet street's most venerable figures, recalled in his column Thursday that Randolph used to criticize Canadian-born Lord Beaverbrook, the man who now has hired him. Swaffer said nearly a year ago the prime minister's son blasted Beaverbrook for being ready to employ "Socialists and crypto-Communists."

Accused Lying Cadi Decides Convicts Driver

Michael Hogan, 20, of Wilberforce, on Thursday afternoon was sentenced to [illegible] days in the county jail when he was convicted on a charge of drunken driving.

Referring to defence evidence, Magistrate R. I. Moore, QC, said "it was as close to perjury as I ever expect to hear."

Hogan and a fellow passenger in the car, Hubert Baumer, of Paudash Lake, maintained that Hogan was driving normally and was not under the influence of alcohol, despite the evidence of two members of the OPP and an independent witness.

Magistrate Moore—himself a former defence counsel—said that while he is on the bench he intends to "stamp out" lying by witnesses who are under oath to tell the truth.

Several times the magistrate checked Hogan to remind him of the necessity of telling the truth. After the evidence was all in, he agreed with Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, that the accused man had "no defence."

"I have no alternative, and no hesitation whatever, in finding the accused guilty," said Magistrate Moore.

He also highly commended a private citizens, William A. Morrison, of Hamilton, sales manager for an electrical company, for reporting Hogan's erratic driving to OPP Constable Jack McKendry of Apsley.

Morrison was driving north with his wife and family shortly before 4 p.m. on August 29 when he noticed a 1953 Ford, similar to his own, rounding a "blind turn" ahead of him on the wrong side of the road and travelling about 35 miles an hour. This was a few miles south of Apsley.

PURSUED CAR

Morrison said he slowed his own car down for the curve and then took off in pursuit of Hogan. Three times he tried to pass the other vehicle and twice he was edged off onto the shoulder of the road, he said. The third time he slowed his car rather than be edged off again.

Finally, Morrison told the court, he got by the meandering car. He said Hogan was slumped against the driver's door with his hair over his face.

"I saw a women reach out, grab him by the shoulders, and straighten him up," Morrison said. A pair of yellow-sock-clad feet (presumably from somebody in the rear left hand seat) were sticking out the driver's window.

"That's the man, Michael Hogan, who jeopardized the life of my wife and family," stated Morrison, pointing his finger at the accused youth. "I got a good look at him. I can recognize him by his profile."

Angry at Hogan's driving, Morrison drove ahead into Apsley and told his story to Const. McKendry who promptly started south on Highway 28 to meet the car in question. A little more than half a mile south of the village Constable McKendry saw Hogan come around another blind corner on the wrong side of the road.

The constable said Hogan stopped his car suddenly near the cruiser, then, after a momentary wait, started up again only to stop a couple of hundred feet further north.

IN DRIVER'S SEAT

Constable McKendry found Hogan in the driver's seat and looking dishevelled. Hogan's speech was slurred (though the constable volunteered the information that the youth has a naturally strange manner of speaking), he smelled strongly of alcohol and he was unsteady on his feet.

Two unopened cases of beer were found in the car.

Constable McKendry said he took Hogan to Apsley and about 5 p.m. assisted him into a cruiser driven to Apsley from Peterborough by Sgt. Stanley Palmateer.

Sgt. Palmateer confirmed that the constable had to assist Hogan into the Peterborough-bound cruiser. Earlier he had seen the accused hanging onto the cruiser with both hands to steady himself.

On the trip back to Peterborough, Hogan dozed part of the time, Sgt. Palmateer testified. His speech, for the most part, was incoherent.

FRIEND DRUNKER

"How is it that you're putting me in jail while (naming a friend) was drunker than me?" Hogan is quoted as having asked.

Sgt. Palmateer said he stopped twice during the trip back to headquarters. Once he brought a hamburger out to Hogan who started to eat it, serviette and all. Again, Hogan was given an ice cream cone, but waved it around unsteadily for a while, until it began to melt; then he threw it away.

The 1953 car, owned by Hogan's father, was ordered impounded for three months.

Hogan, backed by another defence witness, swore he had drunk only two pints of beer that day. And that was about four hours previously at his uncle's home near Peterborough.

SHOEMAKER TIES RECORD

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker Thursday tied the United States record of 390 victories in a season when he brought home Haltafire in the feature race at Golden Gate Fields.

It was Shoemaker's first victory in 13 races Thursday and Wednesday. The record was set last year by Tony DeSpirito.

Shoemaker, 22, born in El Paso, Tex., could do no better than second on the first six races Thursday. He left nothing to be desired in the feature, however.

Haltafire broke almost on top, took the lead away from Southborne, an English import, and led the rest of the way. He beat Home Free by 1¼ lengths. The favorite, The Green Lion, raced third.

Durelle Takes Title Downs Gord Wallace

MONCTON (CP)—His Canadian light heavyweight title safely tucked away, Yvon Durelle of Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., today was seriously considering reverting to the middleweight rank.

Durelle scored a unanimous decision over Gordon Wallace of Brantford, Ont., in a bruising 12-round light-heavyweight title bout here Thursday night. It was the second meeting of the pair. Durelle won the title in an elimination match with Wallace at Glace Bay, N.S., in Septmbr.

"There aren't enough light-heavyweight challengers in Canada to make it worthwhile holding the title," Durelle said. He plans to move to western Canada, and will relinquish his light - heavy title if necessary to campaign as a middleweight.

Durelle weighed 170 pounds for Thursday's fight, compared with Wallace's 169.

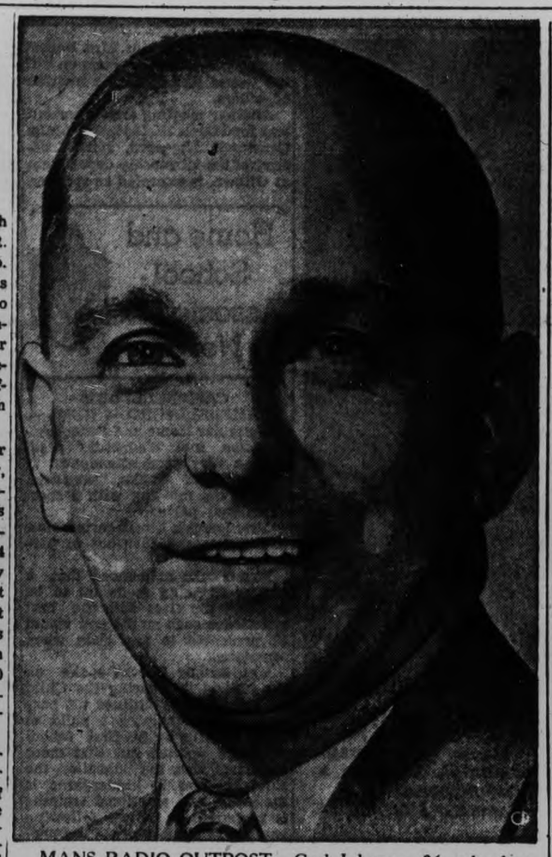
Rotarians Plan Welcome For Governor

The Rotary Club of Peterborough on Monday will be host to Ray R. Jessup, Governor of District No. 247 of Rotary International, who is making his annual official visit to each of the 60 Rotary Clubs in Ontario and Quebec. He will confer with President Paul Irwin, Secretary Dave Bell and other local officers on Rotary administration and service activities.

Mr. Jessup is resident manager of Draper Dobie & Co., in Sudbury, Ont., and is a member of the Rotary Club of Sudbury. He was elected District Governor of Rotary International for the 1953-54 fiscal year at the annual Rotary convention in Paris, France, last May. He is one of the 212 district governors supervising the activities of some 8,000 Rotary Clubs which have a membership of 372,000 business and professional executives in 86 countries and geographical regions through the world.



Wherever Rotary clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Peterborough because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding between business and professional men, promoting community - betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good-will, understanding and peace among all the peoples of the world.

Mr. Jessup is expected to arrive on Sunday, and following church services on Sunday evening a club assembly at the Empress Hotel will be held.

MANS RADIO OUTPOST—Carl Johnson, 36, who lost part of his left leg in a railroad accident, is the founder of a frontier communications system which provides a two-way radio-telephone system to trading posts, tourist lodges and fishing and timber operations in an isolatd area covering 115,000 square miles from Hudson Bay to the international boundary. A one-time trainman for the Canadian Pacific Railway, Johnson says he is "determined to bring main street to the door of every isolated community."

Seeks To Bring Main Street To Doors Of Isolated Areas

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—Until Carl Johnson traded part of his left leg for a career in communications, the telephone was a stranger to much of remote northwestern Ontario.

The one-time CPR trainman might have spent his life on the railroad but for a yard accident and the subsequent amputation of his leg below the knee.

Instead, he founded a business which is ending isolation in a 115,000 square-mile area from Hudson Bay to the international boundary.

Through Mr. Johnson's company, Norwesto Communications Ltd., two-way radio-telephone is bringing telephone and telegraph to trading posts, tourist lodges and fishing and timber operations in this land of bears, fish, lakes and loneliness.

His own previous interest in radio didn't go much past tuning in a station and he had never thought of communications as a career.

"I was getting along well as a trainman and had pretty fair seniority," he says. "Most people, I think, would hesitate to throw up that security."

But today, as founder and president of Norwesto, he says he is "determined to bring main street to the door of every isolated community."

He's making progress. A trader on Hudson Bay can send a telegram to, say, his aunt in Victoria. A cook at a remote lodge can telephone his grub list to the nearest store.

Norwesto was incorporated in May, 1948. Besides going out to trapper and trader, it gives telephone service to such communities as Red Lake and Madsen. The system will eventually extend as far east as Sudbury.

Because of the prohibitive cost of building land lines over the rugged country, experiments in radio-telephone were conducted in Ontario as early as 1936, but there were too many kinks to be worked out and the idea was dropped.

The accident which changed Mr. Johnson's life was in May, 1948, at Kenora, where he now heads a travel agency with offices in the Norwesto offices; radio station CJRL, and other businesses.

The 36-year-old man of many enterprises—who finds time to be president of the Kenora Hockey Club and gave a group of talented youngsters a trip to New York's Carnegie Hall to hear a concert of Canadian music — could have stayed with the CPR if he wished. But he left, dabbling for a while in real estate.

"Then two friends in the taxi business ran into grief, and asked me whether I could spare them some time."

In trying to improve the taxi service—he ended with a half interest—Mr. Johnson talked to a Kenora radio man who suggested dispatching by radio. Mr. Johnson soon was wondering whether the frequency modulation radio service was the answer to the northland's isolation.

He met Weston C. Fisher, who had made radio-telephone surveys in the Ontario bush country and had the same dream, and later C. H. Brereton, who had 20 years' experience in the scientific side of communications. Mr. Fisher became vice-president in charge of Norwesto operations and Mr. Brereton chief engineer.

Obstacles included lack of equipment suited to the north (that's why Norwesto still builds some equipment in its modern shop), but in June, 1948, the company's first experimental radio-telephone circuit was installed between Kenora and Ball Lake Lodge, 42 miles away. It was a success.

Operated by a compact staff of about 27, Norwesto now has 25 commercial fish camps and trading posts, seven timber camps and five private camps.

Distant customers—for instance, those on Hudson bay—send messages in morse code over radio telegraph to Norwesto terminals. Customers closer in use two-way voice radio.

Messages are relayed through telegraph company teletypes to many parts of the world. Through agreements with major telephone companies, long-distance calls can be made even from remote hunting lodges.

The company's first capital was provided by H. S. Linnerooth, a St. Paul, Minn., livestock dealer and a long-time friend of Mr. Johnson. Today, there are about 300 shareholders.

Mr. Johnson tells how his company finished installing a radio-telephone at a tourist camp one Saturday night. Next morning an American visitor suffered a heart attack. A call brought an airplane and, because of fast treatment, the man survived.

On another call from 42 miles out it took a doctor using an airplane just 40 minutes to reach a patient's bedside.

Mr. Johnson, whose wife is a former nursing sister he met while in the army, says he now can look at the loss of a leg "as a blessing in disguise."

He has two children, and a business he likes in the hometown he has no intention of leaving.

Council Achievements Related At Anniversary

The Local Council of Women's meeting in celebration of the 40th anniversary of the Council in Peterborough on Thursday was in effect a stock-taking of the accomplishments of the Council on the local and also on the national front.

One of Canada's most outstanding women, Mrs. R. J. Marshall, LLD, of Agincourt, the imediate past president of the National Council of Women, was their special guest for the occasion, and she spoke for the National Council which is to observe its 60th anniversary on November 24.

Mrs. W. H. Morton had gone through the archives of Peterborough Council since February 21, 1913, and she read a resume of the activities she had prepared. She stressed that "This organization's function is to create public opinion and with the help of other organizations to promote certain projects for the welfare of the citizens."

From the long list of items proposed, attempted and accomplished, one in particular stood out: A Memorial Centre was proposed by the Local Council of Women in 1917.

A matter which Mrs. Morton noted it had taken 20 years to accomplish was the change in date of the civic elections.

The National Council's achievements in its first five years were first dealt with by Mrs. Marshall. She related how Lady Aberdeen had become the organizer and first president at the age of 36 and had served as president for 36 years.

She reminded that the purpose and aims of the organization as formulated at the start had been so broad they had never needed renewing. They are "To further the application of the Golden Rule."

The account mentioned that the Women's Art Association has been a member of National Council for the 60 years and that 26 other national women's organizations are now affiliated. Mrs. Marshall said the VON had its origin in National Council and the first Women's Insitute was formed by the then treasurer of the National Council. The Associated Country Women of the World was formed at the suggestion of Lady Aberdeen, she added. The National is affiliated with the International Council of Women which has met in Canada only once, in 1909.

Mrs. Marshall went on to say that the Canadian Association of Consumers, now recognized by all departments of the government, is a child of National Council, and that the Council advocated the setting up of the Bureau of Standards. She remarked that the Thrift Campaign started by the National a few years ago had increased the bank savings to such an extent that merchants asked that it be called off in the interests of their business.

"National Council has been represented on many private and official conferences of the government and has acted on many committees in the furtherance of the family estate," said Mrs. Marshall in conclusion. "There will always be new opportunities for service and work as the women have done in the past 60 years."

Throughout the meeting a "memory candle" was burning and at the close of the program a candle lighting service was held. Mrs. Marshall lighted a candle in memory of Lady Aberdeen. Others were lit by Mrs. C. M. Scott, a Peterborough life member of the National Council, Mrs. C. G. Collins, in tribute to the Provincial Council, and Mrs. Karl Simpson, a member of the Local Council since 1913.

President Mrs. A. W. Nelson presided for the meeting and conducted the candle-lighting.

Introduction of Mrs. Marshall to the audience was made by Mrs. Alan Moldaver and the expression of appreciation was voiced by Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon.

Afternoon tea and birthday cake, cut by Mrs. Marshall, was served the ladies in the Y Green Room, their program having been presented in the recreation room.

Gold and bronze 'mums centred the tea table and it was highly the tea table and it was lighted by yellow candles. Mrs. Hugh Waddell and Mrs. E. A. Outram filled the tea cups.

Local Council Coming Events

Business session of the Local Council of Women on Thursday consisted mainly of announcements of coming events.

The Council is sponsoring a meeting concerning housing for elderly people to be held next Wednesday evening, October 21st at 8 o'clock in the Green Room of the YWCA to which the public is invited.

Mr. L. E. Ludlow, director for Aged Branch, Department of Public Welfare, Toronto, will be guest speaker and Mr. W. S. Goulding, Community Planning Branch, Toronto, will show films of the various projects undertaken by Canadian cities.

On November 24th it is planned to have a day-long conference, commencing at ten o'clock and ending at four, for which the National President, Mrs. Turner Bone of Montreal has agreed to be the luncheon speaker. Another interesting address of the day will be Miss Ruth Hamilton on older women workers.

The president, Mrs. A. W. Nelson, has assumed responsibility for the transportation of children to the new School for Retarded Children at the YWCA and she asked for volunteer drivers who would be free at nine o'clock and 11:30 in the mornings. Mrs. Nelson said she now has 11 drivers on call but would like to have a number of others.

Another meeting announcement was for March 19, 1954, when Miss Constance Hayward, liaison officer of the citizenship department at Ottawa, is expected as speaker.

This camp, sponsored by the United Church, is run by the East Central Zone Recreational Association for the purpose of training playground leaders. Mrs. Newman quoted Alex Sinclair, Recreation Director of Peterborough, in a speech he gave on the essentials of a properly supervised playground.

Following a short relaxation period in which the group participated in games and a sing-song, William Rothwell, principal, suggested open discussion in which he would answer any questions the parents cared to ask and extended an invitation to come to his office any itme to discuss problems pertaining to their childs' schooling.

Neckline Change Easy Way To Overtake Fall Fashion

Up to your neck in fall fashions? That's where any gal with a weak budget and a strong desire for a new dress can look for remodeling ideas to put fresh spark in an old gown.

What's more, revamping a neckline is one of the easiest and most dramatic transformations a semi-skilled home sewer can perform. form.

You can open up the neckline of a simple high-collared basic wool or crepe dress, for example, and frame it with a rolled velvet collar which tapers to a point in back to expose a pretty throat and shoulder line. All you need to do for this is to baste a line where you want the new neckline, rounding the line in front, tapering it in the back. Cut off the old collar a half inch above the basting line. Measure the basting line.

Cut a bias strip of velvet three inches wide and an inch longer than the basting line. Fold velvet in half, lengthwise, with napped sides together and stitch both ends a half inch from the edge. Trim, turn and press.

Starting at the point in back, stitch one edge of collar to basting line on dress, trim. Turn under the other edge of the collar and hem to dress. Slipstitch the two ends together at back.

As pretty as velvet for this open-throated collar are satin, surah or taffeta.

Another dress, which buttons up the back and has a straight simple front, looks much newer with the simple addition of fur cuffs and a fur collar. I'd been hoarding snippets of fur from an outcast winter coat and was able to salvage enough to refurnish the dress.

THIS BASIC WOOL DRESS is an old-timer, but a dramatic new neckline, which was easy to make, brings it up to date. The rolled velvet collar, cut three inches wide on the bias, was machine stitched on the wrong side about 12 stitches to the inch (centre). The velvet tapers in back to a point. Sleeves were shortened and some of the fullness cut out.

Readers' Friday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

QUESTION: I do wish I could see you in person . . . your column is so homey . . . your recipes are so easy to follow . . . could you tell me how much money it should take to feed husband and me and 2½-year-old daughter? We're building our own home. The house isn't finished yet but we've moved in and are enjoying it beyond words . . . Breakfasts are standard: canned fruit juice, big bowl of rolled oats, coffee for father, small bowl rolled oats, boiled egg, and toast for daughter and me . . . Bill takes his lunch—also standard: he likes lots of cheese, and tomatoes, cookies and fruit. The boys buy milk at the office. Erica and I have great variety of things for lunch and I try to make it nutritious . . . for dinner we have anything from spaghetti to meat balls and roasts . . . anything goes because it is the only meal I can get any variety in . . . we drink 2 quarts of milk per day . . . I use skim milk powder for cooking. Does that give you any sort of picture? How does canned orange juice compare to fresh squeezed for vitamins? We plan on having a big garden next year and buying a canning machine. The garden this year is just lettuce tomatoes, carrots . . . vegetables never tasted so good. When should black currant bushes be planted? . . . I hoped you enjoyed your holidays . . . we went camping for a week in Algonquin . . . Mary H. W.

ANSWER: I have left out parts of your letter, but don't think for a minute that I did not appreciate all the pleasant remarks.

It is impractical for me to outline what your food costs should be since I would have to shop in your district. I am mailing you pamphlets on the subject that will be a good guide, and lists of others you can write for. Your garden will be a great help, both from an economical and nutritional engle. The Vitamin C content of fresh orange and grapefruit vs. canned orange and grapefruit juices gives fresh orange and grapefruit the best comparison IF it is used at once. However since you would use more of the canned juices and they are more convenient and less expensive you would in all likelihood consume the same amount of vitamins.

On the whole your menu plans sound better-than-average from a nutritional standpoint. Be sure to use your fruits and vegetables quickly in as little water as possible and use vegetable liquids in soups, gravies and sauce. Do not discard them . . . a grower tells me that black currant bushes should be planted after their growth is finished in the Fall—about the last week in October. However you do take a chance on them being winter-killed, but if they do survive the bushes are good. If planted in the spring you do not take this chance. I planted mine in the spring, knowing nothing whatever about it. It is now 10 years old and we picked 14 quarts from it this summer. Good luck on all your new ventures.

QUESTION: I am a newcomer . . . I just ooze up cooking hints and recipes . . . what makes pastry stick to pie plates . . . I do flour the pie plate a little . . . I know fruit pies might cause this trouble but I am referring to pumpkin pie. Keep up your chummy way and personal chat . . . Irene.

ANSWER: Don't flour your pie plate. Be sure to use 1-3 part shortening or lard to 1 part flour—that is if you use 3 cups flour you cut into it 1 cup shortening or lard. I use glass pie plates, and this proportion and oven of 450 deg. Fahr. for first 10 minutes, and the pastry never sticks. Thanks for your friendly letter.

QUESTION: . . . you had an article on fresh desserts. Do you freeze a can of pears or peaches as is, without opening it—that is juice and all. Also in combining fruits for freezeing would it be advisable to combine bananas or pineapple. Would you have the recipe for whole wheat bread made from quick-rising yeast . . . Mrs. Stanley R.

ANSWER: When fruit is commercially canned there is supposed to be 3-16 inch headspace which would allow fruit in cans to be frozen without breaking open the side seam. Yes, I do this, but you could spring the side seams if can was not filled exactly right. The advantage of freezing fruits in the tin is that vitamins are conserved. It will not do any harm to try it—if the seam breaks use the fruit up. Yes, you can combine pineapple with your frozen fruit mixtures, but not bananas. I am mailing whole wheat bread recipe.

DOROTHY DIX:

Couples Need Not Share All Social Activities

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister and I have a problem which we would like you to discuss. My sister and her husband have always believed in having evenings out on their own, which has resulted in two evenings a week when they go out on separate dates. These dates, of course, are entirely on the up-and-up; her husband goes bowling and my sister takes in a movie with girl friends, or plays bridge. I, on the other hand, go very few places without my husband; all my activities include him. I prefer my husband's company to that of any one else, and he feels as I do.

JAY and KAY.

EACH HER OWN WAY

ANSWER: Why does the difference of opinion bother you? You seem to be making a virtue of your own point of view, which, after all, is a matter of personal choice. Both you and your sister are right, according to your own likes, which is the proper attitude for you both. The important thing is that each idea has the unqualified approval and co-operation of the respective couples, and that there's no friction in either family over the divergent social schemes. Since you and your husband agree completely on sharing all dates, while your sister and her mate are in equal accord over separate nights out, why should you raise a question about either plan?

If you want my personal opinion about the matter in general, I think it's a good idea for husband and wife to have occasional nights with the boys and girls, respectively. They shouldn't be too frequent—but that's a question for individual settlement. My reason for advocating this course is that it widens the social circle, and one of the shadows that often falls over a marriage is a lack of friends.

It certainly must be agreed, however, that when two people love each other enough, and have enough compatible interests to spend all their time together, they are ideally married. So you see, there's something to be said on both sides; respect your sister's ideas as you expect her to respect yours.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My sweetheart Ken recently left for Japan, and I promised to wait for him. I'm 18 and have known him for about a year. Now for the complications. I have fallen in love with Adam, the fiance of my best girl friend, and honestly don't know which I love more—Adam or Ken. JEANIE T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: What would be your reaction if Ken wrote and said he had fallen in love with someone overseas? You'd be heartbroken, I bet. Ken is undoubtedly the one you really love, but in your loneliness you've decided that the grass in the other fellow's yard looks pretty green. If you must date other boys, do pick one who is unattached; don't break another girl's heart just because your own love is away.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm engaged to a beautiful girl and we are to be married when I finish school next May. Although I'm only 18 I am very mature for my age and quite settled. However, I'm not so sure that she is ready to settle down. How can I tell? FREDDIE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Two young people of 18 and 17 are most unlikely to be settled enough for matrimony. It would be best for you both to extend your social life, at least until you are in a better position to decide whether you should marry.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

How To Store Your Cookies Be They Hard Or Soft

By JOAN BARBERIS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The definition of a biscuit, cookie, bun, scone or other similar baked goods is somewhat of an individual matter.

It may not be important, except to such persons as the English woman who ordered scones in a Montreal restaurant, and was given hot tea biscuits. It rather put her out for the rest of tea-time.

The dictionary is definite about what constitutes a scone. It describes it as a soft cake of barley meal or wheat flour, of size for single portion, usually triangular and cooked on a griddle. It comes from "schoon (brot) fine (bread)."

The definition of a cookie is broader: "Plain bun, small flat cake, biscuit," says the dictionary.

HOW TO KEEP THEM

Wisely ignoring such intricacies the consumer section of the department of agriculture has come up with the following sound advice on how to store "different types of cookies."

Cookies that are soft, like a hermit or brownie, should be stored in a container with a tight fitting lid. It may be a cookie can or just a plain cake pan. If the cookies still tend to dry out, add a piece of apple, orange or bread, but be sure to replace it frequently. Another good way to keep soft cookies moist is to wrap them tightly in aluminum foil.

With crisp cookies the treatment is just the reverse. You store them in a container with a very loose fitting cover. If the weather becomes humid they may soften, but you can crisp them again by placing in a warm oven for about five minutes before serving.

THEY FREEZE, TOO

Another excellent way of storing cookies is to freeze them, if you happen to have a home freezer or locker. Almost any type of cookie may be frozen except meringues, macaroons and any other small cake made with egg whites. Cookies such as oatmeal, cookies, brownies, sugar cookies and so on are all excellent when frozen.

Prepare cookies for freezer by cooking, cooling and then wrapping them tightly in freezer wrappers or placing in freezer bags. Wrapped cookies may be placed in cardboard boxes so they will not crush in storage.

Secretary To Five British PM's Dies

WORTHING, England (AP)—The death of Edith Margaret Watson, private secretary to five British prime ministers, was announced Thursday. She was in her 70s. Miss Watson became private secretary to Bonar Law in 1916 and accompanied him to 10 Downing street when he was named prime minister in 1922. She held a similar post later with Prime Ministers Stanley Baldwin, Ramsay MacDonald, Neville Chamberlain and Sir Winston Churchill.

Would Delay English Classes In French School

OTTAWA (CP) — The French-Language Education Association of Ontario decided Thursday to ask the Ontario education department to delay the teaching of English in predominantly French schools until "a student has acquired a sufficent knowledge of his maternal tongue."

Gaston Vincent of Ottawa, who was elected president of the association, said the present practice of teaching English from grade 2 onward is premature.

Dr. E. C. Desormeaux, retiring president, said English should not be taught until grade 3 or 4.

The convention in its closing session also passed resolutions asking that election literature should be in both languages "where the proportion of French-speaking Canadians is sufficient to justify such a measure," and that all federal government cheques be printed in both languages.

The convention endorsed a resolution it has passed several times before asking the Ontario government to "accord an equitable distribution of corporation taxes to separate schools."

The contest, "Something our grandmothers missed," was won by Mrs. E. Dracup and Mrs. Hurl. A contest for grandmothers was won by Mrs. B. Parliament. Mrs. J. Sanderson won the prize for having the most recent wedding anniversary. She and her husband had celebrated their 48th anniversary on Sunday.

Millard Calls Strike Crusade

WINNIPEG (CP)—C. H. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steel Workers' of America (CCL-CIO), Thursday night told striking steel workers here they were taking part in a crusade to further the labor movement in Canada.

Mr. Millard had an audience of 500 persons, most of them striking employees of Winnipeg plant of Dominion Bridge Co., Ltd., and its subsidiary, Manitoba Bridge and Engineer Works Ltd.

He said the 720 striking workers in Winnipeg and the 6,000 striking miners in northern Ontario and northwestern Quebec were all taking part in the same struggle —a struggle against employers who are trying to "stop labor in its tracks."

Mr. Millard, also vice president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said one condition—the reluctance of employers to pay wages on a par with those in other parts of Canada—is at the root of all the strikes.

Ontario Holsteins Take Prizes In Chicago Show

At the International Dairy Show in Chicago this week Ontario Holstein cattle breeders ran up a great string of victories.

As reported several days ago, the grand champion sire was Rockwood Rocket Tone of the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, Belleville. That disposed of the title for the best bull in the Black and White breed, both in Canada and the United States. Rocket was four times all-Canadian and twice champion of the Royal Winter Fair. He won the title from the previously undefeated United States champion.

Then in the female section the grand championship was also captured by an Ontario entry. A.B.C. Shamrock Mildred, owned by Dr. Hector I. Astengo of Brampton, won the four-year-old class, and was second for the best uddered female. She was reserve grand champion at the CNE this year.

Ontario also won the state herd competition with Illinois second, New York third and Wisconsin fourth.

Astengo entries carried off the coveted first prize award in the get-of-sire class. L. R. Reid of Ripley, Ont., showed the winner of 66 aged cows, one of the largest classes ever lined up before a judge.

J. J. E. McCague of Alliston headed the class for the three best females and Dr. Astengo had the winning dairy herd.

The 35 entries from Canada, mostly Ontario-owned Holsteins, won seven firsts, five seconds and four thirds in the 19 classes, obviously a great showing in top company.

Glenn Gould Plays Three B's

The noted young Canadian pianist Glenn Gould is following a strong tradition in his first Peterborough public concert, which he will give Monday evening in the Collegiate auditorium. He is playing the "three B's," which are considered to be the cornerstone of any first-class pianist's repertoire and the arch of a well-formed classical program. The three B's are Bach, Beethoven, Brahms.

The first half of Glenn Gould's distinguished program is entirely Bach, except the first number, the charming Pavane and Gaillard for the Earl of Salisbury by Orland Gibbons.

After the intermission, Mr. Gould will play Beethoven's second-last sonata and one representing the composer in his great final phase: the Sonata in A Flat major, Opus 110. Then follows Brahms—two intermezzi.

Mr. Gould is even surpassing the Three B's, actually by playing four B's. His final number is by Alban Berg—thus bringing the program up to very modern times.

Singer Much Happier Without Guards

MONTREAL (CP) — Margaret Truman, now a full-time coloratura soprano, arrived in Montreal today and admitted there's at least one thing she likes since her father quit the White House.

She can travel without guards, "thank heavens."

Miss Truman, here for a concert and making her first visit to this bilingual city, was equal to the crowds and photographers at the station. But she balked when confronted with a mobile microphone.

"Oh, no," she said. "It's far too early in the morning to speak French."

OBITUARY

MRS. ETHEL STUART MERRELL

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Ethel Stuart Merrell of Como, P.Q., who, until two years ago was a lifetime resident of Peterborough and district. She died in Montreal today following a short illness.

Mrs. Merrell was born in Otonabee township 77 years ago, daughter of the late George Hemming Savigny and Cherubina M. Armstrong. She lived in Peterborough until 1907 and returned again to the city in 1918 where she remained until 1951.

Her husband, Rolley S. Merrell, predeceased her in 1937. She leaves on son, Winston S. Merrell of Como.

Mrs. Merrell was educated in district and city schools and was a member of Murray Street Baptist Church, for many years active in church work.

Funeral will be held from Comstock funeral home to Murray Street Baptist Church where service will be held on Monday at 2 p.m. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

Nursing Registry

Treasurer T. T. Rodger pointed out that a similar request had been made to the board before and it was then pointed out that it was beyond the constitutional authority of the board to make grants. He saw no reason for changing that viewpoint and voted against the board's decision to reconsider the request.

J. L. Welsh disagreed with Mr. Roger. He said the request was for a payment for services rendered, not a grant, although he thought the amount requested was too high. He considered the registry was performing a community service and its maintenance was a civic responsibility.

Superintendent John Hornal agreed with the contention of J. D. Fitzpatrick that grants were the function of a city council and community chest but: "If it's a question of the registry going out of business on December 31, it will cost us a lot more than we have been asked for tonight to duplicate the service they are giving us."

MISCONCEPTION

Dr. Taylor said there seemed to be a popular misconception that the chief functions of the registry were to find employment for nurses and provide telephone service for doctors. Doctors who use the service pay a fee of $5 a month and nurses $2.50.

"These two sources of revenue have, in fact, been the mainstays of financial support," Dr. Taylor said, "but if these were the only reasons for continuing the nursing registry, this deputation would not be here tonight to seek your support.

"Due to the shortage of nurses to meet the many calls for nursing service, it may fairly be said that no nurse in Peterborough today needs the registry to find a job. There are more nursing jobs than there are nurses to fill them."

As for the doctors, Dr. Taylor said, "they feel they are paying very well indeed for the service they are getting and they could in fact get the telephone service more cheaply from other agencies. They have continued to support the community nursing registry because of the unique extras it can give in service to cases requiring hospitalization and because they feel it is a community service worthy of their support as citizens."

In the first nine months of this year, Peterborough doctors contributed $1,570 towards the registry's support. Registered nurses and nursing assistants paid $878. All other sources of revenue combined contributed $530.20.

21,000 CALLS

In 1952, the registry answered more than 21,000 general calls for service, including calls from the Bell Telephone Co., bus terminals, police, hotels, tourist resorts and motels, dairies, industry, Civic Arena, restaurants, Legion Hall, Miller Bowl, golf clubs, fire department, dentists, private homes and street locations.

The calls were for help in cases of accidents, seizures, haemrhages, drownings, death, suicide attempts, coroners, calls for a doctor when the family doctor was not available and emergency calls for the VON.

To the general public they supplied information regarding people available for non-professional home nursing service, baby sitting service, dentists, public health service, drug stores open and Red Cross equipment for rental.

So far this year, the registry have responded to more than 800 calls from city hospitals for general duty nurses, apart from special and private nurses. There are also calls for private duty for nurses in homes, camps, nursing homes, industry, temporary VON work, transporting patients by ambulance, outside registries and outpost hospitals, transporting patients by plane and for dentists' offices.

In almost every city and town in Ontario of which the delegation had record where there is a nursing registry, it received support from the community chest, or the public hospitals, or the city council, and in many cases from two or more sources.

HELD DANCES

Prior to 1952, the registry was able to pay off each year's indebtedness by conducting dances, teas, concerts and other money-raising ventures. Last year the concert entertainer failed to keep his appointment. His concert the year before had raised $1,000.

Seven doctors left the service this year to take a cheaper telephone answering service. This constitutes a loss of $420. The VON contribution has been cut from $300 to $120.

The registry's executive at present is sponsoring a dance, rummage sale and series of teas. "If these are all as successful as they have been in the past, they might raise $1,000 or more to help pay off the present indebtedness," Dr. Taylor said. "But surely this should not be necessary!

"There is another reason why the Community Nursing Registry should not be permitted to close," he said. "A community nursing registry is a vital communications key in the health service aspects of civil defence. We know of no substitute for this service in the event of disaster."

The registrar, Mrs. Pringle, had resigned but agreed to continue her duties until the end of the year.

"Some reorganization of the registry will therefore be required," Dr. Taylor said, "with the re-financing and recognition of the devoted sacrifice of some of the women who have kept the registry going seems warranted."

Dr. Chenoweth pointed out that the rates charged by the registry to doctors and nurses were "quite higher" than in other centres. The doctors as a group were about $250 better off when they had their own telephone answering service but they had taken it on as a community service.

"Unless all the people who derive benefit from the service contribute to its support, there's no point in the doctors continuing to subsidize it," he said.

Industrial Use Of Wood Told To Kiwanis

How laminated wood is being put to use for industrial purposes was explained Thursday to members of the Kiwanis Club, by fellow Kiwanian Ralph Fulbright, vice-president and general manager of Timber Structures of Canada, Ltd.

Mr. Fulbright said that Timber Structures of Canada opened it's Canadian office in Peterborough in 1949. At present they employe 125 and during the past 12 months have paid out $442,825 in payrolls.

The parent organization is in the United States. It was first incorporated as a company in 1935 and today has sales and engineering offices in every part of the United States.

STRONGER

At present some people think wood is still to be used for building homes and fires. But it can also be used for industrial purposes as well, for pound for pound wood is stronger than steel, explained Mr. Fulbright.

Today laminated wood is being used to build drive-in-theatre screens, schools, industrial buildings and churches.

Impaired Charge Withdrawn

An impaired driving charge against Harry Smith, 52, of RR 2, Ennismore was dropped Thursday in magistrate's court and crown and defence counsels agreed on a saw-off: Smith, who had pleaded not guilty to impaired driving, changed his plea to guilty when this first charge was dropped and a second charge, careless driving was substituted.

He was fined $15 and $5.50 costs.

The case, as summarized by Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Q.C., was that Smith had been drinking on the night of Sept. 24. A car that was ahead of Smith on the Chemong Road, just inside the city limits, slowed behind a horse and buggy.

Smith's 1948-model truck, following the car driven by Caldwell Hawkins, 23, 159 Hart Ave., did not stop in time and it struck the left rear fender and the rear bumper of the Hawkins car. From the point of impact the truck travelled 163 feet— through a fence and a ditch— and finally stopped on Ray McWilliams' lawn.

Damage to the Hawkins properew was estiamted at $125.

Constable Eldon McDonald said that Smith "smelled of beer and was slightly irregular in his walking. his speech was all right." Constable McDonald said that Smith admitted drinking two or three beers.

When it appeared that the evidence was likely to be insufficient for a conviction on impaired driving, Crown Attorney Bradshaw agreed to drop this more serious charge for a plea of guilty on careless driving.

Gordon H. T. Farguharson was counsel for Smith.

Belleville Man Killed By Train

BELLEVILLE (CP) Carl (Buck) Woods, 35, was killed early today when struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train while walking across a railroad trestle.

His body was found shortly after the accident by Clare Dingman. The train crew apparently did not see Woods and the train did not stop, police said.

Thief Has Returned Cushion To Abbey

LONDON (Reuters)—Police disclosed today a crimson cushion on which the Duke of Edinburgh and other members of Britain's nobility knelt to pay homage to the Queen at her Coronation June 2 was stolen a few days later. It now has been returned just as surreptitiously as it was taken.

The cushion, placed at the foot of Elizabeth's throne during the ceremony in Westminster Abbey, vanished that afternoon while the Queen was riding in triumphal progress through London.

The abbey at the time was closed to the public. Police blame the theft on a souvenir-hunter, perhaps among the congregation, whose conscience has just caught up with him.

Oshawa Dentist Heads Association

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. George E. Werry of Oshawa Thursday night was elected president of the Dental Alumni Association of the University of Toronto at the group's annual meeting here.

Other officers are: honorary president, Dr. A. D. A. Mason, Thornhill; president-elect, Dr. C. R. Moore, Toronto; vice-presidents, Dr. Harry Hutchinson, Port Arthur, and Dr. J. G. Chalmers Toronto; secretary, Dr. B. Gross, Toronto and treasurer, Dr. J. Crawford, Willowdale.

WHITE WHALING—Hunting white whales is a $30,000 a year industry at Churchill, Man. Indians and Eskimos thump harpoons into the 700-pound mammals, which enter the Churchill River from Hudson Bay in search of food. A Churchill company pays the natives $1 a lineal foot for the white whales.

Whale Catch Below Normal

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP) — A comparative handful of Indians and Eskimos plunged their harpoons into about $6,000 worth of whale meat this summer, but the catch was not up to par.

Since 1949, when a Churchill company started paying $1 a lineal foot for white beluga whales, a few natives have spent from late June to mid-September each year on the hunt. The men, all holding government licences, earned about $7,000 last season.

The big white mammals, 12 to 14 feet long and weighing from 600 to 700 pounds when mature, enter the Churchill river in search of fish. They are harpooned from heavy freight canoes and shot with a rifle or harpooned again when they thresh to the surface. The flashing harpoons accounted for 559 this season.

Low temperatures and high wind however suspended activities earlier than usual. Because the whales are one of the north's few natural sources of food, the government clapped a 700 quota on the catch.

Every part of the whale is marketable in some form. Last season, whale steaks were offered for sale on the Winnipeg market but the venture failed. A similar effort in British Columbia failed several years ago.

The meat now is ground, frozen and used for pet or mink food. The adult whale carries about 500 pounds of blubber which is turned into 400 pounds of variously graded oil, used for margarine, soap or paint, depending on its quality.

A fine oil from the jaw of the whale is used for lubricating precision instruments in cold weather. The Canadian Army will use it for automatic weapons during Arctic exercises this winter.

Vitamin A is extracted from the whale and the hide makes usable leather. Some parts are ground into fine meal and used for fertilizer.

The catch this season produced 160,000 pounds of blubber oil and more than 100,000 pounds of animal feed.

Jobless Bartender Shot In Argument

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—An unemployed bartender was fatally shot Thursday night, police reported, during an exchange of shots between a gambling casino's special officer and a youth who started firing after an argument with a cocktail waitress.

The bartender, Lester F. Thomas 47, died in a hospital an hour after receiving a head wound.

Jailed 6 Months

A vagrant charge today netted Ray Brown, no fixed residence, six months in reformatory. Brown was picked up in the C.P.R. waiting room where he was found asleep on a radiator. He pleaded guilty to the charge, heard by Magistrate R. I. Moore, Q.C.

Russian MiG Slower Than U.S. Jets

TOKYO (AP)—The Far East air forces said today test flights of the Russian-built MiG-15 jet fighter plane flown to South Korea by a deserting North Korean pilot showed it slower than the American F-86 Sabre that outfought it throughout the Korean fighting.

Gen. O. P. Weyland said extensive tests of the MiG on Okinawa by American test pilots furnished the air force with "a great deal of valuable information" which will "enable our pilots to devise tactics to better exploit the F-86 against the MiG if they ever have to fight again."

Maj.-Gen. Albert Boyd, who test-flew it, called the MiG a "light airplane with a big engine."

PILOTS KEPT BUSY

Pilots said it lacked automatic equipment and controls. As a result, they said, the pilot was kept busy with the airplane and his attention was diverted from alert flying.

The MiG, delivered into Allied hands last month, was built late in 1951 and was the same model as those flown by the Reds over North Korea.

An air force release said: "In comparison to the F-86, some of the deficiencies of the MiG included lower maximum speed, insufficient stall warning and poor cockpit comfort. Heating and ventilating systems were poor and the cockpit is so small that a large man would have difficulty flying it."

2 Hockey Players Suffer Injuries

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Two members of Owen Sound Mercurys of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A league returned here today after suffering injuries on the team's exhibition tour of northern Ontario.

Rightwinger Jay McArthur suffered a broken jaw in Thursday night's game at North Bay while Jerry Reid is out with a shoulder separation. It may be a month before either returns to the lineup.

Mercurys open their senior OHA schedule Oct. 20 at Niagara Falls.

Town Tax Collector Suspended By Mayor

THESSALON, Ont. (CP)—Mayor Campbell C. Cork said today he has suspended the town's tax collector, Earl McKinnon, for failure to carry out his duties.

The mayor accused the collector of an unwillingness to make an entry on the voters' list, after Mr. McKinnon had sought advice from the clerk at Blind River, Ont.

36 KILLED IN U.S. CARRIER EXPLOSION

EBB TIDE ON THE OTONABEE is not the most pleasant sight as is obvious from the mud and debris seen in the picture (above) taken from the east side of Little Lake. The water level of the Otonabee river has been lowered at the request of the Peterborough Utilities Commission presently engaged in the installation of a water main along Armour Rd. The lower level helps to eliminate water seepage. Today the level is down still more, about two feet, at the additional request of the Canada Packers Co., where a drain is being overhauled. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Will Discuss Security Plan With Russia

3 Powers Approve Terms of Notes To Go To Moscow

LONDON (AP)—Britain, the United States and France agreed today to discuss an East - West security system with Russia as part of a final German peace settlement, informed sources reported.

They said foreign ministers of the three powers approved terms of new notes which will be sent to Moscow within about the next 48 hours suggesting a Big Four conference in Lugano, Switzerland, about Nov. 9.

Last-minute revisions were made to satisfy West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who objected to an earlier draft of the Western notes.

Word leaked out from the closed conference as U.S. Secretary of State Dulles, French Foreign Minister Bidault and their advisers went into their fourth session with British Foreign Secretary Eden at the foreign office. The ministers are in the throes of a three-day parley on pressing world problems.

Adenauer had objected to an unqualified offer by the West to discuss with the Soviets right away a set of non-aggression guarantees. The idea was to allay Russian fears against the Communist nations.

FURTHER DELAYS

The West German leader was said to believe that Russian acceptance would only mean further delays in ratification of the European Defence Community project.

The projected Lugano parley is intended to clear the way for an alternate peace settlement.

The Western notes will also suggest that the four foreign ministers should set out to complete an independence treaty for Austria at Lugano.

They will be answering a Soviet communication of Sept. 28.

Russia then proposed two conferences—one of the Big Four on Germany, and the other of the Big Five (with Red China) on the basic causes of world tension.

COMMON POLICY

Dulles, Bidault and Eden were said to have decided against Big Five talks. Their notes will point out that Red China has a seat in the proposed Korean peace con-

Many Sailors And Civilians Trapped Below-Deck, 75 Ambulances Aid Rescue

BOSTON (AP)—Naval intelligence and FBI investigators today probed the charred interior of the aircraft carrier Leyte which was struck suddenly Friday by explosions and fire that took 36 lives. As a minute examination of the wreckage began, the navy announced a board of inquiry will convene Monday morning to try to determine the cause of the blast that has brought demands for quick investigation by two Massachusetts members of Congress. A navy spokesman said any investigation of possible civilian sabotage is the province of the Federal Bureau of Investigation which had no comment. Representative Edith Nourse Rogers (Rep.-Mass.) in a telegram to the secretary of the navy suggested that special attention be given to sabotage.

SEAL OFF BLAST AREA

The area aboard the Leyte affected by the explosion and fire was closed off this forenoon to both civilian workers and navy men pending the board of inquiry survey on Monday.

Officials said the board will question navy men and civilians who were aboard at the time of the disaster. The civilians were engaged in overhaul operations.

There were more than 1,400 navy men aboard and about 60 civilians. The repair work was nearly completed.

The blast occurred forward on the port side of the big, 27,500-ton carrier that cost $90,000,000 when she was launched in 1945. It was the worst navy explosion in peacetme since 48 men died aboard the battleship Mississippi off the California coast June 12, 1924.

The 856-foot-long Leyte, docked for overhaul after combat action off Korea in October-December, 1950, came here last December and was almost ready to go to sea again. She had been out for a trial run only Wednesday.

The cause of the blast was not known. The Leyte's skipper, Capt. Thomas A. Ahroon, 46, of Norfolk, Va., in command of the ship less than three weeks, said the fire may have started on the deck immediately below the hangar deck.

Jordan Asks Arab States For Military Aid

JERUSALEM (AP) — Jordan asked her sister Arab states for military aid today to ward off possible "fresh Israeli aggression" on her borders. Jordan soldiers were given orders to shoot on sight any Israeli troops crossing the border.

The request for help followed a Wednesday night raid by the Israeli Army on three Jordan border villages, in which Jordan claims at least 56 and possibly 70 persons were killed.

The Israeli foreign office, irked by Western Big Three criticism, blamed Jordan for touching off the raid by a series of "nightly incursions" into Israel. Israeli newspapers contended the raid was in retaliation for one in which an Israeli woman and two children were slain on the Israeli side of the border earlier in the week.

ANGRY PROTESTS

Bolstered by an angry protest to the Jewish state by Britain—Jordan's strongest ally in the Middle East—and by the reported possibility of vigorous action by the United States, Jordan asked her Middle East neighbors to tighten up their guard around Israel. Britain also has urged the UN Security Council to take up the seething situation.

Jordan asked Iraq for troops, planes and arms to help fight off possible further attacks. The British commander of Jordan's colorful Arab Legion, Brig. John Baggot Glubb, issued orders to his troops all along the frontier to shoot on

Strikers Obey Order Limiting Pickets

HAMILTON (CP) — Strikers at the Wallace Barnes plant here put into immediate effect an order issued Friday by Chief Justice J. C. McRuer limiting the number of pickets on each gate of the strike-bound works to no more than four.

Although they declared they were "incensed" at the possible effects of the injunction, the strikers said they had received instructions from union officers that it must be observed.

This morning officers of Local 520, UE, sent out a rallying call to the local's more than 200 members asking them to attend a special meeting Sunday "when the full effects of the latest developments will be considered."

UP TO MEMBERSHIP

Officers said they had no means of telling what the membership meeting would decide.

William Walsh, area supervisor for UE, charged today that police at the Wallace Barnes plant this morning were "going far beyond the terms of the injunction."

He said that police were trying to clear the area of all Wallace Barnes workers other than the four-man pickets.

"The injunction does not have this effect," Mr. Walsh said. "It simply specifies that no more than four pickets can be on any one gate at the plant at one time. Our union is seeking legal advice on this matter."

Woman Ready Identify Girl

BROCKVILLE (CP) — Inspector George Runciman of the Brockville police department said today a woman told him she knew the identity of the girl who was found brutally stabbed to death at Iroquois.

He said the woman, a resident of Brockville who wished to remain anonymous, told him this morning the girl lived in Cornwall, 36 miles east of the murder scene. She had a photograph of the victim that matched pictures issued Friday by the Ontario Provincial Police, Insp. Runciman said.

The woman was taken to Cornwall to look at the body.

The girl's body was found face down in a roadside ditch Thursday night.

Chinese PoWs Snub Reds Interviewers In Squabble

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Bitter squabbles flared between Allied and Communist officers today as all but nine of 430 Chinese war prisoners defiantly turned their backs on Red attempts to woo them back to communism. It was a second stinging blow to the Reds, who persuaded only 10 of 500 to return in the first day of the explanations Thursday. There will be no explanations Sunday, under Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission rules.

The dramatic Allied-Communist tug of war reached fevered pitch today, not only in the clashes between the prisoners and their Red explainers—but between UN command and Red observers.

A bitter flareup, punctuated by kicks and curses, flamed over one anti-Red Chinese PoW who was forced to listen to Communist explainers for almost three hours.

OBSERVERS SCREAM, KICK

Before the PoW was led away, one Communist representative kicked a Chinese-American observer for the UN command in the leg. Another Chinese - American stood toe-to-toe with a Polish representative of the repatriation commission and screamed curses at him.

The PoWs reacted with the same violence as on the first day of the interviews. Only this time they offered no resistance as they were moved to the explanation centres.

But once in the area and face to face with the Red explainers they gave way to pent-up anger. Some shouted curses, others hurled chairs, kicked and screamed at the Communist officers.

Many were physically restrained by Indian guards who sat in on the interviews being conducted simultaneously in 32 separate tents.

Most of the interviews lasted only a few minutes, but one, the cause of the bitter argument between the Allied and Red officers, lasted three hours.

GENERAL ACTS PROMPTLY

Only fast action by Lt.-Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the NNRC, averted possible serious violence.

Thimayya whisked the prisoner away from angry crowds of officers of both sides, put him in his own car and sped away.

U.S. Capt. Donald Stettler, the U.N. observer, said the PoW tried at least 17 times to leave the marathon interview and return to his compound, but was stopped by the Indian guards at the insistance of the Red explainers.

"Going Steady" Discouraged For Teen-Agers By Church

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's Roman Catholic parents were called upon by the church hierarchy Friday to "discourage and extirpate" the teen-agers' custom of forming "steady" romantic attachments. In a statement on "Marriage and the Family" issued at the close of a two-day conference, the church episcopate declared:

"The decline in marital morality which characterizes our age is undoubtedly due to the unwillingness of so many to accept marriage as a sacred institution."

The four-page statement dealt with the "sacred character" of marriage and with sex education and teen-age romances. It was prepared after a conference attended by 63 high ranking church officials, including Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, of Montreal, and James Cardinal McGuigan of Toronto.

"Many modern social conditions force marriage partners to be heroic if they are to keep aloft the sacred ideals of marriage."

HANDICAPS TO MARRIAGE

It cited specifically today's "inadequate" wages, the "prohibitive" cost of home ownership, discrimination against tenants with children and "a host of other similar hardships."

"Public leaders and landlords," it added, "can demonstrate their love of God and their appreciation of the sacredness of family life by uniting to help rather than hinder the family life of our Canadian people."

At another point, it said:

"We call upon parents to discourage, as far as lies in their power, the pernicious custom of boys and girls in their early teens forming permanent and exclusive 'steady' associations which are so often an occasion of sin."

Player's Mother Flies To Bedside

PRESTWICK (CP)—The mother of Angus (Gus) Galbraith, injured Canadian hockey player, arrived by air today from Canada and went to her son's bedside by automobile.

Mrs. T. Galbraith of South Porcupine, Ont., was met at the airport by her 18-year-old daughter-in-law, Loraine. They went by car to Paisley General Hospital where Galbraith was taken after suffering a freak fracture Oct. 2.

Galbraith, 21-year-old player for Paisley Pirates in the Scottish Hockey League, was injured in a mid-ice collision. His right leg was fractured in what doctors called a "one in a million" chance.

No decision has been taken on whether an amputation will be necessary.

Supporters of the Paisley team started a fund to pay for Mrs. Galbraith's air passage from Canada—and to enable her to stay in her native Scotland as long as necessary.

30 Wolves Scatter Pickets At Mine

NORMETAL, Que. (CP)—Thirty wolves scattered pickets at the strike-bound Normetal zinc and copper mine today.

They raced down on the men a few hours after 375 Normetal miners struck for higher wages at midnight Friday. A miner ran into his house nearby, grabbed a gun and shot one of the animals. The others fled into the bush.

Normetal is about 75 miles north of Noranda, Que.

Fall Heat Wave Sets Prairie Record

WINNIPEG (CP)—The fall heat wave on the Prairies set records Friday.

The high of 81 at Winnipeg broke the 1910 record of 78.2 for the date and was the latest date in October for a reading over 80 in the city.

Kenora, Ont., had a reading of 77, a record for the date and several other stations were within one or two degrees of the record.

Rescue 530 Trapped Miners

MANCHESTER, Eng. (Reuters) The last of 530 trapped coal miners were brought to the surface here Friday night seven hours after a pithead fire blocked their normal exit and left them in darkness 2,700 feet below the surface.

No one was hurt.

The men were brought up a nearby emergency shaft by means of a cage which could hold only six men at a time. The operation took six hours. The first men to reach the surface at Bradford colliery shouted: "Everything's okay below."

The fire started in the main winding engine house, where stored oil caught fire, shooting flames 40 feet in the air.

Ex-Albanian King To Be Tried In Egypt

CAIRO (Reuters) — Authorities said today that ex-king Zog and ex-queen Geraldine of Albania will be tried here on charges of fraudulent tax evasion.

If found guilty, they could be jailed for not more than three years and fined between $75 and $2,800.

Members of the ex-king's entourage and some businessmen will also stand trial for engaging with him in a trade exchange between Egypt and unnamed foreign countries, involving tobacco, wheat, cotton, oil, sugar, cars and mechanical workshop equipment.

Egyptian authorities claim that evidence of these transactions was obtained during raids on Zog's villa in Alexandria, and the offices and homes of the businessmen.

The taxation office alleged that Zog had not paid any income tax since he came to Egypt eight years ago.

Convict Abducts Prison Guard

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Brandishing an 18-inch butcher knife, a three-time convict abducted a southern Michigan prison farm guard before dawn today. But blazing state police shotguns finally halted his cross-state flight by car.

The guard suffered a heart attack and was taken to a Muskegon hospital upon his rescue. He also was suffering from shock.

Neither the convict, a young Indian, nor the guard was wounded in gunfire that ended a 90-mile-an-hour chase three miles north of Fruitport, between Grand Rapids and Muskegon.

The convict took the guard's car for his escape. Several pistol bullets were pumped into it before police blew out the left-side tires with shotguns.

Critics Praise Composers

Stokowski's Canadian Concert Success

BY MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — Carnegie Hall was the setting Friday night for the first major concert of Canadian music ever held in the United States.

A distinguished international audience representing most of the countries of the world heard Leopold Stokowski conduct his orchestra in the instrumental and vocal works of six leading Canadian composers.

In the New York Herald Tribune, Virgil Thomson says the coming of age "musically of Canada "was clearly demonstrated there last night."

HEAR WITH APPROVAL

Olin Downes says in The Times that the concert was "heard with manifest approval by a brilliant audience," but calls this of "secondary importance where this review is concerned."

"The concert was of exceptional interest and artistic significance," Downes says. "Not one . . . score was of merely conventional character" and each "revealed an individuality of more or less strength on the part of the composer . . . to show an impressive degree of technical mastery."

6 COMPOSERS PRESENT

The six composers—Pierre Mercure, Alexander Brott and Francois Morel of Montreal, and Healey Willan, Colin McPhee and Godfrey Ridout of Toronto—were present to hear their compositions performed and to take bows from an audience which was heavily laden with Canadians, many of them prominent in music, radio and politics.

They heard Mercure's "Pantomine," an orchestral composition for wind instruments and percussions; Brott's concerto for Violin, an exacting work in three movements with Noel Brunet of Montreal, long-time friend of the composer, as soloist; McPhee's "Tabuh-Tabuhan," a composition in three movements based on Balinese themes and rhythms; Morel's "Antiphonie," a short orchestral work; "Two Mystical Songs of John Donne," by Ridout, sung by soprano Lois Marshal of Toronto, and Willan's "Coronation Suite," a choral and orchestral composition in five movements.

PRAISES McPHEE

The Tribune's Thomson writes: "The evening's most brilliant and striking work was Colin McPhee's Tabuh-Tabuhan, composed in 1936, a 17-minute piece in three movements that evokes by direct imitation the music of Bali . . . It may be the ending-piece that all conductors are looking for . . . for it is completely brilliant, busy, sweet and fun."

"Francois Morel's Antiphonie is another lovely piece . . . It has poetry and style. I should like to hear it right over again."

Thomson finds the other works "professional enough but lacking in reflected ideas."

Downes finds Brott's concerto "original, brilliant, technically resourceful, more than adroit and individual in the way that the form is handled and in the manner of writing of the solo instrument and orchestra."

The Times critic says that "One wonders here if there is not something really new under the sun in a composer's approach to the modern concerto form. Mr. Brott employs counterpoint as flexibly and skillfully, when the course of the development entails that procedure, as he does in the combined rhythms and exotic harmonies of other pages."

HARMONIC QUALITY

Of Godfrey Ridout's two new songs for Lois Marshall, Downes called the songs "admirable for the model harmonic quality. . and admirably scored." Miss Marshall —"not for the first time in this city—won an ovation for her performance of them."

Healy Willan's "Coronation Suite" is praised by Downes as a "first-rate composition, one of dignity and nobility of thought, germane and not mere bombast, and done by a composer as accomplished in his writing of a capella music for voices as he is skilled and finely inventive in scoring for the instruments. This performance by the Westminster Chorus was magnificent. . . ."

The concert was organized under sponsorship of Broadcast Music Incorporated and BMI of Canada, a music - licensing organization, which turned over the profits to the Canada foundation as part of its program for advancement of contemporary Canadian music.

GIVE MUSIC HEARING

The idea of such a concert was to give Canadian music hearing in one of the world's major music capitals and expose it to the critical ear of New York music writers.

The selections heard Friday night were chosen from 220 compositions submitted by Canadians to a committee of seven men prominent in Canadian and American musical circles. The seven were Sir Ernest MacMillan, Claude Champagne, Wilfred Pelletier and Boyd Neel of Canada and three Americans—William Schuman, Henry Cowell and Walter Piston.

Canadians in the audience included Revenue Minister McCann, Progressive - Conservative leader Drew, Postmaster - General Cote, Attorney-General Porter of Ontario, Edward Johnson of Guelph and Toronto, Lady Eaton, Reginald Stewart, former conductor of the Toronto Symphony who now is conductor in Baltimore, and David Johnson, head of the permanent Canadian UN delegation.

Most of the 60 members of the United Nations were represented—Russia by Andrei Vishinsky and Britain by Sir Gladwyn Jebb.

Honor Commonwealth Dead

Queen Unveils Memorial To Canadians

RUNNYMEDE, Surrey (CP)—The Queen today unveiled a white stone memorial to 20,455 Commonwealth airmen and women—including 3,072 Canadians, and 25 from Newfoundland—who werek illed in Europe during the Second World War and whose burial sites are unknown.

The ceremony was held at historic Runnymede beside the Thames. A crowd of 27,000 next of kin braved misty drizzle to see the black-garbed Queen unveil the low-towered and cloistered monument, bearing names of the unmarked dead.

Those men and women died in the "conviction that man should be free," the Queen said. They died "as only free men can pay the great price." The Queen added that their memory would be green long after the stones of the monument had crumbled and that this would be their most valuable memorial of all.

Representing Canada at the ceremony was Hugues Lapointe, minister of veterans affairs, who placed a wreath for Canada. Other Canadians included C. G. Power, member of Parliament and wartime air minister, and Norman Robertson, Canadian high commissioner.

CANADIAN VISITORS

An unknown number of Canadians came from Canada for the occasion. The Imperial war graves commission, which built the monument, mailed nearly 3,000 invitations to Canada, but only 1,200 or so were accepted. Most of these were filled by English relatives or friends of the Canadian bereaved.

Standing close to the spot where King John signed the Magna Carta 738 years ago, the Queen said:

"It is very fitting that those who rest in nameless graves should be remembered in this place, for it was in these fields of Runnymede seven centuries ago that our forefathers first planted a seed of liberty which helped to spread across the earth the conviction that man should be free and not enslaved.

"And when the life of this belief was threatened by the iron hand of tyranny, their successors came forward without hesitation to fight, and, if it was demanded of them to die for its salvation, as only free men can, they knew the value of that for which they fought, and that the price was worth paying . . . .

"Wherever and for as long as freedom flourishes on the earth, the men and women who possess it will thank them and will say that they did not die in vain. That is their true and everlasting memorial."

Secret Service Hot On Trail

LONDON (AP)—Secret service agents were reported hot on the trail today of a mysterious "Mr. Z"—a master smuggler who specializes in beating the Allied ban on supplying strategic materials to Iron Curtain countries.

"Mr. Z"—police don't know his name or his nationality but think he is hiding somewhere in Switzerland—was mentioned in court Friday as the brains behind an international smuggling gang that works by switching labels on strategic material destined for Britain.

In Belgium, his outfit switched tags on 113 crates of ball bearings—enough to equip six squadrons of tanks—so they ended up in Poland instead of London.

As a result, Czech-born company official Jan Stach was fined £750 for misusing a board of trade import licence.

Stach admitted getting the licence on the pretext of importing the ball bearings into Britain and said he turned them over to an associate of "Mr. Z."

Security Council May Get Jordan Dispute

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The UN Security Council, already confronted with an Israeli-Syrian dispute over the waters of the Jordan river, may be asked to try cooling off a hot border issue between Israel and Jordan.

Britain Friday night asked the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting in London to haul Israel before the council on charges of endangering peace in the Middle East.

The move came shortly after the British government accused Israel of an "apparently calculated attack on three border Jordan villages."

TAKE GRAVE VIEW

A foreign office spokesman said the U. S., British and French foreign ministers took a grave view of the incident, but delayed a decision on what steps to take.

Earlier Friday, Syria fired off a protest to the Security Council that Israel's diversion of the River Jordan constitutes a threat to Middle East peace.

The alleged Israeli assault Wednesday night reportedly cost 56 Arab lives.

In Baghdad, Iraq Premier Fadhil Jamali asked the United States and Britain, through their ambassadors, to take serious measures against Israel for the attack.

There was no official comment from Israel.

Observers at the United Nations said anger over the Jordan village incident undoubtedly gave impetus to Syria's protest over the Jordon river. Jordan is not a UN member, but Syria is looked on as her spokesma here.

Although Syria is the sole plaintiff, her stand will have support of other members of the Arab League who belong to the United Nations.

Security Council President William Borberg of Denmark was scheduled the protest for next Thursday and UN observers expressed confidence it would be approved for discussion.

RUMBLE LIKE SUBWAY

In his cabin when the blast shook the ship—"A dull rumble like a subway train going through"—Ahroon found the second deck cut off by smoke and climbed through an escape hatch to the hangar deck.

Damage control and firefighting parties already were in action, he said.

Virtually every available ambulance in Boston—about 75 — converged on the area as officials discovered the extent of the disaster. Civilian doctors and nurses joined navy hospital corpsmen from other vessels.

The injured, many so charred and battered as to make identification difficult, were taken to several hospitals.

The navy, following regulations for notifying next of kin, withheld announcement of casualties' names until today. But of those taken to the two civilian hospitals, a high proportion were navy officers and enlisted men, with some civilian workmen included.

CAN'T REACH BODIES

Boston Fire Chief John Sampson, emerging from the smoke and flame-filled area of the Leyte, said:

"There are a number of bodies strewn around where we are fighting the fire, but we can't get them out now."

Three hours after the initial blast, the fire had mushroomed from the "island," the Leyte's nerve centre, to the bow.

Fire Chief Sampson said that the hangar ceiling had fallen as result of the explosion and fire. The area was filled with wreckage.

One report was that a large gasoline tank exploded and the resultant flames touched off a large boiler.

Helicopters were used to remove the dead and injured. They were landing on the deck and taking off with the victims to the Chelsea Naval Hospital on the opposite shore of the harbor.

Emergency supplies of blood were dispatched to the three hospitals where the injured and dead had been taken.

WORST PREVIOUS TOLL

Worst previous death toll aboard a ship in this island-dotted harbour was Nov. 3, 1861, when the square rigger Maritana piled up on Shanks Rocks in a wild storm and 25 men were lost.

But theirs was a wet, cold fate as compared to the inferno beneath the decks of the Leyte. Some men died in flaming oil, others drowned in the rush of water escaping from shattered tanks. Still others were buried beneath plates of steel that buckled and broke.

About 100 civilians were in the area and several of them perished along with navy men—many of whom were in the process of dressing for a weekend leave.

The first blast set off another Boilers exploded. And a flash of flame roared through the wardroom and other compartments.

Then it mushroomed toward the bow, sweeping through the hangars that were empty of planes. Fortunately, the carrier had no ammunition aboard.

The 856-foot-long Leyte, docked for overhaul after combat action off Korea in October-December, 1950, came here last December and was almost ready to go to sea again. She had been out for a trial run only Wednesday.

The cause of the blast was not known. The Leyte's skipper, Capt. Thomas A. Ahroon, 46, of Norfolk, Va., in command of the ship less than three weeks, said the fire may have started on the deck immediately below the hanger deck. But he could not be sure, it happened so fast.

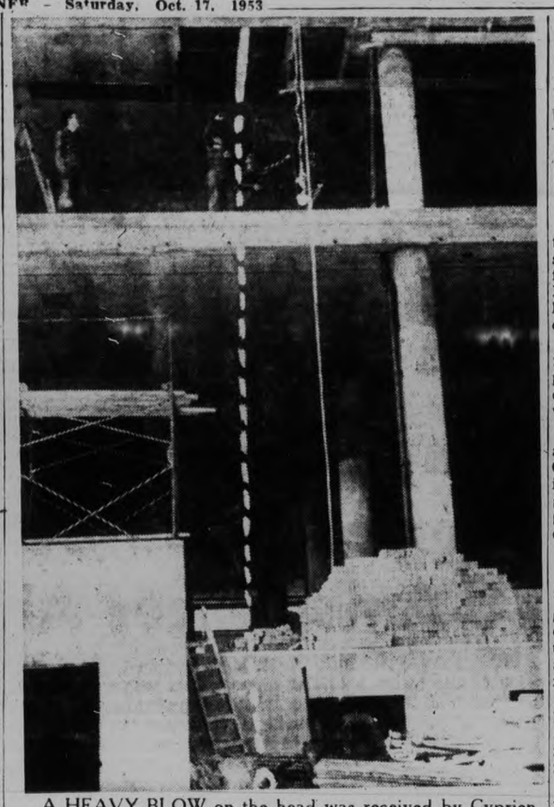
GROVE FIRE WORSE



The fire was described by Dr. James W. Manary, superintendent of Boston City Hospital, as the city's wost disaster since the Coconut Grove nightclub fire that snuffed out 492 lives Nov. 28, Lawrence T. White, 27, a Boston fireman who was burned on arms and hands, said he went down two decks and "anybody below there was a goner.

Salvatore Impedulglia of Boston, a civilian welder, said he and there other men were trapped by flames for 2½ hours in a storeroom.

"We got down on the floor and opened several air tanks to get some air. We pounded away at the compartment bulkhead, yelling for help as loud as we could. I kept my fingers crossed while I prayed . . . When the rescuers reached us they gave us gas masks and brought us out."

The fire raged for more than three hours.

Crewmen who escaped formed long lines at three telephones on the ship, waiting patiently to notify homes that they were safe.

Say Desire For Variety Complicates Housing

LONDON (CP) — A team of British construction experts indicated today that a desire for variety tends to complicate Canada's housing problems.

The Arcon Group mission, just back from a five-week market investigation in leading cities from Montreal to Vancouver, said in a statement that a British contribution to Canadian housing was made more difficult by a tendency to introduce houses of many different textures and types into one scheme.

"Unless the various levels of authority concerned with housing in Canada can reach a greater measure of agreement in their specifications," said the statement, "the task of making a contribution to Canada's housing problem will remain difficult."

The team returned to London Friday. Its members were W. F. Luytens, chairman of the Arcon Group, A. M. Gear, consultant designer, and J. L. Lishman, technical executive of the Taylor Woodrow Company which has just opened a Toronto office.

In most British housing estates, only minor architectural variations are made, the group noted.

It added that there are opportunities for British manufacturers for "all sections of the Canadian market," but particularly for structures for industrial purposes.

No Evidence Copies Stolen From Army Files

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Army said today it still has no evidence that microfilm copies of secret data from its Ft. Monmouth, N.J., Signal Corps laboratory have fallen into hands of Communists in Germany.

Under wartime lend-lease arrangements the army said in response to questions, free exchange of information with Allied nations was authorized.

Thus it indicated belief that if any microfilm copies of Signal Corps documents are in Communist hands they probably are some given the Russians during the period of Second World War cooperation.

McCARTHY DISAGREES

Chairman Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) of the Senate investigations sub-committee has said closed door hearings in New York uncovered evidence of a spy ring at Ft. Monmouth, U.S. radar defence headquarters.

McCarthy has described Julius Rosenberg, executed last summer as a Red spy, as the ring's former mastermind and has said the ring may still be active.

The replies provided by the army today constituted its first discussion of the renewed charges of filched documents.

The army had said more than a year ago that there was then "no evidence that any documents have been compromised or that files have been tampered with in the Signal Corps intelligence agency."

Today, in answer to questions by a reporter, a spokesman said he was authorized to say:

NO SIGN OF SPYING

"The statement made in 1952 that there was no evidence that any documents had been compromised or that files had been tempered with in the Signal Corps intelligence agency is still correct.

"The documents alleged to have been missing at that time were accounted for.

"Under lend-lease agreements during World War II, a free exchange of information with Allied nations was authorized. Since the termination of lend-lease agreements after World War II we have no evidence of microfilm copies of any signal corps classified documents having gone astray. If microfilm copies of such documents should be in unauthorized hands, they represent new and previously unknown evidence in the cases now being investigated."

Missing Youth Back

TORONTO (CP) — Ian McKinnon, 22, returned to his home here today after searchers hunted him in bush near Cooksville 10 miles west of here since Thursday. He disappeared while working with a survey party and told police on his return that he had gone to Sudbury to hunt a job.

THIS COULD BE the "death march" of Trieste's Allied-trained police force as they parade before a reviewing stand commemorating the eighth anniversary of the force's formation. With the Anglo-American decision to turn Zone A back to Italy over the objection of President Tito of Yugoslavia, the local force would disband when Italian police enter the zone.

Chinese PoWs

"They kept hammering and hammering at him," Stettler said. "They wore out four explainers."

A spokesman said the UN command would protest to the NNRC "on the grounds of cruel and unusual punishment—to make him sit and listen to that brain washing for three hours."

Stettler said the Reds apparently concentrated on that one Chinese because he had walked quietly into the explanation tent and sat down, unlike most of the other Chinese.

PoW PREFERRED FORMOSA

He said the PoW told the interviewers at least four times "I want to go to Formosa."

Stettler said he asked seven times that the interview be halted, but that the Indian chairman overruled him.

Indian guards, meanwhile, pushed a milling crowd of almost 100 Allied and Red observers away from the tent.

Thimayya, noting the disturbance went into the tent, grabbed the PoW by the shoulder and strode out over the protests of the Chinese explainers and Polish and Czech members of the sub-committee.

An Indian spokesman said the prisoner's fate would be referred to the repatriation commission.

PROTEST RED HORDE

Meanwhile, the Allied repatriation group commander, Brig.-Gen. A. L. Hamblen, wrote Thimayya protesting that 356 Communists Friday entered the south explanation camp where the Communists conducted their explanations.

Hamblen said the Indians had told the UN command that 240 Communists would enter the camp.

In all, 23,400 former Red soldiers —14,600 Chinese and 7,800 North Koreans are being held by the commission for interviews.

There was still no indication when the UN command would start meeting with the 23 Americans, one Briton and 335 South Koreans who refuse to return home.

The third day of explanations—delayed a day after North Korean PoWs refused to leave their compounds and threatened a mass breakout Friday—got under way six hours late.

CHANGED MINDS

The Reds had asked first that Chinese be brought to the explanation centres, then changed their minds and asked instead for North Koreans.

The request was turned down by the neutral nations repatriation commission because it was too late. The Reds showed up anyway with Korean explainers and were forced to send back for Chinese.

NO RESISTANCE

Although the PoWs interviewed today offered no resistance in moving from their stockades to holding stations near the explanation centre, they reacted violently once inside the interview tents.

The whole explanation area echoed with the screams of the prisoners. They could be heard shouting, "down with the Soviet Union! . . . down with the Communist bandits! . . . Communist running dogs!"

Professor Plans To Help Drug Addicts

VANCOUVER (CP)—A psychology professor at the University of British Columbia is out to help drug addicts whether they want to be cured or not.

Dark-haired, bespectacled Dr. Edro Signori has organized a "class" of 40 to 50 addicts in Oakalla provincial jail to promote discussions that he hopes will help them in their problem.

His ultimate aim is to find a solution to drug addiction, but he isn't convinced all addicts can be cured. He has three immediate objectives he believes are more easy to attain.

By means of the narcotics forum, started without formal backing from any organized group, he hopes to improve the individual addict's understanding of the drug problem and give him a clearer knowledge of society's attitude. Dr. Signori would also acquaint the public with the needs and desires of the addict.

HOPES TO EXPAND

Dr. Signori hopes the forum's group discussions and lectures by special speakers can be expanded soon into a narcotics association, aiming at aiding all addicts, whether they are out to break the habit or not.

With such an association, Dr. Signori believes at least a few of the addicts released from Oakalla might not be back in jail quite so soon as they usually are.

The association wouldn't require applicants for membership to swear off drugs because, says the professor, "it has not yet been definitely established that all addicts can be cured."

"Many people talk about the drug problem," he says, "but they don't do much about it."

Britain Figures On Big Deficit In Pension Plan

LONDON (Reuters)—One of the biggest headaches facing British governments in domestic policy during the next 25 years will be how to pay the rapidly increasing number of old - age state pensioners.

Money received from public contributions and government grants will just about pay the pensions this year. But by 1957 it is estimated there will be a deficit of $280,000,000 a year.

In 25 years' time, at the present rate of $4.54 a week for a single person and $7.56 for a married couple, the deficit will rise to $1,120,000,000 a year.

By that time, Britain will be spending nearly $1,960,000,000 a year on government pensions.

The main reasons given for the growing proportion of old people in the population are the smaller families of the present day compared with Victorian times and increased life expectacny due to improved health and medical services and more hygienic living conditions.

Faulty carburetion is blamed for a fire that broke out in the engine of a car owned by Kenneth Stacey, 624 Romaine St., Friday night. Firemen went to Park and Lansdowne Sts. where the car fire occurred but didn't have to use an extinguisher. Early today the firemen went to the home of Fred Johnston, 213 Westcott St., where a flooded oil burner was reported. Again nothing was used.

U.K. Condemns Israel For Attack

LONDON (AP)—Britain accused Israel Friday of endangering Middle Eastern peace by an "apparently calculated attack", on three Jordan villages that cost 56 lives. She demanded that Israel punish those responsible and compensate the Jordanians.

In Washington, the U.S. state department was reported considering a public denunciation of Israel. State department officials said they were "very much concerned" about the incident.

Lincoln White, state department press officer, said Eric Johnston, President Eisenhower's special envoy to the Middle East now en route there, "will do what he can" to ease tension.

STRONG PROTEST

The British protest on behalf of Jordan, Britain's closest ally in the Middle East, was one of the strongest London has delivered to any foreign government in years. It followed charges made Thursday night by the United Nations-sponsored mixed armistice commission in Jerusalem that Israel was guilty of "aggression against Jordan and its citizens" in attacking the three Jordan villages Wednesday night.

The villages are Kibya, Budrus, and Shaqba, all in the Latrun sector of Jordan-controlled Palestine near the Israeli border. In addition to the men, women, and children who Jordan said were killed by an Israeli battalion using mines and mortars, 15 others were reported wounded and 41 houses destroyed.

Exports Rise During August

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's exports to the United States continued to rise during August, but heavier imports widened the gap in Canadian-American trade.

Sales rose to $199,900,000 from $180,900,000 a year ago, while imports jumped to $247,500,000 from $212,800,000, the Bureau of Statistics reported Friday.

This increased Canada's deficit in U.S. trade to $47,600,000 for the month, compared with $31,900,000 last year, boosting the adverse balance for the first eight months of 1953 to $587,400,000 from $413,500,000.

Heavier imports featured August trade with other countries, too. Total imports rose to $347,100,000 from $302,900,000 last year, while exports eased to $346,800,000 from $351,700,000.

Hasty-P Reunion Brings Fines For Two QORs

COBOURG (ENS)—Two members of the Queen's Own Rifles band paid fines in police court Friday as a result of a fracas at Colborne during the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment reunion last weekend.

John H. Doid of Toronto paid $15 and costs for causing a disturbance in the Brunswick Hotel and Peter Liard of Willowdale was fined $15 and costs for obstructing Chief William Self of Colborne in the performance of his duty.

Doid was also charged with damaging hotel property to the extent of $75 but the Crown withdrawn after restitution had was made. Liard was charged with doing $45 damage to the chief constable's uniform. This also was withdrawn after restitiution had been made.

Chief Self told the court that around 5:45 a.m. on October 11 he was called to the Brunswick Hotel to quell a disturbance in one of th erooms on the second floor. He entered to find Doid scuffling with another man. He took Doid down to the lobby and placed him in a chair but Doid became argumentive and the two were wrestling on the floor when Liard sought to intervene and tore the chief's tunic in the scuffle that followed.

"It was one of those things which occur at reunions. The authorities overlook a lot during such affairs but these people went too far. However I think a small fine will suffice," said Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

Dad To Appeal Son's Conviction

LINDSAY (ENS)—A Toronto father will appeal a careless driving conviction, registered in magistrate's court Friday against his son, 23-year-old Eric Smythe, of Toronto.

The charges were laid July 19, when young Smythe drove his car into the end of a narrow bridge on the Kinmount- Fenelon Falls road, in Somerville township. According to the officer, and the boy's father, Rolsa E. Smythe, the accused had said following the accident, that he must have fallen asleep at the wheel. Smythe suffered a fractured right leg, concussion, broken nose and facial cuts when his car crashed into the cement bridge abutment late at night. He was on his way home to Toronto after a visit to a camp near Carnarvon, in Haliburton county. His car was a complete wreck, damage estimated at $1,000.

Magistrate Gee, in fining Smythe $10 and $18 costs, said that previous judgments found it careless driving to doze at the wheel of a car. Smythe's father, who defended him, said that he was confident his son had not done that. He said he would appeal.

B.C. Legislature Expected To Prorogue

VICTORIA (CP) — The opening session of the first British Columbia government to pass legislation under a majority Social Credit rule was scheduled to wind up today.

The last major government business was cleaned up in the house late Friday and members called it a day an hour after midnight.

They planned to return to the chambers a few hours later during normal business hours to give third and final reading to a few bills and hear discussion of private members bills and amendments.

GIVE ROYAL ASSENT

Then, if all went well, Lieutenant - Governor Clarence Wallace was scheduled to give royal assent to legislation that has been introduced and approved during the five week session of the 24th legislature.

The minority Social Credit government in the last legislature was defeated before any of its proposed legislation could become law.

After that the legislature is expected to prorogue until spring.

Included in the legislation approved will be a new liquor act increasing outlets, a new act levying an additional 10 per cent sales tax on a glass of liquor and exemption of meals up to $1 from three per cent sales tax. The former minimum was 50 cents.

The last bit of legislation to gain final reading in the "wee hours" was the sales tax act.

Earlier in the evening the members debated almost 2½ hours before passing a new Election Act giving the vote to 28,000 19- and 20-year-olds and enfranchizing the provinces' 10,000 Doukhobors.

CHANGE BALLOTS

The act also returns B. C. to the single-choice ballot, scrapping the multiple-choice or alternative ballot used in the two elections which put Social Credit into power.

If the legislature prorogues today it will have been in session five weeks and four days.

In that time, it introduced some legislation that was expected—the new liquor law increasing outlets for by-the-glass sales of liquor—and some that were not—the new 10 per cent tax on that glass of liquor.

Other new taxes include a 10 per cent tax on net profits of mining and logging companies over $25,000 and a one per cent tax on timber leases and licences.

The government of Premier W. A. C. Bennett was elected in June in a vote made necessary by the defeat of a Social Credit minority government on the floor of the house in March. It fell on an education financing issue.

Instead of a 19-member minority government, Premier Bennett was returned in the following election with 27 members.

The opposition were 14 CCF members, four Liberals, one Progressive-Conservative and one Independent Labor member.

Man Ordered To Pay $500

LINDSAY (ENS) — Morley Teel, Whitby, formerly of Lindsay, was ordered to raise $500 immediately for his estranged wife and family in back payments, or spend three months in jail. He was sentenced to an additional 15 days on a charge of driving while his ability was impaired, when he appeared in court here Friday.

Teel had been ordered almost two years ago to make payments to his wife and their three children but had failed a year ago, and owed $1000 when arrested. The driving charges were laid by local officers a year ago, but Teel disappeared when told to have something to eat to sober him up, and never appeared again.

Magistrate Gee after hearing Teel say he had not been able to make payments because he was buying a car to take him to his job at Lansing, ordered the accused to sell the car. Try to raise at least $500 immediately or spend three months in jail. The 15 day sentence on the driving charge is to run concurrent.

DRIVER OF THIS CAR, Kay Herrold, of Campbellford, received shock and body bruises on Friday night when her car, shown above, went out of control, skidded upside down along the highway and finally flipped back on its wheels against a guardrail on Highway 30 at West's Corners, about two miles west of Campbellford. She told police she was blinded by the lights of another car. Her condition today is reported as good. —(W. W. Reid Photo).

Car Rolls Over, Driver In Hospital

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — A Campbellford woman is in hospital and her car is almost a total wreck following an accident on Highway 30 at West's Corners Friday night.

Kay Herrold, proprietress of Kay's Restaurant on Centre St., received multiple bruises and shock when the car which she was driving went out of control and rolled over about two miles west of here.

Mrs. Herrold, who was driving south into Campbellford, told police she was blinded by the lights of another vehicle and the front wheels of her car dropped off the pavement onto the shoulder of the road. When she tried to bring the car under control, it skidded and entered the ditch on the east side of the highway, where it travelled for more than a 100 feet.

SKIDS ON ROOF

The driver swung the car to the right and it rolled onto its roof and hood as the front wheels struck the pavement. The car skidded on its roof completely across the highway, etching a wide circle in the pavement, flipping back up on its four wheels when it was thrown violently against some guardrail posts on the west side of the road.

Mrs. Herrold climbed from the car and waited for assistance. A passing motorist notified Police Chief Charles M. Lockwood, who arrived at the scene to find, Mrs. Herrold dazed, and leaning against her wrecked car. He took her immediately to Campbellford Memorial Hospital.

The car skidded a distance of about 300 feet before flipping over on its roof, skidding across the pavement and flipping again onto its wheels. OPP Constable George Rose investigated.

Flames Raze Trailer Firemen Save Camp

OMEMEE (ENS)—Fire of unknown origin Thursday evening completely demolished a trailer which was sleeping quarters for four men of Allan G. Cooks construction gang.

Mr. Cook has a sub-contract from J. K. Beamish, whose highway construction camp is set in the gravel pit on the hill a mile west of Omemee. Mr. Cook's camp is above the pit on the west side at the edge of a government reforestation plot.

When the fire was discovered about 5:45 p.m., a call was put in to Omemee fire department. At the same time, a bulldozer was put into action to clear a strip surrounding the camp to prevent the fire spreading in the pines.

The trailer was past saving, but the arrival of the fire equipment stopped the possibility of a much greater disaster. A tree close to the trailer had caught fire and it would have been difficult to keep the sparks from jumping the gap, igniting the pines and sweeping on to the Beamish camp.

The four occupants of the trailer lost all their personal belongings.

The Municipal Problem In Ontario

A hundred years ago less than twenty per cent. of the population of Canada was urban; now more than sixty per cent. lives in towns and cities. This urban concentration is the result of the industrialization of the country. The change is most marked in Ontario, the greatest industrial province, where seventy per cent. of the population is urban. The visible physical and social result of this development is the growth of towns and cities.

* * *

Even as the industrial revolution in Britain in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries caused economic and social problems, so the industrial revolution in Ontario of this century has created problems as deep and widespread though not grievous in its human manifestations. The industrial growth has brought in its wake the need for educational facilities, housing, water supply, electrical power, sanitation, police, fire protection, other services, and new social legislation. The rapidity of the growth has intensified the problems of meeting these needs, and it is the government closest to the people—the municipal government—which has received the heaviest impact of the changes. Thus the industrial revolution in Ontario has created primarily a municipal problem.

* * *

How are the municipalities equipped to deal with it? Most are operating on the basis of the Baldwin Act of a century ago, which created them, the townships, the counties, the cities, their legal framework and their financial resources. There is abundant evidence that the system of administration, once satisfactory, has become both costly and inefficient, and that thorough-going changes must be made. Basic changes have already been made in fact but not in law, "from the traditional municipal classifications of city, town, village and township, to the metropolitan area, the suburb, the manufacturing community, the agricultural community, the resource development community, the mining camp and so on." So reports the Ontario Provincial Municipal Relations Committee.

* * *

The establishment of this Provincial-Municipal committee two years ago is a useful step towards meeting the problems, and its recommendations should prepare the way for their solution. Already one set of recommendations, in support of unconditional grants-in-aid to the municipalities, has been acted on by the Frost administration.

* * *

The overwhelming municipal problem is financial. The revenue resources allocated to the municipalities are not based on the economic and social objectives of the present, but on the conditions of a century ago. The municipalities are now expected by the central Provincial Government and by the citizens of the community, to provide all sorts of new services—from pavement to baby clinics and traffic squads—and yet have the taxing resources of buggy and corduroy road days, namely the property tax.

* * *

In the two other spheres of government in Canada, the Provincial and Federal, taxation methods and revenues have kept abreast of the times, if not ahead of them. The very large increase in the "gross national product" (the market value of all goods and services, including wages, profits, farm and manufacturing income) has been accompanied by corresponding increases in provincial and Federal tax revenues. The story for the municipalities is different; their problems have multiplied, so have their responsibilities, but their tax revenues have not kept up.

* * *

Figures given in the recently-published "Progress Report" of the Provincial-Municipal Relations Committee of Ontario show that the total revenue of the Federal Government has increased from $480,027,000 in 1939 to $2,905,578,000 in 1950; that is, six times as much. The total revenue of Provincial Governments has risen from $236,223,000 in 1939 to $824,693,000 in 1950, about four times as much. The total revenue of municipal governments in Canada has risen from $316,964,000 in 1939 to $562,408,000 in 1950, that is, not twice as much. This municipal revenue includes sizable grants from the Provincial and indirectly from the Federal governments. There, in these statistics, is the crux of the municipal problem: too much to do, too little money to do it with; increased requirements for services without proportionate increases in revenue to fulfill these requirements.

* * *

Considering tax receipts alone, and excluding grants from the Federal Government to the Provincial, and from the Provincial to the municipal, it has been found that in 1939 the Government of Ontario collected in tax revenues 55.3 million dollars, and in 1951 203.6 million dollars—nearly four times as much. All the Ontario municipalities together collected 117.4 million dollars in tax revenues in 1939 and 226 million dollars in 1951, not twice as much, and this after raising municipal mill rates to their highest points. Changes must be made to allow the municipalities greater financial resources, and it is likely that changes will have to be made in the entire system of municipal organization—as, indeed, a change has already been forced by the necessity of circumstances on the municipal structure of Toronto and its suburbs.

Food Prices And Farm Prices

The consumer price index for August was half a point higher than the July index, and it was the fourth consecutive rise. It is now only two points lower than the highest it ever reached, 118.2 in December 1951. The Bureau of Statistics shows that food prices were responsible for much of the advance, having their biggest rise in nearly two years. Coffee, eggs, pork, lard, bread and butter were the chief items contributing to the increase. Yet the farm index prices is the lowest it has been in five years. Why the discrepancy? Why, at a time when farmers are getting the lowest prices for many years are consumers having to pay nearly top prices for the food they buy? Are the costs of distribution too high? Is the middle man taking too much profit or operating too expensively, uneconomically or inefficiently?

A Long Time Placing Sir Wilfrid

On Thanksgiving Day a monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier was unveiled in Montreal. Municipal, provincial and federal leaders of both Liberal and Conservative persuasions were on hand to eulogize the great Prime Minister and Liberal leader before Mackenzie King. It is the first statue of Laurier to find a place in Montreal. It has taken that city or its citizens a long time to recognize the French-Canadian idol who received much of his education and spent his first adult years there. Laurier died in 1919. Another point of note: the bronze and granite monument was designed 26 years ago. The market for statues seems slow.

Ambassador To Spain

Canada has had no diplomatic relations with Spain at all; Canadians generally do not approve of the Spanish government no matter how romantically-inclined they may be to the Spanish scene and peasants and bullfighters. However, sentiment and diplomacy, friendship and politics, respect and trade, are separate entities and need not be kept in the same compartments. The fact is that Spain is one of the largest countries in Europe, is strategically important to Canadian trade and Atlantic defence and is a country whose neutrality is worth cultivation, if not its support (as the last World War proved). It is sound common sense that Canada should have diplomatic relations with Spain, even if it is with Franco's Spain—and Franco's type of government is likely to subsist there for a long time. This sense has now been recognized by the Ottawa Government, and Canada's first embassy in Spain is being established and the first Ambassador has been named. He is the seasoned professional soldier and diplomat Lieutenant-General Maurice Pope.

Sending an ambassador to Spain does not imply approval of the Spanish Government. That is not what an ambassador is for. His job is to find out as much as he can about the foreign government, people and conditions, to make Canada's point of view known, and to do what he can to advance Canadian interests in the country to which he is posted. Not to maintain a diplomatic post in Madrid now would be cutting off our nose to spite our face. Canada has an embassy in Moscow. Why not in Madrid?

The appointment to Madrid shows close liaison with American policy. The U.S. has just negotiated agreements with Spain permitting U.S. naval and air bases in that country—a strategic move whose necessity is discussed in today's Third Column by our Washington correspondent the Hon. Alastair Buchan. The opening of the Canadian embassy and the American lend-lease to Spain indicate an easing of relations with that country. The present American Government is better disposed towards General Franco's political colours than its predecessor. It may happen that soon Canada and other countries party to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will be invited to consider Spain as an active ally in NATO—and at the behest of the U.S. That is an altogether different matter than mere diplomatic recognition, and Canada will have to be wary in considering it.

Spain's Importance To The U.S.

By ALASTAIR BUCHAN

NEGOTIATIONS for the establishment of American air and naval bases in Spain have proceeded at such a snail's pace — there have been more than two years of conversations, and eighteen months of direct negotiations —that the actual signing and promulgation of the agreements at the end of last month came almost as an anti-climax. Nevertheless, the agreements do represent an achievement of the first importance for America's strategic plan of defence for Europe.

✧ ✧ ✧

THREE AGREEMENTS were signed in the Spanish capital of Madrid. The first covers American construction and use of air and naval bases in Spain; the second the provision of American economic aid for Spain, and the third the grant of American military equipment to the Spanish forces. The general import of these agreements is that America will immediately begin to build the bases, which will remain under Spanish sovereignty and command and be jointly used by the air forces and navies of both countries. The agreement concerning the bases lasts for ten years, with provision for automatic renewal for two further periods, each of five years. In return, America will make available 226 million dollars, which has been voted for Spain by the three last Congresses, between now and the end of next June. Of this amount, eighty-five million dollars will be in the form of economic aid to help Spain import raw materials and machinery for the modernisation of her industry and agriculture; and 141 million dollars will be supplied in the form of American military equipment to modernise Spain's ramshackle armed forces.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE AMERICAN ADMINISTRATION cannot, of course, say what aid future Congresses will provide. But Spain has several passionate advocates in the Senate —for the somewhat facile reason that Spain has no Communists— and officials have made it clear that they intend to ask Congress to continue to provide economic and military aid for a number of years to come. They have also been at pains to make it clear that the supply of military equipment will depend on the fulfillment of higher priorities to N.A.T.O. (North Atlantic Treaty Organisation) and the Pacific area.

✧ ✧ ✧

AMERICA has been the target of considerable criticism in Britain and Europe for its insistence on concluding agreements with a country whose ruler is an absolute and anti-democratic dictator. As if to head off further criticism, the State Department went out of its way last week to emphasise that the agreements do not constitute a treaty of alliance or mutual defence such as America has concluded with the N.A.T.O. Powers, and with Australia and New Zealand. Although the point is a somewhat academic one, America is not committed to the defence of Spain in time of war, or to the rearmament of Spanish forces to an extent greater than that needed to ensure the security of its own bases. Moreover, the State Department has made it clear that the agreements are not an attempt to have Spain made a member of N.A.T.O. "by the back door."

✧ ✧ ✧

BECAUSE of the political implications in Britain and France, the State Department has never been keen on the agreements. But it has been hard to resist the arguments of the Chiefs-of-Staff as they point to the overwhelming strategic advantages of having bases in Spain.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE AMERICAN AIR FORCE the four principal bases— near Zaragoza, Madrid and Seville —will provide vital staging points in the event of Russia becoming a target for the American-based planes, whose threat is now one of the major deterrents to a world war. Because she is behind the Pyrenees Mountains, not only is Spain relatively safe from land attack, but she is also outside the range of German-based Russian intercepter aircraft, which Britain, at present the main forward base of American long-range aircraft, is not.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR THE AMERICAN NAVY the advantages of Spanish bases are even stronger. The security of the Mediterranean Sea is now to an important extent dependent on the powerful United States Sixth Fleet, which has the capacity to launch atom-carrying aircraft against the "soft-underbelly" of Russia and her satellite States. But this fleet has no permanent base in the Mediterranean as the British Mediterranean Fleet has at Malta and Gibraltar. Consequently, all its stores and equipment have to be maintained by an extremely wasteful shuttle service between the Mediterranean and Norfolk, Virginia, and all its ships have to return to America for refitting. It is now hoped that when Cartegena and Cadiz have been dredged and modernised, they will provide a forward base from which the Sixth Fleet can operate.

✧ ✧ ✧

HOW THE WHOLE agreement will work out is open to a good deal of doubt. General Franco has obtained a large amount of aid which, if he does not obstruct the American technicians who will be responsible for making the most of it, could make a noticeable difference to the Spanish economy. On the other hand, he has clearly failed in his efforts —and this helped account for the length of the negotiations— to persuade the Americans to re-equip his moth-eaten, if sizeable army. He has won his point that the bases will remain not only under Spanish sovereignty but under Spanish command; yet what effect the arrival of large numbers of men— pleasure-loving, well-off American soldiers and engineers— will have upon his carefuly restrictive Roman Catholic feudalism, remains to be seen.

One Man Relief

(Sir Robert Lockhart in London Calling)

I have spent the best years of my life in foreign countries and in my attempt to make myself a dispassionate observer of the foreign scene I have learned that every man must be prepared to admit that he may be mistaken.

I am therefore opposed to extremists; in particular, to those forms of fanaticism and dogma which claim that the end justifies the worst means. I believe in religious, racial and political tolerance, provided that it does not sink into apathy. I have reservations about the inevitability of human progress, nor can I accept the theory that mechanical invention necessarily adds to human happiness. Experience, too has taught me that much harm has been done to our world by ignorant men of goodwill.

THE BAD EGG SOUTH OF THE BORDER

Letters To The Editor

PICTURE OF VULTURES

Sir: I would li' to clarify a statement which appeared in your issue of Octol · 14th underneath a picture of two "strange-looking live birds" which were shot down in the Bridgenorth area recently and have tentatively been identified as 'some species of black or turkey vulture far north of their native haunts in the mid-central states."

L.L. Snyder, Curator of Ornithology for the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology in Toronto, states in his book "Ontario Birds" (1951) that the Black Vulture has been proven to occur in the province but once and that was in the Niagara region. It may therefore be assumed very unlikely that the birds seen at Bridgenorth were this species.

On the other hand the Turkey Vulture, according to Dr. Snyder, occurs regularly but sparingly in southern and extreme western portion of the province. It is most apt to be observed in the counties bordering Lake Erie, but occurs casually north of Georgian Bay, particularly along the Lake Huron coast and eastward to northern Victoria county; also from Lake Superior to the Manitoba border in western Ontario. From this information it would appear almost certain that the two birds in question were Turkey Vultures and cannot thus be considered to be "far north of their native haunts," although they do appear to be spreading their range eastward in the province.

This species is described in Peterson's Field Guide to the Birds as follows: Wingspread 6 feet; nearly Eagle-size with great two-toned blackish wings (the flight feathers are noticeably lighter); usually seen soaring with its wings held above the horizontal (forming a dihedral). At close range the head of the adult bird appears reddish; young birds however have black heads.

It would be interesting to know why these birds were shot down at it would be almost impossible to confuse the species with the common crow and neither do they resemble any of the game birds such as ducks, geese or partridge. It is to be hoped that the two birds concerned have since been released to renew their journey southward as they migrate regularly during the month of October to their winter home.

Your truly,
F. R. PAMMETT,
Secretary
Peterborough Nature Club.

TWO OUT OF THREE PAY

Sir: I would like to know, like a good many other folks what the city officials are doing with the money they are collecting out of the meters all over the city, and fines they are plastering the motorists with? I think it is shameful, Peterborough's is being named the Grabbers. They are fleecing the public right and left, but they won't tell you what becomes of the money. Why, I think there should be some sort of accounting; the money collected is public money. The sum collected to date is an immense sum of money and every months it is growing. The meters are not the only finiancial item. While I'm writing this note I'd like to make a complaint about the only rest room in the city of Peterborough with a population of about 40,000 and of three toilets they had to put pay slots on 2 out of three. What kind of people are our city fathers getting to be? It's time we had a complete change and there is a drinking fountain there, it has been out of order for months, and through the hot weather no drinking water.

I would like to hear other people's opinion and about this business of buying houses and lots and destroying houses when they are so hard for poor people to get to live in, bought out of public money just for parking lots, are cars more important than human beings, I don't think so and it is time it was put a stop to. So let's have your opinion folks.

YOURS FOR FAIR PLAY.

Woman's Place

(From The Hamilton Spectator)

Jacqueline Auriol, daughter-in-law of the President of France, mother of two sons, test pilot by trade and breaker of world air records by avocation, thinks women should be allowed to fly fighter aircraft in wartime and claims they would do just as well as men. It is an intriguing— and also a debatable— proposal.

Many women have proved that they can fly very well in peace-time and some, especially in Britain, have proved they can serve usefully in the air in war-time ferrying even heavy bombers from factories and to and from repair depots. But flying on operations is an different proposition altogether, and it is a question whether any but a tiny minority of women would be suited for it.

Almost everything about Woman, including her temperament, has been designed by Nature for the protection of her young. Hence her aggressiveness is instinctive and defensive, not reasoned and offensive, her instinct is a subjective intuition and her reasoning is usually a rather deliberate "Shall I, shan't I" to the immediate problem, not to the next problem but one. She may be fearful or fearless, but not both at once.

We doubt very much whether you will find woman in the air crew messes of the next war, if there is one— thereby considerably simplifying the problem of what songs may be sung there.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Behold, the Lord's hand is not shortened, that it cannot save; neither his ear heavy, that it cannot hear; but your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you. (Isa, 59: 1, 2.)

My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous: and he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for our's only, but also for the sins of the whole world. (I John 2: 1, 2.)

And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin. (I John 3:5.)

Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new. And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God. (II Cor. 5:17-20.)

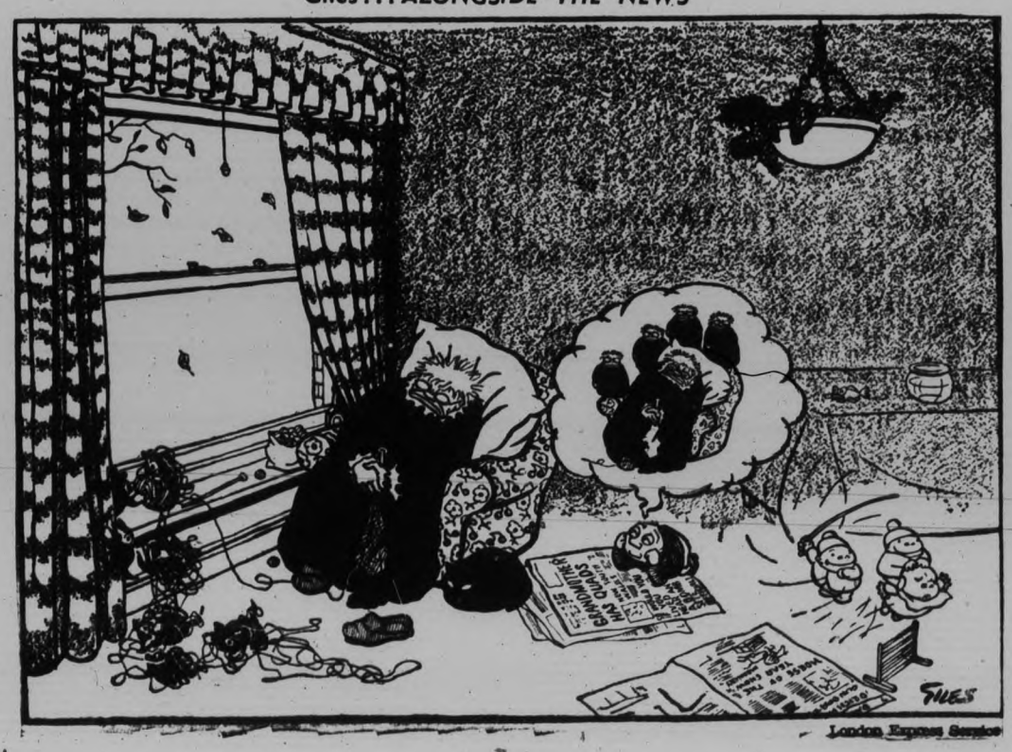
✧ ✧ ✧

For earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God: but that which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing; whose end is to be burned. (Heb. 6:7,8.)

Life Is Theme Enough

(Ottawa Journal)

For several years now we have been stooping under the burden of people who feel that they—and we—must always be preaching. A sermon is all right in its place, and we've been known to argue a case right in these columns. But what irks us is the fellow who asks what the moral is behind a Ron Smith cartoon, or why Hollywood puts out a movie without some special intent to uplift humanity. Poets too! Ninety per cent. of the poems sent to us for use in this page are designed to improve us or show the way or point with scorn. And how many novels have been spoiled in recent years by the author's inability to resist a soap box of his own making! Simply to entertain, or to record life, or to reveal the existence of things which often we fail to discern, or to show ourselves to ourselves as others see us—these ample purposes seem no longer enough for most novelists. They are all carrying torches these days.



It was with a relief and a smile, therefore, that we read something in Saturday Night last week which prompted these observations. Miss Suzanne Butler, the Ottawa girl whose first novel "My Pride, My Folly" won a coveted United States book prize last year and is a deservedly good seller in Canada, was asked by Saturday Night to write something of the business of writing a successful novel. Miss Butler's message was in brief, that writing a novel was no picnic, that it meant hard work and careful research and long hours. But, she added,

"The book interested me all the time I was writing it; I enjoyed even the research that went into it. But at no time was I conscious of expounding any particular theme, or even of feeling that I ought to be expounding one."

For which frankness and gay good sense the Muses no doubt danced in joy.

A British Opinion

Giles ... ALONGSIDE THE NEWS

ALPHIE • I'm Just A Common Cat But I Know How To Work My Wiles On The Suckers

Yes, sir, I'm Alphie, just a common, ordinary everyday barn cat with a ridiculous name. I am a bit of a sharp dealer, a bit of a diplomat, and everyone says, a pretty good looker.

You see, we cats come from one of the longest lines of human pets known to man. They thought so much of us in the far-off days that they even put up stone and metal statues to our most illustrious animals. I don't hope to attain anything like his; (to tell you the truth, I was posed with the problem of finding a bit to eat every day, and a few hours warmth).

This is how I overcame that:

I picked out a house were a small, warm-hearted girl lived—it made no difference that she already had a wretched dogpet — for there were swarms of footloose dogs all over the neighborhood. There was also a big pine tree near this home where I could roost in safety and put on my act.

As long as there was daylight four dogs kept me treed continually and by late afternoon I made enough feinting moves up and down the tree to really keep them excited. Then I started mee-owing until the small girl made her boy companions set up a long ladder and "rescued" me, and took me into the house.

That's all I wanted, to get into that house.

From there on it was simple; every time the dog pet of the house made a pass at me it got its ears cuffed. Ho-ho, wretched beast.

I brushed against everyone's legs, purred like a buzz saw and soon had them diving into the 'frig for milk and some of the dog's canned food. Being a bit of a politician, as I remarked before, I would then play with bits of string or paper, much to the enjoyment of the whole household—except the dog; you see, I understand this business of "scratching people's backs" when they scratch mine. Then, I spring onto the best couch or chair and wash myself down (this whiles away another hour) and when the folks' attention lags, nip out to the kitchen again and go after the real tasty food in the garbage bag.

By the time I get the kitchen floor all messed up, the boss woman gets a bit riled up and has me put out.

That suits me fine and puts the best part of the night ahead of me to tom-cat around to my heart's content.

Ya gotta be sharp to get along in this old world and no one will ever say that Alphie wasn't an apt cat. Perhaps they will call me a "hep cat".

WHY BOTHER WASHING DISHES? Just put them on the floor for me to handle. But these people of mine are fussy, and a bit insulting, for I have to eat out of the dog's dish. Now she's eating canned food (I hope it is horse meat and not some of my ancestors ground up). I like to top my meal off with milk but why in thunder do these folks dump all their sour milk on my plate? The frig' is full of good stuff, sometimes cream, and say, wouldn't I just love to get my paws into some of those salmon leftovers!

THIS IS WHERE I COME IN, by a back casement window. It took a week of being rescued (?) from a tall tree and carried into the home of my choice. I looked the people over and sampled their food. Not bad. Soon, I was able to side-track the waiting dogs, by one feint or another, and now I yowl beneath the window and get prompt admittance.

I DANCE FOR MY SUPPER, much to the delight of the whole family. This is called the warming-up routine. It doesn't take long after batting at a piece of string, a small toy, before I turn on the real charm, rubbing up against people's legs and purring like mad. This brings scraps from plates, slid to me quietly below the table. And the hors d'oeuvres I've had are enough to make any cat sick . . . blobs of spinach; bits of burned toast; the cold white of a poached egg . . .

WOULD YOU GO 'ROUND with milk on your whiskers? No, nor will I. And there's nothing like picking out the best couch or chair in the house to rest on while performing my toilet. If these folks ever take a comb to me, or give me a bath, or flea powder, this boarding house is all off. I'll run the risk of accumulating hair balls in my stomach if I like, but don't leave us get too civilized. That is what is wrong with everything these days, civilization is too civilized.

IT'S IN THE BAG, the real tasty scraps, that is. When I feel the time has come for me to be hurled outside for the night, the quickest way to get the boot is to drag garbage scraps all over the kitchen floor. Who cares at this stage? Not I. You see, I've made the grade; enough to eat, a couple of hours of warmth on a soft couch and "one for the road." The whole night is before me to fight with other toms on back fences, to see the cutie four doors away. Life can be beautiful.—(Nick Nickels Examiner Photostory).

Lightning Rod For The Boat

Summer storms rise with startling suddenness in Ontario, but few pleasure boats are equipped to foretell their approach — yet the danger of damage to persons or craft by lightning can be greatly reduced, to anglers at least, at no cost....

Simply tie your metal fishing rod to the side of the boat so the handle is constantly immersed and the tip projected into the air above the heads of the occupants. Whether the rod is so placed or not, however, it is best to lie down so that the body is below the gunwales (edges) of the craft.

One gentleman, known to Sylva, has a car radio antenna mounted on the bow of his outboard motorboat with a lead wire to the stern to his radio. Last summer a storm caught him out on the water. He disconnected the lead to the radio, wrapped the bare end of the wire around a pair of pliers, dropped it in the water, and felt much safer while heading for the shore.

When lightning is discharged from the cloud to ground, the bolts often take shortcuts via the closest object between the cloud and ground. Fishing on a river, therefore, may be comparatively safe if the banks extend above the boat, but persons caught out on a lake or broad river could be in danger. Trolling or other fishing or boating outings can be enjoyed in greater safety when those in the boat know that a metal rod may be used as an arrester.

It took a Texas University professor — engaged in research to find the best ways and means for fishermen to avoid possible contact with the fearful bolts of electric energy released during storms—to come up with the at-no-expense idea of using a fishing rod for a lightning arrester.

One day, out fishing, he was faced with the real thing when a sudden storm came up over the hills. He at once thought of his metal rod and set it up as described. Later, in his laboratory, he further tested his suddenly induced theory and found it greatly improved the safety factor.

He warns, however, that the best thing to do, after all, is to hurry ashore, before the storm strikes.—(From "Sylva," Official Publication of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests.)

"Some fellows just refuse to play the game," observed conservation officer Bob Trotter at Apsley the other evening. He couldn't talk long because he was driving up to the Paudash Lake country to look over a party of shooters who were reported to have taken some partridge. The first season—Oct. 3 to 12—ended Monday night and he was after them.

Duck shooters are not breaking the law by trying these days but there aren't any birds coming south yet; the weather is too fine.

There was one bold bucko up on Clear Lake on Sunday, however, who was chasing a flock of blacks in a 25 h.p. outboard, potshotting at them, too. Observers at weekend cottages watched the antics, and wondered. They were still wondering as the sharpshooter roared away to the north end of the lake and disappeared in the vicinity of Big Island.

Shooting ducks from a moving craft, and on Sunday, this bird brain left himself open to two serious offences had the Law caught up with him.

The fishing season closed on Thursday evening with few breathless last-minute reports coming in. Guide Clarence McIlmoyle phoned to say his wife had landed a 30½-pounder 'lunge on Wednesday evening which brought the family total 'lunge take to six fine fish during the past month. Nice going.

In the pickerel sweepstakes furnitureman Art Fraser got himself a walleye at Nassau same night that scaled ten pounds. Right up toward top contest poundage is this beauty.

Bass have been giving the boys the go-by, in this district, but down Point Anne way, Bay of Quinte, Dick Maracle caught an 8-pound, 12-ounce small-mouth. A New York sporting magazine announced that Dick was short a pound of the largest of this species caught this year, down in Tennesee. This State produces the largest, apparently; someone took a 10½-pounder there—Dale Hollow Reservoir—three years ago.

The Lands and Forests men have bulldozed a quarter-mile road from the Blue Mountain Lodge trail to Duffy's Landing on the West Arm of Stony Lake Bay, Kosh Lake, to open their six-acre public parking area. The road is rough right now but a gravel top will cover it soon.

The waterfront shelves out to a wooded flat place for parking and there is a bit of crib work in place to serve as a temporary dock.

Future plans call for stone fireplace and picnic tables. It will be a boon to the cottages at that end of the lake.

Around these parts we are apt to look for news of great trapping enterprises somewhere in the far North. It is big business there, to be sure, and in some areas the only business.

Much closer to home in the Tweed forestry district trappers are doing big things. In 1952, for instance, 6,500 beaver were taken, also 90,000 muskrat and 780 mink pelts.

Fur, the foundation of Canada's first economy, is still a big thing, not too far from home.

This current stretch of wonderful weather has lulled us all into hoping that it's going to be an open winter. It is a heyday for amateur forecasters and they come out with the craziest things; garden snakes still slithering about; squirrels too lazy to hoard up winter food. You can't blame folks, like William Cundill of Baddow Settlement near Fenelon Falls who brought a sprig of fall apple blossoms from a tree in full bloom. But then, we don't know. The canoe company are sending carloads of new toboggans out West and new skiis in like quantities all over the country. Fuel bills are coming due. Winter clothing buying is a problem for parents. Whatever happens, we can be sure of five months of something or other. That is a safe bet.

Your Garden:

What Trees And Plants Best Tolerate Shade?

By HENRY PREE

The gardener whose house faces the north, or whose yard is so situated that it is in shade, needs plants of some sort which will tolerate shade. There are no shade-loving plants, despite many claims to the contrary.

In order to give some semblance of planting on the shady side of the house, he is limited to a few varieties which, if given much encouragemnet and ideal soil, will reward us for our efforts.

The only needle-leaved evergreens which tolerate shade are Canadian hemlock and Canadian yew and even these two appreciate some sunlight if they are to thrive.

Both must be planted away from the house so that there is plenty of air circulating about them and where the overhang of the roof does not prevent rains from reaching their tops.

The following broad-leaved evergreens are recommended for trial: Carolina rhododendron, hybrid rhododendron, mountain laurel, leucothoe (drooping and romeda), pieris japonica and floribunda, inkberry (ilex glabra), Japanese holly (ilex crenata) and its varieties.

All these plants need a well-drained soil, rich in humus and on the acid side of the scale. They must be spaced sufficiently far apart so that one may easily walk about them; plants need room for development—crowding also excludes air.

Pachysandra, myrte (vinca minor), English ivy and evergreen bittersweet (euonymous fortunei in variety) are recommended for an evergreen ground cover.

Few deciduous shrubs and trees will satisfy the gardener, as most of them grow too large for the average house and so we must be careful where we plant.

The flowering dogwood is used for height and accent, while the spice bush (clethra anifolia); the smaller mock orange avalanche; dwarf cranberry bush (viburnum opulus nanum), and mountain currant (ribes alpinum) are recommended because they will keep within bounds.

It is smarter to start with young plants unles one moves the larger shrubs from an existing shady planting which has been given excellent care and all material is in a healthy condition. The gardener should visit a nurseryman now and be guided by his advice.

Gardening Questions

Q— Is there a low-cost edging plant which closely approximates the appearance of dwarf box-bush?

A—Yes. Germander, listed botanically as Teucrium chamaedrys, an evergreen perennial with small oval leaves. It can be kept down to a height and breadth of six to eight inches. Untrimmed, it grows to a height of a foot; bears rosy-purple flowers.

Q—What are the best strawberries for a small back-yard garden?

A — Premier (Howard 17) has long been successful, Catskill is also grown for an early crop and Red Star for a late crop. There are other good varieties. Of the everbearers Rich and Superfection have been satisfactory.

Q— What are some of the annuals which may be lifted from the garden for bloom indoors?

A—Select small, thrifty plants of petunias, lantanas, dwarf marigolds, verbenas, calendulas, snapdragons and other small-growing kinds. Give them the sunniest window.

It might be just a mite early to mention skiing, but a reminder comes from Jim Craig, Ontario junior ski chairman, that the Canadian junior championships will be held in Port Arthur on Feb. 28. Incidentally, every year is leap year for the skiers, eh? The dispatch states that the Orange Crush Co. will contribute $1,000 to help finance provincial team winners to this meet for their trophy. Ottawa won out last year, Lakehead being second and Sudbury third. Those northern clubs get much more snow over a longer period than centres (like Peterborough) in Southern Ontario. Anyway, local skiers can set their sights on this big meet when snow does come.

Strong Timmy Geohagen will take on Al Mills in the main pro mat bout here next Wednesday night. It'll take a lot of strength to offset the unscrupulous ring tactics regularly employed by the big westerner. Al's brother faces Pat Flanagan in the semi-final, and this was rather to be expected following the wild fracas between Tiny Mills and Flan here last time when Tiny crowned Pat with a chair to set off a riot in the crowd. The Mills brothers are as mean a pair to come down the pike here as any seen in years. English Alan Garfield meets Jack Wentworth in the card's prelim.

Regarding The Redmen

Scribe Carver of Belleville says: "There is much conjecture as to what will comprise the Redmen senior 'B' club this season. The only information available is that the majority of last year's squad will be back, augmented by three or four imports. OHA foresees little difficulty in getting Bob Taylor's release from Ed Shore. Tony Parisi is reported to have signed for goal with a European hockey club but it is stated that a former Kenora goalie will be around at the Belleville call-to-arms. Redmen last spring caried the champiorn Kingston Goodyears to a seven-game group finals and, with a little more reserve power, could be stronger this season."

* * * * * *

We hope so, chum, as this could be a real strong senior group if Belleville and Orillia come up with clubs as good as we expect to face the OHA barrier next week from Kingston, Oshawa and Peterborough. Any of these three could prove a floperoo, but it is most unlikely as they were strong enough last semester and have strengthened since. You can't go too much on early season practices or exhibitions, of course, but on paper the Goodyears (Ontario champs a year ago), the Truckmen and the TPT-ers will be tough for any team to take. The Petes start their schedule against Oshawa Truckers in Bowmanville next Saturday, and open at home the following Friday.

Neat Puck Exhibition

A goodly gallery for an exhibition puck fray saw Auroro Lumber Kings from up Toronto way jerk out a 4-3 verdict over Eddie Redmond's men, but the latter were sure knocking on the door in the final minutes. Almost tied it up but for some sparkling goaltending by a guy named Leuty. Working themselves into shape and still not shaken down into their proper pattern, the Petes nevertheless gave indications that they'd be okay right shortly. Monty was an absentee this game, and a few of those appearing in the lineup are likely to be cut, but the majority will be seen in OHA action in the near future. The coach didn't play, wanting to sit back and observe his various lines and defence pairs. Play was quite speedy, close and rather rugged. A good exhibition.

Rougher than many of our city streets—and they are rough—was the exhibition senior high school grid game at Morrow Park last eve. Yet some good football was seen as PCVS rolled to a 17-0 triumph o'er St. Peter's. Which sounds like Bev Goulding will have a surprise in store for Oshawa Combines when they tangle in league play the end of this month. PCI-ers apparently are coming along real good now after an indifferent start. Chuck Geale got all their points on nifty passing by Bill Goodson, Terry Roberts and Bob McKinney. A lot of rivalry between these local teams in their annual exhibitions. SPS go to St. Mike's for a weekend OCC fixture.

JUST A LITTLE HAZY, JIM? — Knocked down for three eight counts and twice out of the ring, Jim Mark, of the Lindsay Boxing Club, gamely held on to the end in his semi-final bout with Emmett Crough, of the Fowler's Corners Boxing Club Friday night in Lakefield. Aurora Lumber Kings Take A 4-3 Win Against Petes In Exhibition Hockey Game

Dishing up a dashing display of hockey before a good-sized crowd at Civic Arena last night, Aurora Lumber Kings yanked out a 4-3 win over the TPT Petes. The visiting senior "B" club had a wide margin on play in the first period to rack up a 2-0 lead, but they were outplayed a bit in the second period, though scoring the only marker of the frame, and the Petes tore in to register a 3-1 lead in the third. As expected of a first puck tilt of the season, the players were disorganized often and trying to get acquainted with line-mates' moves, some also being somewhat shy on condition. Yet, it turned out to be a tight, speedy and interesting joust, rugged in spots, and almost winding up in a tie game as Petes shot the works in the final minutes of play.

PLAYED IT HARD

The referees ruled impartially and handed out 10 penalties, which was fairly heavy for a friendly exhibition. But the players deserved them as they played it hard in an effort to impress coaches before some would be chopped from the starting lists. The visitors drew six of the penalties, the only major being to popular Bill McMaster for starting a fight in the second period. The winners got the ony goal when their rivals were short a man.

There were no particular stars for the local squad, coached by Eddie Redmond—who didn't dress for this fray—though Chum Fryia scored two of their goals and Gus Leonard aided on a pair. O'Sullivan was in on three Aurora markers and Sinclair two. Goalie Leuty repeatedly robbed the Petes in the last two periods as they swarmed in on him, and he was aided by some stiff, speedy checking by his husky mates. The game was late starting, due to the tardy arrival of some of the Aurora aggregation.

Aurora: Goal, Leuty; defence, Cork and Digby; centre, Jarvis; wings, D. Avery and J. Avery; alternates, O'Sullivan, Sinclair, Somerville, Sullivan, Rodwel, Arnoldi, Dixon, Walbroth and Hector.

Petes: Goal, Donlevy; defence, Hanna and Wasson; centre, Leonard; wings, Greenlaw and Fryia; alternates, Munro, Legrow, McMaster, Belisle, Peterson, Armstrong, Hill, Crowley, Prentice, Floyd, Colins and Mockler.

BOMBER QUEEN — Sylvia Sveinson, 20-year-old telephone operator, has been chosen Miss Winnipeg Blue Bomber of 1953. She will represent the football team in the Miss Grey Cup competition to be held in connection with the Dominon football final at Toronto.

PCVS Seniors Beat SPS In Grid Fray

PCVS Garnet and Greys still hold a slight edge on superiority in senior high school football today over St. Peter's High Saints. With a record of three straight losses as compared with a two-win and one-loss for the Saints, the Bev Goulding-coached collegians were pre-game underdogs. But the Garnet and Grey, showing their best form, came through on Friday with a 17-0 victory over the Saints in their annual feud.

The game was typical of a PCVS-St. Peter's encounter; tempers were always on edge, as the youths mixed trips, fists, elbows and knees with good running, passing and kicking.

These hot tempers hurt the Saints most. They lost starry quarterback John Hickey in the third qquarter when the referee ruled that the Saint had attempted to kick a player. A 25-yard penalty went along with his game suspension.

The already short-handed Garnet and Grey backfield also suffered. Without Barry Hollingsworth and Dave Coit (hurt in the second quarter), the PCVS team was just getting by when Bill Goodson was thrown out for roughing in the third quarter.

GOOD FOOTBALL

But both teams did play good football. PCVS relied mostly upon the passing of quarter Terry Roberts, Bill Goodson and Bob McKinney, who passed all three touchdowns to Chuck Geale. Geale made his night's scoring total the full 17 when a kick for a rouge point and a convert. The passing gave the Garnet and Greys the edge.

Play along the ground was fairly even. Dick Foley, Gord Snape, Bob O'Rourke and John Hickey kept the Saints rolling along while the Garnet and Greys' best were Doug Livingstone (playing his first game on offence), Bob McKinney and Dave Coit.

A Saint fumble started the collegians off in the first quarter as they recovered on the Saints' 400. A 20-yard run by Coit set up the Garnet and Grey for a touchdown pass over the line from Roberts to Geale, Geale converting. Before the quarter ended Geale added a single point on a rouge.

There wasn't any scoring then until the third quarter when Goodson from his five-yard line looped a pass 30 yards to Geale who romped 60 more yards for the major which went unconverted. Minutes later McKinney tossed another pass over the line to Geale for the final score.

The Saints' best opportunity to score came in the final minute when O'Rourke passed to John McGee who moved the ball to the PCVS 30. Snape made an attempt to go the rest of the way, but was stopped.

Vessels Will Finish Season With Eskies

EDMONTON (CP) — Halfback Billy Vessels, the WIFU's leading ground gainer, will finish the season with Edmonton Eskimos.

Coach Darrel Royal reported Friday that Vessels phoned from Oklahoma City to say he has been reinstated as an officer candidate and will not have to report to the United States Army until June, 1954.

He was recently ordered to report in Great Falls, Mont., Oct. 27 for a physical examination before being drafted into the army.

He will be on hand to play for Eskimos when they meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers here tonight.

Crough Beats Lindsay Boy In Best Bout On Card Before 450 Lakefield Fans

Emmett Crough's unanimous decision over 150-pound Jim Mark of Lindsay completely over-shadowed the main bout between Bill Twomey of Peterborough and John Angiers of Lindsay Friday night in the Lakefield Arena. Crough dropped Mark for three eight-counts in three rounds and twice sent the Lindsay youth sprawling through the ropes to the arena floor as he hammered his way to victory. The action filled semi-final sent the 450 fans, who had helped raise funds for the Lakefield Hockey Club, home happy. The final bout between Bill Twomey, boxing for the Fowlers' Corners Boxing Club, and John Angiers of the Lindsay club was only an anti-climax to an evening of 10 bouts featuring boxers from both clubs.

Confident, popular Crough with wind-mill punches had Mark in trouble twice in the first round. Early in the second he landed a solid right to Mark's chin, downing him for the regulation count. As Mark softened and tired, Crough tore in for the kill. But even though he went down twice in the final round for eight counts and twice went out of the ring, the game Mark held on for the limit.

CLINCHED A LOT

The main bout saw little of the fast-moving action of the semi-final which kept the fans on their feet yelling. Throughout the three rounds, Twomey and Angiers jabbed each other from in close, quick skirmishes and then clinched. For his more accurate punches, Angiers was given an unpopular decision.

Two Fowlers Corners boxers, Tom Mark and Glen McIntyre, made the fans sit up and take notice as they forgot to box and started slugging each other in earnest in the other featured bout.

McIntyre, the stockier and taller boxer, landed lefts and rights, mostly jabs, to Mark's face, causing bleeding in the first minute of the first round. He then connected with a hard right which sent Mark down for the first real knockdown of the 10-card night.

Even though he was sent through the ropes (partly through a slip and through a roundhouse landed by Mark) in the third, McIntyre was given the decision.

REAL SLUGFEST

In the first of the four 150-pound bouts on the card, Harry Lynch in a slug-fest won a decision over Ted Webb. Both boxers from the Fowlers Corners Club started swinging freely in the first round and never finished until the final whistle. Lynch landed harder punches and had Webb staggering through the last 20 seconds.

Experienced Jack Spratt of Lindsay methodically worked an unanimous decision over John Martin of Fowlers' Corners. The Lindsay 100-pounder completely out-boxed the less-experienced Martin who hung on to the end in spite of a bloodied nose.

The night's most popular decision went to Paul Henley of Lindsay as he split-decisioned Rick Dowson of the Fowlers Corners Club. Although he feinted neatly and landed a few solid punches, Dowson didn't show well in the first round and therefore lost by only a few points.

In the other bouts, Larry Little of Lindsay won unanimously over Stewart Davidson of Fowler's Corners, Pete Keough won a split decision over Doug Burgomaster (both FCB members), Larry Gaynor defeated John Henley (both Lindsay boys) and John Gaynor decisioned Terry Gaynor in a crowd-pleaser, considering the lads were only 35-pounds each.

Hamilton Tigers Clicking Defeat Stratford By 6-3

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tigers accomplished in their first game of the new Ontario Hockey Association Senior A schedule half what it took them all last season to do.

The Tigers scored four goals in the final period Friday night to defeat Stratford Indians 6-3. In Chatham, Windsor Bulldogs, a new entry in the loop, got off on the wrong foot by dropping a 5-3 decision to the Maroons.

The Tigers won only two games last year to finish in the cellar of the eight-team circuit. Both victories were against Stratford.

The Indians held a 3-1 margin at the end of the first period and had a 3-2 edge at the end of the second before the Tabbies came to life Friday night.

THREE-GOAL EFFORT

Native-born Billy Hammond set the pace for the Tigers with three goals, including the winning counter and an insurance marker in the third. Carl Liscombe scored two and Doug McKay netted the other.

Mickey Roth, Ted Pletsch and George Aitken divided scoring honors for the Indians.

In Chatham, the Maroons outscored the Bulldogs 3-1 in the final period. Chatham jumped to a 2-0, first-period edge but Windsor knotted the count 2-2 in the second frame.

Carl Liscombe notched two goals for the Maroons. Frank Bonello, Danny Blair and veteran Joe Carveth bagged the others. Lyle Wiseman, Alec Birukow and Gord Haidy clicked for Windsor.

Tonight's only action will see Chatham at Stratford.

10-To-1 Shot Wins New Zealand Classic

MELBOURNE (AP) — A 10-to-1 shot, My Hero, a New Zealand horse, won the Caulfield Cup today by a head over Wodalla, a 14-to-1 hazard.

Most Regal, 25-to-1, was third, a length back of Wodalla. Silver Phantom, the favorite at 9-to-4, ran out of the money.

The Caulfield Cup is one of Australia's richest races and the first leg of Australia's biggest racing double. The second race of the double is the Melbourne Cup to be run Nov. 3.

M. Whatman Leads

M. Whatman had high three of 737 this week in the Lucky Strike Girls' Bowling League, her total being made up of top single of 301 and 225 and 211. Callaghan's blanked the Reed team while 3-1 victories were taken by Knights, Miles, Parsons and Dunfield over Gibbons, Butcher, Graham and McBride in that order.

Good singles included: L. Griffin 281, M. Hollowell 232, M. Knights 230 and 231, G. Pearson 225, M. McGuiness 223, M. Patterson 222, E. Butcher 219, M. Callaghan 211 and 208, J. Steen 208 and D. Hamley 202. Neat triples were: M. Knights 611, E. Butcher 599, M. Callaghan 594, L. Griffin 578, M. Hollowell 562, D. Hamley 535, H. Stacey 521, M. McGuiness 515 and V. Triggs 509.

Halfback J. Chambers Out For Season

EDMONTON (CP) — Halfback Jim Chambers who joined Edmonton Eskimos in 1951 from Montreal intermediate ranks probably will be out for the rest of the season.

The Edmonton club disclosed Friday that the fleet Negro back underwent an operation Thursday for removal of a knee cartilage.

Eskimos, who already have clinched first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Conference had some other depressing news for their fans.

Three imports may not be dressed for Saturday night's game here against Winnipeg Blue Bombers. End Frankie Anderson has the flu. Tackle Joe Blanchard has a wrenched knee and end Tom Stolhandske is out with an infected foot.

CARTER WHIPS CHAVEZ

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter of New York battered veteran Carlos Chavez of Los Angeles into submission Thursday night, and scored a six-round technical knockout in their scheduled 10-round non-title fight at the Olympic Auditorium. Carter weighed 136½, Chavez 139½.

Rookies Steal Show In 2-2 Wing-Hawk Tie

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The veterans are playing second fiddle to the rookies in the National Hockey League. Names like Beliveau, Reibel, Henry and Gatherum are injecting new interest into a league that sailed into the doldrums last season. The veterans Howe, Richard, Bentley and Kennedy can still draw the faithful fans but their experience is overshadowed by the exhuberance and color being shown by the youngsters. Take Dutch Reibel, Detroit Red Wings' rookie. Friday night he scored two goals in the third period to give his team a 2-2 draw with Chicago Black Hawks.

And young Dave Gatherum, called up from Sherbrooke Saints of the Quebec Hockey League last week to replace the injured Terry Sawchuck in the nets, permitted his first goals after five consecutive shutout periods. He blanked Toronto Maple Leafs last Sunday and turned back the Hawks through the first two periods Friday night before Bill Gadsby and Doc Couture scored.

LOOKING TO ROOKIES

The league coaches are looking for their rookies to add further zest to an already-promising season during the six-game week-end.

Tonight, New York Rangers are at Toronto, Boston Bruins face Montreal Canadiens and Chicago is at Detroit.

Sunday, Toronto plays Chicago, Montreal is at Detroit and New York meets Boston.

Frank Boucher, manager-coach of the Rangers, says his is a better team this year because it believes in itself.

"When the boys tell each other how much better they are, they play that way," said Frank.

Boucher looks to Paul Ronty, Don (Bones) Raleigh and Max Bentley for the experience and to little Camille Henry, centre rookie from Quebec Citadelles, for the fire.

Montreal needs a win to stay on top of the scoring column. Detroit's tie Friday night put the Wings within one point of the Canadiens and another victory tonight, coupled with a Montreal loss, would give them the lead.

Strong Backfield Said Reason Eskies Winning

REGINA (CP)—If statistics don't lie, a powerful backfield is one reason why Edmonton Eskimos have clinched first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union.

Statistics issued here Friday for 11 of the 13 games played this season show Edmonton rolled up a net total of 2,084 yards in rushing, more than 1,000 yards better than any of the other three teams in the loop.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, now in a second-place tie with Saskatchewan Roughriders, gained a net of 1,039 yards along the ground although their backfielders carried the ball 285 times compared to 252 by Esks.

YARD GAINS

Saskatchewan had 1,077 yards for 193 carried and last-place Calgary Stampeders 863 for 362.

In the pass department Winnipeg, chiefly guided by quarterback Jack Jacobs, picked up 2,342 yards through the air compared with 2,030 for Saskatchewan, 1,909 for Calgary and 1,394 for Edmonton.

Bomber quarterbacks threw 307 passes and completed 180. Saskatchewan had 281-154, Calgary 267,128 and Edmonton 164-83. Sixteen Winnipeg passes went for touchdowns compared with 15 for Roughriders, 10 for Stampeders and seven for Eskimos.

Sydney Selling Two Players

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Sydney Millionaires Friday announced sale of Fred Hildebrand of New Westminster, B.C., and Alex Birukow of Port Arthur to Windsor Bulldogs of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

No amount was stated in the sale which ended a long dispute between the Maritime Major Hockey League club and Murph Chamberlain's Bulldogs.

Millionaires ordered both players suspended when they failed to report to training camp and turned out instead with Bulldogs.

Both Hildebrand and Birukow played with Millionaires under Chamberlain during the 1949-50 season.

In Windsor, Chamberlain announced also the signing of Lyle Wiseman, Montreal, picked up from Charlottetown Islanders, in exchange for five players. To get Wiseman, Chamberlain parted with defenceman Don McLaughlin, formerly a member of the Halifax MMHL team, and forwards Bill McPherson, Bob Glashoe, Elwood Ritchie and Merv Towers.

Ottawa Fires Halfback Pete Karpuk

OTTAWA (CP) — Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football League Friday night fired their 27-year-old halfback, Pete Karpuk.

Coach Clem Crowe said Karpuk was dropped from the roster for "indifference."

The player was sent back to dressing quarters during the club's practice Friday night.

Crowe would not say exactly what he is alleged to have done. But he commented:

"It was the only thing to do. If a player keeps disobeying you, it's time to let him go. There can be only one boss on the club."

DIRECTORS BACK HIM

Rough Rider president Jim McCaffrey said the directors are "100 per cent behind the coach."

He added: "Crowe is in charge of our club. Any move he makes which he thinks is in the best interests of the club gets our full support."

Karpuk himself was not available for comment.

Karpuk, who stands five-foot 10 and weighs 165 pounds, came from Toronto. He broke into Big Four football with the Rough Riders in 1948.

ONETIME GRADUATE IS NEW CHANCELLOR—Dr. Samuel Beatty, who graduated at the University of Toronto, became its new chancellor Friday when he took office from the retiring chancellor, the Hon. Vincent Massey, Governor-General. Earlier, Mr. Massey had laid the foundation stone of the new men's residence of the college. The procession then entered Convocation Hall where Dr. Beatty was formally installed as the new chancellor. Photo shows Governor-General Massey, University President Dr. Sidney Smith, and the new chancellor, Dr. Beatty.

Dud A-Bomb, Is There Such A Thing?

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—Suppose an A-bomb or a H-bomb is dropped on your city—but it doesn't go off.

Is it a dud? or is it a time-bomb?

Or is it a complete fake, a Machiavellian monkey wrench of panic designed to send people fleeing and paralyze an emptied city?

This strange bomb may come when an enemy is bombing other places or after our city had been announced as a target. What happens? What do we do?

These questions are presented by Jack de Ment, research chemist and director of the de Ment Laboratories, Portland, Ore., writing in the military engineer.

Strangely, there's been little mention of the possibility of atomic duds. And less speculation about clever fake bombs, looking like the real thing, but with no nuclear gizzard.

It's time for some realistic thinking about these possibilities, de Ment says.

MANY DUDS

Many ordinary bombs in the Second World War were duds or time bombs. Special bomb disposal crews had the ticklish job of disarming or removing them.

A-bombs or H-bombs are much more complex things. There's a good chance, de Ment says, that some stockpiled or new bombs could be dud from mechanical or human failure.

How much of a modern city might have to be evacuated until a dud A-bomb could be removed?

Fake bombs could be a potent new psychological weapon, even a real weapon.

Two cities might be bombed, and a fake bomb dumped into the third. Until you know it's a fake, the area is deserted, factories shut down.

The fake bomb could be used to neutralize and empty a city which an advancing enemy wanted to save intact. In the Second World War, bombers sometimes avoided areas of cities which their army later hoped to use.

NEW YANKEE—Vic Power, who played with the New York Yankees' farm club at Kansas City last year, has been added to the roster of the 1954 Yankee team. Power and Elston Howard, who also played with Kansas City, are the first Negro players signed to the team.

Shoemaker Rides 392nd Winner At Golden Gate

ALBANY, Calif. (AP) — Wee Willie Shoemaker, the Texas-born turf terror, rode his 391st winner of the year at Golden Gate Fields Friday for a racing record—and then pushed his mark up another rung with his 392nd.

The 22-year-old jockey from El Paso galloped to racing immortality aboard a horse named The Hoop in Golden Gate's third race of the day.

He was out of the money in the next race, managed second place in the following three and then turned on the stretch heat to bring in Carry Message for a 1½-length $9.00 win in the eighth and last start of the day.

A crowd of 7,552 gave "Silent Shoe" an ovation as he guided The Hoop into the winner's circle.

SECOND RECEPTION

It was his second rousing reception in two days. He tied the former mark of 390 Thursday after riding 12 losers.

Tony DeSpirito, 17-year-old jockey of Lawrence, Mass., set the old record last year.

The Hoop went off as an even-money favorite. Shoemaker broke his mount on top, relinquished the lead briefly and came on again at the head of the stretch to win by a neck.

For his achievement, Shoemaker was presented with a large silver trophy by Charles Coughlin, general manager of Golden Gate Fields.

STARTED HERE

Shoemaker rode the first winner of his career at this track, when he piloted Shafter V., April 20, 1949.

In less than four years of riding he has never been lower than second in the U.S. national standing. He was second in 1949 with 219 victories; tied Joe Culmone in 1950 with 388; was second in 1951 with 257 and second last year with 315.

Up to the close of racing Friday, he has had 6,569 mounts and won with 1,571. He has also ridden 1,123 seconds and 874 thirds, with total earnings of $5,208,901. This year alone his winning horses have accounted for $1,527,657.

Thanksgiving Subject Of Missionary Talk

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — "Thanksgiving" was the subject of the address by Mrs. Ireland of Brighton, president of Cobourg Presbytery at the autumn thankoffering meeting of Coldsprings Missionary Society.

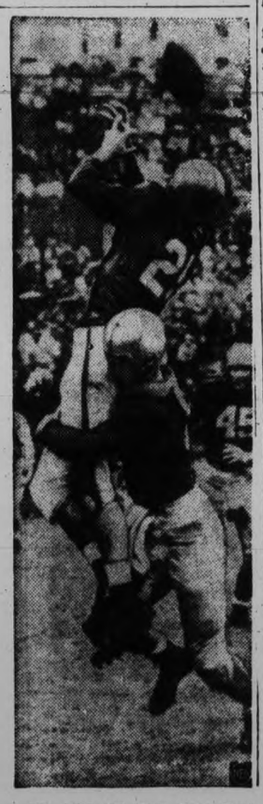
Mrs. Ireland said we never thank God enough for His great goodness. We forget to be thankful until we are in great need.

The meeting was held Thursday afternoon in St. Paul's United Church with a large attendance. The president, Mrs. P. Davidson, presided, and introduced the guest speaker.

Gores Landing WMS had charge of the devotional. Mrs. M. Harris read the scripture and led in prayer. Mrs. R. Meggs gave the meditation.

Mrs. P. Harris and Mrs. C. Minifie sang solos accompanied by Miss Edith Hoskin at the organ.

The meeting closed by singing a hymn, theme song of the new study book "Where'er the Sun."



A salad plate supper was served by the Coldsprings ladies at attractively decorated tea tables.

Members were present from Bethesda North, Plainville, Camborne, Bethesda South, Gores Landing United Church and St. George's Church on the Hill.

Remember When—

Greyhound, world's champion trotting horse, retired from racing at Indianapolis 14 years ago today. The 1935 Hambletonian winner was undefeated in competition from two years old to nine years, and in his great career set 17 world records. He is still recorded as winner of the fastest three heats—raced at Goshen in 1936—in 2:01, 2:00¼ and 2:00 flat.

UP AND AT 'EM—Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia appears to be giving Max McGee an extra boost, but actually he was tackling the Tulane halfback before the latter could get his hands on the pass and it was ruled interference for a gain of 20 yards. Georgia won at Athens.

Teepees Sting Hamilton With 9-1 Victory

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It wasn't the night for goalkeepers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series Friday night. Twenty-seven goals were scored in three games played and the winning teams accounted for 20 of them.

St. Catharines Teepees, leading the loop with four victories in as many starts, racked up the most decisive victory, a 9-1 runaway over Hamilton Tigers in St. Catharines.

In Barrie the Flyers stung Galt Black Hawks for a 6-3 victory and Quebec Citadelles, making their first trip this season into Ontario, lost 5-3 to Guelph.

After a scoreless first period, the Teepees chalked up a 4-0 lead in the middle 20 minutes and added another five goals in the final period.

FOUR FOR BRIAN CULLEN

Brian Cullen, a veteran of last season's campaign with the Teeps, slammed home four goals and assisted on two others. Hugh Barlow was a close second with three markers and three assists. Other St. Catharines goals went to Barry Cullen and Hank Ciesla. Brian Kilrea saved the Tigers from a whitewash in the third period.

In Barrie the Flyers struck for an early 3-0 edge in the first period. They were on top 4-2 at the end of the second. The victory put the Flyers into a second-place deadlock in the standings with Toronto Marlboros.

Arnold Smith netted three goals for the Flyers. Terry Chattington, Jim Robertson and Johnny Martan got the others.

Hec Lalonde fired two for the Hawks, John Sleaver counting the third.

PENALTIES COSTLY

In Guelph where the home-town Biltmores picked up their second win of the season, Quebec Citadelles were never ahead.

Four of Guelph's five goals were scored when the Citadelles were short-handed. Bob Forhan paced the Guelph goal-getters with two. Bill McCreary fired one and assisted on three others. Bob Attersley and Jim Holmes made up the total.

Raymond Cyr, Richard Bouchard and Stan Parker connected for Quebec.

In tonight's action Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts play host to Marlboros, Guelph goes to Hamilton and Quebec to Galt.

East Refuses To Raise Import Limit

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A proposal from the West to raise the import limit on United States football players for Canadian teams today appears headed for rejection once more should it again be brought formally before the Canadian Rugby Union.

It has been a hot subject with the western teams for years and officials of the East's top clubs have greeted the renewed suggestion with the same reaction as in the past. The Big Four clubs, with the exception of Montreal Alouettes, oppose the idea.

Edmonton Eskimos tossed the question into the laps of the football moguls again. Ken Montgomery, president of the Eskimos, said Friday in an interview he favors raising the import limit from eight to 12 with the stipulation that only eight be allowed to play in any one game.

The suggestion originally came from Henry Singer, the club's second vice-president, immediately after the Oct. 1 import deadline when the clubs in the Big Four and Western Interprovincial Football Union dropped more than 30 Americans to get down to the import limit.

ALS GO FARTHER

The Alouettes, now allowed one more import than the other Big Four clubs during their regular schedule because they finished last in 1952, favor increasing the number of imports but want to go a step farther than Edmonton.

Lew Hayman, the Alouettes' general manager, said if 12 imports are permitted all should be allowed to play since they would still have to be paid.

Montreal has always favored more imports because it has lacked the Canadian reserves of other Big Four teams.

The strong possibility that all Canadians would be relegated to a club's second-string team is what the other Big Four team officials are concerned with, plus the extra cost.

President Bill Ross of Toronto Argonauts said "we want no part of that business."

WHAT OF CANADIANS?

"What is going to happen to our Canadian boys?" he asked. "The way things stand now I figure our Canadians aren't getting enough senior football at all."

Jim McCaffrey, head of Ottawa Rough Riders, said Canadian players are already being squeezed out and denied the opportunity of playing. Noting that several teams have three or four imports who will be classed next year as non-imports, he said Americans should play six years in Canada instead of the present four before being classified as non-import.

President Frank Bliss of Hamilton Tiger-Cats said he wanted to see a reduction in the number of imports from eight to six.

Montgomery, who is also a member of the CRU executive, said he favors an increased number of Americans to give each club reserve strength in case of injuries or if an unexpected situation should arise that would deprive a club of one of its imports after the deadline.

Arthur U. Chipman of Winnipeg, immediate past president of the CRU, said "something will definitely have to be done about the import restriction." He said any team which has an import out with a serious injury should be allowed a replacement.

Toronto's Famed Sunnyside Must Make Way for Progress

TORONTO (CP)—It had to go. There was no question about that. In the motor age, it was an out-and-out nuisance.

But the problem that had been batted about Toronto for more years than most people care to remember was: Where?

An anachronism in the modern age, smack athwart a choked, six-lane highway, Toronto's Sunnyside amusement park has had its future settled. It's to be moved a mile east to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds, probably next spring.

The city-owned fun spot stretches from west Queen street, southward across Lakeshore boulevard toward the Lake Ontario shore. Through it pass two main thoroughfares leading to the junction of No. 2 highway and the Queen Elizabeth Way.

DRIVERS' NIGHTMARE

Motorists entering Toronto from the west don't need to be told about Sunnyside. To them, for most of the 40 years it's been located there, it's a confusing tangle of vehicles slowed to a crawl or halted altogether by thousands of pedestrians of all ages who daily each year from spring until fall stream back and forth across the boulevard.

Some civic officials thought it should be moved to Toronto islands out in the bay. Others suggested a lakeside spot south of the highways. Still others felt it should be transferred out of the city altogether. The CNE site has always had its backers. The concessionaires, of course, wanted to stay put.

The matter has been settled at last. A decision to build a $4,500,000 bridge at the Humber river, eliminating a number of traffic bottlenecks, and the necessary approaches, meant th' Sunnyside had to go, as soon as possible.

Quickly, a corner of the CNE ground, used only two weeks of every year, was settled upon. Come next summer the roller coaster, shooting galleries, merry-go-rounds miniature auto rides, hot dog stands, barkers, weight-guessers and hurdy-gurdy music will be gone from their old stand near the boardwalk.

Driver Fined $75

LINDSAY (ENS)—A Minden township man, William Nicholson, was fined $75 and costs when he appeared in Haliburton county police court in Minden Thursday on two driving charges.

Magistrate E. A. Gee levied a fine of $25 for driving while his licence was under suspension and ordered Nicholson to pay another $50 for driving while his ability was impaired.

Baltimore Announces Signing Negro Player

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Orioles Friday night announced the signing of a new Negro outfielder and issued a policy statement saying race will not bar any player from the club in its new American League home.

Ernest Dunlap Johnson, 24-year-old outfielder for Kansas City Monarchs, a Negro team, was the new player acquired.

Acting general manager Bill Dewitt said Johnson will be assigned to the Orioles farm club at Wichita in the class A Western League next season.

Clarence W. Miles, head of the club, issued a statement saying:

"Our policy will be to attract the services of the best ball players possible, regardless of race or creed."

NEWCASTLE, Australia (CP)—Final shipment of a huge order of Australian hardwood timber placed by the U.S. Army for construction work in Japan was loaded recently at this New South Wales port. The entire contract involved more than 1,250,000 feet of dressed blackbutt and gum wood, said ideal for heavy construction work.

Month In Jail For Minden Man

LINDSAY (ENS) — A Minden man who, according to police, causes trouble every time he visits his home town, was sent to jail for a month Friday for assaulting his brother.

Russell "Chuck" Stevenson, of Minden, appeared in Minden court Thursday, charged with fighting, intoxication and malicious damage. The charge arose out of a tavern brawl in Minden.

Magistrate Gee dismissed the fighting charge, but fined Stevenson $10 and $2.50 costs or 10 days on the drunk count and suspended sentence for a year, levying costs of $15.50 on the charge of malicious damage.

Thursday night, according to police, Stevenson stayed in Minden and visited his brother, Holly Stevenson. He allegedly caused trouble at the home, assaulting his brother, damaging some of the furniture and breaking a window, chasing his brother and his family out of their home. He was arrested by OPP Constable Al Hardy of Minden.

Magistrate Gee convicted Stevenson of the assault charge and sentenced him to 20 days in county jail. He added 10 days in default of payment of the drunk fine of the day before.

Baha'i Community

Members of the local Baha'i community met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Oliver in Peterborough on October 16, to observe the end of the holy year of their faith. The holy year commemorated the 100th anniversary of the sall of the founder, Baha'u'llah to his mission. Highlights of the celebration were four intercontinental conferences, the last at New Delhi, India, meeting from October 7-15, when over 500 delegates from almost 40 countries met for consultation on plans for the 10-year crusade launched in May.

Still No Clue To Identity Of Slain Girl

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP)—A naked girl's body face down in a roadside ditch has provided police with a double-barrelled mystery.

They cannot identify her. They do not know where to look for the killer they say stabbed her five times Thursday after he stripped her, took her car in a car to the ditch 10 miles north of this Cornwall district community, then placed her body gently in tall grass where a farm boy found it an hour later.

Police describe her as between 17 and 20 years old, of medium height and slim build. She had dark hair, nine or 10 inches long. There was a mole on her forehead and several pock marks on her face.

WORE NO MAKE-UP

At the time of her death, she wore neither make-up nor nail polish. Her hands were well cared for and on the third finger of her left hand was a gold birthstone ring with the stone thought to represent the month of January.

A post-mortem examination showed that she suffered at one time from pleurisy of the left lung. The illness caused a slight depression of her left chest.

A check of her teeth showed 13 fillings and three extractions.

Investigators say they believe she was unclothed at the time she was slain, because there were no traces of cloth in the wounds.

KITCHEN KNIFE USED

The weapon was probably a knife resembling a kitchen paring knife, with a blade three inches long and about half an inch wide.

Police say the girl was not raped.

The motive for the killing—whether revenge, jealousy, sadism or some other cause—is as puzzling to police as the girl's identity.

Inspector Thomas Wright of the Ontario Provincial Police said soon after his arrival here to take charge of the investigation:

"We cannot even begin to try to solve this sadistic killing until we know who the girl is."

Effect of Romance

PERTH, Scotland (CP) — The movies shifted courting from the parlor sofa to the theatre balcony, but television may take it right back, implies Prof. T. G. Fergusson. Addressing a congress here, Fergusson said TV probably will have as much influence on romance as the films, "which led to a change in the courting habits of the western world."

Real Imitations

CRAYFORD, England (CP)—Arnold Stutz of this Kent county town has 40,000 stamps in one collection, and not one is genuine. He started his unusual hobby after an inherited collection was found to contain a large number of forgeries. He also has 75 volumes of genuine stamps.

Toronto Stock Market Upswing Makes Appearance During Week

By BOB JOHNSTONE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The long-awaited rise finally came to the Toronto stock exchange this week.

At the closing session industrials, base metals and western oils were well above last week's level and hopes for a continuation of the rise replaced fears that the doldrums of the last month were too firmly entrenched to be shaken for some time.

The upswing came as no great surprise. The final session of the previous week had produced a substantial gain in western oils and they extended the promise of their pre-Thanksgiving jump and were soon joined by industrials. In the last two sessions of the week, base metals were on the rise with two days' substantial gains.

BUT GOLDS LOSE

This sudden upturn generated much enthusiasm, but there was not enough left over to inspire gold investors, and golds closed this week with a slight loss.

Most market observers are agreed on the basic strength of western oils' latest change. The Alberta government is certain, they say, to approve the export of natural gas in the near future, and the federal power commission south of the border will be agreeable to the import of Peace river gas to the Pacific Northwest.

Fear that Persian gulf oil would soon be replacing the Alberta product in California was partly allayed by the announcement that Anglo-Iranian was buying a considerable part of one of the larger Canadian producers. That is a certain indication, optimists say, that the Persian political scene is not likely to be conducive to large-quantity production for some time, if ever.

INDUSTRIALS GAIN

Industrials gained as investors learned that Canadian business men are making "cautious optimism" predictions for the last quarter of 1953 and most of 1954. Both leather manufacturers and tanners are agreed that the leather industry is in good condition, and the future looks bright.

Automobile sales were 37 per cent higher last month than September, 1952, according to the industry, and the general picture is bright for the future.

Talks of consumer spending collapse has also dwindled and the expectation is that, with the Christmas season approaching, this year's sales will be the biggest in the country's history. Three reports issued this week indicate that food retail stores had their biggest year in 1952 and volumes so far this year indicate '53 will be even better.

TAKE JUMP

Base metals prices took their jump toward the end of the week as long-predicted price falls in lead, tin, zinc and aluminum failed to arrive.

Golds slipped again as management and labor settled down for what is shaping up as one of the longest goldfields strikes in the history of northern Ontario.

Friday to Friday indexes on the Toronto market show industrials up 6.59 at 306.42, golds down .29 at 68.31, base metals up 5.30 at 144.50 and western oils up 7.98 at 97.54.

In New York, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 50 cents and closed at $106.10. Industrials and railways made the biggest gains, while utilities showed some strength.

In Montreal, banks were up .12 at 33.77, utilities were up 1.0 at 93.5, industrials up 5.4 at 181.60, combines up 3.90 at 152.20, papers up 12.45 at 712.09 and golds down .17 at 50.37.

Convention Fails To Answer Big Question

By DAL WARRINGTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TRURO, N.S. (CP)—United Mine Workers (CCL) district 26 convention adjourned for the week-end Friday with the big question still unanswered:

Will the miners accept their officers' recommendations for a wage contract with no pay increase or hold to earlier demands for higher wages?

The convention begins its second week Monday. Contract debate may last several days. Twice this summer rank-and-file voted down the agreement. They have been working without one since Jan. 31.

Friday officers and delegates exchanged barbs in a question-and-answer session on the recent probe of district administration and finances by the UMW's international office.

WHO ORDERED THE ENQUIRY

Delegates wanted to know who ordered the inquiry and why, and what was the basis for reports a provisional administration was being considered. Officers of provisional districts are appointed by union headquarters in Washington.

Freeman Jenkins said he asked for the investigation last February on the authority of his office as district president.

He had also asked for an international audit of the district books.

Washington approved his request. The investigating commission completed its work, but has made no recommendations as yet.

NO FOUNDATION

Talk about a provisional district was without foundation, he said. The question had never been considered and was not being considered.

"All the commission can do is make recommendations. We can accept or reject them as we see fit."

Mr. Jenkins said shrinking membership following mine closings and lay-offs raised the prospect of district financial problems. That was the reason for the audit.

LONDON (CP)—The curtain at Drury Lane's Theatre Royal went up and down countless times as the audience stood cheering and joined with the cast in singing "Some Enchanted Evening." Price Increases Making Bacon and Eggs Luxury

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

If a Canadian says he's "eating high on the hog" this fall, he's probably talking about his breakfast platter. Recent price jumps have pushed the plain old breakfast standby of bacon and eggs practically into the caviar class.

Bacons sells for up to $1.30 a pound in some Canadian cities and eggs for close to 90 cents, a Canadian Press survey today shows. Both prices are up considerably from a year ago.

BLAME CHOLERA Q

Last spring's hog cholera outbreak in Ontario is partly blamed for the bacon price climb, although some retailers say market fluctuations make hog raising risky.

Egg prices are up because of a seasonal shortage, retailers say. Pullets hatched last spring have not yet started to lay.

UP 10 CENTS

Back bacon is on sale in Winnipeg at $1.30 a pound, 10 cents more than the price two months ago. Side bacon is $1.12, compared with $1.10 in August and 57 cents a year ago. Since late summer, grade A large eggs have gone to 83 cents a dozen from 76.

Edmonton shoppers pay 90 cents to $1.04 for side bacon, offered two months ago at 90 to 94 cents and a year ago at 67 to 71. Back bacon goes at $1 to $1.10, as against 98 to $1.05 in August and 90 to 96 cents last October. Egg prices, including three cents for the cartons, have gone from 59 to 64 cents a year ago to 70 and 71 in August and to the present 72 to 74.

Prairie packers say the bacon price went up as an indirect result of the federal government sending 5,000,000 pounds of bacon to Germany. Another theory is that farmers ease off on hog marketing at this time of year when they are busy with the harvest.

Vancouver reports back bacon at 95 cents to $1.05 a pound, compared with 93 cents to $1 last summer and 80 cents a year ago. Sliced side bacon is 90 cents to $1, as against 75 to 80 cents in August ad 45 to 48 cents last October. Grade A large eggs, 56 cents a year ago and 73 to 74 cents two months ago, now are 77 to 78 cents.

PRODUCERS QUIT

George Jackson, one of Vancouver's leading retail butchers, says about 3,000 small producers of hogs have quit during the last few months because "for the last two or three years, raising hogs hogs has been a pretty risky business due to price fluctuations." Egg handlers say low egg prices last year led many small poultry men to drop out of business or reduce flocks.

Ottawa prices are $1.10 for rindless side bacon, $1.25 for back bacon and 85 cents for eggs. Toronto stores charge about the same. Kitchener's sliced side bacon now ranges from 95 cents to $1.10, with 30-per-cent increases during the last two months attributed to the shortage of hogs.

Rindless side bacon is offered in Halifax at $1.20 a pound, back bacon at $1.29. Eggs are 83 cents, up two cents from two weeks ago and five cents from last October.

Saint John, N. B., stores display rindless side bacon at $1.16, as against 86 cents in August and 49 a year ago. Back bacon, $1 two months ago and 80 cents last October, is $1.20. A retailer laid the bacon price to the Ontario hog cholera outbreak and the egg situation to the seasonal scarcity.

Students Name Salaried NFCU President

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Federation of Canadian University Students Friday voted in its first full-time salaried president, and voted out a proposed exchange of students with Russian universities.

Tony Enriquez, 22, a Mexican student in business administration at Ottawa University, was elected to the $1,800 post of president at the closing session of the federation's 17th annual conference.

Mr. Enriquez, last year's vice-president of the NFCUS' Ontario section, succeeds Raghbir Singh Basi of the University of British Columbia. He will be the first president to take a year off from his studies to represent the 38,000 students, members of the organization.

Earlier delegates from 20 universities, for the second year in succession, threw out a resolution proposing that 12 to 15 Russian students make a three-week coast-to-coast tour of Canadian campuses. An equal number of Canadian students were to visit Russia.

Last year the proposal was defeated when delegates of two universities threatened to walk out of the NFCUS if it were passed. There was little debate this year before the renewed Russian offer was rejected. The students also decided not to seek associate membership in the International Union of Students, described by some speakers as "Communist-dominated."

The convention also voted to send an observer to the next IUS conference and to exchange Canadian University Press news with the international union.

With the election of the new full-time president, University of Montreal, which resigned from the federation last year, decided to return.

War Widows Halt Service

SEOUL (Reuters)—South Korean war widows and bereaved families today broke up a memorial service to Korean war dead by screaming insults at President Syngman Rhee and his wife.

Among the angry shouts were: "Give us back our husbands and sons. What is this service for? We do not want charity. We want our husbands and sons."

Rhee called a cabinet meeting immediately upon his return to the presidential palace from the disrupted service.

BEGIN INVESTIGATION

Army intelligence authorities began an immediate investigation. A spokesman said the demonstration was "hysterically insulting" to the president and his Austrian-born wife.

The widows were representatives from all parts of South Korea, and were brought specially to Seoul by the government for the service.

A second riot broke out later today outside the Seoul city hall where the government began distributing six yards of cotton cloth to each widow.

One shouted: "What is this for? It is not even enough to wipe away our tears."

It was the first time bereaved families have staged a demonstration against the Rhee government since the outbreak of the Korean war.

The government took the widows to theatres and restaurants today, but many refused to eat.

Jockey Trades Horses Without Hitting Turf

SOUTHWELL, England (AP)—Jockey Mick Morrissey swapped horses in mid-race here Thursday without ever touching the ground.

He left the starting gate in the Upton novices steeplechase aboard Knother, a 20-to-1 shot. He crossed the finish line—last—on Royal Student, the even money favorite. It happened like this:

Royal Student crashed at the fifth fence throwing his rider, Tim Molony. Knother crashed into Royal Student, tossing Morrissey high in the air.

Morrissey came down just as Royal Student struggled to his feet —and landed in the saddle.

Weary horse and changeling rider finished the two-mile course in a walk.

Quality Paint Brushes Need Top Protection

What a blue ribbon setter is to a dog fancier, and a thoroughbred racehorse is to the owner of a racing stable, a good quality paint brush is to a professional painter! It is something to be protected, groomed continually, and prized above all other possessions.

The secret behind all this attention is the bristles from which the brush is made. A good brush will contain a large percentage of Chinese hog bristles, the finest bristles for paint brushes to be found anywhere in the world.

Painters and brush manufacturers place so much emphasis on that point that the collection and prepartion of these bristles in Northern China constitutes a very large industry. It takes a Chinese hog an entire lifetime to grow enough bristles for one good paint brush, and each year millions are called upon to make the necessary sacrifice. This lowly animal runs practically wild, living off the land. Vegetation being sparse he doesn't get very fat in the process. Thus the extreme winters which he has to face cause his hide to thicken and his bristles to grow long. At this point he becomes a paint brush!

The international situation being what it is, Chinese sources, which normally supply approximately 90% of world requirements, have almost entirely dried up. The necessity to safeguard present stocks becomes immediately obvious.

GO WHOLE HOG

If you own a good paint brush —treat it with all the respect it deserves. A good brush holds more paint, lasts much longer, doesn't shed its bristles, leaves a clean edge and gives a more uniform finish.

When using oil paint, the brush may be wiped off and suspended in linseed oil between painting sessions. It is important that the bristles do not touch the bottom of the container, otherwise they wil become bent.

Varnish, or enamel brushes may be kept in linseed oil or varnish —but don't leave them in it too long. Limit such treatment to overnight, or 48 hours at the most. Be careful to wipe out all the oil before using the brush again. When varnish accidently dries and hardens on a brush, it may be loosened and removed with a strong solvent such as paint remover.

If the brush is not to be used for some time, it should be cleaned with a solvent such as turpentine, or some good commercial solvent. Then give it a good washing with mild soap and water. Shake out the excess water and wrap the bristles in paper so that the original shape of the bristles will be retained.

Brushes used for lacquers should be cleaned with lacquer thinner.

Brushes used for shellac or alcohol stain, should be cleaned in alcohol.

Brushes used for water paints should be cleaned in water.

WASH IN SOAP

All brushes, after they have been cleaned with the recommended solvent, should be washed with the solution of mild soap and water, and wrapped as outlined above.

Be careful never to clean your brushes near a flame or open fire. Neglected brushes can be softened and re-conditioned with specialy perpared cleaners, obtainable at your hardware dealer or paint store.

When a brush is brand new, all short loose bristles and dust should be worked out before it is used. New varnish brushes may be best washed in some inexpensive thinner before being put into varnish. This will remove any foreign particles that might mar the varnish coat. A new brush should first be dipped in the paint to a depth of two or three inches and wiped across the edge with the mixing paddle several times to work the paint well into its clean bristles.

Only Men And Tortoises Live Beyond 100 Years

WASHINGTON — Who lives the longer, man or beast? Discovery of an authentic 129-year-old tortoise in Rhode Island has revived the ancient controversy.

Man's life span exceeds that of any animal except the tortoise, says the National Geographic Society. Next to man's 70 to 100 years or more, the elephant has the greatest longevity among mammals—45 to 70 years. A poor third is the rhinoceros, with an average 36 to 50 years of life.

Gorillas and other large apes may live to 35, longer than many aborigines. Whales, largest of the mammals, have been known to live for more than 30 years, but positive figures on their life expectancy are lacking. The lion, long hailed as the king of beasts, has a comparatively short reign of 20 to 30 years.

Greatest span of positive record is 152 years for a turtle captured on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius in 1766. St. Helena Island in the South Atlantic claims a 178-year-old land tortoise, reputedly the only living link with Napoleon who lived there in exile from 1815 to 1821. Definite proof of its age is lacking, however. Giant tortoises of the Galapagos Islands are known to live for more than a century.

Among domesticated animals, the horse holds age honors. It lives from 20 to 35 years. Cows rarely live beyond 25. Dogs live 5 to 15 years, occasionaly 20. Cats —ones that live well—have a span of only 7 to 15 years, despite their mythical nine lives.

Patriarch of the fish family is the carp, some of which have been known to frequent quiet ponds for 60 to 75 years. Trout, bass and perch rarely reach 15 years of age, minnows less than 5.

Parrots share with ostriches, eagles and vultures the longevity record among birds—up to 60 years. Canaries rarealy exceed 25; robins, 12; and starlings, 8.

Adult life of many insects is reckoned merely in hours. Most durable are queen ants which may reach 16, and qeen bees which sometimes live five or more years. Part of the secret of a queen bee's long life seems to be a jelly, rich in special nutrients, which is secreted from the glands of worker bees and fed to the queen.

A mouse can exist for as long as five years if it stays out of feline reach. The maximum age for a fox is about 12; deer and beavers may live 15 years. Span of squirrels and rabbits is 8 to 12 years. Pigs and sheep can reach 20.

Other reptiles are babes compared to the tortoise. Record for the alligator is 43. Snakes are even shorter-lived; their record is 21 years.

GI TO WED PRINCESS—Peter DeStephano, a member of the U.S. Air Force stationed in Japan, poses with his fiancee, Michiko Tsukasa, in Tokyo. They became engaged before the GI heard reports that she was a princess and a blood relative of Japanese Emperor Hirohito. An Imperial household spokesman said that she may be a member of the royal family but she is not exactly a princess.

Providing Storage Space In Changed-Over Attics

BY MR. FIX (NEA)

A man we know had a problem common to many home owners who convert expansion attics into sleeping areas and playrooms for children. His problem was this: where and how to build closets that would afford maximum storage facilities and yet not take up excessive floor space.

He solved the problem neatly by combining closet space, cupboards, drawers, bookshelves and dropshelf desks for his two school-age sons in two separate units connected at the back by a voluminous built-in toy chest.

The two storage units were built "under the eaves" in one end of an already framed-in attic-room. Little more expensive to build than a storage wall in the same place would have been, they have the advantage of providing any facilities a storage wall could offer—and without extxending all the way across the end of the room, wasting floor space.

These particular units were framed of 2x2-inch lumber and finished in knotty pine. The job could also be done with plywood to advantage. Four feet wide—they could be built narrower if space demands it—the units are 7 feet, 2 inches high.

Materials used on each of the units included: 72 feet of knotty pine paneling, 100 feet of 2x2-inch framing, 20 feet of 1-inch stock for corner trim and miscellaneous 20 feet of 12-inch pine shelving, one 3x7-foot piece of ⅜-inch plywood for shelf, desk and cupboard backing, wallboard for inside of closet, 8 bullet catches for doors, 12 wrought-iron hinges, 2 metal chains for drop shelf, 7 drawer pulls.

Any home handyman can readily make his own working drawings by referring to the illustration accompanying this column. All he needs in addition are some of the dimensions, which can be varied as desired. The rest of the planning takes ony a little imagination.

The cupboard unit under the drop-shelf can be built with shelves or drawers. If three shelves are wanted, buy 8 more feet of pine sehlving or a 36x30-inch piece of ⅜-inch plywood for fronts, sides and backs, and ¼-inch plywood for the bottoms.

To be suitable for the use of children, the desk level should be 27 inches from the floor. The drop-shelf should measure 14 by 30 inches. Cupboard doors beneath the drop-shelf are 24 inches high, and each of the doors are 15 inches across. The full-front opening for the closet is 32 inches by about 5½ feet, depending on the height of the unit.

If the unit is the full 7 feet, 2 inches in height, then the cupboard doors above the mani opening are 16 by 18 inches.

Shelves, drawers and desk on the side of the unit are all 12 inches deep, but can be made deeper, of course. The depth of the whole unit varies according to the pitch of the roof. The unit illustrated is five feet deep and two feet high at the back.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q— How important is it to "cure" concrete?

A—It is a most important final step in concrete work, for watertightness, durability and strength of the concrete depend on it. When the work has set up, sprinkle it with sand, straw or burlap and keep cover wet for a week.

TWIN UNDER-EAVES CLOSETS with built-in drop-shelf desks and cupboards are designed for schoolboys' bedroom.

Mascot Was Goat

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The band of the Welch Fusiliers solemnly played the regimental march Friday for the funeral of Taffy IX, a goat which has been the regiment's mascot since 1945. Queen Elizabeth has been notified of his death because he came from her royal herd at Windsor, England.

Why Doukhobors Go Naked

Shed All Evidence Of Worldly Wealth Show As True Children Of God

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—Why do the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors parade naked in public places?

Because they've learned this form of protest against violence makes other Canadians uncomfortable and angry. It draws public attention.

That is a psychiatrist's answer for the back-to-nature religious services held by the radical Sons in British Columbia's Kootenay district. Gawking onlookers are a weekly Sunday sight here. The services usually involve disrobing, especially by older Doukhobor women.

STRIP OFTEN

Some are habitual strippers—even work naked in their gardens.

"Why is Mabel dressed today?" mused Ruth Walsh, a reporter well acquainted with the Doukhobor women, at a recent Sunday service.

As if commenting on an unusual hat, Miss Walsh merely expressed surprise that Mabel Barizoff, one of the leaders at such services, was clothed while other women were taking off their dresses.

As to whether outsiders find it laughable or sordid, the Freedomites give little heed, believing that by going naked they shed all evidence of worldly wealth and show themselves as true children of God.

Women take a commanding part at the services, as they do in most Freedomite affairs.

Nudism among the Doukhobors apparently began after they came to Canada just over 50 years ago.

OLD CUSTOM

One authority says it sprang from their custom of taking mixed steam baths, in the European manner. When radical Doukhobors saw their baths shocked Canadians they hit upon nudism as an ideal method of protest for pacifists.

"It has a varied significance—a protest, an emotional and religious gesture to show they are children of God," he said. "It is a sexless affair."

A psychiatrist, whose name cannot be published, said "hostile feelings characterize most Doukhobors to a marked degree.

"Removing one's clothes is a remarkably effective device for making other people uncomfortable and angry.

"They need have no fear of retaliation in kind. No non-Doukhobor is going to take off his clothes to annoy a Doukhobor, and even if he did the effect would be ludicrous.

"One has only to take off a few clothes and the enemy is demoralized, if not routed."

Universit Job To Weld Groups

TORONTO (CP)—B. K. Sandwell, Toronto writer and editor, said Friday it is the universities' job to weld the varying cultural and racial groups now arriving in Canada into the country's national life.

He spoke during University College centennial ceremonies at a University of Toronto convocation which conferred honorary degrees on him and seven others.

Earlier Governor-General Vincent Massey placed the cornerstone for a new men's residence.

The three-day centennial celebration which ends Sunday also saw the installation of Samuel Beatty as chancellor of the University of Toronto. He succeeds Mr. Massey.

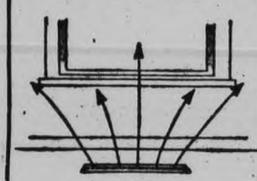
Universities should return to their traditional task of trying to balance practical learning with study of the humanities, Mr. Massey said at a banquet celebrating the centennial.

Out of Season

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (AP)—Postmaster Ray Sullivan mopped his brow in record 81-degree heat Friday as he intercepted the first of an annual flood of letters received at this northern border community. The message was addressed to "Santa Claus—North Pole." International Falls, on the Canadian border, usually is marking the entry of winter into Minnesota at this time of year.

Subdue Ship Fire

LIVERPOOL (AP) — Two fireboats and 13 fire engines early today controlled a stubborn cargo fire deep in a hold of the 6,671-ton American freighter James Lykes. The reinforcements were called into action when the smouldering fire, previously confined by battening down, burst out again when hatch covers were removed.



Retires, Dies

DETROIT (AP) — Ray A. de Vlieg, 67, who retired only two weeks ago as vice-president in charge of manufacturing at Nash-Kelvinator Corp., died at his home Thursday.

JUPITER—WHAT A CAR—The Jowett Company in London, England, is currently showing a bug-like sports car, the "R-4," developed directly from the Le Mans Jupiter. Top speed is reported at more than 100 miles per hour. An electrically driven fan, operating independently of the engine, cuts in thermostatically when the engine needs cooling. The car's length is 11 feet, seven inches; width is five feet, two and one half inches, and it is four and one half feet in height.

Anglican Priests Assail Practises Of Roman Church

LONDON (AP)—A booklet approved by the ranking prelate of the Church of England describes the Roman Catholic Church as "totalitarian" and accuses it of "touting for converts among the seriously ill and dying" in England.

The 32-page booklet, written by anonymous Anglican priests, is called "infallible fallacies." It was placed on sale by the Society for the Propagation of Christian Knowledge.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, spiritual head of the Anglican Church, recommended it in advance to the convocation of Canterbury last week as "a brief, but effective, courteous and easily read" reply to what he called Roman Catholic "propaganda."

The booklet assails what it called "spiritual bullying" by Roman Catholic priests and declared:

"Particularly do we condemn the practice—fairly common in some places — of touting for converts among the seriously ill and dying in hospitals. There have been instances of life-long, loyal Anglicans being pestered by Catholic priests when in no physical or mental condition to resist."

"SPIRITUAL BULLYING"

The booklet describes the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope as "obviously unscriptural and erroneous," commenting:

"If the Pope really has infallibility, it is surely remiss of him not to use it more frequently and more promptly for the guidance of Roman Catholics, if not of all mankind.

"It is odd, too, that although the world today sorely needs moral guidance, not one infallible utterance has there been on any questions of human conduct."

TERMED UNSCRIPTURAL

The Roman Catholic doctrine, promulgated in 1950, of the bodily assumption of the Virgin Mary into Heaven is termed "an unjustifiable attempt to impose on the Church an unscriptural speculation."

The booklet declares:

"The great bureaucratic system of the Roman Catholic Church, centralized in Rome and tightly controlled by the Pope, is totalitarian.

"The transition from one kind of totalitarianism to another is an easy one, and it is well known that the countries of western Europe in which communism is strongest today are the predominantly Roman Catholic countries.

"The close discipline exercised by Roman Catholic priests upon the laity is unchristian and often amounts to spiritual bullying.

"Decisions which normal persons ought to be trusted to make for themselves in obedience to their consciences are made by the Pope and enforced through the priest."

FREED — The Rev. Lucien Lafond, of Ste. Perpetue, Que., released by Chinese Communists, has been freed and reached Hong Kong. He told of a 43-day, 300-mile forced march through Manchuria as a prisoner behind horses of Chinese Communist troopers. When he pleaded "let me die," they kicked him.

One View Of Life In The City

A DAY IN THE LIFE of a public health nurse in Peterborough is a busy one. The Department of Health has eight nurses which give the public a generalized service pre-natal care, to infant, to the pre-schooler, to the pupil and high school student, to adults, to the very aged. Miss Guinevere Nicholl's day is typical. She starts off in the schools weighing and eye-testing students such as Joe Milburn (top left photo) then spends the afternoons at city baby clinic, checking babies like little Paul Crouter (lower left). Then there are visits to the homes to see the aged, the sick, young mothers and children. Miss Nicholl (top right) visits Mrs. William Waye and her baby Brenda, 652 Montrose Ave. After the schools, the baby clinics and the homes the public health nurse (lower right) spends the final hour of her working day making out reports.

Wooden Beam Hits Worker, Fractures Skull

A French-Canadian laborer suffered a fractured skull at 11:30 a.m. today when a wooden four-by-four fell 30 feet from the new federal building on Charlotte St., and truck him on the head. He was taken by ambulance to Civic Hospital where he was x-rayed and his injury was found to be a slight fracture of the skull. At 1:30 p.m. his condition was described as "fair." The injured man is Cyprien Majeste, 29, of RR 3, Peterborough, a laborer employed by the board of works. He is married and has three children.

Majeste was bringing a lunch to his brother, Pierre, who is working on the new federal building, when a piece of the shoring is believed to have fallen from the third storey of the building and struck him a glancing blow.

Jack Keating, labor foreman for M. Sullivan and Son, said that Majeste walked down the east side of the building and shouted to some members of a "stripping gang" to ask the whereabouts of his brother, Pierre. He was told that his brother—known to the gang as "Frenchy"—was in the boiler house, so he started down a short six-foot ladder to the ground.

Nobody saw a piece of shoring fall and nobody saw Majeste hit. But shortly after his conversation, one of the workmen saw him lying unconscious on the ground.

Nearby was a five-foot length of the four-inch by four-inch shoring, to which a smaller piece of wood was attached. It had been dropped from the upper part of the building and, presumably, was the object that knocked Majeste unconscious.

"As soon as I saw him I knew he was badly hurt," said Mr. Keating. "There was hardly a groan out of him. I phoned the police and asked them to get an ambulance.

Nisbett's responded to the call and took Majeste to hospital.

Majeste has been living in Peterborough for about two years.

Hit By Car, Boy Suffers Broken Pelvis

Hospital authorities report Allan Wesenberg, 6, of 220 Caddy St., to be in "not too serious condition," today.

He is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured pelvis as a result of being struck by a car driven by George Moore-Gough, 616 Water St., Friday evening.

The accident occurred on Caddy St., near the Wesenberg home.

Young Wesenberg, with a friend, Danny Delong, 6, 700 Ross St., was playing along the south side of the street about 7:00 p.m. The two boys started to run between a pair of parked cars, but Delong said he saw the lights of an approaching car and stopped. Wesenberg ran on and was struck by the left front fender.

The driver of the car said that he didn't realize he had hit anything, but caught sight of a child sitting in the road on his rear view mirror. He then heard Delong screaming and stopped the car.

Constable W. A. Scott investigated.

Drop River Level To Instal Main

Water level on the Otonabee river has been below normal for about two weeks. Today the level has been decreased still further and at present is estimated to be at least two feet below normal.

Trent canal authorities report that the water level has been lowered at the request of the Peterborough Utilities Commission to facilitate construction of the new water main being installed along Armour Rd., as far south as Downer's Corners.

The lowered level decreases the amount of seepage water as well as the amount of water lying in the two streams which cross Armour Rd. on their way to the river.

A further lowering of the river level was requested Friday by Canada Packers Co., so that repair work could be done to one of the factory's drains.

Civic Hospital Union Asks 18-Cent Increase, Check-Off

Civic Hospital employees are seeking a wage increase of 18 cents after six months' service and the Rand formula check-off for their union, Local 19 of the National Union of Public Service Employees.

These were the chief items in a list of proposed amendments to their collective agreement with the board of governors submitted to the board by the union. The proposals are being studied by the executive committee of the board.

No change in the starting or intermediate rates was proposed for part-time workers or workers under 18 but a 15-cent-an-hour increase was proposed for part-time workers over 18 years of age.

Under the present agreement, the union has a limited check-off of union dues, whereby the board makes monthly deductions of union dues from wages of employees who voluntarily sign the proper form of authorization.

NEW PROPOSAL

The new proposal by the union is that it will be a condition of employment that all employees who are eligible for membership in the union, whether members or not, will pay an amount equal to the dues, to be deducted from their pay and remitted to the union.

The proposal for an 18-cents-an-hour increase at the end of six months' service applies across the board to all employees in the bargaining unit, Local 19.

The proposals also included certain changes in job classifications and the suggestion that the board agree to enter into a satisfactory sickness and benefit plan and a mutually agreed upon pension plan.

Job classification changes included placing second class cooks under the heading of third class orderlies and new wage classifications for maintenance staff and seamstresses.

Weekly rates for maintenance staff would be as follows: First class, $52 starting rate, $55 after three months and $58 after six months; second class, $50 starting rate, $52 after three months and $55 after six months; helpers, $44.50 starting rate, $46 after three months and $47.50 after six months.

Weekly rates for head seamstresses would be $37 starting rate, $38.50 after three months and $40 after six months; and for helpers, $33 starting rate, $35 after three months and $37 after six months.

Off-shift differentials would be seven cents an hour from 3.00 p.m. to 11.00 p.m., and 10 cents an hour from 11.00 p.m. to 7.00 a.m. None are included in the present wage schedule.

The union proposes that no employee in the bargaining unit shall be required to do work other than that specified in the job classification.

The union also proposes time-and-a-half pay for all work in excess of 88 hours in two weeks. This would apply to all members of the bargaining unit. Under the present agreement, only full-time employees are on a 44-hour week (88 hours in two weeks).

OTHER PROPOSALS

Other proposals include:

Alternating Sundays off, where possible, but at least one Sunday off in four, to be included as one of the employee's two consecutive days off.

No employee to be required to work more than eight days without time off.

At least 15 hours to elapse between shifts, with work performed with less than this amount of time off to be paid at the rate of time and a half.

Sick leave of one and a half days a month, with the same plan of accumulation as enjoyed by city employees.

Three weeks' vacation with pay after 10 years' service. Under the present agreement, employees get two weeks after one year and three weeks after 20 years.

Three days off without loss of pay on the death of a member of the immediate family.

Additional provision for grievance procedure.

A probation period of 30 days for new employees.

The present agreement became effective January 1 and is subject to termination or amendment at the end of each year.

The union negotiating committee consists of Stan Little, Toronto, director of organization, assisted by Alfred Barber of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) and from Local 19, George Lindsell, president, John Fenn, vice-president, Robert Morris, head steward, Miss Gahagan, recording secretary, Robert Muirhead and Mrs. Florence Coons.

Final Volume Of Churchill's Memoirs Starts In Examiner Weekend Next Saturday

Sir Winston Churchill's final volume of "The Second World War" will begin in The Examiner next Saturday. The first instalment will appear in the Weekend Picture section and then through the following week will appear daily.

In this final book Mr. Churchill takes up his topic from D-Day. He at some length describes the battles the Canadians were in and their advance through France and Belgium.

This sixth volume titled "Triumph and Tragedy" also deals with that exciting period when the democracies swept to victory and planted the seeds of future uncertainty.

He tells of his meetings with Stalin and of how the Big Three, Stalin, Roosevelt and Churchill got along. Issues and questions settled by the top three were final but so often other questions bogged down when attempted by the general staffs and ministers.

Many of the instalments will be illustrated with pictures of the events being described.

Toronto Man Fined For Causing Bush Fire

LINDSAY (ENS).— In the first charge to arise out of the forest fire season in Haliburton county, Magistrate E. A. Gee Thursday fined three New Toronto men $25, and $91.15 costs, for letting their camp fire get out of control, causing a five-acre forest fire.

The three, William Waite, and two brothers, Morris and A. McCann, all of New Toronto, were charged by Provincial Police on information laid by officers of the Department of Lands and Forests. The charge alleged they had left their campfire beside a Monmouth township lake on September 1, and it had spread to nearby inflammable brush, causing a forest fire. The costs were to pay the 27 men recruited to fight the blaze.

Mark St. Fund Reaches $82,000

A mark of $75,000 set as a goal for a five-week church building fund drive by members of Mark St. United Church has been surpassed by $7,000. At the end of the drive the canvassers totalled pledges received and found they had secured $82,000 worth.

The eventual objective, at the end of three years, is $100,000.

A victory dinner was held in the basement of Mark St. Church by the canvassers to celebrate the end of their campaign with about 70 of the workers and their wives present. Willard Chitty, director for the Wells Organization and leader in the campaign work, was thanked for his services. It is thought that Mr. Chitty will remain in Peterborough and direct a similar campaign for Grace United Church.

The church building fund was deemed necessary by the Mark St. Church people, so that accommodation could be made for the rapid growth of population, especially that of young families in the vicinity.

Theatre Manager Attacked By Thief

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—City detectives hunted today for a man who earlier attacked the manager of a local theatre, forced him to open the office safe and made off with an undisclosed amount of cash.

Alan D. Ford, formerly of Kingston, said he was sitting in the office of the Odeon Theatre early in the morning when the man walked in "worked me over" and forced him to open the safe. Ford told police he was struck as he leaned over to open the safe.

Ford said the man had apparently hidden in the theatre after the last show and emerged when other employees had left.

Police said Ford had a cut over the right eye. Investigation is continuing.

Armistice Day Holiday Now Says City Council

Peterborough's support of a request to the Ontario government from the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion to declare Remembrance Day, November 11, a statutory holiday, was sought in a letter to the city council which was dealt with by the finance committee Tuesday.

Replying to a question for information, City Solicitor W. F. Huycke said briefly: "It is a statutory holiday in the Dominion Act."

"Does it have to be ratified by the province?" Ald. Dewart asked.

"No," was Mr. Huycke's reply. "I don't think the council need do anything about this letter. November 11 has been a statutory holiday since 1919."

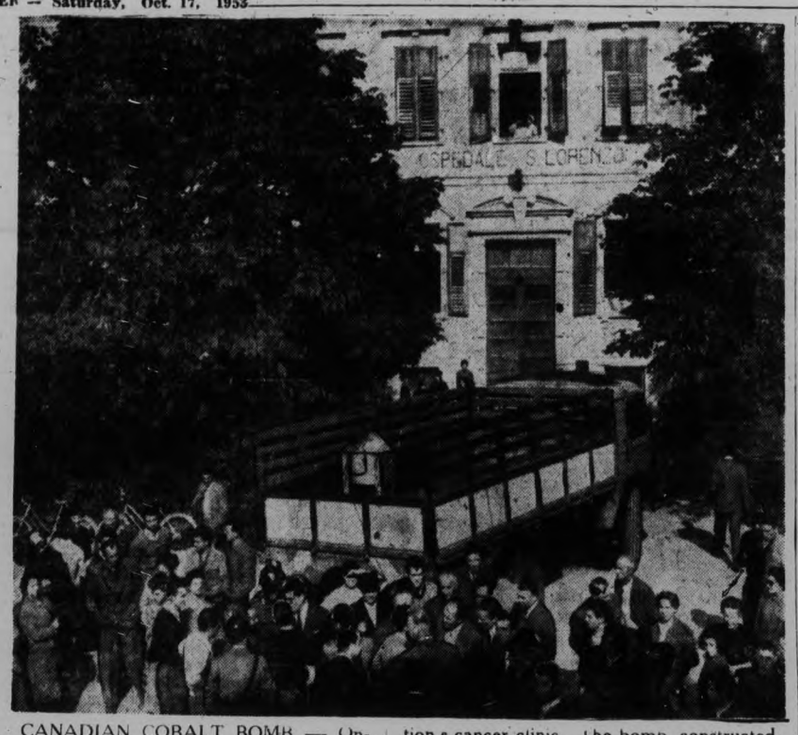
Mr. Huycke recalled that the Thanksgiving Day holiday was transferred to November 11 some years ago, "but it did not work out, and they went back to the present order of Thanksgiving Day and Rememberance Day."

Of the subject of the letter Mr. Huycke remarked: "It appears to be a half-baked idea of people who didn't know anything about it."

City Clerk Outram was instructed to write the Legion command to the effect that the "council understands that Remembrance Day is a statutory holiday."

Peterborough and District Labor Council suggested that with the prospect of Simpson-Sears building on Lansdowne St., west of Monaghan Road, with possibly further business development in that area, steps should be taken now to provide adequate parking accommodation.

To that proposal, Mayor Waddell said he understood Simpson-Sears were planning space for 850 cars. That area was considered ample by the finance committee.



Ald. Dewart moved that a letter be written the Labor Council thanking them for their interest in the expected development, that their suggestion has been considered, and that the council is of the opinion that parking facilities by the company should be adequate. Mayor Waddell seconded this motion.

Observe Navy Week

TORONTO (CP) — Navy Week will be observed in Canada Oct. 18-24, the Navy League of Canada said Friday. The league said the Duke of Edinburgh has cabled wishes for "every success" and Prime Minister St. Laurent has said "during this week. . . all Canadians should pause and pay tribute to the men of the sea."

6 Years For Hold-Ups

MONTREAL (CP)—Marcel Laberge, 40-year-old accountant who pleaded guilty recently to four bank hold-ups which netted $10,650 since July 20, was sentenced Friday to six years in the penitentiary. Laberge, married and father of three children, told the court that he had used the money to gamble.

CANADIAN COBALT BOMB — Onlookers gather around a truck in front of S. Lorenzo Hospital at Borgo Val Sugana in Italy's Trent Province as the vehicle delivers a radioactive Cobalt Bomb to the institution's cancer clinic. The bomb, constructed in Canada, was shipped first to Genoa for delivery by truck to the hospital. A similar Canadian-made unit has been delivered to the United Kingdom.

Talk To Bancroft WA On Child Psychology

BANCROFT (ENS) — Twenty-three members and 10 guests were present at this week's regular meeting of St. Paul's Evening WA to hear an address by guest speaker Mrs. S. A. Grylls, of Lakefield, on "Child Psychology." Introduced by Mrs. Jack Brown, the speaker was thanked by Mrs. W. Rutledge.

Devotional period was led by Mrs. Petch and Mrs. A. Weiss. President Mrs. A. Eddy volunteered to decorate the church for Anniversary Sunday and announced that the Tweed Convention will be held on October 14, also that the date of the WA rally would be October 21. She urged that as many members as possible attend both gatherings. A visiting committee report by Mrs. Weiss showed that seven calls had been made during the month.

Mrs. C. White reported on the sale of Christmas cards and Mrs. Bierworth on the recent rummage sale which netted $45. Mrs. Jack Brown was named convener for the spaghetti supper to be held in the church basement November 25.

Raise Crop Estimate

SIMCOE (CP)—The 1953 flue-cured tobacco crop will yield more than 120,000,000 pounds, officials of the principal buying companies estimate. A few weeks ago the crop prediction was about 110,000,000 pounds. Almost 8,000 acres more of flue-cured tobacco were planted this year than in 1952.

Plan To Give More Encouragement To Inmates Of Penitentiaries

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is going to see if she can give more encouragement to penitentiary inmates who show signs of becoming good citizens.

A special committee of penal experts has launched an inquiry for the justice department into Canada's methods of parole and remitting sentences in the light of the high percentage of prisoners who reform on being released.

Announcing formation of the committee, Justice Minister Garson said Friday that he has asked the committee to make an "unrestricted" inquiry into parole, remission and related matters. The committee will study methods in the United Kingdom, the United States and elsewhere.

It is understood that some penal authorities believe a revision of Canada's remissions procedure is a logical follow-up to the increase in prisoners who "go straight" on release.

TRAINING PROGRAM HELPS

Mr. Garson's statement said a re-organization of the penitentiary service in recent years by Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, penitentiaries commissioner, has brought about extensive changes in the methods of educating and training prisoners to take their place in society as honest and law-abiding citizens.

This re-organization includes a vocational training program, extensive classes in academic schooling, correspondence courses supplied by provincial education departments and sports programs.

Vocational training, started in 1947 in Canadian penitentiaries which house prisoners sentenced to two years or more, has been particularly successful. Reports say that 80 per cent of those who take the vocational training courses "have not" again come to the attention of the police."

Members of the committee include Mr. Justice J. H. G. Fauteux of the Supreme Court of Canada; Joseph McCulley, president of the Canadian Penal Association; H. A. Edmison, assistant to the principal at Queen's University, Kingston, and W. B. Common, director of prosecutions for Ontario.

Says Commonwealth Still Wields Influence

HAMILTON (CP)—Sir Archibald Nye, British high commissioner to Canada, said Friday night the Commonwealth still wields "an enormous influence" on world events.

Sir Archibald spoke during the autumn convocation of McMaster University. He received an honorary degree along with artist A. Y. Jackson and Chester S. Walters of the provincial treasurer's office.

Despite changes in recent years, the Commonwealth appears healthier than ever before, said Sir Archibald. It possessed a common objective of peace and co-operation.

Earlier, Premier Frost took part in a cornerstone ceremony for a new physical science building.

"Here many will pause and gain inspiration from the story of a brilliant Canadian whose life has enriched the traditions of this nation," Labor Minister Milton Gregg said in the commemorative address.

Committed For Trial To Higher Court

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Gordon McEllistrum of Chatham Friday smiled amiably at witnesses and took lengthy notes on their testimony when he appeared in court on two charges of armed robbery.

Later he was committed for trial to higher court.

He was arrested Oct. 7 shortly after an armed robber held up two business establishments on the city's main streets. He was found in possession of a large amount of money and two guns when picked up. The robberies occurred within 15 minutes of each other.

McEllistrum asked that the $20,000 bail on which he is held be reduced. The request was refused.

Kinsey Lifts Reporter Ban

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Famed sex researcher Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey Friday night lifted his restrictions on reporters covering his speech in Indianapolis today, but the sponsoring organization then closed the meeting to reporters entirely.

Dr. E. Vernon Hahn of Indianapolis, arrangements chairman for the meeting of the Central Neuropsychiatric Association, announced the meeting would be limited to association members.

He said the group's meetings always have been closed for the consideration of technical and technical matters and added:

"It is not a case of excluding the press, but rather of continuing the policy of limiting the meetings to the members."

Vanishes In Bush

COOKSVILLE (CP)—Ian McKinnon of Toronto, a member of a survey party, vanished into the dense bush near here Thursday. Police have been unable to find any trace of him. Another member of the party said the youth seemed depressed and had a gun in his possession when he left. Cooksville is about 15 miles west of Toronto.

Two Unions Battle For Bargaining Rights

OTTAWA (CP)—Two unions are fighting for the right to bargain collectively for about 2,000 conductors on the Canadian National Railways' main lines.

The Canada labor relations board announced Friday it has ordered a representation vote of conductors to choose between the Order of Railway Conductors (Ind) and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (Ind.).

The vote will cover "road train" conductors—passenger and freight, but not sleeping car officials—from Nova Scotia to the West coast. In Newfoundland, the BRT has the bargaining rights.

Squawking Tenants Bring On Trouble

MONTREAL (CP) — Many squawking tenants have nobody to blame but themselves if they signed leases with out-of-proportion rents, the chairman of the Quebec rental commission said Friday.

During an acrimonious discussion with a six-man delegation from the Montreal Tenants' Association, which submitted a brief on conditions and suggested improvements, chairman Andre Regnier said:

"Tenants have no reason to be afraid or frightened if landlords demand more money and threaten eviction. They are fully protected under the law. In a great many cases the tenants are to be blamed for their plight because they did not avail themselves of the legislation."

Believe Guards Not Supported

TORONTO (CP)—W. J. Stewart, chairman of the legislature's committee on reform institutions, said Friday he and other committee members have been told of many cases of Guelph reformatory guards putting prisoners on charge and of the charges being dropped later by the guards' superiors.

The situation has led to poor discipline and weak morale at the reformatory, he said at a committee hearing.

"It seems somebody higher up dismissed the charges to appear a good fellow with the prisoners."

Col. Hedley Basher, deputy reforms minister and a former superintendent of the Guelph institution, suggested the officials perhaps felt the charges unwarranted.

"All superintendents have to be careful to make sure the prisoner is not being persecuted rather than prosecuted," said Col. Basher. "It might be that the guard was in a bad mood that day and took it out on the prisoner."

LANG SCHOOL PUPILS moved this year into the old town hall at Lang, long a landmark of the hamlet and one of the oldest wooden buildings in the county—it is about 100 years old. Top photo shows a group of students near the large heater which may or may not provide sufficient heat for the elderly Building. Bottom photo is an exterior view of the building, showing its cupola sagging slightly to the southeast. Overcrowding forced the school board of S.S. 2 to move the pupils; the problem is not an uncommon one in the county.

—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Overcrowding Forces Lang to Move Pupils Into Century-Old Wooden Town Hall

LANG (Staff)—The post-war crowding of rural schools in some areas has got out of hand. New buildings are needed at once in many areas, but bickering of township councils, and wielding a big stick of antiquated assessment plans, is holding up the building of them. This is the opinion of county officials. And the hamlet of Lang, a couple of miles north of Keene in Otonabee township, is an example of what is happening in many places.

At the September opening of the school season this year, the hamlet's one and only school, SS 2, had 51 pupils enrolled in it. The situation was an impossible one for both students and teachers; they carried on for a month.

The only place to "put" children was the old "town hall" across the road. It was an old building put up 93 years ago by the late Richard Hope and has been used since that time for church services, a continuation school and village meetings.

OVERFLOW IN HALL

There was also an overflow in the Keene village school. Trustees made the best of a bad situation by turning the old hall into temporary school and children from fifth to eighth grades from SS 2 and Keene were drawn off and are now being transported by bus to the "town hall" school; they total 37. The teacher, Mrs. Eugene Rabbie, finds the new situation more workable, but far from satisfactory.

The hall, as a landmark, is interesting, and many people think that the building should be preserved. It measures about 30 by 80 feet, is two storeys high and of wooden construction. A square belfry that never had a bell adorns the roof and sags to the east. The lot on which the building stands originally cost $50 and the whole structure, including complete plastering of interior walls, cost $1,075.

There are two anterooms in the entrance hall and a winding stair leads to the full upper story meeting room that is complete with a wide stage at the north end. This room is unused and is filled with old pine benches.

The main lower room has had wall blackboards installed and two of the large ten windows have been covered with plyboard. Small portable desks surround a large heater that may, or may not, warm the classroom sufficiently.

About 20 years ago the building was used for a continuation school for a couple of terms and Protestant church services have been held in the upper hall until a few years ago.

NEW SCHOOLS NEEDED

School board trustee John Hope of Hope's Mills realizes that the situation can only be corrected by the building of new district schools. He and the other trustees—Harold Weir, Harry Reid, Ralph Humphries, Arthur Renwick, John Clarkson and Stewart Davidson — say that Otonabee township ratepayers will have to be petitioned to find out if a school expansion program is wanted, and when.

For officials and pupils new accommodation cannot come too soon, but everyone hopes the Lang Town Hall will be preserved.

There are not many buildings in its present state of good repair in the district, especially wooden ones nearly a century old.

Exclusion Of Confessions From Trials Suggested

TORONTO (CP) — Exclusion of confessions from trials was urged Friday by Norman Borins, Toronto lawyer and former assistant crown attorney for York county. He hinted some might be obtained by force.

Addressing the final session of a convention of the Canadian Penal Association he said that during his years as an official of the crown, he often felt concern when confession-type evidence was submitted.

"Especially was I concerned when the statement constituted practically the only evidence in the crown's case. When there was No other evidence I found that some detectives were always able to walk into court with a confession from the accused."

NEED MORE MONEY

A. M. Kirkpatrick, executive director of the John Howard Society of Ontario, said the amount of money given prisoners when they leave the penitentiary is so inadequate under present-day conditions that an ex-convict often is penniless within a day or two.

Joseph McCulley, former deputy commissioner of penitentiaries and now warden of Hart House at the University of Toronto, urged replacing "prison fortresses" with institutions more in keeping with today's handling and rehabilitation of prisoners.

Mr. McCulley was re-elected president of the association. Vice-presidents are J. A. Edmison of Kingston, Canon W. W. Judd and Col. E. H. Green of Toronto, Mrs. W. H. Gilliland of Ottawa and Judge Oscar Gagnon of Montreal.

Drop Attempted Murder Charge

WOODSTOCK, Ont. (CP) — An attempted murder charge against Henry Elliott, 24, was withdrawn Friday by crown attorney A. C. Whaley in county court. Instead Elliott has been charged with shooting a loaded Sten gun at George McBurney with intent to do grievous bodily harm and with armed assault with intent to rob Harry Birtch, both of RR 2, Embro.

Elliott, through his counsel, John Burridge, of Woodstock, pleaded innocent to both charges.

He pleaded guilty to eight charges of breaking and entering with intent and theft including a break-in at Wolseley Barracks, London, where Sten guns were stolen on Sept. 25. He was remanded in custody one week for sentence on all the break-in charges.

The overnight crime wave in Perth and Oxford included break-ins at the North End Feed Mill, West Zorra; Oxford Farmers Co-Operative branch, Embro; a feed mill at Mitchell; a service station at Mitchell; quartermaster stores at Wolseley Barracks; a feed mill at Monkton; a fuel company at Monkton and a feed mill at Atwood.

Several other boys had knives and one of them let Paul borrow his. Later, the boys told police, they found Paul lying on his stomach crying for help. The boy was dead when he arrived at the office of Dr. W. T. Veals.

Respected Family Man Arrested As Thief

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The story of the double life of a 30-year-old plant foreman as thief and respected family man was revealed in court Friday.

The man, who earned $465 in the month previous to his arrest, pleaded guilty to two break-ins and thefts of petty cash which were described by both crown and defence as "completely senseless."

Psychiatrists said the accused, who suffered a head injury during the Second World War, was normally capable of looking after himself but a small amount of alcohol made him a kleptomaniac.

The magistrate suspended a jail sentence and placed the man on probation for two years.

When Wild Geese, Ducks, Prairie Chicken Hung In Front Of Every Butcher Shop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan's 50,000 nimrods may not have as much fun as their duck-hunting grandfathers but—thanks to conservation and protective measures—they know there will be birds to shoot next year.

Pioneer hunters like to tell the younger generation of that era when ducks did not fly by the grace of the government, when bags were unlimited and when conservation was a term that had something to do with the winter's meat supply.

Oldtimers recall flights of geese so large that it took a flock 30 minutes to pass a given point. They tell of mallards splashing upwards from a meal and blotting out the sun.

FAMOUS SPOT

Most of the tales come out of the Qu'Appelle valley where the almost legendary Jack Leader would provide luxurious entertainment for anyone who wanted a day's shooting. Anyone, that is, with the right kind of money.

Leader's Point, on Pasqua lake, still is one of Saskatchewan's most popular hunting spots. Notables visiting the point have included the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, Lord and Lady Minto, Lord Byng of Vimy, and Bernard Baruch.

Fred Dunk, former curator of the provincial museum, describes a typical shoot in the valley in which he and a companion bagged 35 ducks in one morning and stretched to 200 birds their total for a two-day sit.

Spring shooting was allowed, the sale of game for commercial purposes was common, and bag limits and licences were unheard of.

It was the era of the unplugged automatic shotgun and live decoys, some of which were trained by hunters to honk or quack at the desired moment.

Geese, ducks and Prairie chicken hung in front of butcher shops. Housewives stretched their pin money, the records disclose, by trapping Prairie chicken during the winter and peddling them to the local meat vendor.

The methods of taking the wildfowl were as varied as the bags were large. Guns as big as eight gauge were in common use, and firelight shooting was the fad at the turn of the century.

Old letters reveal that some hunters frequently used multiple guns. One of these contraptions consisted of about six standard shotguns secured to a log, pointed at a duck roost, and fired by means of a rope leading to the hunter's blind.

But all that changed when Saskatchewan became a province in 1905. Spring shooting was abolished in 1907, a licence fee was levied in 1910, and in 1915 the sale of game was prohibited.

Provincial archives reveal that predecessors of today's game wardens were hired by the agriculture department, and were known as weed inspectors. Game conservation was just a sideline.

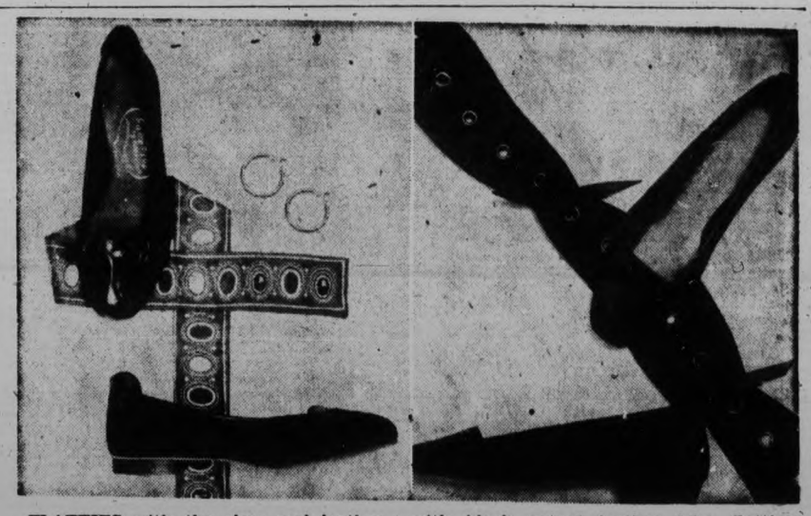
Tea and Reception Opens WAA Season

A very lovely afternoon tea and reception, accompanied by a small exhibit of local talent in the arts, has marked the opening of the season in the Peterborough Branch of the Lyceum Club Women's Art Association.

The president and vice presidents arranged this happy social event of Friday afternoon, held in the Green Room of the YWCA where studio meetings are held Friday afternoons every second week, commencing November 6th.

For the first program it has been arranged to present interior decorator Freda James from Toronto. At the following meeting the speaker is to be Mr. Philip Aziz from London, a liturgical artist whose topic will be "The Development of the Christ Image". December meeting will again be a Christmas musicale but a guest artist, Mrs. Lois Sears, is to give Old World folk songs and Christmas carols with harp accompaniment.



More than 60 guests attended the tea and reception and were welcomed by president Mrs. Ford Turner and first vice president Mrs. H. R. Scott.

Tea was poured by past presidents, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro, Mrs. N. D. Seaton, Mrs. F. E. Hooper and Mrs. W. G. Ovens.

Each study group provided two members to serve. There are five groups in the Peterborough Association: Guild of Arts and Crafts, Art Study Club, Literary Study Club, Home Arts Guild and Music Study Club.

The tea table was laid with an oyster linen embroidered cloth, and a bouquet of bronze and giant gold 'mums with wheat and pale yellow candles was in the centre. These arrangements were carried out by Mrs. Hooper.

Exhibits for the occasion were invited by Mrs. W. J. Gilling and the artists represented were Meredith Miller, costume jewelery; Mrs. E. R. Frost, leatherwork; Mrs. A. Warner, pottery; Stanley Hayman, metal engraver, and Jack Haymer, painter. These Peterborough people have all received recognition of their work outside the city and the Association was proud to present them to the membership.

FLATTIES with the shoe and leather fair taking over Montreal this week, these flatties should be of particular interest to the shoe-conscious gal; (left) black suede with black patent leather trim flatties matched to stone-studded belt and hoop earrings; (right) fawn shag with brass eyelets matched to a belt.

B & P Club Works To Further Women's Interests

This week, the members of Peterborough Business and Professional Women's Club, in common with the other 67 clubs in Ontario, have been observing Business Women's Week. The official slogan for the week is "The Ramparts We Build" and they have been recalling their accomplishments to date.

One of the aims of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs is the encouragement of qualified women in public office today, a fair proportion are members of these clubs.

Legislation affecting women is followed with keen interest and the club played a leading part in the passing of the Equal Pay Act by the Ontario Legislature. These clubs were instrumental also in the passing of an amendment to the Jury Act whereby women have the right to serve on juries.

A committee representative of Ontario clubs undertook the task in 1952 of providing information on jury service for presentation to women's organizations and Miss Mabel Moore of Peterborough addressed a number of groups on this subject during the past year.

The higher education of women is another matter of concern to the Business and Professional Women and each year the Peterborough Club gives a scholarship of $25 to each of the two top students in third-year commercial at PCVS if they are continuing their studies in that department.

Climax of this week will be a tea this Sunday afternoon at which Miss Nazla Dane will be a special guest accompanying Peterborough Club president Miss Alice Hardwicke.

A reception was held afterwards at the home of the child's parents, 34 Grosvenor Ave., Ottawa.

Curved Sleeves Striking Feature

PARIS—High-built necks, sloping shoulders, and width across the bosom, the latter effect often emphasized by curved sleeves with fullness in the upper arm, are striking features in all Paris dress collections. The emphasis laid upon waistlines varies—some are tightly nipped, others softly moulded. A good general rule for the width of skirts is straight and slender for tailored styles and simple informal frocks, with increasing width for the later hours of the day.

Fashion Note: Touch of fur—makes a black broadcloth suit at Balenciaga's marvellously elegant. The touch is white ermine, forming a wide, wide collar, spreading away from a bare throat. The suit itself, very simply shaped.

At Work To Save Marriages

By ALISON SETTLE

LONDON — The National Marriage Guidance Council, with its headquarters off Grosvenor Square, in London, is a body of voluntary workers which aims to foster successful marriage and to counsel married couples in difficulties. It has four hundred specially selected and trained Marriage Counsellors working through eighty branches scattered over Britain. All who volunteer for the exacting work of reconciling marriages which are near breaking point are unpaid, and a condition of their acceptance by the council is that they themselves are happily married: Only two of the four hundred are unmarried, and they have exceptional qualifications.

These voluntary, part-time workers come from all walks of life: The essential quality is an understanding mind, critical and analytical but remaining sympathetic. A constantly growing background of knowledge is also demanded of those who feel the urge to devote their energies and time to this form of service to their fellows. They must pass searching tests and strict training, followed by a year of probation, before they are accepted as full counsellors. Yet the demands of tests and training in no way lessen the flow of candidates.

Those who feel they have the right attitude and experience of life (acceptance is rare under 30 years of age) are called to an interview by the local branch of the council. They then attend a two-day residential selection conference at which candidates, men or women, meet a panel of selectors. There are 14 candidates to a board, and the five selectors usually include a doctor, a psychiatrist, two experienced counsellors and Mr. Alan Ingleby, the NMGC education officer.

Group discussions are held on typical (but fictitious) case histories, and candidates are invited to say how they would handle the problems involved. Psychiatric interviews test the candidates' reactions on a personal level, while psychometric tests deal with their emotional stability: The board seeks to discover how the candidates' minds work, for above all else, commonsense is asked for.

Such "screenings" cannot rule out all errors of choice, but they reduce them to a minimum. A third of the candidates offering their services are rejected. "Some are curious about the lives of others," says Mr. Ingleby; "some, unknown to themselves, seek to work out their own problems in other lives. On many the strain of responsibility would lie too heavy."

For the accepted two-thirds there follows training in which candidates are expected to learn enough of psychology and human relations, and of the legal and physiological aspects of matrimony, to warn them of their own limitations and to guide them as to when and on whom they should call for expert evidence. Training includes written work, for a counsellor must be able to commit essential details clearly and concisely to paper so that consultants called in can be fully briefed.

This training may be taken once a week if three consecutive hours can be given to it on a regular afternoon or evening. Alternatively, would-be counsellors may attend four short residential courses. Here tuition is free, and where necessary a grant is made to cover accommodation and travelling expenses.

If they are finally accepted, these unpaid social workers spend a year as probationers, during which time their aptitudes and attitudes of mind are considered —for the movement is determined that busybodies, the curious and the opinionated shall not take part in its work. Only after a year are they accepted for work as members of a team, with the assistance of medical, legal, psychological, social service and spiritual consultants.

It is a remarkable tribute to the place the Marriage Guidance Council has come to occupy in national life within a few years of formation—it became a national organization in 1948 — that the wastage of potential voluntary workers during probation is due to unsuitability rather than to lessening of interest on the part of candidates. Their work is exacting and fraught with responsibility; but the number of those who fail is small beside the number who succeed. (Copyright.)

Danish Women Get Key Cabinet Posts

By E. MICHAEL SALZER

COPENHAGEN— Inspired perhaps by the ideas that led recently to the recognition of the female succession to the throne, Denmark's new Premier, the Social Democrat Mr. Hans Hedtoft, has given two of his key Cabinet posts to women. He may also have had in mind the fact that a record number of women went to the polls last month and helped give him enough votes to form a minority government.

The post of Minister for Ecclesiastical Affairs has gone to Mrs. Bodil Koch, the wife of a theologian; the other Cabinet post has gone to Mrs. Anne Lisbeth Groes, the wife of a leading figure in the Danish Co-operative Movement; She is placed in charge of the Board of Trade.

"Lis" Groes," as she is known in Denmark,, made a name for herself as leader of the Housewives' Consumer Council, which led and won a fierce struggle with Danish retailers and manufacturers, forcing prices down and insisting on higher quality. Hence the storm of applause from Danish housewives, and the storm of protest from Danish merchants, at her Government appointment.

A handsome, well-dressed woman who looks much younger than her 42 years, she has brought up nine children—five boys and four girls—and found time to study for a degree in economics and political science, hold positions in Danish women's organizations and establish herself as a prolific writer on domestic problems. It will be her duty to keep the national larder well stocked—a task with which few housewives in any country can have been entrusted.

Her appointment is only one of Mr. Hedtoft's efforts to secure broader public support for his precariously - balanced Government. He hopes to keep power by appealing to general goodwill, and by steering clear of the most controversial matters; and this is going to mean a watered-down Socialist policy. (Copyright.)

Cancer Society Work Topic At PTA Meeting

A talk on the work being done by the Canadian Cancer Society was given Thursday night to the St. John the Baptist Parent-Teacher Association by Mrs. Maurice Holt, president of the local unit of the society.

"We want to interest people in the defeat of cancer," said Mrs. Holt. "To know about it is to conquer it. Much is already known and more is being discovered.

"Education of the public will correct superstitions and fallacies about the disease."

Mrs. Holt went on to say that 44.3 per cent of every dollar spent by the society is used for research. Cancer is an expensive disease to treat and the society provides dressings, transportation and other facilities for those in need of them.

Films were also shown by Mrs. Holt to the 60 parents and teachers attending the monthly meeting of the St. John the Baptist Parent-Teacher Associaion. She was introduced by Mr. Charles Boulter and thanked by Mr. Fergus O'Connor.

The meeting opened with a prayer by Sister Mary Garnier. Mrs. William Larocque presided.

It was announced that an intensive membership drive would get underway immediately. Mrs. George Masters gave the secretary's report and Mr. Alfred Daniels gave the treasurer's report.

A social hour followed the business session and lunch was served by the co-conveners Mrs. John Hodson, Mrs. Douglas Scanlon, Mrs. Edward Curtin and their committee.

School Wins 3 Titles, Honor Boys

Confederation school's three champion softball teams — boys' junior, intermediate and senior—were feted at a dinner Thursday night by the executive of the Confederation Home and School Association.

The players made school history this year. They won all of the boys' inter-school softball championships. So the Home and School Association arranged a dinner in Kenner Collegiate cafeteria as a mark of recognition for the champs.

Tables were colorfully decorated with the school colors, autumn flowers, place cards for each team player, and the championship trophies.

As Principal Jack Nichols was absent, the chairman was Mr. Lloyd Corbett. Others at the head table were Mr. Arnold Olmstead, Mrs. Harvey Sutton, president of the Confederation Home and School Association, Mrs. Joseph Grierson, Mr. Clair Crown, Mr. E. Carl, and the three team captains—Gary Rollins, Clayton Outwater, and Lawrence Brooks.

Mr. Crown presented the junior championship cup to Team Captain Brooks. Mr. Olmstead followed with the trophy for the senior team, presented to Team Captain Rollins. There is no trophy this year for the intermediates, but Team Captain Outwater was congratulated and he and his team-mates got crests, as did the seniors and juniors.

Each of the captains responded with a "thank you" speech for the dinner and awards, and they praised their coaches for helping them along to their respective championships.

A number of former captains of school teams were present and were introduced by Mr. Olmstead and Mr. Corbett. They included Messrs. Ray Holland, Morris Parry, Elwood Dunston, Larry Ferguson, Ron Jones, Paul Parnell, and Jack Pulkinghorn.

Among the absentees were Messrs. Ben Jones, Alex Daniels, Bill Chamberlain and Gerald Crouter.

A toast to the Queen was given, after which David Nichols thanked the ladies for the dinner which was arranged by Mrs. Lionel Monk and Mrs. Clarence Porter, conveners.

The evening ended with the showing of a series of photo slides —pictures that had been taken by Mr. Crown on his recent trip.

Leather Evening Gown New Touch, London Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—Leather stepped off the accessories shelves into the ranks of haute couture at London's recent leather fair.

Evening gowns, suits and coats in leathers as light and supple as satins and wools had all the facets of high fashion. Many were, in fact, designed by members of London's big ten of couture.

Star model in styles shown during the first national leather week was Michael Sherard's embroidered evening gown of orchid pink kid over a tulle crinoline. The dress, the first of its kind, received much applause.

USED FOR ACCESSORIES

It's years now since women thought of leather in terms other than gloves, handbags, shoes and other accessories. At most they have bought an occasional suede sports jacket or leather beret. Not since the flapper days of the 1920s, when leather motoring coats and suits were the rage, have British women bought leather clothes in quantity.

Now, following a trend for leather styles in North America, manufacturers here are out to prove that leather wear comes at couture level.

Not every girl could afford the £368 ($1,030) required to purchase the Sherard evening gown, but many will want the waterproof suede jackets with shot silk linings priced at 18 guineas ($52.90). In such shades as glowing peacock blue they have all the latest fashion points—full back, half belt, wide sleeves and low shoulderline.

Coats and suits priced at about £30 will rival similar styles in tweed and wool. Sherard tops a ruby suede blouse and green leather skirt with matching green topcoat, completing the outfit with ruby suede gloves and hat and green calf shoes.

"TRIFLE WARM"

Britain's leather queen, Maureen O'Neill of London's Palmers Green wore a blue pittard kid crinoline with tiers of kid flounces and strapless scalloped top. "It's comfortable, but a trifle warm," she said, touching the big bouquet of kid flowers at the dress waist.

Manufacturers were quick to point out that the heat of leather was excellent protection against cold winds. So, for extra warmth, they showed chamois and leather linings in tweed coats and suits, matched to hats, gloves, handbags and jewelry of leather.

Victor Stiebel, designer to Princess Margaret, Charles Creed and John Cavanagh all showed the couture possibilities of leather. Stiebel chose leather collars and cuffs for suits and dresses, Creed trimmed a pewter-grey worsted suit with black leather at collar, lapels and basque and topped it with a black leather pull-on beret. Cavanagh featured a swathed turban of white suede.

Leather accessories covered all requirements for every outfit.

ST. MARY'S AND ST. PETER'S

St. Mary's and St. Peter's PTA met on Tuesday evening at St. Peter's Boys' School. Chairman M. H. Glover presided. Canvassers were called upon for a membership drive, and work will begin immediately.

Speaker was Dr. J. R. Epping, and the subject of his address was "Teen-agers' Health." It was aimed at the parents' role in forming a human personality.

"The great ideal today is to form young people of good brains and good bodies, but to ignore the development of mind, will and soul, is to deform personality," he said. "We have trained our young people to be good companions, adept at tennis, bridge and social concourse. We have exaggerated brains, and underrated discipline, and the result is rotten. Teen-agers are clumsy, cocky people who cover their uncertainty with a hard front.

"But they have a great sense of fair play and therefore should not be allowed to get away with anything, neither must they be treated like babies. Parents should learn to be patient, and realize that they are tender people who bruise easily and break easily. They must be taught to be independent, physically, mentally and morally, as God intended them to be. The ideal teen-ager is one who is sensible, moderate and decent, and this can come only from parents who create an atmosphere of decency," Dr. Epping concluded.

Mrs. W. R. Walton Delivers Earful Housewives' Gripes

MONTREAL (CP)—The Quebec regional conference of the Packing Association of Canada got an earful Thursday of housewives' biggest kitchen gripes.

Mrs. W. R. Walton of Oakville, Ont., past president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, handed the meeting a list of complaints that practically left the cupboard bare. She reported on:

The too-lavish wrapper that hides an inferior product; resistance of some cardboard packages to cutting and prying; pry-off lids on glass jars which never fit back on; long-necked bottles which never let all the contents out; the kitchen cleanser which gets soft and soggy; "flimsy and unattractive" butter wrappings; pre-packaged tomatoes wherein the not-so-good are buried-packaged bread gone moldy; nail-tearing slide openers on tins; corn syrup containers which dribble.

BLASTS BACON WRAPPERS

Mrs. Walton singled out for special criticism that "deceptive" red-striped bacon wrapper for side bacon.

On "gyp" packaging:

"There are innumerable complaints from housewives about misuse of the words 'giant,' 'economy' and 'family size' packages. Many of them are only half or two-thirds full or simply contain an inner packet that is deceptive."

Her 10 commandments to be borne in mind when packaging:

A package that protects contents from deterioration; that enables the housewife to see what she is buying; that opens easily; that will close tightly for storage; that is convenient to handle or store; that is stable and won't tip easily; that is honest in size in relation to its contents; that has proper and adequate information on its cover; that is not awkwardly shaped; and—the 10th commandment—"Thow shalt not gild the lily."

Readers' Saturday Column Conducted By Mary Moore

ATTENTION MRS. J. M.: You did not enclose an envelope bearing your name, so I could not mail the wine recipes you wanted. If you would write again and give me your name and repeat your adress I will mail it to you.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: . . . I misplaced my recipe I cut from the paper for Sandwich Spread. Would you send it to me? Also some recipes on Tomato Catsup and H. P. Sauce.

ANSWER: I am mailing you copies of the Sandwich Spread and Tomato Catsup recipes which have appeared in this column in the past month or so. The bottled commercial sauce you refer to is made of fermented soy bean puree and juice. It is a complicated and highly technical recipe that has to be fermented. It is imported from China. If you want a mock condiment sauce that calls for kidney bean puree and "bruised wheat kernels" I will send it. I have never made it, but you might want to look it over.

QUESTION: . . . wonder if you could help me out on canning chicken . . . a friend of mine used to fry it in butter leaving some on bones, put in sealers and boil. I don't know if there was water added or not. I have no pressure cooker. I would be so thankful if you would tell me how to do it. Mrs. Wm. McD.

ANSWER: You will have read what I have to say about canning vegetables and meat without pressure. I do not approve of it. I would not do it myself. However I know there are plenty of farmer's wives who can beef and chicken every Fall without pressure cookers successfully. I reluctantly give you this method.

HOME CANNED CHICKEN OR OTHER POULTRY

Two-year-old hens are best. Dress chickens as for cooking. With extreme care remove gall bladder, also lungs, kidneys and eggs. Cut chicken into serving pieces and separate into 3 piles 1) the meaty pieces as breasts, thighs, legs and upper wing joints 2) the bony pieces as backs, wings, necks and 3) the giblets. Can livers alone and hearts and gizzards alone. Skin may or may not be removed and trim off lumps of fat. Too much fat makes chicken difficult to process. Make broth with bony pieces, covering them with lightly salted cold water and simmer until meat is tender, and drain off broth to use as the liquid in canning meaty pieces. Strip the meat from bony pieces and can as small pieces. Precook meaty pieces—with bone preferably as it improves flavor—in covered dish with a little water in oven or in water simmered, until tender and pack hot, adding 1 teaspoon salt to 20-oz. tin cans or pint jars or 2 teaspoons salt to 1 quart jars. Either tin cans or jars should be pressure cooked: 20-oz. tins or pint jars at 250 deg. Fahr. or 15 lbs. pressure; 85 minutes; quart jars at 250 deg. Fahr. for 120 minutes. If you do process these in hot water bath give them 3½ hours at boiling, and be sure to boil contents of jars after opening and before tasting.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: . . . please send recipe for pumpkin jam . . . can I can huckleberries and make huckleberry jam . . . I would like to know how to make huckkleberry pie . . . I am a bachelor . . . Jack W.

ANSWER: Welcome to our cooking fold Jack W.

CANNED HUCKLEBERRIES

Wash and drain well perfect huckleberries. Pack raw in sterile jars. Pour over them boiling hot syrup made of 1 cup sugar to each 3 cups water. Seal with sterile rubbers, tops and rings. Process (that is boil) in hot water bath. Pint and quart jars require 20 minutes. Remove from hot water bath as soon as possible, being very careful not to break jars and cool away from draughts.

HUCKLEBERRY JAM

Wash berries, picking out any undesireable ones, drain. Weigh. To each pound add 1 lb. sugar. Crush berries with potato masher and bring slowly to boil, stirring constantly. When boiling add weighed sugar and boil until fruit and sugar have thickened to jellylike consistency, stirring all the time. Pour into hot sterile pint jars and seal, working with great care to be sure you do not touch rims with fingers or non- sterile equipment.

HUCKLEBERRY PIE

Line deep pie plate with tender pastry. Mix together 4 cups huckleberries, 2 tablespoons flour or quick-cooking tapioca, ¾ cup (or 1 cup) sugar, 1 teaspoon each grated lemon rind and juice and if desired ¼ teaspoon nutmeg. Put this in lined pie plate. Seal on gashed top crust. Bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 and bake 25 or 30 minutes longer. Good luck. I am mailing recipe for Pumpkin Jam.

"PLAYING STORE" helps children see that a knowledge of arithmetic is necessary.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

First Aid In Arithmetic Difficult For Parents

By NANCY CLEAVER

"If ever a child needed first aid in arithmetic it is my Mary! Tom had no trouble with his sums but poor Mary has a terrible struggle. If I try to help her, I just seem to muddle her even more. I wish I had started earlier helping her!"

Some youngsters seem to be just naturally bright in mathematics; a large group get along without too much difficulty. But in every class there are likely some children to whom arithmetic is indeed a perplexing subject. Is there anything which parents can do to help their little folk in their first acquaintance with numbers?

The old-fashioned counting rhymes cast their spell over many children. Perhaps you can remember saying over in a kind of chant, as a small child, some version of:

"One, two, buckle my shoe;
Three, four, knock at the door;
Five, six, pick up sticks;
Seven, eight, lay them straight;
Nine, ten, a good fat hen."

Or perhaps the "One little, two little, three little Indians," counting song was a favorite with you. Some modern educationalists pour scorn on nursery rhymes, but they have survived for a good many years. A child has fun while he and mother repeat or sing them together, and he does learn the name of the lower digits.

The new emphasis in learning is to relate it to life situations. Thus a mother who wants her child's first introduction to arithmetic to be a pleasant one at school, prepares him for it by certain simple counting experiences at home. Three and four-year-olds love to help mother put away the groceries. As mother sorts the canned goods she can say out loud, "One can of corn, one, two cans of tomatoes, one, two, three cans of soup." The child who is almost ready for school may want to count the oranges to see if there are a dozen.

Two or three children "Playing Store" can make their own "pretend money" by cutting out nickels, dimes and quarters from tinfoil. The experience in keeping accounts will help them see why storekeepers and homemakers both must know their way around in the world of arithmetic.

When a child is old enough to run on errands to the grocery store, counting money and change is another interesting number experience. Parents should take time to explain the value of nickels, dimes and quarters in terms of coppers.

It is easy to invent simple problems and make a game out of them as "Here is a foot ruler, and here is a yard stick. How many rulers would make one yard stick?" "Mother has a quarter and a dime. How many nickels could she change them for?" or "This is Wednesday, count on the calendar how many days are left in this week."

The child who has had opportunities to try to figure out the answers to simple problems is taking his first step in an important part of mathematics. Mother finds that it takes a little longer, but it is worthwhile to give Junior these simple exercises in measuring space in inches, feet and yards, or time or money.

Instead of cutting up a large, apple for Junior and three chums, ask him "How would you give each boy a fair share?" Use the terms "half" and "a quarter" related to material he can see, and then fractions won't be such a mystery when he gets to them at school!

Methods of teaching are constantly changing—and most of the changes are improvements. Thus mother and dad, if they try to solve Junior's arithmetic problems following the system they learned two decades ago, are bound to get into an argument! When in doubt, follow Junior's teacher! She won't appreciate your boy saying "My mother says —or dad does it this way!" Play safe, encourage him to do his own homework himself —and don't muddle his young brain with two different types of dividing —even if they both arrive at the same answer!

DOROTHY DIX:

Prayer And Work For Distress

DEAR MISS DIX: My son is in service, and slated to go overseas very soon. Already I am anticipating the heartache and loneliness I'll have when he's gone. Have you any suggestions concerning what I should do?

RITA T.

PRAYER AND WORK

ANSWER: The two best palliatives for distress of mind or spirit are prayer and work. You say you are more or less confined to home because of illness, so your scope is limited. I do suggest, however, that you contact your local Red Cross Chapter, explain your situation to them and ask what work they have that can be done at home. Then get some of your friends or neighbors interested in the activity — and you'll undoubtedly find many other women in the same plight as yourself.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Four months ago I met Rex who is 38 (I am 24) and I am now in love with him. I don't know what his feeling is toward me. He seems very shy when we are alone, though he's full of life when we're in company. There are times when I'm sure he wants to kiss me, but he can't get up the nerve. We've been going together for four months.

RUBY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Better a young man who's bashful than one who's too bold. You have hardly given him time to become really affectionate; the fact that you have fallen in love, and he apparently hasn't so far, simply proves that you are more impetuous than he. Time, I'm sure will resolve your problem. In the meantime don't try to rush the man or you might lose him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think I'm unfair to ask my husband to take me dancing once a month? We have three children so I don't expect to go out too much. I do love dancing, but my husband gets angry every time I ask him to take me some place. It is our only cause for disagreement.

Rhoda D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think every young mother is entitled to some recreation, but when husband and wife differ as to the type of amusement to be enjoyed, it's very difficult to effect a compromise. It would be much harder for your husband to force himself into doing something he detested, than it would be for you to adjust yourself to giving it up. Compromise is part of the give-and-take of marriage. Problems like yours should be solved by both parties reasonably considering the other side of the story, then agreeing on which party should give in. Sometimes it should be the husband, and on other accasions, the wife. But the important factor is mutual concession.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have taken on a job of baby sitting for a family with five children. The father and I are having an affair, and he wants to divorce his wife and marry me. I hate to hurt his wife because I'm quite fond of her.

M. N.

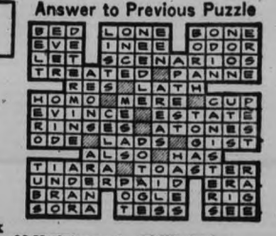
✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly couldn't hurt the lady much more than by stealing her husband. And as for the incredible declaration about divorcing his wife and marrying you—that's been said so often it's almost a standard comedy line. That so many girls continue to fall for it is certainly no tribute to the common sense or intelligence of females. Better get a new job, and a boy friend with a sense of decency.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Alan was most faithful for most of the eleven months we've gone together, but suddenly he has failed to arrive for several dates. He has even neglected to telephone to cancel the date. But I love him, and hate to lose him.

KATIE.



✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The writing on the wall says, "Loss of interest is indicated." This happens often to adolescents. The only thing you can do is accept the fact that his ardor has cooled, and take steps to put your own love on ice. New friends, new activities, increased interest in your studies, will all help.

CHINA Highlights

by TOM O'CONNOR

The art of Pottery making goes back into the dim and distant past. There is no doubt man in his attempt to subdue women, concluded after eons of effort that maybe wooing them got him better results. To further his cause he looked around for a gift, and seeing the one his heart was set on winning, drinking out of dirty goat or camel skin bag, he set out to invent something that would do justice to the love of his heart.

Next week we will go into some of the early results of our first Casanova's inventions.

Remembrance keeps him near.
—Lovingly remembered by father and brother Ross.

LEAL—In loving memory of Emma Vera Leal, who passed away Oct. 18, 1948.
Dear mother, you can only have one mother
Patient, kind and true
No other friend in all the world
Will be so true to you.
For all her loving kindness
She asks nothing in return
All the world deserted us
So our mother we could turn.
So those who have a mother
Treasure her with care
For you never knbw her value
Till you see her vacant chair.
—Ever remembered by her family.

AN INFORMAL CHAT between the Big Three Foreign Ministers in London today marks the opening of their three-day discussions for a step-by-step approach toward solution of cold war problems. One of their major tasks is how to prevent a shooting war from starting over the tense Trieste situation. Left to right are: Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister; Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary; and John Foster Dulles, United States Secretary of State.

Alberta's First Oil Was Wrung Out Of Gunny Sacks Placed Over Seepages

EDMONTON (CP) — Alberta's first oil—at a dollar a gallon—was wrung out of gunny sacks laid over oil seepages in the southwestern corner of the province.

The oil was discovered about 1886 at Cameron Brook, near Watertown, and the enterprising retailers were Kootenai Brown and Bill Aldridge, residents of the area. They sold the oil to ranchers for use in lamps and as a lubricant.

"That pioneer oil firm charged $1 a gallon," said D. I. Istvanffy, chief statistician of the Alberta government, in an address to the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Historical Society.

Mr. Istvanffy said the Turner valley field, destined to be the major natural gas and petroleum field in Canada for more than 25 years, was discovered after the turn of the century. A. W. Dingman organized a company in 1912 which drilled three wells in the Black Diamond area, 35 miles southwest of Calgary.

LUCKY STRIKE

In 1924 the reorganized company drilled Royalite No. 4. As the well deepened and expenses mounted, the investors became worried. Finally word was sent that drilling was to cease.

"However," Mr. Istvanffy said, "word got to the drillers just after a new shift had gone to work. If they had stopped then, it would have been necessary to pay the men for an unworked shift and the tool pusher felt that he might as well get value for his money anyway, so he kept drilling. By the end of the shift, Royalite No. 4 had blown in."

At a depth of 3,740 feet and 290 feet into the limestone formation, natural gas was struck in tremendous quantity and at an unknown pressure. Along with the gas came a highly volatile "naphtha gasoline" and a second Turner Valley boom was on.

The third major event in Turner valley history was the completion of Home No. 1 well in 1929 in another section of the field. Home No. 1 began as a prolific naphtha producer. This third boom lasted long after the general stock market collapse in 1929.

BIG OIL PRODUCER

In 1936 a well named "Turner Valley Royalties" established Turner valley at last as a crude oil producer. The well blew in from a depth of 6,828 feet and yielded tremendous quantities of oil with only a small gas flow.

The success of the well, on the west flank of the field, sparked an intensive oil search on the Prairies which has already led to the discovery of the Leduc, Redwater and other fields in the Edmonton area.

Turney valley reached its peak production in 1942 with more than 10,000,000 barrels of oil. From 1942 to 1947 when the Leduc field was found, Turner valley was the only major Canadian oil field.

"While no one will argue that Turner valley is now well past its prime," Mr. Istvanffy said, "There are still many oil men who contend that its life will be extended for another 15 or 20 years and that another 30,000,000 barrels of oil will be taken from Canada's first major oil field."

Israel Blames Jordan For Trouble

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Israeli foreign office, irked at Western Big Three criticism, today blamed Jordan for setting off the latest series of border raids and said it expects the Big Three to be equally critical of Jordan.

A foreign office spokesman said Israel "expected that the Big Three foreign ministers will address their attention to the nightly incursions from Jordan into Israel by armed bands perpetrating brutal murders, attacking traffic and completely undermining security of life and property in the area."

The foreign office spokesman was commenting on London reports that the foreign ministers meeting there took "a grace view" of the latest clash on the Israel-Jordan border in which the estimated death toll has ranged as high as 70.

Israeli newspapers have explained last Wednesday's raid on the Jordan village of Kibya as a reprisal for the killing of a woman and two children on the Jewish side of the border earlier this week.

Floods Sweeping Southern Europe

LONDON (AP)—Floods swept all across southern Europe from the Pyrenees and into Asian Turkey Friday while northern Europe enjoyed fine autumn weather.

In southern France heavy rains caused two deaths near the Riviera resort town of Saint Tropez. Thirty yards of coastal highway were washed out 60 miles west of Marseille.

In northern Italy, three persons were killed in floods and landslides along the Italian Riviera. Railways and main highways were cut in the southern Tyrol and along the Ligurian coast.

In the Merzifon province of northeast Turkey, 10 persons drowned and 45 houses collapsed in floods.

In the Spanish Basque countryside of the Pyrenees, flash floods killed at least 37 persons—and possibly as many as 100.

375 Strike In New Mine

NORANDA, Que. (CP)— About 375 workers at Normetal mines, a copper-zinc producer 75 miles north of here, went on strike early today for higher wages and union security.

The United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) said it is allowing the company 50 men until Sunday midnight to shut the mine.

The walkout brings to three the number of mines on strike in this area. Some 2,500 miners are idle at Noranda mines and its subsidiaries, Quemont and Normetal.

Union officials said today a strike at a fourth mine in the area, Waite Amulet, also a Noranda subsidiary, will be legal after Monday midnight. The 400 employees voted for a strike earlier this week and union and company have scheduled a last-minute meeting Monday to try to avert it.

Workers at the four mines seek a 22-cent-an-hour increase over the present $1.05, dues checkoff, a pension plan and cut in the work week to 44 from 48 hours.

Jail City Man Three Months On Theft Count

PERTH. — Otto C. Nesbitt of Peterborough Friday was sentenced to three months definite and three months indeterminate on a theft charge in the hearing of an appeal by the Crown which followed dismissal of a theft charge at a previous court session.

The charge was originally dismissed by Judge F. W. Wilson when Nesbitt was charged with stealing money which belonged to the Carleton Place branch of the Canadian Legion. In the decision handed down last March, Judge Wilson ruled that, since the money had been raised through sale of raffle tickets, it was illegal and no ownership could be proved.

Today Judge J. P. Madden ruled that Nesbitt had converted to his own use money which belonged to and should have been handed over to the Carleton Place branch of the Canadian Legion.

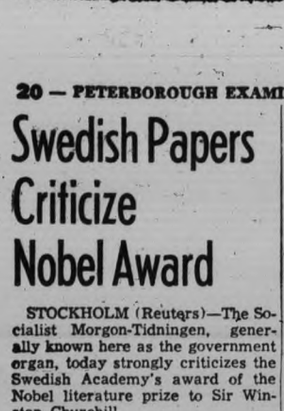
Swedish Papers Criticize Nobel Award



STOCKHOLM (Reuters)—The Socialist Morgon-Tidningen, generally known here as the government organ, today strongly criticizes the Swedish Academy's award of the Nobel literature prize to Sir Winston Churchill.

"Alfred Nobel must look down from heaven and shake his head over the Swedish Academy," said the paper's literary critic.

The paper's cultural editor adds in another article that the prize may just as well have been awarded to Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung.

Morgon-Tidningen attacks Churchill as a man who accepted "class distinctions, imperial conflicts, the party system, royalty and fawning at court, the rule of the rich and the misery of slums as a stamping ground for its own power."

Three other Swedish newspapers showed mixed feelings about the $33,840 award.

Interrupted Meeting

PICTOU, N.S. (CP)—Pictou firemen rushed from their monthly meeting to quell a blaze at a residence in Haliburton, where an overturned kitchen stove caused some damage. Within 45 minutes the men were back at their meeting.

A $15,000 FIRE destroyed the barn and crop of Charles Burch about a mile north-west of Cobourg Friday. A thresher, owned by Fred Howard, was also lost in the flames. The blaze started during threshing and apparently emerged from the thresher blower, setting fire to the stack outside. A north-west wind helped spread the flames to the barn and the whole structure was on fire within 15 minutes. About $100,000 loss in barn fires has been suffered during district threshing.—(Murray Smith Photo).

Haymes Reaches Tax Agreement

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Haymes' lawyer said Friday night the government has agreed to accept half of the crooner's gross earnings until his overdue income tax of about $50,000 is paid in full.

"Mr. Haymes will have to live on the remaining 50 per cent of his income," counsel David Marcus said, "and must pay up other debts including alimony on that amount, but he is very grateful for the opportunity to continue working."

Haymes, recently married to actress Rita Hayworth at Las Vegas, Nev., now is singing at the Shamrock Hotel in Houston, Tex. The internal revenue bureau placed a tax lien on his salary there Wednesday.

On another front, the crooner was less fortunate.

Federal judge Ernest A. Tolin dismissed his petition which sought to restrain the U.S. immigration service from proceeding with deportation hearings against him. The singer, a native of Argentina and not a U.S. citizen, had asked the court to rule that he was not subject to deportation.

Report Suggests 4 Dams Built

ELORA, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario government Friday night proposed that dams costing $5,610,000 be built to control floods on the Speed and Eramosa rivers.

Four dams were suggested in the Speed conservation report (1953) put before the Grand river valley conservation authority in this town 20 miles north of Kitchener. The report was prepared by A. H. Richardson, chief conservation engineer of the Ontario department of planning and development.

Dams would be built at Hespeler and Guelph on the Speed river and Everton and Arkell on the Eramosa.

These would bring to nine the number of dams proposed in the department's scheme for Grand river valley flood control. Two dams have already been built—the Shand and Luther dams on the Industry Giving New Life To Economy Of Finland

WASHINGTON— With Finland's basic economy shifting from agriculture to industry in postwar years, tens of thousands of Finnish citizens have forsaken farms and flocked to the factories.

A vigorous metal industry employs 80,000 workers, double the number in 1939. The shipbuilding industry has six times the capacity of 1944. Half of the country's four million inhabitants are today engaged in industrial pursuits, compared with less than one-fourth fifty years ago. Helsinki, Tampere and other Finnish cities are crowded with former rural residents.

LAND OF FORESTS AND LAKES

Forests—Finland's "green gold"—are still the nation's major asset. Lumber, plywood, pulp, paper, and prefabricated houses are leading exports. Over 75,000 are employed in wood-working plants.

Nearly three-fourths of the nation's 130,612 square miles are forested, mainly in spruce, pine and birch. The land, one-and-one half times the size of Great Britain, contains more than 60,000 lakes.

There are only 7.5 million acres of arable land, against 54 million acres of forest, and agricultural production has always been low. Much of the country's soil is rocky and barren. Finland is the climatic limit for cultivation of grains. To earn extra money to meet higher costs, whole farm families work at factory and forestry jobs during the winter and other slack farm seasons.

Nearly one-third of Finland's area lies north of the Arctic Circle. The climate is tempered slightly by warm ocean currents, but snow generally covers the country from Christmas through April.

NATURE-LOVING PEOPLE

Summers are short but brilliant. In mid-summer the sun shines at least 18 hours a day. Shops, offices and factories close at 3 p.m., permitting outdoor-minded Finns to throng beaches and parks.

Finns are sports enthusiasists. The country boasts more than 500 athletic fields, and over 700,000 citizens are enrolled in various sports organizations. In a walking contest with Sweden in 1941, no less than 1,507,111 Finns participated. The nation's top athletes have won 69 Olympic Gold Medals, proportionately more than any other country.

A nation born of war, Finland gained her independence in 1918 when she broke away from the crumbling Russian Empire. A loan from the United States helped establish the new Finnish national regime. With steady payments, Finland has reduced the debt to about $7 million. The United States uses the money for educational benefits to Finnish citizens in this country and for Americans studying there.

One of the world's most literate countries, Finland has compulsory education for children 7 to 15. The State University at Helsinki has over 10,000 students. The many-voweled Finnish language is one of Europe's oldest spoken tongues. Helsinki and many other cities are bilingual, with street signs, shop and restaurant names appearing in both Finnish and Swedish.

U.S. Planning Vigorous Action On Israel

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States is reported planning vigorous action blaming Israel for a surprise army attack on three Jordan villages — labelled "cold blooded murder" by a United Nations observer team.

Possibilities included:

1. A strongly-worded denunciation by this government of the midnight assault.

2. A demand, issued jointly by the United States, Britain and France, that such attacks must stop.

3. An appeal to the UN security council backed by the United States or the Big Three.

(In Paris France announced today she will seek UN security council action on the raid, termed the worst armistice violation yet in the Holy Land. France is also planning to make a direct protest to the Israel government on the lines of the one made by Britain Friday. A "grave view" was being taken here of the incident, the spokesman said.)

Campbellford PUC To Raze Buildings

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS). — Manager P. C. Denyes has been instructed to supply the Public Utilities Commission with an estimate of the cost of tearing down two old buildings at the power house and replacing them with a new building to house the new stop logs the commission has acquired.

It was decided to apply a protective coating to the stop logs, used in the power dam. The material will be selected by the manager and chairman.

Mr. Denyes was also instructed to secure an estimate of the cost of water meters for large commercial users. The board would also like to know the rates for such consumers in towns of comparable size.

A quotation from CGE of $4,650 for 324 coils for the No. 1 generator at the power plant was filed.

The commission want to have their annual statement printed in more simple and understandable form for presentation to the voters at the annual nomination meeting. This matter will be discussed at the next meeting.

Miss Truman will do a TV show for CBC while in the metropolis then travel to Ottawa and Toronto for two other concerts.

Mountains Of The Moon Hiding Gold, Active Ores

WASHINGTON — Recent surveys of British and Belgian scientists have confirmed deposits of gold, radioactive ores, and other valuable minerals in Africa's mysterious "Mountains of the Moon," one of the world's least known regions.

A wilderness of weird forests shrouded in mist, the Ruwenzoris, as the mountains are officially known, are a pocket-size range 70 miles long and 30 miles wide, forming the boundary between the British Protectorate of Uganda and the Belgian Congo.

Midway up the Ruwenzoris' misty slopes heather plants—relatives of the low Scottish shrub—grow to heights of 60 and 70 feet. Huge cushions of vividly colored moss encircle the trunks, and limbs are festooned with streaming pendants of pale green lichens. A bit higher, varieties of lobelia, groundsel, and other common garden weeds grow to tree size.

There is no human life above 7,216 feet, site of the highest native village. Water buffaloes occasionally range up to the 7,000-foot level, and elephants are common in the bamboo forests up to 8,500 feet. Leopards and a few antelopes have been sighted as high as 13,000 feet. Bright-feathered birds abound at lower altitudes.

Topping the range are six groups of snow peaks. Each group is considered as one mountain. Mt. Stanley is the highest of the six groups. All four of its peaks—Margherita, Alexandra, Elena and Savoia—are more than 16,000 feet high. They spawn many small glaciers.

Once thought to contain King Solomon's fabulous mines, the Ruwenzoris were first mapped by the ancient Greek cartographer, Ptolemy. From descriptions given him by travellers, he called the range the "Mountains of the Moon," in the belief that the moon had descended to touch their tips and turn them to silver.

Henry M. Stanley was the first European to explore the range, in 1889. He gave the mountains their modern name. Ruwenzori, a native term, means "King of the Clouds" or "Rain-maker."

Geologists have long been puzzled as to the Ruwenzoris' origin. The peaks are not volcanic, as are Kilimanjaro and Kenya, Africa's other major summits. Alongside the Ruwenzori range runs another scientific phenomenon—the so-called Great Rift Valley, a cleft, 1,500 feet deep, 40 miles wide, and many hundreds of miles long.

Percy Approves Splitting School District

WARKWORTH (ENS) — With two councillors casting dissenting votes, Percy township council approved the division of assets and liabilities of Northumberland High School District and asked the Minister of Education to approve division of the district.

Alexander De Seversky Believes People

Flying To Moon, Within 50 Years

Editor's note: Aviation has come far in 50 years. But where does it go from here? Some of the rosiest views of its future come from a man who has figured intimately in its past. That's why The Associated Press asked Alexander De Seversky to tell what he thinks of aviation's place in the next half-century.

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — Within 50 years, we'll be flying to the moon in 3½ hours, the skies over the earth will be dark with private helicopters and autos will be as rare as horses are today.

Commercial airliners will fly at 2,000 miles an hour; mail and freight will be shot around the world in pilotless guided missiles, reaching any point in a few hours; and railroads, buses and trucks will disappear as a means of long-distance transportation.

This vision of aviation's future in the next 50 years is held by a man who had much to do with aviation's first 50 years. He is Maj. Alexander P. De Seversky, inventor, designer, pilot and author.

The problem of interplanetary travel, he feels, will be solved by atomic - powered craft, not rockets. Rockets will not prove practical, he says, because the pilot cannot control the speed. He would have to start at top speed, which "is like being shot out of a cannon," and remain at that speed.

MUST START SLOWLY

An atomic-powered plane, De Seversky says, will have a controllable speed. It will start slowly —relatively speaking — climbing through the earth's atmosphere at between 1,000 and 2,000 miles an hour. When clear of the earth's atmosphere, it will accelerate to a maximum of 130,000 mph about half way to the moon, and then gradually slow down during the second half of the journey. The moon is about 238,000 miles from earth.

"How much travel there will be to the moon and other planets," he says, "depends on what we find there. If those places have natural resources we want, we'll be going back often. If not, they will probably be only a scientific curiosity."

Here are other De Seversky predictions:

Atomic - powered commercial planes will fly around the world in 12 hours at an altitude of about 100,000 feet. With atomic engines perfected, they will be able to go faster, but greater speeds within the earth's atmosphere will only cause the ship to disintegrate.

The trend in the future will be toward smaller commercial planes, carrying an average of 50 passengers. De Seversky does not share the opinion of some experts that future commercial craft will be big enough to house swimming pools and large dining rooms:

"Since it will take less and less time to get from one place to another, there would be little need for such facilities."

CHEAP AS AUTOS

Within 10 or 15 years, helicopters will be cheaper than today's lowest price car. This will be accomplished when jets will be used at the ends of the helicopter blades to propel them like a pinwheel. This will remove the present need for relatively expensive transmission power.

Within 50 years, there will be about 20,000,000 helicopters over North America "hopping around like fleas." He adds:

"Probably the helicopter 50 years from now will be half-car and half-plane.

"Air traffic will be heavy, obviously. But as radar and other devices are perfected, traffic will be controlled by electronic highways. Collisions will be impossible."

Without the element of human error, pilotless guided missiles, travelling at supersonic speeds, will prove not only faster but also a safer, more reliable method of air mail and freight than anything we now have.

"Since we will not have to make provision for human beings," De Seversky believes, "the craft will be uncomplicated. It can be arranged to weather almost any storm. If, for example, it should drop in the ocean, it can be fixed to float indefinitely."

A MAN WHO GOT his first taste of aviation and international co-operation when he served as a U.S. Marine Corps fighter pilot with the Royal Navy Air Arm in World War I, is the new United States representative on the Council of the International Civil Aviation Organization. Harold Armstrong Jones, a lawyer by profession, has taken over this important post, which carries with it the rank of minister, as the representative of the new U.S. Republican Government.

Weekend Church Review:

Gospel's Life-Giving Power

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Here and there in the New Testament, in many places in fact, there are verses or passages that stand out superbly. They offer the concentrated expression of a great fact, a great experience, an exhortation to righteousness and Christian living, or an inspirational incentive of encouragement and uplifting power.

Such a verse is John 3:16, with its assertion of God's love for the world, and the gift of His Son. Many passages, especially in Paul's Epistles, are deeply moving in their exhortations. One, where Paul tells how strength can be made perfect in weakness (II Corinthians 12:9) is particularly encouraging for those who are well aware of their weakness, but who lack Paul's inherent strength. Though Paul makes it plain that his strength was more God-given and God - inspired than of any natural endowment.

But here I am concerned chiefly with one brief verse in which is expressed all the reality and power of the Gospel experience, the fact of what belief in Christ and the acceptance of His message of salvation can do for man. It is II Corinthians 5:17, "Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things are passed away; behold all the things are become new."

A marignal translation makes this even stronger, It says, "If any man be in Christ, there is a new creation." It is not only the man who is changed, but he is in a new world. It is a new world in his knowledge of God. It is a new world in his love of truth, and especially a new world in his outlook on life, and in his attitude toward his fellowmen. It is what the Apostle John, formerly a man of intense ambition to be ahead of his fellow disciples (Matthew 20:20-24), had in mind when he wrote in I John 3:14, "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." It is what observers of Jesus said (Mark 2:12): "We never saw it on this fashion."

What does it mean to be "in Christ"? Scholars say it is as if it referred to the place in which one lives. Christ is the environment of the new man in precisely that sense. "If ye love Me," said Jesus, "Keep My Commandments." to live in Christ is to seek the guidance of His spirit and follow His example.

Two things impress me strongly about the verse. One is the limitless nature of the experience. It is not limited to the few, or favored, but is for "any man." That is borne out in the experience of all sorts of men, even of great sinners, who have found the new life.

And the other thing is the clear, effective expression of the nature and meaning of salvation. Too often, and too much, salvation is made a matter of safety and redemption in some experience beyond this life, a being saved from hell, or some future disaster, without much reference to moral and spiritual reality.

I do not discuss the matter of death-bed repentance, or some last-moment event that may assure future salvation. I leave speculation to others. But here the implication and meaning are plain. Salvation is a matter of new life in Christ. It is a moral and spiritual experience of regeneration. What lies beyond this earthly life may be left to God; but God's will and God's provision in Christ and the Gospel is that here and now for each of us there may be a new life and a new creation.

EMPTY LOT, BUT SOUL IS FULL—Members of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in San Diego, Calif., aren't waiting for their church to be erected before they hold their services. They met on the proposed site, the church was marked off in chalk and the worshippers marched in through the "door." The Rev. George Lokie leads the singing.

HOLD ARMY OFFICER IN GIRL'S MURDER

$1,500 DAMAGE TO THE ORANGE HALL, 184 Brock St., opposite Brock St. Gardens, was caused by fire early Saturday evening. Thick Smoke, which filled the building, was credited with helping to smother the blaze, confining it almost entirely to the boiler room, where its origin was attributed to spontaneous ignition of the contents of a wooden cupboard. The smoke forced firemen to don air masks to fight the blaze.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

2 Delegations Storm Out Of Meeting

Walkout Threatens Collapse Of Interview Plans

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Beaten in their demand that Indian troops force defiant Korean war prisoners to listen to Red persuasion teams, the two Communist delegations were reported to have stormed out of of a Korean repatriation commission meeting today.

The Polish and Czech walkout—reported by reliable sources—threatened a collapse in the tension-ridden interviewing of 23,400 anti-Communist prisoners who refuse to return to their homelands.

The sources, who declined to be named, said the Swedish, Swiss and Indian members of the five-nation commission sided on the critical issue.

The sources gave no indication whether the walkout would be permanent, but it was certain that the sudden move stalled all activity of the commission at least temporarily.

CALL OFF TALKS

A commission spokesman said there would be no explanations Tuesday. The Reds had refused to interview Chinese instead of the North Koreans they had asked for.

Today's explanations were called off for the same reason.

The North Koreans have stubbornly refused to move out of their compounds to meet with Red explanation teams whose job it is to persuade the anti-Red PoWs to return to their homelands.

The commission called a hurried meeting to discuss the touchy problem.

Then, after 1½ hours of debate, the Poles and Czechs walked out, the sources said.

BITTER PROPAGANDA

The Reds have taken bitter propaganda blows in the two days the interviews have been held. Only 19 of 921 Chinese interviewed asked for repatriation, a total of about two per cent.

So far no North Korean has faced a Red explainer.

Communist correspondent Wilfred Burchett, who often echoes official Red policy, said one of the main disputes between the Reds and the repatriation commission was over who has the right to determine explanation plans.

Burchett said the Communists believe they have the right to determine whether they will explain to Chinese or North Korean captives and they also want to say when they will talk to the PoWs.

The Reds, meanwhile, accused the United Nations command of interfering with the explanations and the command in turn charged the Communists attempted to coerce a PoW into accepting repatriation.

THIS IS AN artist's sketch of the young girl whose body was found in a ditch near Iroquois, 35 miles from Cornwall. She has been identified as Marie-Anne Carrier, 22, of Bienville, Que., and an army officer has been charged in her death.

Reds Agree To UN Plan For Meeting

Insist On Right To Decide On Eligible Nations

TOKYO —(AP)—The Communists agreed today to a United Nations proposal for a meeting at Panmunjom next Monday to make plans for the Korean peace conference but they insisted on the right to decide there what nations will take part.

The United States and its allies have insisted just as strongly in earlier notes that the preliminary meeting settle only the time and place of the conference.

A Peiping radio broadcast heard here said the Red note—signed by the leaders of Communist China and North Korea—was sent to the United States through neutral Sweden.

NEW WESTERN PROPOSAL

The Red note came as there were reports from London that the Western foreign ministers had agreed secretly on a new and entirely different proposal for the conference membership—the Big Five and North and South Korea.

Under this plan, Red China rather than Nationalist China would be included among the Big Five. The others are Britain, the United States, France and Russia.

The earlier Allied proposals called for only the belligerents—with Russia sitting in on the Communist side if invited by the Reds.

The Reds had asked for a round table meeting, with five-nations—Russia, India, Pakistan, Thailand, Burma—sitting in as neutrals.

The latest Red note as broadcast by Peiping capped a long exchange of messages between the Allies and the Communists on the conference.

The Korean armistice terms set Oct. 28 as a deadline for the conference to begin.

Brothers Identify Mystery Girl; Police Trace Car

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A 24-year-old army officer, father of two children, was jailed today on a charge of murdering a girl and dumping her body in a ditch near Iroquois last Thursday. The suspect, 2nd Lieut. Peter Ernest Robin Balcombe of London, was picked up at his wife's parents' home a few miles northwest of here late Sunday by provincial police. His car was seized. Balcombe, a slim man with crew-cut black hair, was formally charged with the slaying this morning. He was wearing a white T-shirt and army trousers when taken to jail.

The slain girl, Marie Anne Carrier, a nearly-six-foot member of the Canadian Army Women's Auxiliary Corps, was found nude and stabbed five times in a ditch near Iorquois, about 30 miles east of Brockville.

WEAPON NOT FOUND

She had been stabbed once through the left eye, twice in the chest and twice in the stomach. Police said any one of the wounds would have caused death. The murder weapon has not yet been found but police believe the killer used a paring knife.

Balcombe was held at provincial police headquarters here until the arrival early today of Inspector Thomas R. Wright of the OPP criminal investigation branch from Cornwall.

He was then taken to city police headquarters and Insp. Wright announced the charge had been laid.

Identity of the girl was a mystery until Sunday when she was identified by three of her brothers at a funeral home in Morrisburg. Miss Carrier left her home Oct. 14 for an army parade drill.

HAD BEEN TRANSFERRED

Police said Balcombe, in the army since 1951, had been transferred to Valcartier from Wainwright, Alta.

Police did not say how long they had been seeking Balcombe. He was arrested in suburban Komoka a few hours after the girl was identified.

Asked when Balcombe would be taken to Cornwall, Insp. Wright said "very soon."

Insp. Wright was accompanied by District Inspector John Reevely of Cornwall. Inspector Alex MacLeod of the criminal investigation branch arrived at provincial police headquarters here Sunday.

The body was scheduled to be taken today to the Carrier home at Bienville, a small village on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river opposite Quebec City.

SAW NEWSPAPER PHOTO

The Carrier brothers—Raoul, Eugene and George—saw a newspaper photograph of the dead girl and decided she was their sister, missing since Wednesday night when she set out for the regular drill of the Quebec City reserve unit of the Canadian Women's Army Corps in which she was a sergeant.

They viewed the body and told police it was that of their sister, one of a family of 16 children.

Later, one of the brothers was quoted in Quebec as saying the BROTHERS IDENTIFY

Medical Record Check Led To Identification

CORNWALL (CP)—An army officer's check of medical records led to the identification of murder victim Anne Carrier.

Police said today that Lieut. Col. J. Gordon Ross of Quebec City started the investigation into the reserve army sergeant's disappearance when she missed a parade drill last Wednesday. The 22-year-old Bienville, Que., girl, was found stabbed to death the next morning at Iroquois, near here.

Crown Attorney R. P. Milligan of Cornwall said Col. Ross gave the tip that led to Miss Carrier's identification.

He said the officer called the girl's family when she didn't answer the roll call. Two days later he read a description of the murder victim, noticed a similarity to Miss Carrier and checked her army records.

The medical record showed the girl had a depressed chest as a result of an operation. This tallied with the Cornwall description. Army and police dental records also tallied.

Col. Ross phoned the girl's three brothers and drove them nearly 200 miles to Cornwall where they identified the body.

Big Three Invite Russians To Conference On Security

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers have invited Russia to meet with them next month to discuss Germany, Austria and European security. Winding up a three-day conference Sunday night they also took dramatic steps to deal with all other major tensions threatening the world. The three—Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden, U.S. State Secretary Dulles and French Foreign Minister Bidault—also invited Italy and Yugoslavia to a five-nation meeting on the Balkan powder keg issue of Trieste. During this intensive meeting they also discussed Korea, the possibility of a later meeting of the Western chiefs of state with Soviet Premier Malenkov, the turbulent Middle East questions with emphasis on the latest Israeli-Jordan border flare-up and France's seven-year war against the Reds in Indo-China.

NEW KOREA PLAN

The three were reported also to have agreed secretly on a new Korean peace conference plan aimed at ending the present deadlock over its make-up.

There was no official confirmation of this report by a diplomatic informant that the three had agreed on a compromise proposal calling for a seven-nation roundtable peace conference including Britain, the United States, the Soviet Union, France, Red China, and North and South Korea. The informant indicated this was aimed at countering Communist demands for the inclusion of a number of neutral nations.

There also was an unconfirmed report that Prime Minister Churchill had sounded out Dulles and Bidault on how the American and French governments would feel if he should seek a meeting alone with Soviet Premier Malenkov.

HAPPY ABOUT CONFERENCE

At the end of the meetings, Dulles took a plane Sunday night for the United States and Bidault flew back to Paris. Before leaving Dulles said he was "very happy about the conference as a whole."

Bidault did not sound so enthusiastic, but said he thought the BIG THREE

Lebanon Asks Big 3 Why Meeting Called

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) Lebanon demanded today that the Big Three Western powers spell out in precise terms just why they have summoned an urgent Security Council meeting on Palestine.

Chief Lebanese delegate Charles Malik told the council he didn't want to agree to a meeting on the "Palestine question" without a specific reason.

Britain, France and the United States asked for the meeting because, they said outside the council, Israeli-Jordan border killings threatened Middle East peace.

However, they wanted today's meeting merely to invite the UN's chief observer in the area to come here to report without putting the council in the position of appearing to condemn one side or the other in advance.

VISHINSKY BACKS LEBANON

Russia's Andrei Vishinsky jumped into the battle on Lebanon's side and asked "Why should we play blind man's bluff and not say what is to be debated?"

It is the usual council custom to put items on the agenda under an innocuous label. Interested parties almost invariably fight to have the appearance of tagging their opponents aggressors or international criminals.

The three nations called for the UN action after sharply denouncing an Israeli attack last Wednesday on the Jordan border village of Kibya. The Jordan government charged the entire village was wiped out, with 66 Arabs killed and nine wounded.

Israel prepared her own appeal for UN action. She seeks an inquiry into all border incidents and violations of the 1949 Israel-Arab armistice agreements.

HEAR DANE'S VIEWS

Today's council session was called primarily to replace the Arab-Jewish dispute on the body's agenda and to invite Gen Vagn Bennike, Danish head of the UN truce observation team in the Middle East trouble spot, to make a personal report. This had been suggested by the Big Three.

A full-blown debate was looked for later this week.

Israeli officials did not deny the Kibya attack. However, Israel's UN delegation issued a statement Sunday night saying the incident was "a regrettable culmination of a long series of events marked by a tragic and intolerable loss of Jewish life" under armed attacks from Jordan.

Since 1950, the Israeli statement said, the Jews had suffered 421 killed and wounded, 128 cases of sabotage, 866 cases of armed attacks and 3,263 cases of robbery.

Hold Hemline Dior Decides

NEW YORK (AP) — Christian Dior's higher hemline has gone up just about as far as it should go, he said today.

"When it starts to show the knees it becomes ugly."

The Parisian designer said he doesn't believe in "exaggeration" of his shorter skirts. His new skirt length is about 14½ inches from the floor—"a little above the calf—not so short as some people think."

Arriving here aboard the French liner Liberte, Dior indicated his new skirts filled a "need for something exciting."

"Of course, when you have good legs you want to show them," he said, adding the clincher that he thought, too, men wanted to see "more of women's calves."

Bears Invade Park Cottages

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto owners of cottages in Algonquin Park are asking the Ontario lands and forests department for action against bears which have damaged their properties during recent weeks while searching for food.

The bears have left cottages with doors and windows broken, stoves, refrigerators and furniture turned over, floors covered with a mixture of ashes, flour, syrup and fruit juice, and holes torn in walls.

All but six of some 40 cottages on Cache lake have been damaged by the animals.

Steward Braves Flames To Help Passengers Escape

NEW YORK (AP)—An airline steward braved flames to open an emergency door and save a number of lives early today in a plane crash that killed two passengers. At least 14 of the 27 persons aboard the Eastern Airlines Constellation suffered burns or injuries as it crashed only moments after taking off from Idlewild airport at 12:56 a.m. EST for Puerto Rico.

The dead were identified as George Fisher, a Hartford, Conn., insurance man on a business trip, and Dr. Juan Boyondos, whose address was not immediately available.

STEWARD LED SURVIVORS

Survivors lavished praise on Albert Folli, 29, of Clinton, N. J., the steward and said his alert action saved their lives.

One said Folli "just leaped through the flames and opened the door" to lead trapped passengers to safety.

Folli was taken to a hospital with burns about the face and hands.

Another flight attendant, Ann Krause, 33, was slightly injured.

NO STATEMENT

The airline said it would issue no statement on the cause of the accident until the civil aeronautics board conducted an inquiry.

Player's Leg Is Amputated

PAISLEY, Scotland (CP)—Angus (Gus) Galbraith of South Porcupine, Ont., today had his left leg amputated above the knee following a thigh bone fracture he suffered playing for Paisley Pirates of the Scottish Hockey League.

His 18-year-old wife and his mother, Mrs. T. Galbraith who arrived Saturday, were at his side. The 21-year-old ex-junior, in his first season of overseas hockey, was reported "fairly comfortable."

Galbraith suffered the fracture Oct. 2 in what onlookers termed a "one in a million" accident in a collision at mid-ice. Final decision to amputate was delayed as long as possible in the hope that the limb might respond to treatment.

Mrs. Galbraith's air passage to her native Scotland was paid in part by a fund started by the Paisley team. Her stay will also be financed by the fund. Galbraith was married just before leaving South Porcupine, where he played junior hockey last year.

Notify Israel Aid To Stop

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has notified Israel it will withhold American financial aid until the Israeli government stops trying to divert waters of the Jordan river along the Syrian border.

Informed officials who reported this today said the state department regards Israel's Jordan river project as a violation of United Nations armistice in the Israeli-Arab war.

The notice of intent to suspend American grant aid was given about two weeks ago. The Israeli government apparently is ignoring American protests. Latest reports indicate the work force on the project has been almost doubled and floodlights have been brought up to permit night work.

The U.S. gave Israel about $65,000,000 in economic aid last year as part of a comprehensive plan to better living conditions in the Middle East.

Congress provided a total of $225,000,000 for the Middle East region in this year's foreign aid bill.

Jet Pilot Dies In Crash

MONTREAL (CP) — An RCAF Vampire jet, airborne 15 minutes on a routine training flight out of nearby St. Hubert airport, overshot the runway Saturday at north-end Cartierville airport and burst into flames, killing its pilot.

The pilot was identified as FO. Gilles Trudeau, 25, son of a Napierville, Que., widow. He was attached to 438 City of Montreal squadron.

The plane overshot the field and overturned after bouncing across a small ditch. It burst into flames.

Police Mount Guard On Dead Girl's Home

BIENVILLE, Que. (CP) — Provincial police mounted guard Sunday night at the home of Sgt. Marie-Anne Carrier, 22, whose nude and stabbed body was found four days ago in a ditch at Iroquois, Ont.

Brothers of the young woman called on police to keep newspaper men and photographers away from their home in this shipbuilding town on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river, opposite Quebec City.

Ex-Guiana Premier Leaves For London

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (Reuters)—Dr. Cheddi Jagan, leader of the Peoples Progressive party and premier of British Giana until his leftist administration was ousted by the British government, left here today by air for London.

He was accompanied by L. F. S. Burnham, education minister in his ousted government.

They are going to London to argue against Britain's decision to suspend the colony's constitution and to remove the PPP from office. Britain said it took action to prevent a Communist coup.

Jagan and Burnham left the colony shortly after the arrival here of Henry Hopkinson, British minister of state for colonial affairs. He is expected to spend four days here.

Compulsory Training Not Needed In Canada

WINNIPEG (CP)—Brig. D. R. Agnew said during the week-end that "compulsory military training for Canada's youth is not necessary."

The commandant of the Royal Military College, Kingston, was in Winnipeg for Saturday's exhibition football game in which RMC lost 13-6 to Weston Wildcats, a Manitoba junior club.

Brig. Agnew said the only good soldier is a first-rate soldier, and these "do not come from the ranks of those who are forced into uniform. A modern army has no place for a superfluous second-rate man.

"However, the safeguard of the nation is the responsibility of all citizens. If the youth of today are properly taught their duties and responsibilities, the occasion of conscription need not arise."

Runaway Roller Coaster Gives Passengers Wild Ride

DALLAS (AP) — A runaway roller coaster whizzing an estimated 40 miles an hour smacked into another being loaded at the state fair Sunday night. The impact sent hurt and terrified passengers in the second coaster on a 25-cent nightmare round trip that could not be stopped.

Six persons were injured, none critically.

The second car was knocked about 20 feet—far enough to be hooked by automatic cables that sent it climbing relentlessly up the first steep grade.

Screams filtered down to crowds milling in the busy midway.

The roller coasters do not have drivers. Cables raise them up grades and let go as they whistle down the other side. Attendants stop the cars by pulling levers, which clamp keels against the the rails.

Unable to stop it, attendants watched the silver "thrill wagon" complete the three-minute trip around the scaffold-borne track. They braked it to a stop at the loading shed.

Police sidetracked both damaged cars. After a third car was sent on several test runs, people lined up again at the ticket window.

Purchase 10 Acres For New GE Plant

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian General Electric Company today announced purchase of 10 acres of land in suburban Etobicoke township for a proposed new Carboloy cemented carbides plant.

Carboloy is the trade name of GE's created metal which is reported second only to diamonds in hardness.

Plans call for construction of a one-storey building with floor area in excess of 40,000 square feet.

500 People An Hour Visit Air Memorial

RUNNYMEDE, England (CP)—At the rate of 500 an hour, mourners and visitors continued today to pass through the white stone Commonwealth air memorial unveiled Saturday by the Queen. An estimated 20,000 passed through Sunday.

Many carried wreaths which they had been unable to place within the memorial earlier.

An estimated 10,000 bunches of garden blooms lie within the open square of the cloistered memorial to 20,455 Commonwealth men and women who died over Europe and lie in unnamed graves. More than 3,000 Canadians are remembered there.

Among those returning Sunday was Mrs. Howard Fleming of Owen Sound, Ont., one of several hundred Canadians who attended the ceremony. Mrs. Fleming came by sea for the unveiling.

"I brought seven wreaths," she said. "One in memory of my son and six others on behalf of parents who could not attend."

Pickets Allow 75 Workers Enter Plant Unmolested

HAMILTON (CP) — About 75 workers of the Wallace Barnes spring plant entered company gates unmolested today.

There were four pickets at each gate of the plant, hit by a strike since June 24. The strikers, members of the leftist-led United Electrical Workers (Ind.), shouted "scabs" at the returning workers as they passed into the plant in cars.

An injunction issued Friday limits its pickets to four at a gate.

IN SHARP CONTRAST

The peaceful entry today was in sharp contrast to outbreaks of violence last week which resulted in 23 strikers being arrested on charges of assault, obstructing police and creating a disturbance. A back-to-work movement began Wednesday among the firm's 275 employees.

Those charged in scuffles last week have been remanded to Wednesday on $200 bail each.

GLASS PANEL SMASHED

Police said a stone was thrown at a large glass panel in the main door of the office during the week-end, shattering the glass.

Employees struck in June over dissatisfaction with a conciliation board report recommending a five-cent-an-hour wage boost, a work week of 40 hours by cutting rest-time periods and extra pay for employees operating two machines each.

Strikers want a 15-cent boost, the 40-hour week with no cut in rest periods and assurance that a worker won't have to operate two machines.

Going Wrong Way On Dual-Lane Road

PICKERING, Ont. (CP)—Charles Homer, 28, of Buffalo, N. Y., was arrested Sunday after a 90-mile-an-hour chase along the wrong lane of a new dual-lane highway near here.

Police said they chased the car after it forced their cruiser to the side of the highway. They said other cars were forced on to the boulevard and into the ditch by Homer.

Two Subway Mishaps Snarl N.Y. Traffic

NEW YORK (AP) — Two subway mishaps snarled New York's underground traffic during the morning rush hour today. No injuries were reported.

The last car of a 10-car train southbound from the Bronx came uncoupled and tied up traffic for about 20 minutes.

An express with 1,500 passengers aboard was derailed in lower Manhattan 25 minutes later.

Most Of U.S. Suffering From Drought

CHICAGO (AP)—A dry blanket of drought now covers most of the United States.

It neared many large cattle and crop areas earlier in the year. A long spell of warm, sunny weather has caused it to spread to other sections like wind-borne dust.

An Associated Press survey shows that lack of normal rainfall has affected most states from New York to California.

Wells have dried up, and new ones are being sunk in hope and haste.

Parched pastures and shrivelled vegetable crops have resulted in losses calculated in millions of dollars.

MANY FOREST FIRES

There have been scores of forest and grass fires—none, so far, of disastrous scope.

Many farmers are hauling water, and some towns have restricted its use to stretch out dwindling supplies.

Missouri is experiencing the worst drought in its history. It is one of the worst ever suffered by West Virginia. The district around New York City is in the midst of its most severe fall drought since 1949.

The water supply at El Dorado, Kan., is so low that a dozen business houses are drilling their own wells—but not all of them are finding water.

DEER DYING

Forest fires have razed more than 1,800 acres in Rockland county, north of New York City on the Hudson. Forest ranger Fred Jillson said deer are dying because of lack of food and water.

In Texas, one of the early drought states, the cotton harvest is going on apace but fall planting is hampered. Recently planted wheat in north Texas is deteriorating rapidly.

Steward Braves

A steward who plunged through flames to open a fuselage door after the passengers were trapped inside the plane was credited with keeping the toll from going higher.

The crash, first to cause fatalities since the giant 4,900-acre field was opened in 1948, touched off an investigation by Queens county authorities.

FOG DELAYED FLIGHT

Survivors said the flight originally was scheduled to take off for San Juan, Puerto Rico, at 11:45 p. m. At that time, however, the airport, 14 miles east of midtown New York, was blanketed by fog.

The take-off came after a delay of more than an hour. The plane was only about 20 feet above the runway when it shuddered and plunged through a grassy marsh about one-half mile from Jamaica bay.

"It did not hit the ground very hard," said Reinaldo Betancourt, 38, one of the survivors. "But then one of the motors on the right burst into flames."

"Flames were shooting upward and the doorway was just a mass of flames," said Leo Gore, 33, another of the passengers who was trapped inside the fuselage.

Pilot E. C. Foxworth of Summit, N.J., said he and co-pilot E. M. Engel of Great Neck, N.Y., "suddenly found ourselves on the ground."

ENGINE BLOWS UP

"We walked back through the ship, saw no passengers . . . and then walked back to the cockpit and went out the flight door," said Foxworth. Minutes later, he said, the right engine blew up.

The plane burned fiercely as emergency squads from the airport and nearby hospitals fought to clear thewreckage.

Twenty-two persons were taken to hospitals. Their conditions were not immediately known.

The plane, valued at approximately $1,250,000, was destroyed.

Brothers Identify

motive for the killing was jealousy.

Rev. J. Lessard, the girl's parish priest, described her as a serious girl with a good reputation. He said he could suggest no reason for the slaying.

The daughter of Mrs. Arthur Carrier, a widow, lived in a chocolate brown two-storey house. The home's shades were pulled Sunday night and brothers and sisters of the dead girl refused to see reporters or to provide recent photographs.

WAS NOT IN UNIFORM

One army official said the girl was not in uniform when she left her home.

Earlier a Brockville woman said she was able to identify the slain girl but police said subsequently it was a case of mistaken identity. Inspector George Runciman of the Brockville police said Saturday that the woman, who wished to remain anonymous, told him she knew the girl from a photograph. But the woman was unable to identify the dead girl when she was brought to look at the body.

Police were baffled for four days, unable to identify the girl's body. She was stripped of all clothing and was wearing only a cheap ring on her engagement finger.

20-INCH GASH

The knife thrusts were made after her clothing was removed, police believe. Nothing was found near the body except two bits of black velvet which may have been used in an attempt to strangle her. There was a 20-inch gash on her body, indicating an attempt at mutilation.

Police said they were checking reports that Miss Carrier had been dated by Balcombe, a platoon commander in Able Company of the 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion. They said the girl did not know until recently that Balcombe was married.

Balcombe, father of two children—one eight weeks and the other 3½ years—was arrested as he was about to sit down to supper with his wife and family.

He joined the army last spring, accepting a short-term five-year commission June 12. He had been attending a pre-medical course at the University of Western Ontario last year, where he had been an officer cadet in the reserve army.

He was on a weekend pass when picked up. His wife is the former Jose Marie Gray of London, Ont.

Say Policeman Too Nervous To BeQuestioned

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An inquiry into police reports on the Bobby Greenlease kidnapping opened here today but the policeman credited with solving the case was reported to be too nervous to undergo questioning now.

The St. Louis police board ordered the investigation following published reports that discrepancies had been found in the police account by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, searching for the missing $300,000 of the $600,000 paid in ransom by the six-year-old boy's wealthy father, Robert C. Greenlease of Kansas City.

Police chief Jeremiah O'Connell, conducting the inquiry, said police Lieut. Louis Shoulders would not be questioned at this time because of a nervous condition. Shoulders was credited with solving the case.

SAYS HEALTH MENACED

O'Connell said Shoulders' physician told him that the police officer needed rest as a result of his work and that his health might be affected by questioning now.

All police who had a part in the arrest of Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, confessed kidnap-slayers, are to be questioned in the closed hearing.

First to be questioned was patrolman Elmer Dolan, who was with Shoulders when Hall was arrested the night of Oct. 6 following a tip-off by a taxi cab driver. Dolan was to be followed by four special officers, who helped pick up Mrs. Heady.

The FBI has refused to comment on reports that it questioned Shoulders and Dolan. But Joseph E. Thornton, FBI agent in charge here, was at the police board meeting Sunday night when it was decided to press the inquiry.

INTENSITY PROBE

I. A. Long, board president, said Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell was asked to "intensify and broaden the police investigation of the case" following a special meeting of the commissioners.

O'Connell said the probe would include police questioning of Shoulders and Dolan although the commissioners said "we have no reason to believe any police officers connected with the case have not given us all the information they have."

The Post-Dispatch has reported it learned FBI agents had found a number of discrepancies in the police account of Hall's arrest and recovery of about $293,000 in ransom money from him.

The newspaper said police records showed Hall was brought to a district police station following his arrest with two suitcases filled with money, but that the FBI had determined no suitcases were brought with Hall to the station. The newspaper said "more than an hour elapsed" after Hall was booked before the suitcases were brought in.

However, Shoulders said "the bags with the money were delivered to the station at the same time as the prisoners."

Shoulders said that after Hall was booked he (Shoulders) took the two suitcases to a small room at the station and locked the door.

"I can prove," he said, "that the money I found in Hall's apartment was the same money I turned over to the FBI. Where that money is will come out at the right time and when it does, I know Lou Shoulders will be in the clear. I'm not worried."

The Globe-Democrat said Sunday night Dolan told FBI agents he did not know the two suitcases found in Hall's apartment contained the ransom money until about two hours after the arrest.

The paper also reported Dolan told the FBI that Shoulders left the police station in his private car shortly after Hall was brought to the station.

Shoulders, declining to affirm or deny the report he left the station, said:

"I can account for every move I made and the handling of that money whenever I'm called upon to do so and it will be only to the proper authorities—the police board or the chief—and it will not be the newspapers or the FBI."

Most Prices Advance On Afternoon Market

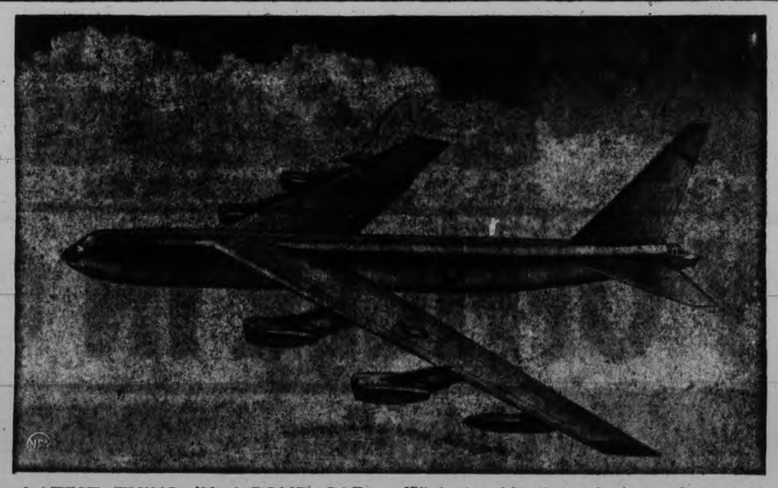
TORONTO (CP)—All prices except western oils moved slightly higher in active early afternoon stock market trading today.

Western oils made the biggest price change with their point-and-a-half drop. Losses in major producers ranged to Bailey-Selburn's 40 cents, with Federated and Pacific also down.

Industrials were slightly higher with agricultures and manufactures strong. Banks and steels were mixed.

Base metals were highest for the second session as Dominion Asbestos in the juniors and Sherritt-Gordon and Steep Rock in the seniors led the way upward.

Golds made a slight gain.



The 1 p.m. index showed industrials up .33 at 306.75, golds up .15 at 68.46, base metals up .70 at 145.20 and western oils down 1.40 at 96.14.

Ship Breaks Rudder

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Globe wireless said it has picked up a distress call from the Norwegian motorship Hordnes, roughly 100 miles northwest of Kingman reef and about 500 miles south of Honolulu. Globe said the ship reported a broken rudder and appealed for broken rudder and appealed for immediate towing help.

U.S. Dollar At Discount

MONTREAL (CP) — The U. S. dollar was at a discount of 1 13-16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds at noon today. Friday's noon rate was 98 13-32 cents. Pound sterling $2.75¾, against $2.76⅛.

LATEST THING IN A-BOMB CARRIERS—The model pictured above shows for the first time the new nose and crew compartment design that distinguishes the Boeing B-52A Stratofortress from its prototype, the B-52. The eight-jet, long-range bomber is now in production at Boeing's Seattle, Wash., and Wichita, Kan., plants for the Air Force's Strategic Air Command. While the older design had a tandem-seating arrangement, pilot and co-pilot sit side-by-side in the new plane. The B-52A boasts eight Pratt & Whitney J-57 turbojet engines mounted in four sharply forward-raked wing pods, and an auxiliary fuel tank under each wing tip. The global bomber's speed, range and other performance details have not been disclosed.

20 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The death of a pilot in the flaming crash of a Vampire jet fighter near Montreal was one of close to a score of weekend fatalities in Eastern Canada.

Ontario listed nine violent deaths, Quebec seven, and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick two apiece, a Canadian Press compilation today showed.

All those in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were on the highways. Ontario had seven traffic deaths and Quebec one.

Killed in the jet crash was FO. Gilles Trudeau, 25, of Napierville, Que., whose RCAF plane overshot Cartierville airport during an attempted landing.

TWO DEAD, SEVEN HURT

Two persons were killed Sunday when a car and truck collided three miles east of Renfrew, 50 miles west of Ottawa. Seven others were injured.

Killed were Rose Smaglinski, 18, of Wilno, Ont., and Donald MacLaurin, 4, of Renfrew.

In Toronto, Mrs. Florence Jopson, about 40, died when her car was hurled 60 feet after it crashed into a train at a level crossing. Lloyd Stewart, 20, suffered fatal injuries when his car plunged down a 15-foot embankment near Cobalt. Dr. Charles W. Ellis, 77-year-old Bradford dentist, was killed when hit by a car on Toronto's western outskirts. AC. Joseph Michael Paradis, 19, was fatally injured when his car missed a turn near Goderich.

An elderly man killed by a Toronto street car was not identified by early today.

Farmer Ernest Wright, 45, was found dead from a bullet wound on his farm 10 miles north of Dundalk, and 47-year-old Thomas Jackson was fatally injured by his shotgun while duck hunting near Chatham.

meetings had been a success and proposed the three should hold similar meetings "three or four times a year."

Western notes were handed to the Kremlin by the British, American and French envoys in Moscow proposing a Big Four foreign ministers' conference Nov. 9 at Lugano, Switzerland. The conference would try to end the deadlock over unifying Germany.

HIT ISRAELI ATTACK

During their talks, the three also had called for an urgent session of the United Nations Security Council to discuss the threat to Middle East peace posed by the attack by Israeli troops Oct. 14 on the Jordan border village of Kibya in which Jordan claims 66 persons were killed.

The 11-nation body took up the issue today.

In proposing the Big Four conference, the Allies brushed aside an earlier Soviet proposal for a Big Five conference—including Red China—to discuss world tensions.

Queen Salote Of Tonga Plans New Royal Palace

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Queen Salote of Tonga who stayed here after her visit to Britain for Queen Elizabeth's Coronation has returned to her South Pacific island kingdom with plans for a new royal palace.

The dusky six-foot queen, whose smile made her one of the most popular Coronation visitors to Britain, lives in a two-storey, wooden palace with an iron roof at Nukualofa, capital of the Tongan Islands. It was also the residence of her father, King George Tupou II.

The palace has an imposing entrance, courtyard and tower, but it has been affected by age and a modern building is planned.

A representative of the New Zealand works ministry, which designed the new palace at the Queen's request, has gone to Tonga to discuss the plans with the Tongan government. The architects were set some novel problems as they had no precedent to go on in planning a palace suited to South Pacific conditions and customs. Queen Salote is the only reigning monarch in this area.

LOYAL TONGAN

During her stay in Auckland Queen Salote acquired perhaps the most unusual odd job man to serve any sovereign. He was a heavyweight boxer who cut the Queen's lawns and chopped her firewood as workouts to keep in trim for the ring. When the young Tongan became a headliner in New Zealand, the Queen immediately sent for him.

Kitione Lave, 19, had proved the hardest-hitting boxer seen in New Zealand for years. In five fights he knocked out five leading Australian and New Zealand heavyweights, three of them in the first round.

Fearing the success would go to his head, Salote lectured him on the dangers of pride and made sure the money he was getting was in safe hands.

TAKES ON JOB

Lave in turn responded to the Tongan custom of voluntary performing for his Queen any task which needed doing. He found there was no odd job man at the Queen's Auckland residence, where she spends several months a year, so he appointed himself to the post.

Every day until the Queen left for Tonga he worked in the garden and helped with general duties about the house. He was glad of the exercise, for one of his biggest problems has been to find suitable sparring partners.

French Forces Smash War Depot

By LARRY ALLEN

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—The French high command announced tonight that French and Viet Namese forces pushing into the area south of the vital Red river delta wrecked a Vietminh war depot north of Thanh Hoa, destroying tons of war equipment.

Destruction of war depots is a primary aim of the latest French drive, launched last Thursday. The idea is to break up Vietminh plans for an offensive in the Delta area.

Troops moving on from the north and south pressed closer to Thanh Hoa, 90 miles south of Hanoi and one of the Communist-led Vietminh's biggest administrative centres for war operations in central Viet Nam.

French forces pushing south along the road were reported within 12 miles of Thanh Hoa. Those from the north were within 25 miles of their objective.

Vietminh resistance increased as the French neared Thanh Hoa. Latest reports said the Vietminh had swung its crack 320th Division into the fighting. The French command said 172 Vietminh were killed in two unsuccessful rebel counter-attacks. French losses were not given.

French fighter bombers today flew 80 sorties against Vietminh communication lines.

Complicating the situation is the presence of Vietminh troops within the delta itself. This was demonstrated in a strong attack last night against a French defence post only eight miles south of Hanoi. The attack was broken up by mobile artillery.

Gen. Rene Cogny, French commander in northern Indo-China, has said his chief aim is to track down and destroy Vietminh Divisions 304 and 320 as well as hit supply depots. Capture of Thanh Hoa is considered only a secondary aim.

Durham Boys Win 4 Classes In 4-H Contest

GUELPH— Young farmers of Durham County won half of the eight classes in 4-H provincal interclub competitions that brought 460 youths and girls from all over Ontario to this city.

The competitions were held at the Ontario Agricultural College, and every county in the province was represented with 230 two-man teams battling for honors in beef cattle, dairy, poultry, swine, grain, potatoes, forestry, and tractor operation.

The North Durham County team was tops in beef cattle, the West Durham team in swine, and the county's teams as a whole were best in potatoes and grain.

Harvey Graham and Roy McHolm were the grain team, the former from Nestleton and the latter from Port Hope. Maurice Hollowell of Orono and Kenneth Buttery of Bowmanville took the potato honors. The beef cattle team members were Lawrie Stapleton of Newtonville and Larmer Rosbear of Tyrone and the swine club members were Ralph Strong and David Swain.

The Maryboro 4-H Holstein Club of Wellington County won the dairy project competitions. The Sydenham High School 4-H Club of Frontenac County scored highest in poultry. Renfrew Collegiate 4-H Club of Renfrew County took top honors for forestry and the Norwood Club in Peterborough County was the winner in the tractor class.

Officials said the turnout of young farmers was one of the biggest in the history of the competitions in Ontario. Perfect autumn weather greeted the competitors. At a wind-up banquet in the college dining hall, C. D. Graham, deputy minister of agriculture, paid tribute to the enthusiasm of young farmers in the province and commended agricultural representatives.

"You are living in a country where the privileges for young people, especially young farmers, are such that you may find an opportunity to develop along any line you wish, and as fully as you wish," the deputy minister said. "Do not forget the responsibility that goes with these privileges. Pledge yourself to service to your family, your community and your country.

"Junior farmers are laying a firm foundation for their development as self-governing, self-reliant people," he continued. "This is good for Ontario and for Canada.

Mechanization Ousting Arctic Sled Dogs

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mechanization is usurping the historic domain of the Arctic sled dog.

Veteran mushers in northern Manitoba are turning to the husky-mobile as a more efficient and cheaper method of transport than the traditional teams of huskies.

One pair of trappers whose territory covers more than 400 miles of rugged terrain will use one of the machines on their traplines the winter. It is a small-track sled, similar to the famed snowmobile.

FOOD COSTLY

The switch is attributed to the high cost of food for the dogs, which claims too large a slice of the trapper's income.

The men are confident the sleds will operate efficiently on the hard-packed snow but are laying in plenty of spare parts and equipment. One spent a week in the Winnipeg factory where the sleds are made.

During the few weeks before freeze-up, they will widen the woodland trails around their northern cabin.

The men will miss their lead dog which, in a blizzard, could be left to find the trail by himself while the trapper turned his back on the storm, sitting in the sleigh. Now they will have to do all their own driving.

27th Coming Home

The army brass polished pretty hard to counter charges of poor morale and poor morals which were made by correspondents against the 27th Canadian Infantry Brigade at Hanover. Their responses were not entirely convincing and an indication of how the wind smells is shown by the fact that the 27th Brigade is being brought back to Canada, there probably to be broken up and the bad name buried in other camps. We have little reason to doubt that many of the soldiers in the 27th were poorly educated, poorly disciplined and poor actors among the civilians with whom they came in daily contact, and that they are leaving behind a poor reputation.

* * *

By poor discipline, from which all this may stem, we do not necessarily infer a lack of discipline. Its quality may have been of the wrong kind and its commanders the wrong men to inculcate it. We believe that the roots of the troubles were planted not during the reign of Brigadier Pangman but during the earlier tenure of Brigadier Walsh. Brigadier Walsh is a strict disciplinarian, but from reports reaching our ears by way of returned men, the discipline was neither coherent nor congruous, even to senior NCOs and officers in the Brigade.

* * *

The whole groundwork for Canadian garrison troops in Europe has not been properly laid. The concept of garrison duty abroad is foreign to Canadians, civilians and soldiers alike. There is reason to believe, from past performances and events, that the Department of National Defence itself had not made adequate adjustments to the new role which Canada is required to play. As the Calgary Herald has remarked, Canada "has been behaving for several years as if the business of sending Canadian army and RCAF units abroad had been caused by a nasty little temporary crisis which would go away in due course and relieve the Ottawa authorities of the uncomfortable necessity of making up their minds to face facts."

* * *

A change has now taken place. Ottawa has announced that a plan has been arranged with the West German government to build more than two thousand "living units"—apartments, houses—for the families of Canadian servicemen sent abroad to serve with NATO forces. The housing areas will have both schools and recreation centres, and take on the air of permanence and routine daily living which extended garrison duty implies. The British were able to garrison India successfully for many generations by proper attention to the domestic needs and inclinations of the men and officers. Canada is now permanently in the business of defence far from her own shores. Provision for families (including their transportation) should make the lot of the serving men abroad easier, steadier, and somewhat like conditions at home so that he will adjust himself to years of garrison duty without running wild in Hanover or elsewhere.

* * *

Undoubtedly lack of proper provision for families, and niggling regulations, catered to the distemper of troops of the 27th Brigade. They had NAAFI canteens, not Canadian; they had British movies, not American; they had, we are told, not even National Film Board pictures. Hanover has been a lurid town, anyway, the free world's northwestern and nearest centre for displaced persons escaping from the Communist world. It was not an environment tending towards chaste, sober and responsible actions after duty hours by men cut off from their homeland and family life.

Will The Towers Topple?

When Gustave Eiffel built his tower in Paris he said he wanted to build "the highest flagstaff in the world". It was, in 1889, and although other structures have since shot high above it elsewhere, the Eiffel Tower remains the highest "disinterested" monument in the world. It is a monument to nothing but engineering skill and the Paris Exposition of that time. It has no practical use, holds no offices. But it does capture both the Paris skyline and the imagination of the world of tourists and raises aloft the Tricolour.

We now learn that the Eiffel Tower is crooked, and getting crookeder every day. It is subject to the prevailing westerly winds and in storms the top of the tower moves. (So, incidentally, does the top of the Empire State Building in New York sway.) Experts have decided that the tower permanently deviates from the perpendicular and questions have been asked about the chances of its falling. It is not likely to topple over, not for many decades yet, because Gustave Eiffel looked far ahead when he designed the tower. It rests on four great subterranean piles which go down eighteen metres lower than the level of the Seine. If compression occurs, upsetting the tower's balance, it could be remedied by hydraulic presses put at the foot of the beams, in a sort of clamp.

It is not likely that the tower will fall because it loses its equilibrium. A much greater threat, we are told by an engineering friend, is the possibility that its steel will get physically tired. Steel is not everlasting in the amount of stress it can bear, and the steel in the Eiffel Tower is much less permanent than steels in use today, unknown in the time of Gustave Eiffel. Yet, we are told, even the best and most modern steel is not as permanent as iron, or even wood.

What, we wonder, will happen to the skyscrapers of New York, whose structure is steel, when that steel tires? One pessimist sets the life span of structural steel at no more than a century. In the year 2040 will nearly all the towers of Manhattan be levelled? Perhaps not, considering how ready the Americans and New Yorkers especially are to replace old buildings with new.

Perhaps before the end of this century even Rockefeller Centre will be considered so old-fashioned and inconvenient that it will be torn down, its site used for other buildings on what are then modern lines. We may not have to wait for the steel of Manhattan to tire before its skyscrapers disappear.

One wonders, too, what will happen to the new U.N. headquarters of steel and glass? Judging from the present political situation, even if the U.N. building's steel is good for only a century, it will last longer than U.N. But if U.N. is gone another agency than the fatigue of steel or the improving hands of wrecking architects may have razed Manhattan and U.N. headquarters. If U.N. goes, what international agency will remain to prevent the havoc of war and atomic bombs on New York?

Truth About Trieste

The Government of the Soviet Union has sought to make capital of the serious disturbance at Trieste by protesting against the Anglo-American decision which approves administration by the Italians. The Russian protest takes the attitude that Great Britain and the United States are actually partitioning the territory of Trieste, and calls upon the Security Council of the United Nations to establish an international administration for the entire territory. This request for the formation of an international administration has a semblance of justification, since it was once approved, but it ignores the basic situation that exists in the Free Territory today.

* * *

There has been no actual partitioning of the territory. The territory consists of two zones, one of which is administered by Yugoslavia. The other zone has been administered by the Americans and the British, and these two Powers are determined to relinquish their responsibility. They reached the conclusion that Italy should be placed on an even basis with Yugoslavia by turning over to Italy the zone now under Anglo-American administration. This decision, of course, is heartily disapproved by the Yugoslavs, who can point out that Italy will have a predominant advantage, the entire city and part of Trieste.

* * *

It has become increasingly evident that there is little hope of the Free Territory establishing successful neutrality. Its existence as a neutral state would at all times be precarious, with both Yugoslavia and Italy coveting the entire area. As matters stand today, it has been impossible to reach agreement on a neutral governor for the territory, against a background formed by a many-sided conflict—two nationalistic forces, an Italian urban and a Slav rural population, between a democracy and a Communist state.

* * *

To Italy must go the credit for offering the one solution that might prove equitable. It is willing to let the people of Trieste decide their future in a plebiscite. That would at least be in accord with democratic principles—so much so that it is flatly opposed by both Yugoslavia and Russia. After all, the people of Trieste are the one party concerned that has been denied expression of opinion to date.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The Federal and Quebec governments have been busy wiping the word "Dominion" off the face of Canada. Another erasure seems imminent. When the statue of Sir Wilfred Laurier was unveiled Thanksgiving Day in the famous central Montreal square called "Dominion Square", the chairman of Montreal's executive council, J. O. Asselin, asked if in time the name of Dominion Square might become Place du Canada.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

THE MUSICAL WORLD has recently sustained three losses. Apart from the fact that they were all English there is little similarity between them. Two elderly composers and one singer in the prime of life.

Roger Quilter was born in 1877. His father, Sir Cuthbert Quilter, was a typical member of the new "aristocracy of commerce", who had made his way from fairly humble beginnings and brought himself a sizable estate in East Suffolk. I have heard it said that Sir Cuthbert owed his baronetcy to his efforts on behalf of a bill designed to guarantee the purity of ale; in addition to this he is supposed to have been one of the moving spirits in the adoption of the telephone system in England.

✧ ✧ ✧

THUS young Roger grew up in an atmosphere of secure affluence. It was inevitable that he should be sent to Eton. But it must have soon become obvious that music was his chief interest. He was not attracted to the life of the conventional country gentleman or even the "man about town". He shrank from society and the shooting parties on his father's estate sickened him. There is little doubt that he found Eton uncongenial. He was never an active rebel, for he was a scrupulous observer of the conventions, but he was a sensitive soul, hating violence of any sort.

A tender bond of affection always existed between him and his mother, and to the very end of her life he went to stay with her regularly in her country home. Significantly he never married.

✧ ✧ ✧

AFTER LEAVING Eton he went to Frankfort and studied composition with Iwan Knorr. His first published compositions consisted of settings for voice and piano of songs from Shakespeare. He had started late compared with many other writers, but he found his metier from the start. These slight songs had no striking modulations, and nowadays they may strike the hearer as being a little dated, but they had a certain distinction that set them apart from the common run of drawing-room ballads that almost glutted the market in those days before radio and television swamped music-making in the home.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUILTER CARED a good deal for poetry, and in private he preened himself for his good taste. Actually he seldom ventured into the lesser-known poems, and his sympathies ended with the Tennyson period, but within these limits he found plenty to occupy his muse.

His melodies are graceful and sinuous and eminently singable. They usually match the mood and accent of the lyrics with unobtrusive felicity, though they lack force and pregnancy. His songs are always technically simple for singer and accompanist, though they demand poetic insight and sensitivity of style in a high degree from their performers.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUILTER LIVED apart from the rough-and-tumble of the world of professional musicians. Possessing adequate private means he was able to devote all his time to composition, and he never had to undertake an official position as teacher, conductor or performer. Thus he could and did shut himself in his own "ivory tower". I cannot say whether he would have been a better composer if he had been poorer, or whether he might have been numbered with those of whom the poet speaks when he says:

"Chill Penury repress'd their noble Rage,
And froze the genial Current of the Soul".

In addition to his songs Quilter wrote a number of works for the stage, light operas, incidental music and so on. He also wrote some slight orchestral pieces. He was always very fond of children, and his Children's Overture (founded on nursery rhymes) and his incidental music to "Where the Rainbow Ends" are abiding monuments to this trait of a man who never had children of his own. Now his gentle soul is at peace, and many who enjoyed the privilege of his friendship and sympathy will be saddened.

ARNOLD BAX, who also died the other day, was, in his own words, "a brazen romantic—by which I mean that my music is the expression of emotional states. I have no interest whatever in sound for its own sake or in any modernist 'isms or factions". With these words he cut himself off sharply not only from his more advanced contemporaries but also from the impressionism of Debussy, though it is obvious that his music was considerably influenced in technique by the French master.

Like Quilter, Bax possessed private means, and never had to take a "bread-and-butter job". In 1942 he was appointed Master of the King's Musick. This post, whatever it may have been in the past, has for some time carried with it no official duties save those that the holder of the office may himself think good to perform. Elgar, for instance, took it upon himself to trace the instruments of the old "King's Band" and recover them from various persons who had been "minding" them ever since this body was disbanded by Edward VII. Bax, however, contented himself with one or two slight compositions of a ceremonial nature—chips from his workshop.

✧ ✧ ✧

HE WAS an immensely prolific composer. In this respect it must be noted that modern scores are much more complex than those of the eighteenth century, at any rate on paper. Phrasing and nuances are indicated with great precision, whereas Handel gave only the sketchiest indications, and much of the essential harmony was indicated in the peculiar form of musical shorthand known as figured bass which leaves a great deal of latitude to the individual performer. Were it not for this it would have been physically impossible for Handel to have written "Messiah" in the six weeks that he actually took. Hence the modern composer produces less music in terms of "playing time", but he uses as much ink as his forerunners. Thus Haydn was able to write 104 symphonies, Mozart over 54 (not to mention 19 operas), while Beethoven, who lived later, wrote only 9. Brahms managed 4 during a longish life. Seen in this perspective Bax's seven symphonies established him as an exceptionally prolific writer.

His late Romantic vein has never been fashionable in his own day, and his fondness for the "Celtic twilight" comes strangely from one of impeccable Anglo-Saxon parentage. Perhaps Bax has not yet come into his own. There are precedents: Bach and Handel were both considered "old hat" in their day, while their "ultra-modern" contemporaries such as Hasse are known now only to erudite musicologists. Who knows?

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FAME of a performer is bound to be more fleeting than that of a composer, yet the name Kathleen Ferrier is worthy of memory as that of a consummate artist with a voice among millions. Her untimely death has sorrowed many who listened to her matchless artistry that concealed art. Fortunately for us her voice is preserved in a handful of splendid recordings. She had not only a magnificent vocal equipment and exceptional musicianship; in addition her singing revealed an expansive character and a greatness of soul which went far further and deeper than the tricks of the trade which we usually associated with that misused word, personality. When shall we again hear her like?

Canada–Gold Coast Aluminum

By J. HALCRO FERGUSON

THE ten members of the Gold Coast mission who went to Canada to inspect aluminium and hydro-electric plants have reached London on their way home, in an optimistic frame of mind.

The mission has been exploring the possibilities of implementing a propect to harness the waters of the Volta River, and with this power to produce aluminium from the Gold Coast's bauxite deposits. Headed by Mr. K. A. Gbedemah, Minister of Commerce and Industry, the mission included the Minister of Education, Mr. Kojo Botsio, together with a member of the Parliamentary Opposition, a barrister, a university lecturer, the chairman of the Cocoa Marketing Board, a Press Officer, the Senior Assistant Secretary of the Ministry of Development, and the personal assistant to Dr. Kwame Kkrumah, the Prime Minister.

Four of its members are also on the Gold Coast National Committee on the Volta Project, a body set up to study the social and economic impact of such a large project (it might employ from fifteen to twenty thousand people) on a primarily agricultural pop-

At a press conference held in London recently, Mr. Gbedemah said that as a result of consultations held in London in May last year and in Accra (the Gold Coast capital) the following month, a Preparatory Commission had been set up, consisting of representatives of the British and Gold Coast Governments and of the aluminium companies. After the resulting White Paper had beeen discussed in the Gold Coast Assembly, it was agreed unanimously to set up a committee to advise the Government, and, after two meetings, this committee had decided to travel as a mission to Canada and Britain to study the production of aluminium at first-hand.

IN CANADA the mission had seen hydro-electric plants, dams and power houses, including a generating station being built at Niagara Falls, as well as studying workers' housing and other amenities. In Britain they had visited, among other things, a rolling mill in Falkirk, Scotland.

Three hundred and forty thousand pounds have already been voted for the work of the Preparatory Commission, and there will be no further expenditure until the reports of the Commission and the National Committee have been passed by the Gold Coast Assembly and Britain's Parliament. Britain has provisionally undertaken to lend a sum equivalent to eighty-six per cent. of the cost of the power project. The cost of the entire scheme is estimated at 144 million pounds, of which twenty-six millions would be spent on a new deep-water port (which it is proposed to proceed with whether the main scheme goes through or not) and thirty-four million on a smelter.

In reply to questions, Mr. Gbedemah said it had already been found that the scheme was feasible in principle, but that it was the National Committee's job to find out its social political and economic implications. Mechanisation might mean a smaller labour force, which would reduce some of the repercussions in this respect. Asked if other industries would be able to use Volta-generated power, another member of the mission replied that there would probably be no surplus of electricity for twenty-five years. Questioned on quality of Gold Coast bauxite, Mr. Gbedemah replied that the Canadian Aluminium Company had declared it to be "as good as any". Amid laughter he added "That probably means it is better."

Man's Ingratitude

(Edmonton Journal)

A despatch from Germany suggests that modern man is falling off badly as compared with the ancients, in his treatment of his feathered friends.

About 2,400 years ago, according to tradition, Rome was saved from a barbarian horde by the cackling of a flock of geese. The barbarians were quietly scaling the walls while the sentinels slept. The geese, however, were on the job, and raised such a commotion that the citizens were roused in time and repulsed the invaders. After this, the Romans considered nothing too good for the geese. They were declared sacred.

A melancholy contrast to this tale is provided by the behaviour of the citizens of the German city of Freiburg, whose lives were saved in a somewhat similar fashion during the war. When allied bombers approached the town on a sneak raid, a flock of ducks kept in a park raised such a quacking that the people were awakened and got to the shelters in time. Nevertheless, when complaints were raised recently that the birds were too noisy, a court ordered most of them killed and the rest shut up in a duck house. Some of the callous and ungrateful townsfolk are even reported to have had the faithful sentinels for Sunday dinner.

This is a most un-Roman procedure. The Freiburgers have no one but themselves to blame if they are surprised by barbarians some dark night.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God . . . Behold, my servant shall deal prudently, he shall be exalted and extolled, and be very high. (Isa. 52: 10,13.)

Who hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? For he shall grow up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground . . .

He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and we hid as it were our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not. Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows: yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. (Isa. 53: 1, 2, 3-5).

Letters To The Editor

WAS PIPER IN THE CHAIR?

Sir: Each week I look forward with interest to Peter Piper's musical notes and consider them one of the finest columns in your newspaper. The wide scope of his remarks and the obvious depth of his musicianship are very much appreciated.

How is it that Peter Piper seems to have such intimate knowledge of the early life of Benjamin Britten? In last week's column he quotes how "patients were often able to distract themselves while listening to the youthful Benjamin ploughing his way through Beethoven's sonatas in the room above the waiting room." Is he here drawing on his fertile imagination or is this actually based on fact? Perhaps this reference may be followed up later by a fuller explanation. At any rate, thanks to Peter for his entertaining and instructive remarks which help very much to keep us abreast with all things musical.

Sincerely yours
A. T. C. M.

DON'T HASTEN FLUORINE

Sir: In tonight's Examiner I read that Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH, asked the board of directors of the Dept. of Health that he be given more time to study the reports on the fluoridation of water before steps are taken to put fluorine into the city's water supply.

I hope and pray that Dr. Wells will make a thorough investigation before making his decision.

Several months ago there appeared in "New Liberty", an article which said in no uncertain terms, that any city putting fluorine in their water was thinking more about improving the condition of the citizens' teeth than about their future health. It went on to say, among many other frightening things, that the effects of fluorine are not known because it has not been in use for enough years to enable science to come to a definite decision. However, they do know it is a deadly poison, even in the very smallest amounts, and has been known to cause disease of the bones, also to hasten death where other diseases were present.

Will the citizens of Peterborough be given a chance to vote on such an issue? I sincerely hope that Peterborough will not rush into such a thing, as the article in "New Liberty" said—many cities in the U.S.A. and a few in Canada were buying "death" wholesale without bothering to investigate. Let's wait a while and bide our time, especially for the sake of our children who will undoubtedly be the ones to suffer most.

Dentists Urge Fluoridation Of Water Supply

MONTREAL (CP) — The Canadian Dental Association at its annual meeting Saturday passed a resolution fully endorsing the fluoridation of communal water supplies.

The resolution said the association "recommends to the people of Canada that communities having a public water supply adopt a procedure for water fluoridation best suited to their local needs, and for this purpose seek competent dental, medical and engineering advice."

The resolution said tooth decay affects the vast majority of people in Canada and has come to be recognized as "one of the major health problems of our time."

It added:

"Many thousands of Canadians and millions of people elsewhere have consumed during their total lifetimes water fluoridated to approximately one part of fluoride to 1,000,000 parts of water from underground deposits, and have thereby benefited by a reduction of about two-thirds in the attack rate of tooth decay without any ill effects discoverable by either the dental or medical professions. . . ."

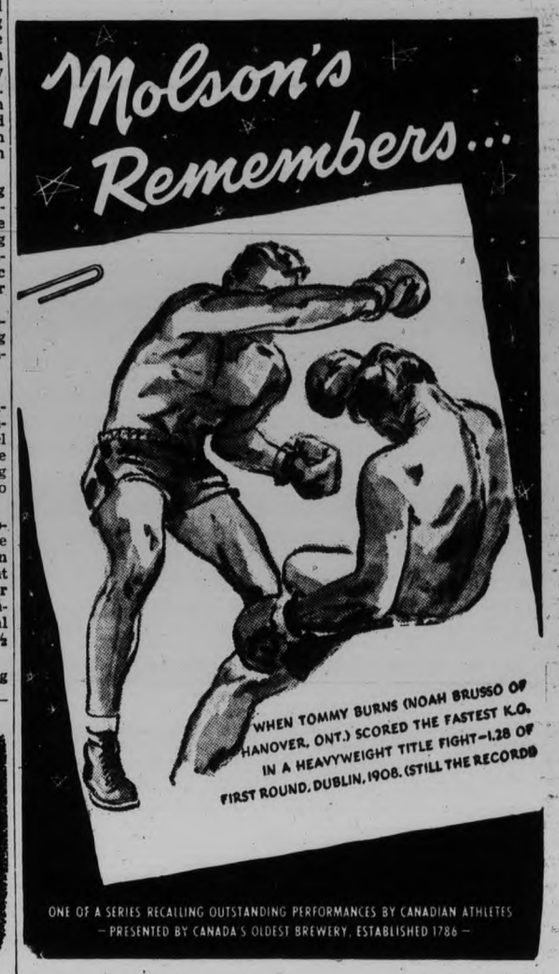
New Plastic Material May Solve Storage Problem

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new plastic material—whose basic element is natural gas—may help western farmers solve their emergency storage problem.

With normal storage jammed and another bumper crop coming off the fields, many farmers are forced to store grain outdoors in circular bins of plywood or snow fence, lined with building paper. In a normal storage period from October to June a farmer could lose close to 30 bushels (worth about $60) from a 700-bushel bin due to frost and water.

Archie Speers, an engineering graduate of the University of Manitoba, has been working with one of Canada's major manufacturing firms (Canadian Industries Limited) to develop a cheap, plastic cover for such bins to cut weather losses to a minimum.



The material (polythene) is produced from natural gas at a big plant on the outskirts of Edmonton.

SUCCESSFUL TEST

In tests conducted by the company last winter at Anerley, in interior Saskatchewan, a 1,300-bushel plywood bin was covered with the gaily-colored plastic. The covering was in place from November to June. There was no damage.

A Winnipeg firm (Speers Petrochemicals Limited) is putting the covers into commercial production for this year's crop. The light plastic, similar to that used for grocery bags and other containers, is fabricated by a heat-seal process and sells for about 7½ cents a square foot.

The material is reasonably strong and will withstand the weight of snow. It is susceptible to heat and, unless protected by added ingredients, will crack in hot summer sunlight. Its normal life is one season. Temperatures as low as 60 degrees below zero do not affect it.

Move In British House To Abandon National Theatre

LONDON (Reuters)—In an open space beside the Thames river in central London lies a foundation stone with the inscription: "To the living memory of William Shakespeare. . . . This foundation stone for the national theatre was laid on July 13, 1951, by Her Majesty The Queen."

Around the stone have risen nothing but a garden, and one of the hottest debates ever prompted by an act of Parliament.

For a century there has been clamor for a national theatre, dedicated to Shakespeare, which would be a permanent home for the best British theatre can offer.

The theatrical world cheered in 1949 when Parliament passed the National Theatre Act, empowering the government to contribute up to £1,000,000 ($2,800,000) to the construction of the theatre.

But now a movement has started in the House of Commons to amend the 1949 act, abandoning the idea of a national theatre entirely and using the money instead partly to improve the Old Vic Theatre and partly in grants to needy repertory companies and civic theatres throughout the country.

CONSIDERABLE BACKING

A motion to this effect is being prepared by three Labor and three Conservative members of Parliament. It is believed to have considerable backing in the House. The leader of the move, Barrett Stross, Labor, says the projected national theatre is a white elephant.

The motion's supporters say:

1. The Old Vic, only a few hundred yards away from the proposed national theatre, is Britain's national theatre in all but name. The proximity of the two theatres probably would work to the detriment of both.

2. The allocated £1,000,000 wouldn't go more than half way toward building a new theatre at current costs.

3. London has too many theatres already.

Partisans of the national theatre have struck back in the columns of newspapers and magazines.

TOO MUCH BUREAUCRACY

Actor Donald Wolfit said: "We of this generation will break our hearts for want of a proper home, whilst this endless bureaucratic procrastination bedevils the whole issue."

Michael Redgrave said the Old Vic would have to be almost completely rebuilt to make renovations worthwhile, and even then it would be "quite unworthy of a medium-sized German stadttheatre, let alone England's national theatre."

Believe Aluminum Root Of Recent Guiana Uproar

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—Was aluminum a factor in Britain's recent action ousting the colonial government here, which London charged was trying to set up a Communist state?

A great many here think the answer is "yes." Furthermore, they insist President Eisenhower probably supported—if he did not actually urge—the action. In any case, Washington uttered no criticism.

Two aluminum companies operate in British Guiana, and the industry is of the utmost importance to its economy.

One is the Aluminum Company of Canada, which operates what it terms the greatest bauxite treatment plant in the world. It is located 62 miles from Georgetown, up the Demara river. The other is Reynolds Metals of the United States, which says it is not shipping regularly, but rather is engaged in getting its plant in shape for future operations.

Both mine bauxite, which produces aluminum. The Canadian firm is a really big operation.

Bauxite now is in abundant supply, but if London's fears were correct it would obviously disturb Washington to think of British Guiana production falling into Communist hands.

In addition, the Canadian firm produces at its Mackenzie plant 250,000 tons annually of special bauxite used in the abrasive and refractory industries, and it is strategic.

The Aluminum Company of Canada has 2,500 employees, Reynolds nearly 500. The town of Mackenzie, of 10,000 population, was begun in 1917. It was completely built by Aluminum, which operates here as the Demara Bauxite Company.

Whether a threat to bauxite caused the Churchill government's action, bauxite is extremely important to British Guiana's economy. It provides 85 per cent of the colony's shipping and nearly all its dollars.

Although the ousted leftist ministers controlled some unions and called a general strike, neither company reports any effects.

Meanwhile, the sugar industry, which employs 30,000, has only one of its 14 mills operating normally.

The bauxite plants offer some of the best jobs in the entire colony, where unemployment, low wages and wretched living conditions are common.

When the crisis occurred, one warship sped immediately to Mackenzie. As the frigate Bigbury Bay docked it was unaware whether to expect cheers or dynamite, which has been disappearing from the bauxite mines recently.

The ship was announced as a "special visit" and it turned out to be just that.

Vote On TTC Contract

TORONTO (CP) — Some 4,500 Toronto Transportation Commission employees will vote during the next week on a proposal for a 27-month contract with the commission. The executive of the Street Railway Union (AFL) recommended acceptance of the contract, which would provide for three four-cent increases at intervals dating from Oct. 1 to bring the operators' wages to $1.63 from $1.51 an hour.

TORONTO (CP)—The funeral of Rev. Thomas J. Lally, who died Tuesday after 25 years as director of the Martyrs' Shrine at Midland was held Saturday at St. Michael's Cathedral. James Cardinal McGuigan, Roman Catholic archbishop of Toronto, in a brief eulogy referred to Father Lally as a good priest and a zealous man. Burial was at the Jesuit Novitiate cemetery in Guelph.

Using Sculpture To Aid Manitoba Crime Detection

WINNIPEG (CP)—Sculpture as an aid to crime detection has made its Manitoba debut.

The photograph of a sculptured head was sent to various RCMP detachments in hopes it would lead to a solution of a safe-blowing job at St. Malo last May, when thieves escaped with $730 in cash and cheques worth several hundred dollars.

Suspicion fell on two men who had entered a store earlier in the day and purchased two pairs of socks, disregarding the salesman's advice that the size was too small.

When investigations came apparently to a dead end, the sculpture technique developed by the RCMP about 18 months ago was given its first test in Manitoba.

MADE-TO-MEASURE

Witnesses were shown a number of "standard" models of men's heads. They were asked to point out the features of the various models which resembled most closely those of one of the robbery suspects.

They pointed out the ears of one model, the cheek-bones of another, the mouth of a third. When they had finished, RCMP sent their information in code to the identification branch in Ottawa.

There the data was turned over to Cpl. R. Abbott, a qualified sculptor. Cpl. Abbott reconstructed the head and face of the suspect from the store employees' information, photographed the finished model and sent the photograph back to Manitoba.

POINT OUT DETAILS

The photo was shown to witnesses, who pointed out details which didn't jibe with their impression of the suspect. Back went their information to Cpl. Abbott, who made the corrections and sent back another photo.

The procedure was repeated until, with the third photo, came a "that's the man" reaction which meant a job well done.

Only time will tell whether the sculpture will lead to any arrests, as it has already done in several cases in Eastern Canada.

The sculpture method is better than photographs or drawings, say RCMP, because it gives the third dimension.

Ghosts Stop Orfuns By An 11-5 Count Take 6-Point Edge

Cobourg's Galloping Ghosts didn't gallop too far against the local Orfuns here Saturday but they gambled heavily on the kicking right foot of Art Jones and the throwing left hand of southpaw Don Hatt to grab an 11-5 win. This gives them a six-point margin for the return tilt of the ORFU intermediate "A" group finals in Cobourg next Saturd[illegible] grid crowd of 2,000 viewed the exciting, open fray in shirt-sleeve weather at Morrow Park. They saw a close contest, clean till the late stages, with Cobourg throwing a flock of passes and having a booting edge all the way. Penalties late in the heat and fumbles throughout kept the rival squads from racking up a higher score.

AN EARLY LEAD

Orfuns led 3-0 in the first quarter on Bill Huntley's 37-yard placement. The Ghosts went ahead 6-3 at the half with two neat field goals by Art Jones, one from 30 yards out. He hit the cross-bar on another attempt. Jack Sillers took a forward pass from Don Hatt in the third for an unconverted touchdown. Twice in the fourth, Huntley attempted placements which went wide but bounced to the deadline for single points.

It was a hard-hitting game by two strong squads, and several injuries occurred in the last half. Don McGillis of Orfuns had a fractured rib in the third quarter while Red Alexander of Cobourg and Orfuns' Johnny Giardino limped off in the fourth frame with injured legs. Several other players also had minor injuries during the struggle. The Kotowski crew were minus a regular kicker, Don Bark being on the injured list, and Jack Matthews being in Toronto for the day. Ron Hodson and Jim Milligan did the local hoofing. Jones of Cobourg had a good margin on kicking exchanges.

PASSES APLENTY

Don Hatt threw passes throughout, and quite a few of them clicked. Jerry McGillis was the most successful Orfun defender in knocking down the long heaves. Jim Milligan threw some good ones but he had too much distance on others for his receivers, and the Cobourg passing defence was effective. Orfuns had 11 first downs to eight for the winners.

Cobourg fumbled twice in the first quarter, Jensen and Beatty recovering. Alexander, Reeves and Sillers were the main ground-gainers for Art West's squad, while Armstrong, Jensen and Huntley kept the Orfuns rolling. A local fumble, recovered, and a missed pass slowed down the home attack when it was heading toward a major, and Huntley got off a fine long placement to put Peterborough up 3-0.

After a Sillers-Hatt passing play in the second, Jones booted the tying field goal. Huntley flipped a long pass to Jerry McGillis, who ran 20 more, but Alexander then got a local fumble. Following a punt by Jones, Sillers intercepted a Milligan pass and Jones hit the bar on a placement attempt. Nickle skirted end for five but they had to hoof it. Reeves and Hircock took Hatt passes and Alexander bucked 16 to bring them close. Unable to break through for a major, Jones kicked another placement to make it 6-3.

GOOD RUNBACKS

Thomson twice had 20-yard runbacks in the third. Don McGillis went off hurt and Milligan booted well. Alexander's plunging, an end run by Sillers and a pass to Hircock moved the pigskin into paydirt once more and Sillers took a touchdown pass over the line from Hatt. It was not converted. Berry intercepted a pass and Thomson bucked 14, but a penalty sent them back. Jensen from punt formation and Huntley twice bucked for four, but again they lost on downs. It was 11-3 at three-quarter time.

Huntley, Thomson and Jensen moved the ball up in the fourth and Huntley, trying for a placement, kicked to deadline. Jensen intercepted a pass shortly after and they marched right up until Murray Hatt knifed the left side of the line to smother Milligan for a big loss on an attempted pass. Huntley tried another field goal which went wide, but the ball went to deadline for the final point of the game. More and more penalties cropped up as the contest dragged out toward a finish, and several players shuffled off for minor repairs in the hard battling. Alexander was driving for the visitors at the windup pistol shot.

Cobourg: McNally, Hircock, Woods, Leale, Armstrong, Fewster, Duckworth, Lewis, Sterling, Dunn, Matchett, Lowes, Jeffrey, Alexander, Hampton, D. Hatt, Jones, Meikle, Rowland, Sillers, M. Hatt, Walker, Harrison, Irvine, Bennett, A. Magee, J. Magee, Korwacki.

Orfuns: Thomson, Hope, Jensen, Hodson, Beatty, Huntley, Berry, Armstrong, Nickle, Naismith, Fitzgerald, Holman, Kirkwood, Beavis, Ouellette, Fowler, Brioux, McIntyre, Howe, Newark, Milligan, Giardino, Trimm, Forrester, Langhorne, J. McGillis, Groves, O'Reilly, D. McGillis, Berthelot.

TWO FIELD GOALS and a pass-touchdown Saturday gave Cobourg Galloping Ghosts an 11-5 victory over the Orfuns for a six-point lead in their two-game series for the group title. Jim Sillers (centre, top photo) is about to be downed by two Orfuns, after a lengthy run, prior to taking a pass for a major score from Don Hatt. The Orfuns' star plunger, Bill Huntley, is dragged down (lower photo) while Bus Jensen (52) stands by just in case there's a fumble. The second game is Saturday in Cobourg.

Scots Capture Soccer Go Over English

In the local soccer "international" match on Saturday afternoon in King Edward Park, Scotland defeated England 3-0 before a fair attendance of spectators. The English side included two newcomers, Byron Gibbons, Birmingham, and Gordon West, Liverpool, England. The collection amounting to $12.40 after all expenses were paid was handed over to the Boy Scout Fund.

Right from the kick-off, Scots indulged in the close-passing style to gain accendency in attack to score in five-minutes but referee adjudged interference. They were back again to have the same ruling nullifying the second goal scored but there was no mistake in the official one when Croll in a scoring position to bulge the net. Afterwards the English eleven increased the pressure to meet a goal-keeping display by Scots goalie who was in an unbeatable mood. Half time: Scotland 1, England 0.

On resuming, the English team played a long-swinging game to meet a half-back division of Murray, Burnett and Daly, that intercepted and nullfield any attack with positional openings to their forwards to harass the full backs, but West, at right was effective his punting being exceptional. Finally the Scots rolled again to increase the count 2-0 as Dunn headed a beautiful Caldwell cross into the net. A little later, Gilchrist sent a lightning drive into the rigging. Towards the finish, Hoyle, Ryan, Holroyd deserved reward but the Scots goalie was unbeatable, in fact, his one-handed save of Hoyle's first timer being brilliant.

Goal scores: Croll, Dunn, Gilchrist.

England: Kynaston, goal; Strong and Davies, full backs; Steele, Gibbons and Byron half backs; Holt, Ryan, Hoyle, S. Biddle and Holroyd forwards. Subs: J. Biddle, West.

Scotland: Hutchinson, goal; Rice and Craig full backs; Murray, Burnett and Daly half backs; Allan, Croll, Dunn, Gilchrist and Caldwell forwards. Subs: Ballantyne.

Referee: Jack Adams.

Marlies Drop St. Catharines Teepees 5-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The league-leaders were finally stopped and the tail-enders still couldn't get started.

That was about what the five week-end Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series games amounted to.

St. Catharines Teepees, riding high atop the league standings with four consecutive victories, were dropped 5-1 by Toronto Marlboros in Toronto Sunday.

Quebec Citadelles, scraping the bottom, added their fourth loss in a row when they were shut out 5-0 by Galt Black Hawks in Galt Saturday.

In other Saturday games Marlboros were edged 2-1 by the Greenshirts in Kitchener and Hamilton Tigers were decisioned 6-2 on home ice by Guelph Biltmores.

In the only other game, the second half of the doubleheader in Toronto Sunday, the Greenshirts fired home a disputed third-period goal to give them a 3-3 deadlock with Toronto St. Michael's College Majors.

Bud McPherson and captain Grieg Hicks gave Kitchener their margin of victory against the Marlboros Saturday. Dave Reid got the sole reply for the Dukes.

Bill McCreary and Bob Attersley fired two goals each to lead Guelph to their 6-2 triumph over Hamilton Tigers in Hamilton Saturday. John Gillis and Bill Tonegusso rounded out the total. Marlin McAlendin and Cummy Burton counted for the Tabbies.

Rick Collins almost single-handed accounted for Galt's victory over Quebec when he slammed home three goals. Frank Bettiol also sparkled while notching the other two.

IRISH ROAR BACK

On Sunday St. Michael's gave Kitchener a 2-0 lead in the second period and then roared back with three goals in the same frame for a 3-2 edge going into the final 20 minutes. Grieg Hicks scored a goal that appeared to hit the goal post and bounce back out to deadlock the score 3-3 until the end of the game.

Glen Cressman and Gary Collins bagged the other goals for the Shirts. Ken Linesman, Jack Caffery and Brian Anderson were the snipers for the Irish.

In the second game Marlboros fired three unanswered goals in the final period to run away with their 5-1 victory over the Teepees. A 10-man brawl in the third period which drew 10 five-minute major penalties featured the rough-and-tumble.

Captain Wally Maxwell and Chuck Burns paced the Dukes with a pair of goals each. Rookie Nick Nykoluk scored the other. Barry Cullen saved the visitors from a whitewash.

Quebec will have a chance to break into the win column when they travel to Kitchener Tuesday.

Sub Fleet Scores Record Cup Victory

CHICAGO (AP)—Sub Fleet, Dixiana's ace campaigner, ran heavily-favored Crafty Admiral and five other top thoroughbreds into the ground with a sizzling stretch run that produced a record-breaking victory Saturday in Hawthorne's $106,200 Gold Cup.

The Dixiana star, ridden by Steve Brooks, steamed home three lengths in front. His time was 2:00 3-5—a track record for the 1¼-mile event.

Smoke Screen was second, and Alberta Ranches' Irish-bred Indian Hemp, who set the pace most of the way, was third.

The win was worth $67,350 to Dixiana. Smoke Screen earned $20,000 second money, Indian Hemp $10,000 for third, Dr. Ole Nelson $5,000 for fourth, and The Admiral $2,500.

A grid fan writes in to point out that if Lindsay Collegiate beats Cobourg, it won't be the first time that a Scugog football squad has represented the lakeshore district in C.O.S.S.A. play since the war. Back in '46, Lindsay juniors lost to P.C.V.S., Oshawa and T.C.S. but came back to take the group title. They went all the way then to C.O.S.S.A. finals in Toronto but lost to a strong St. Catharines' club, which in senior company won the Red Feather. Steve Oneschuk, Max Woolley, Emil Uhrynuk and Pete Neumann were on that team. Lindsay led this powerful pack the first half but dropped a 20-12 decision finally. They've turned out some darned good footballers up Lindsay way.

'Twas grand sitting in shirt sleevees watching that O.R.F.U. game Saturday in Morrow Park. But it wasn't so nice seeing Cobourg Ghosts grab an 11-5 win o'er our Orfuns for a six-point lead in group finals. However, we'll be in the lakeshore town next Saturday rooting the Orfuns home. They have a hard task ahead to overcome that lead —it's just one converted touchdown, after all— in the other fellow's yard, but it can be done. Champs don't take their own gridirons along with them every game. Full credit must go to the Ghosts for their sharp showing here Saturday, but we feel the local team was quite a bit below par. If they play up to form next game, they'll take the group title again.

List To Tale Of Woe

Alibis are a dime a dozen, but we've got a dime to spare. Our crew didn't have Don Bark or Jack Matthews on deck for kicking, and the club lost plenty on booting exchanges. Jim Milligan wasn't passing as well as usual and that made a big difference, but don't sell that flinging arm of his short next start. In the last half, the scrappy Ghosts were getting through our line too often, or Orfuns might well have had at least one more touchdown. Injuries and penalties hurt, too, but they work both ways and are part of the game. It was a dandy joust, but for the final result, and we have plenty of confidence that Orfuns will hurdle the Rapid Wraiths of Greater Cobourg down by the waterfront this weekend to go into provincial finals. So there!

Took in the men's softball "do" Saturday night and as usual had a thoroughly enjoyable time. MacMcWilliams and his Gail Park staff served a super dinner to the exec. and their wives, who tripped the light fantastic till a scandalous hour. The William Taylor and George Dormer trophies were presented to the T.P.T-ers, and the Bob Hotrum trophy to rookie of the year Neil Wasson. Most valuable player cup went to Haddy Eakins. Life member Dave Leether, Prexy Bob Batley, John McPhee and Frank Wood took care of the presentations, including those to Fred Scates and Fred Maybee. The loop has a fine season.

O.A.S.A. Champs for '53

OASA secretary Frank Feaver sends in the complete list of 1953 champs. Hamilton won senior "A" and Sudbury senior "B", North Bay took intermediate "A", the Falls "AA", Ryckman's Corners "B" honors, Wiarton "C" and Brougham the "D" title. Kirkland Lake and Toronto failed to finish junior "A" finals, Beamsville being "B" victors, Dixie "C" and Empire junior 'D'. Kirkland Lake won out in juvenile "A", Hamilton "B" and Virgil "C." Wingham winged through for the midget championship, Stoney Creek the bantam crown, and Toronto the peewee pennant. There were 462 Ontario playoff games, representing 2,076 teams, and the registration totalled 35,292 players. Best OASA season to date, Feaver reports.

Johnny Lynch's local St. Peter's High beat St. Mike's 16-5 in Toronto over the weekend to take the Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" grid honors by a round score of 49-5. Good offensive work by Dick Foley, Gord Snape, Bob O'Rourke, John Hickey and McGee, plus a strong line, gave Saints the title again. Saturday saw a couple of junior contests with local "B" teams victorious once more against "A" competition. At Riverside, Kenner whitewashed P.C.V.S. 16-0, while S.P.S. dumped Lindsay 15-6 on the Scugog gridiron. Later two teams tangle at Morrow this Wednesday aft, while S.P.S. and P.C.V.S. seniors have a Saturday tilt in Reverside. Oshawa plays P.C.V.S. the following week here, and Saints go to Cobourg in senior play October 28

Motorcyclists Hold Gravel-Pit Field Trial

Peterborough, Oshawa and Lindsay motorcyclists attracted about 200 people Sunday as they went through English-type field trials in a gravel pit on Highway 7, six miles east of the city.

Seven city riders and seven oters from Oshawa and Lindsay had many spills as they attempted to go through eight tests of riding through the gravel pit, through bush, up and down hills.

Starting off with 1,000 points, the riders lost points every time they fell or put their feet down to get balance. Walter Humphries of Lindsay lost only 32 points to win with a total of 968 points. He was followed by Sheldon Smith of Peterborough with 961 points and by Jim McIlvena of Peterborough with 958 points.

Wings Shut Out Canadiens 4-0 Behind Sawchuk

By AL COLLETTI, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Terry Sawchuk, the chunky Detroit all-star goalie, apparently has taken up—after a brief injury—right where he left off last season when he won the Vezina Trophy for the second year in succession. The 21-year-old Winnipegger returned to the Detroit nets Sunday night after missing three games due to a slashed knee and shut out Montreal Canadiens 4-0, making 25 saves. The victory, the second in a row for the Red Wings during the week-end, moved them past Montreal into first place in the National Hockey League.

HABS POINT BEHIND

In all, six games were played during the full week-end schedule. The Canadiens whipped Boston Bruins 5-2 Saturday night to stay just a point behind the Red Wings in second place. Third-Place Toronto Maple Leafs gained ground with a 1-1 tie against New York Rangers Saturday night and a 2-1 victory over the Black Hawks in Chicago Sunday night.

Detroit leads with nine points, Montreal has eight and Toronto seven. The Bruins took over fourth place by trimming the Rangers 3-2 in Boston Sunday night.

The Black Hawks, last, dropped their fourth and fifth games and have only a tie to their credit. Their loss to Toronto followed a 2-1 defeat by the Red Wings Saturday night.

SCORED IN EVERY PERIOD

At home, the Red Wings scored in every period before a sell-out crowd of 13,186 to whip the Canadiens. Marty Pavelich put the wings in front in the first period and that was all the lead needed by Sawchuk, who allowed only an average of 1.90 goals a game last season in the 63 regular ones he played. But Red Kelly and Gordie Howe clicked for the Wings in the second period and rookie Earl Reibel wound it up with a 15-footer in the final session.

Dave Gatherum, 21-year-old rookie who subbed for Sawchuk while he was injured, kicked out 33 shots against the Black Hawks and had his second shutout in a row going until the last four seconds when Pete Conacher sneaked in a shot after a scramble. This infuriated the Red Wings to such an extent that they kicked over their own goal, slamming it against the backboards.

Johnny Wilson in the first period and Reibel early in the middle session were the Detroit scorers.

WALLOP BRUINS

The Canadiens, before a packed crowd of 14,437, walloped the Bruins at home in a hard-fought game in which Maurice (Rocket) Richard scored his fifth goal in five games.

Bert Olmstead, Eddie Mazur, Calum Mackay and Bernie Geoffrion scored the other Montreal goals and veteran Milt Schmidt and Dave Creighton counted for Boston.

Fleming Mackell, the Bruins star centre, suffered a pulled shoulder muscle and may miss two games.

COME FROM BEHIND

The Leafs had to come from behind to gain a tie in Toronto against the Rangers. George Armstrong got the equalizer at 14:29 of the third period after Nick Mickoski scored for the Rangers early in the second period.

Against the Black Hawks, Eric Nesterenko and Sid Smith both converted passes for the Leafs' victory. Jimmy Peters scored the Chicago goal.

The Bruins took advantage of Ranger penalties Sunday. Two Rangers were in the penalty box when Real Chevrefils got the winning goal in the second period.

Defenceman Bob Armstrong and Joe Klukay scored the other Boston goals. Paul Ronty and Leo Reise tallied for the Rangers.

Turpin Moves Puzzle Fight Fans

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — England's Randy Turpin and San Francisco's Carl (Bobo) Olson meet for the middleweight championship Wednesday night in an international bout that has more puzzling angles than a dime detective story.

Here's Turpin, one-time conqueror of the great Ray Robinson and a former champion rated a 2-to-1 underdog against the man who was kayoed and beaten by Robinson.

Sure, Turpin was stopped by Sugar Ray in 10 rounds in their second fight but the strong invader seemed on his way to victory when referee Ruby Goldstein halted the bout with eight seconds left in the round.

The feeling, of course, is that the 25-year-old British Negro has slipped since his hectic two frays with Robinson and that Olson has come along at a rapid rate.

But more than that is the strange training procedure of the moody, one-time country fair fighter. He has boxed only 28 rounds since he arrived in America a month ago.

SOLOMONS DUBIOUS

Randy, himself, said that he will be in top shape and that too much boxing would make him stale. But Jack Solomons, the British promoter who always has had the big say in Turpin's career, has gone on record as saying he "doesn't approve" of Randy's training methods.

"He hasn't boxed enough," said Solomons. "If it goes 15 rounds, Olson will win."

It could be that the Britons are playing possum. It could be, too, that Randy has been doing some fighting in secret.

Olson, meanwhile, has been training in his usual fashion. He's been boxing regularly and hustling about in the gym. He figures to be in great shape, ready to go a full three minutes every round as he generally does.

Both fighters are the same age, 25, and have almost similar records. Turpin's is 49-3-1 with 33 knockouts, Olson's 53-5.

Figured to be a sellout because New York will be blacked out of a Madison square garden fight show for the first time, the bout may draw no more than 16,000 at prices ranging from $3 to $20.

Reds Defeat Cleveland 1-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds are in sole possession of first place in the American Hockey League today, thanks to a 1-0 decision Sunday night over Cleveland Barons. In the only other game Sunday night, Pittsburgh Hornets nipped Buffalo Bisons 5-4 in overtime.

At Providence, Al Bacari's goal at 1:40 of the first period turned the trick. The Reds held a clear edge and fired 40 shots at goalie Emile Francis. Harvey Bennett, Providence netminder, had 37 saves.

At Buffalo, Danny Lewicki's second breakaway goal of the night, with his team shorthanded each time, gave Pittsburgh the victory.

BUFFALO AHEAD

Buffalo went ahead in the third period on Johnny McCormack's goal but Earl Balfour tied it up with less than a minute to go. Larry Cahan was in the penalty box when Lewicki intercepted a pass and went all the way for the overtime goal.

Ray Timgren and Willie Marshall notched the other Pittsburgh goals and Eddie Slowinski and Pilote were the first two Buffalo scorers.

In Saturday's game, Cleveland outscored Hershey Bears 6-4, Syracuse Warriors downed Providence 4-1 and Buffalo and Pittsburgh played to a 2-2 deadlock.

Albion Continues Hot Pace With 2-1 Win

LONDON (AP)—Almost all the top teams in English League first division soccer won their games Saturday. Only Charlton Athletic among the leading seven clubs lost.

First-place West Bromwich Albion continued its hot pace with a 2-1 victory over Sheffield United. It was Albion's sixth straight win away from home. Nicholls scored the winning goal only five minutes from the end of the game.

Runner-up Wolverhampton Wanderers found it easy going against Manchester United and won 3-1.

Other top teams to romp home ahead were Huddersfield Town, Burnley, Bolton and Cardiff.

Burnley stopped the Arsenal comeback with a 5-2 setback. Arsenal, which made a dismal showing in the early part of the season had peaked up recently and took nine points in the six games before losing Saturday.

SPECTACULAR GOAL

Alex Forbes, Arsenal's right half set the home crowd roaring hopefully after six minutes with a remarkable goal. He took a pass from Jimmy Logie near midfield, ran 30 yards with the ball at his feet and then scored from 30 yards out. But Burnley had a 3-2 edge at half time and added another two in the second half as Billy Holden scored three for the winners.

In Division II Blackburn Rovers lost at home for the first time, 2-1 to Sheffield Wednesday.

Blackpool manager Joe Smith tried Stan Mortensen at inside right to partner wing wizard Stan Mathews but it wasn't a success. Mortensen returned to centre forward in the second half and scored a goal.

Top positions in the four divisions remained unchanged. West Ipswich Town and Port Vale all held their leads.

Bill Veeck Named Adviser To Wrigley

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Veeck Saturday was named special adviser to president P. K. Wrigley of Chicago Cubs and Don Stewart, president of the Cubs' Los Angeles club, to "spearhead the campaign to bring major league baseball to Los Angeles."

The announcement and the description of Veeck's responsibilities were made here by Stewart after negotiations with the head office of the Chicago club in Chicago.

Veeck recently disposed of St. Louis Browns of the American League when Baltimore took over the franchise after a belated bid by Los Angeles civic interests.

THE ANSWER'S NO so far as Jack Dempsey (centre) is concerned. Although the former champ seems in a good humor about his refusal, Dave Rochon, a member of the Montreal Athletic Commission and former NBA president (left) had just proposed that Dempsey referee the Jimmy Carter-Armand Savoie title fight. That's Max Waxman, Dempsey's former manager, making the talk a three-cornered affair.

Alouettes Crush Argos 39-11

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Apparently Montreal Alouettes and Edmonton Eskimos forgot to read the experts' scripts before Canada's professional football season opened last August. Both were written off as potential Grey Cup contenders.

They may make the experts look good in the long haul before the East-West final at Toronto Nov. 28, but right now they're the hottest big-league clubs in the business. They proved it during the week-end.

The Als did it with a decisive 39-11 victory over Toronto Argonauts, defending Grey Cup champions, at Montreal on Sunday and Eskimos, already assured of a Western Conference final playoff berth, de-fused Winnipeg Blue Bombers 32-9 at Edmonton Saturday night. The in-and-out Hamilton Tiger-Cats were "in" with a 33-24 victory over Ottawa Rough Riders Saturday to keep in step with the Als.

The Edmonton - Montreal triumphs probably won't cause home-town supporters to put immediate bids in for Grey Cup tickets but they proved a couple of points: They are the most consistent winners in the play-for-pay game and both dote on home grounds.

UNDEFEATED AT HOME

Neither has dropped a game this season before home-town fans—the only big leaguers to hold such a record—and both are on a victory rampage. The Eskimos, who meet Saskatchewan Roughriders at Edmonton tonight, have taken four straight and the Als claim a three-game victory skein.

The Big Four, with the possibility of a four-way first-place tie, now has the Als and Tiger-Cats tied at the top with 12 points each, four up on both Ottawa and Toronto. Four games remain before the schedule closes out and Montreal fans might take heart that the Als play two of theirs at home, against Ottawa next Sunday and against Tiger-Cats Nov. 8.

Calgary Stampeders, headed for a sideline spot in the Western Conference playoffs after a double-header loss to Eskimos last week, saw their last mathematical chance go when they lost 24-18 to Roughriders at Calgary Saturday. Now the western two-game total-point semi-finals will be between the Bombers and Roughriders.

ORFU RACE TIGHTENS

The Ontario Rugby Football Union race tightened with only two points separating three teams. The league-leading Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen split a doubleheader with Toronto Balmy Beach, winning 20-13 at home Saturday and losing 31-9 at Toronto Sunday.

Sarnia Imperials, tied with Beaches two points behind the Dutchmen, didn't surprise anyone with a 34-6 decision over Brantford Redskins at Sarnia Saturday. It was the Redskins' ninth loss in as many starts.

In each Big Four and Western Conference game, the losers came up with desperate fourth-quarter victory bids that at least kept the fans from leaving the parks. The most courageous was put up by Ottawa who started to roll late in the third quarter after Tiger-Cats piled up all their points.

Tiger-Cats, whipped 30-12 by Argonauts Thanksgiving Day, made four first-half pass interceptions that set them up for 24 points. One of these accounted directly for a Hamilton touchdown and the other three put the Cats within easy striking distance.

LATE OTTAWA RALLY

Riders, defeated twice by Montreal in their Thanksgiving week-end doubleheader, hit the scoreboard for a major late in the third quarter and added three converted majors and a single in the last 15 minutes.

The Als piled up a third-quarter 28-0 lead and then eased up as Argonauts scored all their points in the final quarter. It was the first Montreal home game not televised and a crowd of 19,603, largest of the season, turned out.

The split-T formation Eskimos led 19-3 going into the fourth quarter, allowed Bombers a converted touchdown and added two converted majors and a single to make victory complete.

Calgary Stampeders, behind 24-6 with 15 minutes left, rallied for two converted touchdowns.

Lous Kusserow romped over for two Hamilton touchdowns against Ottawa. Bernie Custis, Royal Bailey and Tip Logan scored the others and Logan made every convert good. A safety touch and single completed the Ti-Cat scoring. For Ottawa, Agatus Stone, Bernie Flowers, Bob Cunningham and Matt Anthony went for majors. Gene Roberts converted three of them.

CONNECTS FOR TWO

John O'Quinn connected for two Montreal touchdowns against Argos. Joey Pal, Alex Webster also caught Sam Etcheverry passes for majors and Chuck Hunsinger and Bradley completed the Al's touchdown parade. Poole booted a field goal and five converts. Joe Scudero and Al Bruno went for the Argonaut touchdowns with Bob Shaw converting one.

MANCOS, ROGERS STAR

Import John Mancos notched 12 points Saturday for Kitchener against Balmy Beach while Jack Rogers shared honors by making two pass interceptions. Mancos went over for a pair of touchdowns and kicked two singles. Floyd Cooper registered the other Kitchener major and Ron Tracey picked up three converts. Dick Gregory scored all Beaches' points on two touchdowns, two converts and a single.

Gregory and Harv Singleton each counted two touchdowns for Balmy Beach Sunday and Gregory made good four converts. Sam Laverty scored the other Beach touchdown and George Ellis kicked two singles. Gerry Tuttle went over for a Kitchener major which Tracey converted. A single point and a safety completed the scoring for the Dutchmen.

Bobby Lee and Corky Duchene split four Sarnia touchdowns evenly with Eric McKeever and Jon Florence scoring one each. Jack McKelvie kicked three converts and Jim Burr booted a single. Bill Brady went for the lone Brantford touchdown, Larry Harriston converting.

Indians Edge Chatham 7-6 As Windsor Beats Niagara

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Until Tuesday night at least Hamilton Tigers can snub their noses at the other seven teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series. For the Tigers are in first place—a marked contrast to last season when they finished in the cellar with only two victories.

Stratford Indians moved up a couple of rungs with a 7-6 decision over Chatham Maroons in Stratford Saturday. In the only other week-end contest, a clash of the league newcomers, Windsor Bulldogs edged Niagara Falls Cataracts 3-2 in Windsor Sunday.

The lead changed hands six times in the see-saw Stratford-Chatham tilt.

SCORES THREE TIMES

Billy Flick scored three times for the Indians. His tallies included the winning marker nine seconds before the final buzzer.

Dinny Flanagan, Ted Pletsch, Bob Mader and Ken McNally added singles to round out the scoring for the Indians.

TWO COUNTERS APIECE

Ed Didone and Bill Cupolo fired two each for the Maroons. Ernie Dick and Joe Carveth counted the others.

A crowd of 1,800 turned out in Windsor Sunday to see the Bulldogs enter the win column with their 3-2 nod over Niagara Falls Cataracts.

GETS SECOND GOAL

After a scoreless first period, each [illegible] fired a pair of goals in the [illegible] before Gary Gordon won it for the Bulldogs with his second goal of the game. Lyle Wiseman followed Gordon's opener in the second period for the other Windsor tally.

Bill Ness and Ted Fauteaux netted the Niagara Falls markers.

Niagara Falls travels to Owen Sound to meet the Mercurys Tuesday. Owen Sound has not yet made an appearance.

Western Scores Easy 25-8 Win Over McGill

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

University of Western Ontario Mustangs today are the only unbeaten team in senior football in the country. And they are heading for their seventh intercollegiate title since 1946.

The Mustangs kept their first-place position intact Saturday with an easy 25-8 victory over McGill Redmen at Montreal while the runner-up University of Toronto Blues stayed in line with a 24-0 shutout over McMaster Marauders at Toronto.

After a scoreless first quarter, Mustangs scored a converted touchdown and a single and the Redmen replied with a converted major to make it a game. But two more converted majors before the quarter ended sewed it up for the Londoners.

They added a single and touchdown against a McGill safety touch in the third quarter and finished the final 15 minutes without either club scoring a point.

Mustang majors were scored by Murray Henderson, Garnet Shaw, Jack Wyatt and Orest Tokarsky. Gino Fracas kicked three converts, Jocko Thompson punted two singles.

George Klein went over for a McGill touchdown, converted by Fred Wilmot and Bob Emery broke through to bring Thompson down behind the Western line for a safety touch late in the third quarter.

Despite their inability to launch an offensive of more than 20 yards, Varsity had little trouble defeating McMaster whose loose play paved the way for most of the Blues' scoring. Halfback Steve Oneschuk picked up 11 points on a touchdown, 15-yard field goal, two converts and a single.

Bill McFarlane and Bob Pinkney added majors and Varsity's other points came on a single by Al Haig and a safety touch.

SPS Gets OCC Title Over St. Mike's As Jr. Clubs Win

By far superior in passing, kicking and running, Johnny Lynch's St. Peter's High senior Saints rolled to another Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" championship in Toronto Sunday. They easily outclassed and outplayed the St. Michael's College Blues 16-5 to take the two game series for the title in two straight. The Saints won the first game at Morrow Park several weeks ago 33-0.

In other high school games played Saturday the St. Peter's High juniors kept winning by trimming the Lindsay Collegiate junior "A" team 15-6 in Lindsay. At the same time at Riverside Park the Kenner Collegiate Rams whitewashed the PCVS Garnet and Greys, the other "A" team in the northern grouping, 16-0.

Plunges and wide, sweeping end runs by Gord Snape, Dick Foley and Bob O'Rourke placed the Saints in scoring position early in the first quarter of the senior game Sunday. Then John Hickey, the quarterback, took to the air, passing to McGee, for the first major score, giving the Saints a 5-0 edge over St. Mike's.

TIED THE SCORE

Don LeMarquand with strong running brought St. Mike's right back into the Saints' territory in the second quarter. With a mixture of plunges, through centre, off-tackle and around ends, St. Mike's finally scored as Egan went over. The convert was blocked and the score remained tied five-all.

Dick Foley, with plunge after plunge, made first downs for the Saints time after time, bringing the ball well over centre, along with some help from Snape. Again Hickey switched to the air, passing for another touchdown to McGee. He picked up the extra point on a pass to Terry Fitzpatrick, making the half score 11-5.

St. Mike's pressed hard in the early minutes of the second half. But good line play by Frank Gooley, Bob Nolan, Paul Kingdon and McGee stopped the Blues in three attempts to score.

Powerful bucks by Foley and Snape, snappy dashes by little Gary Kearns, took the play to St. Mike's 13 in the fourth quarter. Kearns with tricky footwork went over for the final score.

In Lindsay Saturday the junior Saints capitalized on a fumble, recovered by snap Jack Buckley, to start their first scoring play. Ploughboy Ray Allen on plunges Jack Kane on end runs, Paul Buckley on catching and running, sent the Saints to the three-yard line. Quarterback Ron Board sneaked over for the touchdown.

Lindsay went airborne in the second as Dan Pearson hit Jim Sinclair with passes. But the strategy backfired as Don Masterson intercepted a pass to run 65 yards up the sidelines to score.

Big Nolan scooped in another Lindsay fumble shortly after and Masterson along with Allen promptly carried the ball to the 30-yard line. Kane broke into the clear to the Lindsay five and then followed up with a five-yard buck to score.

For experience, Coach John Lynch started his second line in the second half. Pearson and Sinclair combined then in the air as Lloyd Gilson went along the ground. Finally Sinclair scored the only major and Kitchen converted.

Behind strong linework, the Kenner Rams steamrolled to their second victory in four starts when they blanked PCVS. Bob Druery, Don Findlay, Lou Pearl, Ron Ward and Dick Simmons, a few of the Ram linemen, charged the Garnet and Grey throughout, opening wide holes for plungers and stopping the PCVS attack.

Meanwhile Harry Gravelle hit through the centre and Les Scharf with Bill Hendry went around the ends. Bob Hollingsworth, the Rams' quarter, alternated the plunges and end runs well. Richie Brown was best for PCVS in plunging.

With an offtackle drive, Les Scharf scored the first major in the first quarter and Gravelle converted for a 6-0 lead. Then in the second on a pitch-out play, Scharf scored his second touchdown, sweeping the end. Hendry added the third major in the fourth, also on a pitchout.

BOY AND GIRL ATHLETES from the various city public and separate schools competed Saturday in the Kiwanis Club's annual Little Olympics at Morrow Park. This was the final day of track and field for the school children who have competed previously this term at their school field days. Sharon Griffin, of Sacred Heart School (top photo), surrounded by other competitors, seems ready to land on her knees in the standing broad jump event. Rod Armstrong (left, lower photo) presents ribbons to Mark Heal (centre), of King Edward School, for a first, and to Tom Caldwell (right), of Central School, for a second in the junior 50-yard dash.

Baltimore Buys Way Out For $50,000

MONTREAL (CP) — Baltimore bought its way out of the International Baseball League this weekend for close on $50,000.

After a four-hour meeting of the league directors Sunday, the four representatives of the Baltimore club were called in to hear the price they would have to pay the league to relinquish the Baltimore territory, thus permitting the Orioles to go ahead with their plans to join the American League.

IL officials said after the closed meeting Baltimore agreed to pay $48,748.61—or a sum equal to a seven-cents-a-head levy based on three times their 1953 attendance figures. Attendance at the Baltimore park, including playoffs, totalled 322,141 in 1953.

The price came near that paid by Milwaukee Brewers last year when opting out of the American Association. It cost Milwaukee $50,000 before they could bring the Braves of the National League in.

HEADED DELEGATION

Heading the Baltimore delegation were secretary-treasurer Clyde Morris and vice-president Bill De Witt.

League directors had been expected to discuss possible additions to the league and a proposed interlocking schedule with the American Association.

But a league spokesman said the meeting's "sole purpose" was to fix the compensation to be paid by Baltimore. The other two questions would probably be taken up at the IL annual general meeting in Montreal Nov. 15.

Good Footing

LONDON (CP)—Nylon football studs or cleats are a new idea here. The studs are fitted to football boots as part of a long sole, and the makers claim they cannot get kicked loose.

Smythe Calls Wings Best Team In World

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe, managing director of the National Hockey League Toronto Maple Leafs who spent the weekend in Detroit, had much praise for Detroit Red Wings after watching them blank Montreal Canadiens 4-0.

In a long-distance telephone call to Toronto after the game, Smythe said: "I've just seen the best hockey team in the world—Detroit. In Red Kelly they have the best defenceman in the world. In Gord Howe and Ted Lindsay they have the best men at their positions. In Earl Reibel they have the best rookie by a city block. Their goalie, Terry Sawchuk, is at his best.

"I do not know how anyone is going to beat them."

Make Progress In Ball Changes

DALLAS (AP)—Texas League club owner Dick Burnett said today he thinks great progress has been made toward getting changes in the baseball laws that will "give the minor leagues a chance to survive."

Burnett, owner of the Dallas club, called a meeting attended during the week-end by presidents and representatives of 23 minor leagues and representatives of six major league clubs.

The minor leaguers approved legislation that would give them a greater voice in the framing of baseball laws, bring about an unrestricted draft, pay the players part of their purchase or draft price, allow them to waive the draft, raise the price of the draft for the lower minors (class B down to D), return restrictions to radio broadcasts and telecasts of major league games in minor league territory and create a revised minor league agreement.

These amendments are to be submitted to the national baseball convention in Atlanta Nov. 30 to Dec. 3, and Burnett said he was confident of their being accepted by the major leagues.

Mineral Development Helping Canada's Atlantic Provinces

MONTREAL (CP)—Mayor Harris Joyce of Moncton, N.B., believes Canada's Atlantic provinces are headed for a great future.

"There's always been talk in the central provinces about the Maritimes being stagnant," mayor Harris said in an interview. "But it's not true today. We're on the upgrade now. In fact we're right at the threshold of a great future based on mineral development."

And the mayor has no doubt about Moncton's future.

"We're already going ahead by leaps and bounds. We've doubled the population of Greater Moncton in the last five years, and by 1965 we'll have outgrown Saint John and be the biggest city in New Brunswick."

Population of Greater Moncton is about 60,000 today, he said.

"The day Newfoundland joined confederation was a red letter one for us," he said. "Moncton is the logical distribution point for the Atlantic provinces, and its chief air centre."

Air traffic had increased more rapidly during the last 12 months at the city's airport than at any other airport in Canada. Apart from handling 27 per cent of New Brunswick's retail trade, Moncton was becoming the distribution point for remote areas reached only by air.

"The opening of iron mines in northern Quebec, the development of mineral resources in the province, and the expansion in air traffic, have touched off a boom in our city," mayor Joyce said.

"Halifax and Saint John base their prosperity on the sea; our future lies in the air."

Federal Control Of Trucking Going Before Privy Council

By JOHNLeBLANC

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian transportation interests will be watching closely the outcome of a case coming before the Privy Council in London early next month.

It could have a heavy impact on the country's mushrooming highway transport business, particularly the $50,000,000-a-year haulage across provincial boundaries.

The case itself is a relatively minor one in terms of dollars. But on its outcome hinges the issue of whether the federal government will move in on the regulation of trans-border highways operations.

The Privy Council case is an appeal from a Supreme Court of Canada decision holding that interprovincial and international highway traffic comes under federal jurisdiction. This decision was given about two years ago.

RULED ON DISPUTE

The Supreme Court ruling was on a dispute between the new Brunswick motor carrier board and Mackenzie Coach Lines of Lewiston, Me., which challenged the right of the province to regulate its operations in New Brunswick on a run between Maine and Cape Breton, N. S.

It is one of the last major cases from Canada to go before the judicial committee of the Privy Council. Canada's Supreme Court now has the final say in court matters for this country. but cases begun before 1949—such as the highway one—may go to Britain.

The federal government and some provincial ones are planning a stiff fight before the Privy Council in the sessions opening Nov. 2.

The federal government, which has always contended that it has control over trans-border traffic but has never exercised it, could use a favorable Privy Council decision to bring in actual regulation. This would afford a measure of protection for the railways, which have been hit hard in the last few years by long-distance freight trucking.

SHOULD NOT GET IN

The provinces, whose right to control road business within their borders is not under challenge, argue that the central government should not get in on highway business, even that crossing borders.

Directly fighting the federal government before the Privy Council are the governments of Ontario, Alberta and Prince Edward Island. The two big railways are aligned on the federal side.

If the Privy Council decision, expected by about January, favors federal jurisdiction, expectations here are that the cabinet will draft legislation to nail down federal control of cross-border traffic. The control would be exercised through the board of transport commissiners, which might be expanded.

This extension of control was recommended by the royal commission on transportation in 1951. The federal government is known to be favorable to it. However, officials say there is little likelihood of legislation on it at the coming session of Parliament in view of the time needed for drafting a bill.

G. M. Parke of Toronto, president of the Canadian Automotive Transportation Association, indicates federal control of trans-border business would not be fought by the truckers.

Two Historians Disagree On Who Led B.C. Indians

VANCOUVER (CP)—Claims and counter-claims of two Vancouver historians have stirred up a mild controversy over who led the Indians to greet Captain George Vancouver on his arrival here 160 years ago.

Did the original Chief Capilano really paddle out to greet the discoverer of Vancouver harbor?

"Yes," says Indian editor Andy Paull.

"No," retorts city archivist J.S. Matthews.

The argument started from an article by Mr. Paull in his magazine, The Totem Speaks. He gave a stirring account of how Chief Capilano led 40 war canoes out to meet the British explorer's ship on June 13, 1792.

SKEPTIC VIEW

Mr. Matthews thought the story was tommyrot, and in a letter to the magazine said "there is not a word of truth in it."

Hitting back in the current issue of the magazine, Mr. Paull says his facts are true. He says he was among a chosen few selected to learn West coast Indian history for the purpose of handing it down to the next generation as his forefathers did before him.

Mr. Matthews claims that his own information was given years ago by two of Capilano's grandchildren.

The Indian chief, whose name now is preserved for immortality by a river, a golf course, a stadium and a brewery, wasn't born until some eight years after Capt Vancouver sailed into the harbor, Mr. Matthews contends.

LIVED TILL 1875

Furthermore, adds the archivist, Chief Capilano is known to have lived until 1875.

Thus, if the chief really greeted the British explorer, and if he really died in 1875, he must have lived to be at least 103 on the assumption that he was at least 20 years old when he was leading war canoes around the harbor.

Neither historian appears willing to accept this possibility, and thereby hands a stalemate.

Retired Pastor Wed 50 Years

TORONTO — Dr. and Mrs. C. W. De Mille Saturday greeted friends on the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination. Dr. De Mille served as a Methodist and United church minister and an officer of the Ontario Temperance federation.

Still active as a visiting minister, he received at an at-home with his wife at the United Empire Loyalist headquarters, Prince Arthur Ave.

Born in Brington, Dr. De Mille was ordained in Simcoe Street Methodist church in Oshawa in 1903 His first charge was at Denby, 90 miles north of Napanee. Later he served for about 15 years at Roblin. Hay Bay, Newburgh and Havelock. For five years Dr. De Mille acted as general secretary in charge of Sunday schools and youth work in Saskatchewan and Ontario.

In 1924, he took over the King Street Methodist church in Oshawa and later moved to Stratford for six years. His last charge was at North Parkdale United church where he served nine years. He became general secretary of the Temperance federation in 1942 and retired several years ago.

Among the guests were John and Robert De Mille, two sons, and Mrs. Maxwell Lunan, a daughter, all of Toronto.

Pulp Workers Vote To Strike

Workers in five Ontario pulp and paper centres voted Sunday in favor of strike action if necessary to enforce wage demands.

Members of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (AFL) and of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers (AFL) voted at Iroquois Falls, Fort Frances, Sturgeon Falls, Kapuskasing and Smooth Rock Falls.

They were among 15,000 pulp and paper workers in Ontario who decided recently to take strike votes in a dispute involving 11 unions affiliated with the American federation of labor and 12 companies. The unions seek a five-per-cent wage increase and other improvements in work terms.

The votes were ordered after a majority report of a conciliation board recommended against any wage increase in the industry. Ontario mills now have a 40-hour work week and a basic hourly rate of $1.41.

EXPLOSION SHATTERS CARRIER'S ENGINE ROOM—An explosion shattered the engine room of the U.S. aircraft carrier Leyte in Boston harbor. At last count 18 sailors were known dead and from 20 to 90 were injured. The ship was being outfitted for recommissioning when the explosion occurred.

Says Red, Agnostic Clerics Drive Converts Into Church

LONDON (AP)—A leading Jesuit priest said Sunday the Roman Catholic Church does not have to seek converts—"They are driven to us by Communist and agnostic clerics."

Rev. Joseph Christie replied to a booklet approved by ranking Anglican prelates which accused the Catholic Church of "touting for converts among the seriously ill and dying." The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, recommended the booklet, written by an anonymous group of Anglican clergymen.

Father Christie, preaching in the Church of Our Lady of Victories, said:

DEFICIENCIES OF CHURCH

"No one who has been engaged in receiving converts into the church can have failed to notice that the first impetus comes, not so much from the proselytizing efforts of Catholics as from the deficiencies of the Anglican Church itself.

"We do not need to seek converts: They are driven to us by Communist and agnostic clerics within the establishment itself."

Rev. Charles Kitney Speaker At St. James' Anniversary

Anniversary services at St. James' United Church were held Sunday with the Rev. Charles G. Kitney, guest speaker at the morning and evening services.

Mr. Kitney is the son of Frank Kitney of Peterborough, who died recently. After serving as a minister in the Peace River district of northern Alberta for some time, Mr. Kitney was assigned to a mission church in Trinidad from which he has recently returned for further ministerial studies in Toronto.

"Ask, Seek, Knock," was the title of Mr. Kitney's sermon on Sunday night as he addressed a crowded church, made up of members of both the St. James and Knox Street United Church congregations. The latter with their minister, the Rev. H. G. Douglas, were invited for the evening service.

"Ask and you shall be given, seek and you shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." At first this statement seems quite simple to interpret, said Mr. Kitney, but there is a great deal of depth in it. These are three laws of prayer, but the last is greater than the first.

"It is greater to seek, than to find, for in seeking we learn and in this respect we become a thing. If what we seek is good, we eventually become good. There is much in the Bible which is at first difficult to comprehend, but if we attend church regularly and hear the various passages interpreted, the Bible tends to open itself to our understanding. In seeking we develop patience, and through patience we attain that which we seek.

TRUST IN LORD

"At the third phase, that of knocking implies that we know not what we seek and so place our trust in the Lord, It is like knocking on a door and not seeing what is behind that door. We are y arning for something of which we are not sure, but by continued knocking we show our trust in the Father who will give gifts that are good."

Mr. Kitney gave the example of Columbus who set out in search of China. He knew China existed and was seeking that country, but in so doing he discovered America, a far greater thing.

"God has more to give us than we can comprehend. We can not ask for that which we do not know and when we first begin knocking, we are not capable of receiving these greater gifts. The Lord allows us to wait and by so developing our patience, broadens our capacities for receiving. It is easier for God to help us, when we are in need of help. We must learn to be content with discontent.

GREATEST DISCOVERY

"The greatest discovery of all comes after we have knocked for a life time. The door of death is finally opened and we see into the great beyond and our hearts and souls are filled with a beauty which we were incapable of knowing before."

Other ministers present for the evening service were the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox Street United Church and the Rev. A. Lloyd Shorten, pastor of St. James United Church. Musical highlights were the organ offerings of Mrs. Charles Renaud and the ladies' double trio.

Mr. Kitney's address at the morning service dealt with the mission work being done at the church in Trinidad which he recently served.

Early English Newspaper Carried Only Foreign News

By JOY MILLER

NEW YORK (AP)—In the fall of 1621, a London printer pulled from his hand press a sheet reporting news from the continent.

"Corant or Weekly Newes" lasted only a few weeks, vanishing for a reason no one took the trouble to record. But six of its issues were tucked away in the British museum, labelled the earliest copies extant of an English language newspaper.

Trouble was, one issue was missing: No. 5, dated Oct. 9, 1621. In 1812, an author of literary anecdotes, one J. Nichols, described the paper. But searching scholars in succeeding years never were able to run down the copy Nichols saw.

Now a New York rare book dealer has announced discovery of this missing literary link. He calls it the earliest English newspaper extant (a word bibliographers love, meaning that they know it exists) outside the British museum.

Dave Randall, head of the rare book department of Scribner's, says it was purchased five years ago in a collection but its worth only recently was established in correspondence with Folke Dahl, a Swedish bibliographer and authority on English Corantos, as the news sheets of those early days were called.

The collection was from the library of Edison Dick, Chicago manufacturer. He picked up the paper at a sale in England, but knows nothing of its earlier history.

ONLY FOREIGN NEWS

Randall put a price tag of $10,000 on the yellowing, 9x12 sheet.

The Corant carried only foreign news because James I, then king of England, forbade publication of local affairs, which he called "lavish and licentious talking in matters of state . . . which the common people know not how to understand."

Dispatches from Italy, Germany Polonia (later Poland), Hungary, Bohemia, France and the Low Coountries (Belgium and the Netherlands) were printed in two columns on both sides of the sheet. They were largely concerned with the thirty years war, begun only three years before, with sieges and treaty rumors.

One entry from Vienna, dated Sept. 15, 1621, contained the only editorial comment:

"The Budianier Hungarians (with their ayde of Turkes and Tartarians) doe great hurt and damage unto us. . . and have burnt 10 villages . . . all downe to the ground, and still burne farther. . . . and have caryed away 1000 poore people (great and small) with great store of cattle and other pillage, without any hindrance; what a shame it is for this towne to see this, and, to suffer it: it is unspeakable, and is strangely discourst of."

An item from Brussels, Sept. 19, 1621:

"There is come from Spayne, that the archduches shall absolutely govern these countryes, and there is great preparation made for the buriall of the archduke."

The Corant ends with a more cheerful dispatch from Frankfort, Sept. 25, 1621, reporting the Earl of Mansfield yielding to the emperor and joining with the Duke at Bavaria:

"The souldiers that are retayned have two months pay given them: the rest are discharged, and sent away without money: therefore the princes and states of the empire are advised to set good watches in the high wayes, to prevent those souldiers from ransacking where they goe."

Open Inquiry In Dockland Fire

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Oakland fire department, strongly suspecting incendiarism, opened an investigation Saturday into the cause of Friday night's waterfront fire which caused damages estimated by owners at more than $10,000,000.

Three firemen suffered slight injuries.

Fire marshal James Sweeney, Jr., said the fire spread so fast that 100 firemen and 21 pieces of apparatus, plus a boat were unable to save three huge warehouses.

Rent Controls Must Continue

VICTORIAVILLE, Que. (CP)—Premier Duplessis said Saturday provincial rent controls must continue although small property owners are being pushed "into an abyss" by an "absolutely unjust" burden of taxation.

Addressing 500 delegates of the Quebec League of Property-owners at the close of their annual convention, Mr. Duplessis said the root of the trouble is that the federal government collects 77 per cent of national tax revenues.

Coal Carrier Aground

BLENHEIM (CP)—A power failure which cut off the Erieau foghorn Sunday was blamed for the grounding of the freighter Alexander Leslie nine miles southwest of here. The coal carrier was hard aground Sunday night with a crew of 32 and a cargo of 5,000 tons of coal.

Plane Crashes, 2 Hurt

BRAMPTON (CP) — Two men were critically hurt Saturday when their small plane crashed on takeoff at nearby Brampton airport. The injured were identified by police as Chick Brown, 28, pilot, and Howard Ward, 26. Both are from Brampton.

Householder Kills Bear Invading Ottawa Suburb

OTTAWA (CP)—Human ingenuity brought about the death of a bold black bear in an Ottawa suburb early Saturday.

The hungry bear, a female, walked into a weird warning device prepared by Gregory Belkov at his home in Arundel Heights, on the city's eastern outskirts. This is Mr. Belkov's story of the shooting:

For the last week, residents of Arundel Heights have been bothered by a bear which raided neighborhood garbage cans by night.

Mr. Belkov filled a garbage can with tasty morsels. Then he strung a wire from the can through a series of eyelets to his living room fastening it to a bucket, balanced on its edge.

SHOOTS FAST

Early Saturday, when Mr. Belkov was awakened by the bucket's clatter, he grabbed his 30-30 rifle, dashed to the garage and stepped on a foot-switch which threw a beam of light at the garbage can and the surprised bruin. Mr. Belkov fired twice. The bear dropped.

Mrs. Belkov had mixed feelings about the episode.

For the dead bruin, she had nothing but sympathy.

"Why couldn't he have just disappeared?" she asked. "Oh, the poor bear!"

IT'S SPEEDY AND HARDLY WET—A U.S. Navy research craft rides above the water on hydrofoils along the Chicago, Ill., lake front. By the use of hydrofoils, the craft's top speed was increased from 22 to 40 miles-per-hour.

Polio Scare Closes Three Schools

Best To Play Safe Says Douro MOH; Schools Shut Week

The three schools of Douro School Area No. 2 have been closed because of the danger of poliomyelitis.

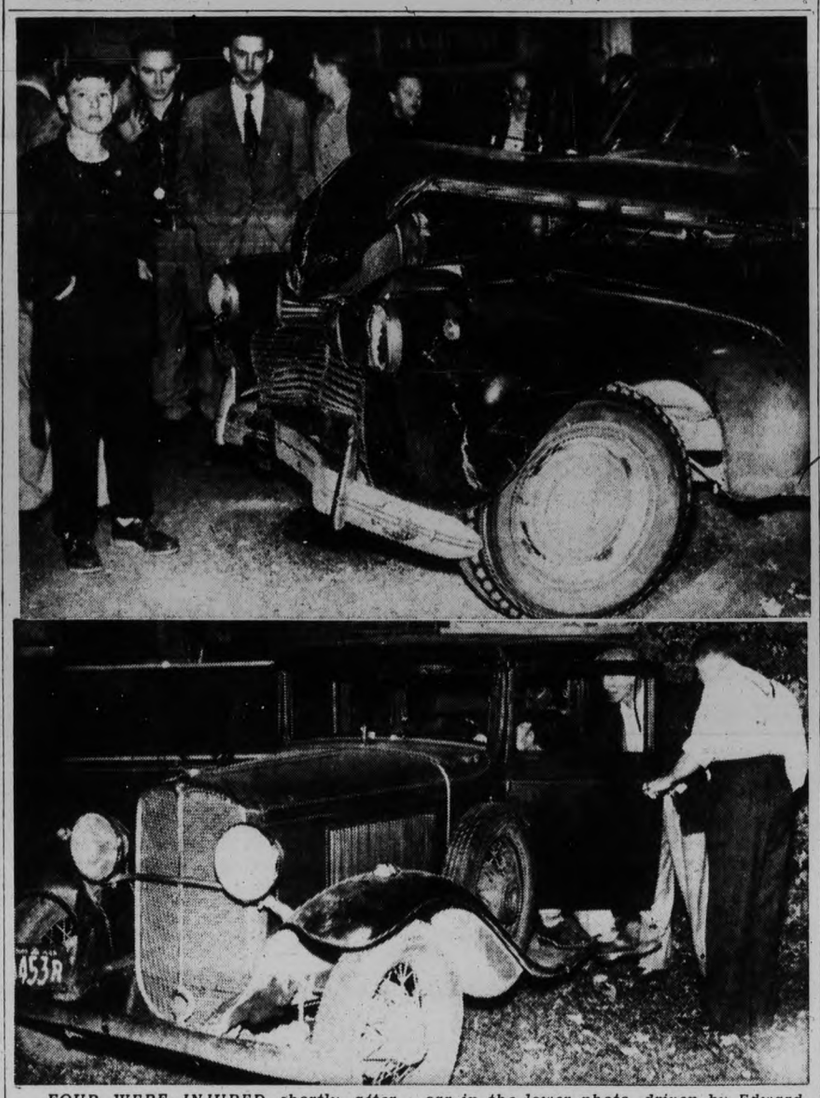
For this week, at least, 170 pupils of the school section's three schools —Coronation, Auburn, and Union 17 Otonabee-Douro—will stay at home so they won't be exposed to infection.

This is a "play safe" measure, Dr. Donald Munro, Douro township's medical officer of health, said today.

This drastic action was taken after a five-year-old girl from RR 10, Peterborough, a pupil at Coronation school, developed polio and was taken to Civic Hospital on Friday. Dr. Munro suggested closing Coronation school only, but the members of the school board decided to close all three.

BUS SERVES ALL

"We decided to close the three schools in the area because one bus picks up children for all three," said Kenneth Kidd, chairman of the board. "I don't know how long this shutdown will last—not too long, I hope, because it costs us money to close the schools.



"However," continued Mr. Kidd, "money is of secondary importance in a situation like this."

"I got my information from the mother of the child that got it," said Dr. Munro, the 85-year-old MOH from Warsaw. "I thought the best thing was to close the school and wait a week to see if there are any more cases.

"If there are more cases they should show up by the end of that time in illness.

"I know that children are like other animals—they're pretty hard to keep on leash. It's difficult to keep them from getting together for a week or so.

The veteran of 47 years of medical practice concluded with a frank admission: "Even so, we don't know if we are doing the right thing. We know so darned little about polio. However we feel we are acting in the right direction . . . It's best to play safe."

FOUR WERE INJURED shortly after 11:00 p.m. Saturday in a collision at Lansdowne and Lock Sts. Damage was estimated at $250 to the car in the upper photo, driven by William M. Brooks, 22, 635 Oxford St. About $150 damage was done to the car in the lower photo, driven by Edward Woodhouse, 17, 218 Braidwood Ave., which was knocked onto the lawn of a house on the northeast corner of the intersection. Neither driver was injured.

$1,500 Fire Damages Orange Hall

Thick Smoke Helps To Smother Boiler Room Blaze

An estimated $1,000 damage to the building and an additional $500 to the contents were caused early Saturday evening when fire broke out in the boiler room at the north-west corner of the Orange Hall at 184 Brock St., opposite the Brock St. Arena.

While the $500 damage to contents was mainly due to smoke, it was the thick, acrid clouds of smoke which were credited with helping to smother the blaze, confining it almost entirely to the boiler room.

The fire, which was thought to have been smouldering for some time before it was detected, was attributed by firemen to spontaneous ignition among the contents of a wooden cupboard in the boiler room. It burned away some of the main floor immeditely above the boiler room and left a radiator hanging by its connecting pipes but did not get any farther through the building.

REPORTS FIRE

The flames were first noticed by Edward Payne, who went to the hall about 6.45 to prepare for a bingo game which was to have been held Saturday night. He discovered the front door locked and going around to the side, noticed the flames through a hole in the brick wall, through which an electrical conduit had previously passed.

He raced across the street to a private home and phoned in the alarm to the fire department. Three minutes later, firemen were combating the blaze with fog from a pumper. Shortly after a second line was in play from a hydrant connection.

The flames had succeeded in reaching the outside hydro connection, plunging the building into darkness. Firemen worked by the dim light of hand lamps in the thick smoke which forced them to don air masks. The fire was brought under control shortly after their arrival.

Liquor Counts Face Two Men After Four Hurt

Four people were injured about 11:00 p.m. Saturday when two vehicles collided at Lansdowne and Lock Sts. Ken Corbett, 18, 668 Hawley St., is in St. Joseph's Hospital with a fractured left arm. Marie McMahon, 17, 140 Stanley Ave., is also in St. Joseph's Hospital with fractured ribs. Walter Noble, 25, 556 Wolfe St., had four stitches sewn in the right side of his forehead in Civic Hospital outpatients' department. Grace Bryant, 19, 90 West Lynn, Toronto, was treated for forehead lacerations at Civic Hospital. She was released from hospital Sunday.

Neither of the drivers, Walter E. Woodhouse, 17, 218 Braidwood Ave., and William M. Brooks, 22, 635 Oxford St., was injured. Corbett and Mis McMahon were passengers in the Woodhouse vehicle. Noble and Miss Bryant were passengers in the Brooks car.

In magistrate's court today. Noble and Brooks were charged with illegal possesion of liquor. Several bottles of beer were found at the scene of the crash, Brooks was fined $15 and $2.50 and Noble $10 and $2.50.

Woodhouse, who was driving north on Lock St., stopped for the stop sign at Lansdowne St. He told police he was just starting up again when he noticed a man cross from the north to the south side of Lansdowne St. The man started to go straight across but changed direction and started to walk diagonally across in front of Woodhouse's car.

NEARLY STOPPED

Woodhouse said he slowed down almost to a stop to see where the man was going and was struck by the Brooks car, which was travelling east on Lansdowne St. Jim Haggart, 191 Lock St., a witness to the accident, said he saw the Woodhouse car moving slowly north on Lock St. According to his story, the Brooks vehicle "seemed to be coming quite fast."

Woodhouse said he saw the Brooks car when he first started across the intersection and it seemed to be at George St. so he thought he had plenty of time to get across.

Brooks said as he reached Lock St. the Woodhouse vehicle suddenly appeared in front of him. He applied his brakes but was unable to avoid a collision.

The Woodhouse vehicle was knocked almost completely around and up onto the lawn in front of a house on the northeast corner of the intersection.

Damage to the left rear of the Woodhouse vehicle, a 1931 car, was estimated at $150. About $250 damage was done to the front end of the Brooks vehicle.

PC William A. Scott investigated.

Kenner Victory Elation Causes Girl's Injury

Kenner Collegiate's shutout victory over PCVS in the junior inter-collegiate football game Saturday proved too much for one of the Kenner cheerleaders.

Beverley Lindsay, 15, of 348 Grady Ave., one of the southenders' attractive cheerleaders, went through the usual gymnastic routine during the game without a mishap. But once the game was over she rushed onto the playing field with other schoolmates celegrating the 16 to 0 victory, and there she fell and dislocated her right elbow.

She was one of five people who received outpatient treatment over the weekend at Civic hospital. All five were victims of minor mishaps.

Terrance Smethurst, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Smethurst of 70 Lee St. had a cast put on when he came to the hospital with a broken collarbone. He was playing in the yard with his brother when he fell and broke the bone.

Judy Thompson, 5½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thomson of 324 McGill St., was bitten by a stray dog on Sunday. The wound on her right leg was dressed at the hospital and she was permitted to go home. She is at school today.

Early Sunday morning Mrs. Ambrose Howarn, 22, of 27 Park St. S., received outpatient treatment for cuts on the back of her head and shoulders. She fell down some cellar steps.

Late Sunday night Walter Cenise of 406 Aylmer St. was treated for a cut on the left side of his eye.

Minister For Three Months, Bethany Pastor, 29, Dies

Three months after he entered his first pastorate at the Bethany United Church, the Rev. William Clifford Grant, 29, died Sunday in Toronto. Mr. Grant resigned his pastorate in Bethany in August due to illness after being there a month. A diabetic for years, Mr. Grant became seriously ill in August and was first taken to the Civic hospital. He was later moved to Toronto hospital where he died on Sunday.

He graduated from university three years ago after studying at colleges in both Manitoba and Ontario. He was ordained in 1950 and for two years was in charge of the Toc H work in Toronto.

Mr. Grant was called to the Bethany charge in July and was inducted there by the Rev. N. Cole of Westwood-Hastings charge. He had worked that field for a month before being forced to resign.

SEEK NEW PASTOR

Since Mr. Grant's resignation in August the services have been conducted by different ministers from the Peterborough district. Negotiations have been under way for some time for a new minister and one is expected to be named some time in November.

Prior to entering the ministry, Mr. Grant worked for a time on the staff of the Port Arthur News-Chronicle. He was educated in Port Arthur.

The funeral will be held in Toronto Tuesday at the Washington and John funeral home on Queen St. Representing the Peterborough Presbytery at the service will be the Rev. H. G. Douglas of Knox United Church and the Rev. I. G. Pollock of Grace Church.

Apple Day Sets New Record Of 130 Bushels

One hundred and thirty bushels of apples were handed out and 20,000 tags distributed by 500 Scouts and Cubs on their annual apple day Saturday. It was the best apple day collection in the history of the association, officials announced today and proceeds will total more than $1,800. This is $400 more than the previous high.

One unexpected donation came to the Cubs and Scouts when $12.41, including referee's fees, was collected at the soccer game on Saturday afternoon in King Edward Park. The game was between the Scots and the English with the former winning 3 to 0.

Ed McDonald, treasurer of the Peterborough Boy Scout Association, had more than 21,000 coins to count and roll. When the task was completed six six-quart baskets were filled with rolled coins.

Lang Youth, 16, Pinned In Car, Pelvis Fractured

Reid Scriver, 16, of Lang, was pinned beneath his own car for half an hour Saturday after it rolled over on an Otonabee township road, two miles northeast of Lang.

He was found semi-conscious by a chum, Jack Steel of Lang, and an unidentified Peterborough milkman. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital with a fractured pelvis, cuts and bruises.

Hospital authorities said today that Scriver was seriously injured, though not critically. Later today he will be put in a body cast.

Scriver a PCVS student, was on his way to work at Johnny Fife's farm in Otonabee when the accident occurred. He started to round a curve while going north on the township road and the car went out of control.

CAR TOPPLES

The vehicle ran off the paved surface, partly climbed a bank on the right-hand side of the road, and then toppled back.

As it rolled back Scriver is believed to have tried to get out. When he was found (approximately half an hour later, though the time lapse seemed longer to the injured youth) the car was lying on its left with the driver's door open. The weight of the car was resting on the door pinning him to the ground.

The 1938-model car was wrecked. The accident was investigated by OPP Constable Bruce Tillson.

Dr. Wilson Ford of Keene attended the injured Scriver.

Omemee Man Pinned In Car, Uninjured

LINDSAY (ENS) An Omemee man was pinned for some time in his overturned car off highway 7 near Reaboro early Sunday morning. Long before Lindsay provincial police were notified he was freed.

According to police, Carl Coulter of Omemee drove his car off the highway near Reaboro Saturday night, but the call was not received by police until early Sunray morning when a wrecking truck was called to take the car away and free the driver. Coulter was uninjured in the mishap which was investigated by provincial constable Clive Naismith of the Lindsay detachment

Dr. Hugh Davies Heads Lindsay Hockey Club

LINDSAY (ENS) — Dr. Hugh Davies, was re-elected president of the Lindsay Junior Hockey Club at Sunday's meeting of the executive. The directors of the club voted unanimously to turn out a junior team for OHA play this year, despite the fact that Eddie Shore's sponsorship of the team ceased when he left town.

Jack Lamb, arena manager this year, was elected secretary-treasurer of the team and John Thorsen and Frank Power publicity conveners. Committees were also appointed to investigate the possibility of having local industry sponsor the team this year, and to pick a coach for the club and managers for the season. The directors felt the club should have at least $500 cash and $500 in pledges before starting the season.

Auto Blaze Roasts Vegetables In Car

LINDSAY (ENS) Shopping Lindsayites were treated to a roast potato feed Saturday afternoon on Lindsay St. south, when a car caught fire and burned.

According to police, Pontypool farmer, William Strong was driving south on Highway 7, toward his home, when the left rear wheel of the car fell off and sparks from the dragging axle ignited gasoline leaking from the tank. Strong, his wife, and their two sons, aged three and six, fled from the blazing car while spectators called the fire department and police.

A load of vegetables in the car roasted, and was scattered about the highway. The car was a complete loss.

Bancroft Loot Found At Sharon

BANCROFT (ENS)—Part of the loot from two recent Bancroft breakins was recovered last week in an abandoned car at Sharon, seven miles northeast of Newmarket.

Chief Constable J. E. Jardine of Sharon surprised a party of men who were trying to break into a planing mill there. The men fled, abandoning the car that had been listed by OPP Constable George Lloyd as being used in the Bancroft robberies.

A quantity of loot left in the car was identified by its Bancroft owners and returned to them.

Stapley's garage and Plumley's store in Bancroft were broken into early in the morning of Oct. 7. Oxy-acetylene cutting equipment, six gas cylinders, and a quantity of clothing were stolen.

Bermuda Smartens Self Up For Visit Of Queen, Duke

By EDWARD SAYER

HAMILTON, Bermuda (Reuters)—Bermuda, first official stop on the Australasian tour of the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, is smartening itself up for the first visit of a reigning sovereign in its more than 300 years.

The Royal couple will be in the colony for only 20 hours, on Nov. 24-25, on their way by air from Britain to Jamaica. But during that time, the Queen and her consort will cover the length and breadth of these tiny islands.

Only a short section of the route will be covered by horse and carriage, which, until 1946, when the ban on the use of motorcars by anyone except the governor was lifted, was Bermuda's fashionable mode of travel.

For most of their journeys across this 24-mile-long, 21-mile wide island the Queen and the Duke will ride in two convertible British cars especially imported for the occasion.

HIGHLIGHT OF VISIT

The highlight of their visit will be the Queen's address to a joint session of the House of Assembly and Legislative Council, the oldest colonial parliament in the British Empire. It dates back to August, 1620.

The itinerary for the Queen's visit will give full opportunity for the colony's 38,000 population to see the Queen and the Duke.

The airliner bringing the Queen and the Duke will touch down on a U.S. air base—Kindley field at the eastern end of the islands.

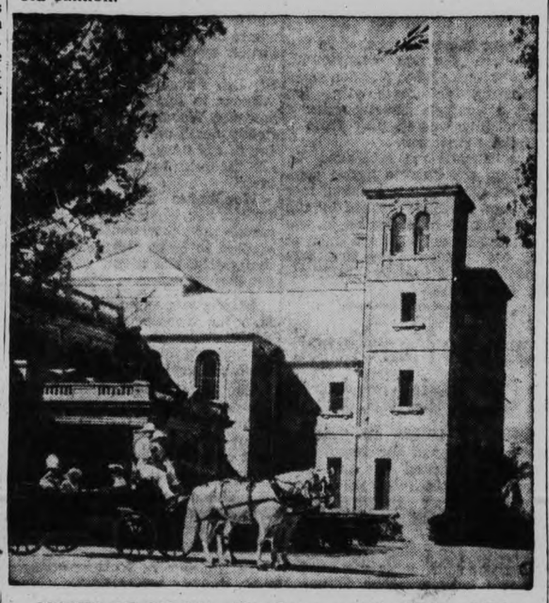
The governor, Lt.-Gen. Sir Alexander Hood, Lady Hood and their daughter, Rosemary, will greet the Queen and her husband.

The Royal party will then drive between ranks of schoolchildren to the former capital, old St. George's town, site of the oldest Anglican church in the western hemisphere.

After leaving St. George's, the Royal procession will head west for about 11 miles to government house.

10-MINUTE PAUSE

After a 10-minute pause for light refreshments at government house, the Royal couple will enter the horse-drawn state Landau and drive half a mile or so to the boundary of Hamilton, the capital, where they will receive loyalty addresses.



The Queen and her husband will board a government ferryboat for the six or seven miles to the western end of the colony. The course will take the Royal visitors among the picturesque islands of the Little and Great Sounds. In this relaxing atmosphere, the Royal party will have a picnic lunch.

The Royal visitors will return by car to Hamilton and government house, to a garden party.

In the evening a state dinner will be given. The next morning the Queen and the Duke will leave for Jamaica.

QUEEN TO VISIT—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will fly from England to Bermuda next month at the start of their round-the-world Commonwealth tour. Bermuda, the oldest self-governing colony in the Commonwealth, dates back 350 years when forts such as Gate's Fort was a bastion in the South Atlantic. A couple of young tourists admire the old cannon.

HOSTS OF QUEEN—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will attend a garden party at Government House, Bermuda, when they visit that island November 24 at the start of their round-the-world Commonwealth tour. Their hosts, His Excellency Lt.-Gen. Sir Alexander Hood and Lady Hood, are shown in their carriage on the grounds of Government House. Queen Elizabeth and the Duke will spend a day on the island, oldest self-governing colony in the Commonwealth.

New Zealand Reduced Labor Strife

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Three years ago militant trade unions had a stranglehold on New Zealand and the country was torn by labor strife. Today it is enjoying almost unprecedented industrial harmony.

Three years ago there were 113 industrial disturbances in 12 months. Figures just released show that in the latest 12-month period there were 55, but 43 of these were only minor affairs lasting a day or less.

In 1950 Labor Minister William Sullivan was the most overworked man in the country. Today he has so little to do that he has just been given the extra portfolio of housing.

WATERFRONT SHOWDOWN

The showdown which led to this change centred on the waterfront and it is there that the most remarkable difference is evident today.

In 1951 an extremist and all-powerful union controlled New Zealand's ports and enforced strikes on the slightest provocation. Cargo handling was slowed down by restrictive practices.

New Zealand ports got a bad name with world shipping lines which enforced a surcharge on all cargo to the country because of delays in New Zealand ports.

The waterfront union, which included prominent Communists among its leaders, won many victories but early in 1951 the National party (Conservative) government after a year in office met the union in a head-on trial of strength.

The government refused to concede any point in a general waterfront strike and worked the ports with servicemen while building up rival port unions with labor drawn from other industries. The long strike paralyzed much of the country's industry for several months.

It ended, however, in defeat of the union. New unions took over the port work and were soon handling cargo more efficiently than the old union.

BOOST EARNINGS

The new unions have abolished restrictive practices and concentrated on boosting earnings by taking advantage of the bonus provisions offered for fast handling of ships.

Many longshoremen are earning the equivalent of $3,000 a year, a high wage in New Zealand where living costs are low. It is more than most skilled tradesmen earn.

Although the waterfront labor force is 1,000 fewer than under the old regime there are no more delays in port. Shipping lines have abolished the surcharge.

The coal miners and packing-house employees, also members of militant unions, supported the longshoremen in the 1951 strike, and like them suffered a severe setback. They capitulated without winning any of their demands.

U.S. Navy Jet Sets Record

MUROC, Calif. (AP)—The Douglas Aircraft Company announced Saturday the fleet navy jet plane F-4D Skyray was flown at an average speed of 728.110 miles an hour Friday to set a world speed record for a closed course.

The company said Bob Rahn, 32-year-old Douglas test pilot, flew the delta-wing jet interceptor at an altitude of about 300 feet around the 100-kilometre course to better the British mark of 709.2 miles an hour.

Neville Duke, flying a British Hawker Hunter jet fighter, had established the previous record at Dunsfold, Surrey, England, on Sept. 19.

Minister Criticizes "Tepid Christianity"

ORILLIA (CP)—A Toronto minister said Sunday "tepid Christianity is no match for scorching paganism."

Rev. Gordon Hunter, in an address to the fifth annual Young People's Union convention of the United Church's Toronto conference, urged youth to recapture the "revolutionary spirit" of the early Christians. He said today's followers "like their revolution thinned down, sweetened up and sprayed on."

Township Clerk Dies

DUNDALK (CP) — Chester N. Long, 66, clerk-treasurer of Osprey township for the last 15 years, died Sunday at his home at Feversham. Mrs. James Robinson of Guelph is a daughter.

Erect Cairn To Banting

ALLISTON (CP) — A memorial cairn for Sir Frederick Banting, co-discoverer of insulin, is to be erected in this community near Camp Borden. The cairn will be placed on the grounds of the Banting Memorial High School in this Simcoe county town in which Sir Frederick was born. He was killed in a plane crash in Newfoundland in 1941.

Soybeans For Overseas

PORT STANLEY (CP) — Canada's first overseas shipment of soybeans—which, dealers said, was directly responsible for a price rise of 21 cents a bushel to the farmer in the last 10 days—left here Sunday. Opening of a new era for Port Stanley and other Lake Erie north shore ports was indicated by the sailing of the Shirley D. Taylor with 90,000 bushels of western Ontario soybeans, Agriculture Minister F. B. Thomas of Ontario said.

MEETING OVER AND SUCCESSFUL—Smiles indicate that annual gathering of separate school teachers in the Peterborough district was a successful one. Left to right, above, are: Miss Marion Downer, chairman of the program committee; Miss Justina MacMartyn, past president of the OECTA; Miss Dorothea MacDonell, past president of the OFT; and Edgar Boland, chairman of the publicity committee. The meeting was held in St. Peter's auditorium on Saturday.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Gifted Child Problem To Educationists: Windrim

"Much attention is justly devoted to the retarded child in our modern educational system, but the gifted child also presents a serious problem which must be regarded."

This point was highly stressed by P. D. Windrim, BA, Inspector of Public Schools guest speaker at the Catholic Teachers Association meeting held Saturday in St. Peter's auditorium.

"While we recognize the basic principle, that the emotional and social adjustment of the child is as important as his intellectual development, we recognize that the gifted child must not be frustrated. As our modern world demands a high level of leadership, it is our duty to provide the gifted child with challenging works lest he fall short of his potentialities and fall into boredom and idleness. This matter which requires urgent attention, should be dealt with at the elementary school level."

To deal with the problem, he went on, contact must be made with the parents. Enrichment courses must be provided, creative activities encouraged, extra-curricular groups developed to provide scope for leadership and social adjustment. Care must be taken however, not to push the child to the adult level.

OUTLINES HISTORY

Miss Dorothea MacDonell, past-president of the Ontario Teachers Federation gave a brief outline of the history of the OECTA and pointed out that the chief aim of the organization was to promote Catholic education.

"To advance the understanding among parents, teachers and students, and to work for the moral, intellectual, religious, and professional perfection of all members," was its purpose, she said.

She said that there were too few Catholics among the professional experts in education in this province. "It is imperative in this age of constant change that we have experts who can speak with authority on child development, guidance and remedial work."

President of the Association meeting was Miss Justina MacMartyn. Entertainment was provided with piano solos by Jim Doris and Betty Evans.

Believes Women Make Better Bankers Than Men

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—Women, says a woman banker, often make the best bankers.

This may be because they have had long experience with stretching a dollar, guarding a piggy bank and wrestling with the grocery budget.

Also, women take a realistic view of money. Men are likely to talk in large round numbers, adding a few digits to make things sound good. Women will announce the price of a dress as $12.98, and men will describe it as "somewhere under $15." That extra $2.02 means a pair of stockings and a manicure to a woman, but to a man it's not worth talking about.

ATTITUDE OF MIND

It's an attitude of mind, says Ann Javits, one of the first women in America to hold an executive position in a metropolitan bank. Miss Javits, vice president of the Commercial State Bank and Trust Co., of New York, has been with the institution for 29 years. She started in 1924 as a secretary. She worked in practically every department before her advancement to assistant vice president in 1951, and this year to vice president and manager of the personal loan division. Says she:

"Big business is people. That's what it always has meant to me. I always have tried to make personal contact with as many customers of the bank as possible. I can tell more in five minutes of personal conversation with a man than I can by pages of credit references. You have to bank on character."

STRESSES PERSONAL ELEMENT

During her long career in banking Miss Javits has stressed the personal element. She explains:

"Too many people think of banking as a cold, impersonal business. Actually it should be the exact opposite. A bank must deal with people and invest in character if it is to succeed. A hand shake and a greeting from an officer of the bank can mean more than an annual report to the average depositor."

REMEMBERS SERVICE

Today Miss Jacits passes on every application for personal loans that come into any of the branches of her bank. Many are for small amounts, and these are the ones she considers most important. She says:

"It's not the big business man who wants a $5,000 loan to take care of an emergency shipment who is most likely to remember the service he gets. It's the working man who has to have $150 to pay for an operation or a doctor's bill."

Miss Javits recommends banking as a promising career for young women with a special talent for fiscal affairs. But she has this advice:

INDIVIDUAL STRESSED

"Never forget the importance of the individual customer. Never act like a big shot. Remember that the biggest men in any business usually are the friendliest and most approachable.

"Women are naturally sympathetic and interested in people. This can be their biggest contribution to big business, which up to now often has neglected the personal phase of finance.

"When we can teach women to feel as much at home in a bank as in a grocery store, then we will have made real progress."

Business Women Enjoy Guest At "Emblem Tea"

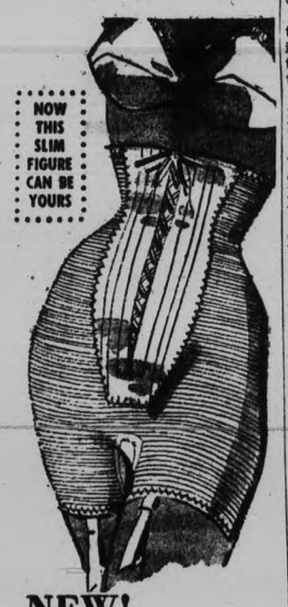
An "Emblem Tea" on Sunday afternoon and attendance in a body at the evening service of Murray St. Baptist Church concluded the observance of Business Women's Week by the Business and Professional Women's Club of Peterborough.

Guest for the occasion, Miss Nazla Dane, of Toronto, an outstanding business woman, interpreted the octogan-shaped emblem of the club in a short address preceding the tea. Points of the octogan, starting at the top and going right, are to represent God, Faith, Ability, Harmony, Uprightness, Vision, Membership and Revenue.

In closing, Miss Dane quoted a poem titled "The Creation," by James Weldon Johnston, a Negro writer who has put the story of God creating the world in very simple language for his fellow men.

Miss Sarah Eastwood thanked the speaker for being present. Miss Dane had just returned from a speaking tour in the Maritimes and Newfoundland, it was mentioned by Miss Esther Thornton in her introduction.

The club members were also favored by Mrs. Arnold Bennett who sang two solos, "How Beautiful on the Mountain" and "O Lord Most Holy." She was accompanide by Mrs. Ross Moore.



Miss Margaret Battersby gave a short reading, "Why I am a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club."

President Miss Alice Hardwicke received at the tea with Miss Dane.

Tea arrangements and serving were by the Others Class of the Murray Street Church in the church parlor.

Home and School Association News

WOODVIEW SCHOOL

Woodview Home and School Association met at the schoolhouse last week, Mrs. Hutton Burns, first vice-president, in the chair.

It was mentioned that members had been unable to find a suitable frame for the Queen's picture and Mr. Douglas Vaisey offered to donate a frame.

Mrs. Burns brought more details about the regional conference to be held the 31st of October and all those who intend going are to notify her.

Speaker for next month will be Dr. C. P. Ray of Kenner Collegiate whose subject will be "Education - Everybody's business.'

Mr. Douglas Vaisey spoke at this meeting. His subject was "Pioneers or Parasites." He commenced by saying that Dr. Bell not only invented the telephone but also the idea of Home & School called then "Parents Clubs."

"Sometimes parents are "pioneers" sometimes "parasites." Every parent Club or Home & School Association is not vitally interested in the child. The child is up against emotional problems —He is subjected to feelings of his parents and to feelings of the Teacher." Mr. Vaisey likened the teacher and pupil to "siamese twins" — "they cannot get along without each other" he said.

He spoke of "parasites" being pitfalls of Home & School—those who like to buy a membership and are never seen again—those who like to tell the principal how to run the school. Topics for discusion he suggested were:

(1) Meaning and purpose of education.

(2) Study of child himself.

(3) Teaching — Progress and organization in the school itself.

A hearty vote of thanks to the speaker was extended by Mrs. Ken Petrie.

Mr. Hutton Burns lead the group in a sing-song, and favored with several enjoyable vocal numbers.

Lunch was served, in charge of Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Fred Howson.

Finds Raising Chinchillas Highly Interesting Hobby

REGINA (CP)—When Mrs. J. P. Vagg began raising chincillas as a hobby here in 1950, she knew practically nothing about the furry little South American animals.

Now she knows a lot, or at least enough to raise the costly stock successfully.

Mrs. Vagg says they are easy to look after. They have no bad habits, they don't use their sharp teeth unless frightened by a prodding finger, and there is no offensive odor.

She expects she will have built up a large-enough stock by next year to start selling them. But apart from the money angle, she finds it a highly interesting hobby. She spends far more time with the chinchillas than necessary, because she enjoys it.

VALUABLE PELTS

Thirty of the little rodents with the valuable pelts, whose native habitat is the Andes mountains in Chile, are owned by Mrs. Vagg.

The chinchillas are kept in wire and wooden cages built by her husband in a basement room. They are fed little pellets compounded of various grasses, hay and alfalfa, with dandelion greens and carrot tops when in season.

Mrs. Vagg showed a reporter the latest addition: A tiny female, one day old, already scampering about with eyes wide open. The usual litter is two or three although broods of six have been recorded. The females, in bigger demand than the males because of their comparative rarity, bear up to three litters a year.

A pair of chinchillas for breeding purposes costs from $700 to $1,800, depending on the grade. A federal inspector grades the stock twice a year and poor specimens must be culled to ensure a constant high quality.

Mrs. Vagg estimated upkeep at $4 for each chinchilla a year. Each pelt sells at $60 and up.

Mrs. Pandit Only Woman To Silence Vishinsky

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Nan Pandit is the only woman who ever told Andrei Vishinsky publicly to shut up—and made it stick.

Mrs. Pandit by now must be getting accustomed to this "only woman" stuff. In a comparatively few years she has been the only woman to serve a country as ambassador in both Moscow and Washington; the only woman to head a United Nations delegation; the only woman to be elected president of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Altogether, 53-year-old Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, the handsome sister of India's Prime Minister Nehru and mother of three married daughters, is one of the world's most distinguished—and controversial—personalities.

"I would like to be considered quite impartial," she says of her UN presidency. "What my country stands for can mean nothing to me during these coming months."

VISHINSKY TWICE DOWNED

In two difficult encounters within a month of her presidency, Mrs. Pandit came off winner. She firmly extinguished Soviet - sponsored efforts to exclude Chinese Nationalists from the General Assembly. Later the intractable Vishinsky pulled out of parliamentary line and was warming up to an oration when Mrs. Pandit threw the rule book at him. When he paid no heed, she calmly flipped an electric switch on the presidium desk which cut him off from everybody except his Russian-speaking colleagues.

Of her high position, she says: "I'd rather my election be considered as an honor to my country than an honor to women. Of course I am very proud that I am a woman. But in this country there is so much emphasis on women as women. It is important that a woman detach herself from the feminine aspect if she wants to be effective.

SEES TWO EXTREMES

"I was terribly impressed when I came to America to see that women could be glamorous as well as hold fine jobs. I think our concept—that an unwashed face and uncombed hair didn't matter—came when we were fighting and going to prison.

"In other words, I think that here you are overdoing it. And that we in India are underplaying it. It should be somewhere in the middle."

Madame Pandit is a high caste Hindu born to riches and luxury who as a fiery rebel chose prison and physical hardship.

Her father, Motilal Nehru, was a Brahman lawyer, so rich and so westernized his fine lawn shirts were sent to Paris to be laundered. Mrs. Pandit—born Swarup Kumari—was his second child. Her brother Jawaharlal, Gandhi's prime disciple, is 10 years her senior. When Swarup was five, the family went to England where a governess was employed and taken back to the Nehru's beautiful home in the United provinces.

GHANDI ALTERED LIFE

The pattern of the Nehrus' aristocratic, luxurious life changed as first her father and brother and then the whole family fell under the spell of Gandhi. She first met him in her home but doesn't remember the circumstances. The second time, when she was 17, she remembers.

"Baphu—Little Father, as all India called him—came to my home town to start his non-violent movement," she recalls. "He spoke at a big mass meeting and I went, although my mother was averse to it."

Gandhi appealed for contributions.

"I suddenly found myself struggling with my bracelets," she said. "I couldn't get them off my right arm, but I ripped them from my left. And then I tried to hide my left arm so my mother wouldn't know."

She smiled.

"And soon my mother was going to give her bangles and dedicate her whole life to that same little naked man."

HUSBAND DIED IN 1944

Gandhi was a guest at the wedding party celebrating her marriage in 1921 to Ranjit Pandit, a young lawyer who spent years in prison for his Nationalist activities. Ranjit died in 1944.

Prison became almost a second home to the family. Mrs. Pandit was first arrested in 1932 with a younger sister. She was sentenced to a year and fined when she refused to promise to stop taking part in meetings and processions for a month. In all, she served well over two years.

Her intimates call her "Nan," her brother's name for her, which means "little sister."

Those who are unsympathetic to Mrs. Pandit suspect she is a superb, hard-headed actress, forever playing a role. Even her friends concede she is extremely ambitious—a woman who immediately sets new goals upon achieving an old one.

Except that she is tremendously busy, Mrs. Pandit does not give the impression of a driving woman. She has remarkable poise, turns up always firmly grounded and briefed on the subject at hand, argues well and, although slightly remote, is extremely gracious.

PREFERS SHOES OFF

She is intensely feminine. Her short grey hair is always well-groomed, her hands manicured. She invariably wears a sari, and has a large collection of beautiful garments of rich, deep colors.

She uses make-up discreetly, wears little jewelry—and her only vanities are her tiny, well-formed feet and trim ankles. She kicks off her shoes when entering a private home, and a source of considerable quiet amusement among friends is to watch Mrs. Pandit, president of the United Nations, talking with concentration and wiggling her stockingless toes.

DOROTHY DIX

Finds Sweetheart Restless Since Going Away To Work

DEAR MISS DIX: Several months ago I arrived from a distant city to take on a good position with an excellent future. I am 21. When I left my home town I left a sweetheart whom I had known about three months. We have written each other regularly and are very much in love. When I returned home for a recent visit things were still the same. Her parents liked me and my family approves warmly of Mary. Then, last week, I received a letter that was quite a shock. She asserted definitely that she still loves me, but feels restless, and resents being "tied down." I can't leave my job, but don't want to lose her.

LEE

NOTHING USUAL

ANSWER: Mary's position is understandable, since many young girls resent the social inactivity involved in remaining constant to an absent sweetheart. Yet, if she is the sort of girl who expects to become a capable and understanding woman, she should realize the responsibility of your position. Life can't be a bed of roses for anyone. Often the present must be sacrificed for the benefit of a happy, secure future. This position would be understood by Mary if she has any concern for your mutual welfare. If she prefers present pleasures, in making frequent dates, to planning and preparing for her life as your mate, she is obviously more concerned about her welfare than yours. This problem happens frequently since it involves boys in service as well as young men seeking business opportunities.

If Mary refuses to wait for you, your alternative is to try to make dates, meet new friends and engage in local activities. Don't give up your job, and don't consider your case hopeless. After a stray date or two, your girl may realize that your character and dependability are well worth the waiting time.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a divorced woman with two children. I've been going with middle-aged man who has been just wonderful to me and my boys. He told me he was divorced from his wife, but I have learned that he was married twice, and left both wives, apparently without the usual reason for separation. Do you think if I married him that I'd always be afraid he'd leave me, too?

LEE J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: It would be a good idea to delve as deeply as possible into the reasons for his two broken marriages. Don't trust his word alone, but try to talk to his friends, or anyone who has known him for a long time. If both divorces were due to his actions, it would be almost a sure bet that a third marriage would work no better.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DX: About a year ago I was going steady with Frank. Then he told me he had enlisted in the service and, thinking I would never see him again, I broke off with him. Now he's home on leave and won't even get in touch with me. I know I should have continued our companionship, but didn't realize how much I'd miss him. How can I get him back?

T. L.

ANSWER: You wouldn't stand by the boy when he needed you most, so you can scarcely expect him to return to you now that you've changed your fickle mind again.

Will you always be so eager to run when things don't go your way? If you honestly feel that your breakup with Frank was a mistake, and you think you could be a more dependable friend in the future, write to him, apologizing for your actions. He may be willing to forgive and forget.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Chopping With Sharp Knife Eliminates Grape Skins

We will not go into the little subject of grape-stained fingers and aprons but we will say that for breakfast we had grape jam made without sugar on our toast and it was good.

My problem when working on this particular sugarless jam was the toughness of the grape skin. Even when the jam was boiled for 40 minutes the skins were a little too tough for pleasurable eating. So on the next test I ground the raw grape skins. This was hard to do for they clogged the grinding knives. So on the next test I chopped them with a very sharp knife on the chopping board. That worked. So now I'm ready to give my friends with diabetes my recipe for

SUGARLESS GRAPE JAM

Wash Concord grapes. Pull them off the stems and measure 6½ measuring cups. Slip off the skins (this is the longest job.) Cook the grape pulp (not the skins) over very low heat (do not add any water) until it is tender enough and liquid enough for the seeds to float. This takes about 15 minutes, but you must watch it and stir it for it will stick and burn. The heat must be low.

Push this pulp through the sieve to remove the seeds. Discard the seeds. Chop the grape skins (there will be about 3 cups of them before chopping) with sharp knife on chopping board and add them to the strained pulp. Cook this very gently covered for 40 minutes, stirring frequently. Now add 16 sucaryl tablets and the grated rind of ½ lemon. Gently boil for 15 minutes. Now add 1 tablespoon certo crystals and cook, stirring for 5 minutes. Pour into sterile jelly glasses 3 6-oz. jars) and seal with hot new paraffin, adding a second coating when cold. Do not take a chance on storing this anywhere but in the refrigerator.

I am making extra copies of this recipe and will mail it to any readers who write to me for it and enclose a stamped envelope.

QUESTION: Will you please send me a good recipe for cake doughnuts—also for pear honey if you have it or any other good pear recipes. . . MRS. L. T.

ANSWER:

CAKE DOUGHNUTS

Sift all-purpose flour and measure 3½ cups. Sift this with 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and cinnamon. Beat 2 whole eggs very well then add to them 1 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons soft shortening and beat until smooth and light, then add ¾ cup thick buttermilk or sour milk. Stir the sifted dry ingredients in. Chill for at least 2 hours. Now heat fat to 390 deg. Fahr. (a cube of bread browns in 40 seconds in fat that is this hot.) Depth of fat should be at least 3 inches. Turn part of the doughnut out on lightly floured board, roll to 1-3 inch thickness and cut out with floured doughnut cutter. Carry cut out doughnuts over to fat kettle and transfer to fat on wide spatular or egg lifter. Only fry as many as may be easily turned over. When they rise to surface and show golden color on bottom turn them over. It requires about 3 minutes to completely brown both sides. Lift out on long fork without puncturing crust, drain a little, and place them on absorbent paper, but keep them warm, while you roll out and fry remainder of dough. Dough that is not being rolled should be kept in refrigerator until you are ready to roll it. To sugar the doughnuts, just before serving shake doughnuts one at a time in a paper bag with a little confectioners' or granulated sugar in it.

PEAR HONEY

Pare and core 8 lbs. pears (preferably Kieffers) and put them through the grinder. Add 2 cups crushed canned pineapple and 8 lbs. sugar and bring to boil stirring frequently, and during last minutes. Pour into sterile jars and seal.

No Gents Left Is Claim Of Bootblack

By DEREK JAMESON

LONDON (Reuters) — Life has never looked so black to London's shoeshine boys, a dwindling band of gnarled old sidewalk philosophers who have been part of the city scene for 100 years. "There ain't no gents left," they mourn.

To the London cockney, a gentleman is not the man who stands up for a lady so much as the Englishman with knife-edged creases in his pin-striped trousers, a sober necktie, derby hat—and shiny black shoes.

He began to disappear at the turn of the century, which the historians will tell you marked the start of the decline of the British Empire. Today he is a comparative rarity. So is the shoeshine boy. There are fewer than 30 in the capital,

In the good old days—"when the pound sterling stood for something, sir"—every street corner in London's west end had its shoeshine boy, then there were more than 1,000 of them.

Shoeshining in London is different from what it is in North America. There are no "parlors" or high, brass-bound chairs.

Here the "boys" are mostly white-headed oldsters. They operate entirely on their own, on the sidewalk. You stand up with your foot on a little portable rest while the shoeshiner squats on the sidewalk surrounded by polish and and brushes.

Before the First World War a shine cost a penny. Between the wars it was three pence. Nowadays it is nine pence. Unless you happen to be a U.S. tourist—the "gent" of today. In that case, anything less than a shilling is likely to produce a black look.

The bootblacks of yesterday were boys from a chain of orphanages known as the Ragged Schools. They were formed on Bootblacks' Day, March 3, 1851, to cash in on the imperial exhibition. Organized in bands, they operated as the Central Reds, Marlebone Whites, East London blues and West London Browns.

The 30 stalwarts left, most of whom started the "lark" as boys, work on a pitch hired for them by a shoe polish company. In return, they use the company's polish and advertise its products.

They accept the inevitability of their extinction stoically, dwelling lovingly on the good old days.

Dick Johnson, weather-beaten gnome and doyen of the brigade who operates on a corner on busy Tottenham Court road, talks nostalgically of the relief of Mafeking in the Boer war and the Coronation of King Edward VII a year later—1901.

"That was when people took a pride in their appearance and a gent didn't feel properly dressed unless he had his boots shined three times a day," he gravely tells anyone interested enough to listen.

BOOTBLACK PRINCE

Prince of the bootblacks s Vivian de Gurr St. George, a colorful character of 60. Fairly new to the profession, he opened his pitch in Piccadilly Circus in 1937, but is the aristocrat of the trade.

St. George, son of an army officer and stepson of a former keeper of the crown jewels, speaks several languages and often acts as interpreter. He will also discuss 18th-century German philosophy with his clients, if they know anything about it, or recommend his published autobiography, "St. George of Piccadilly."

He also has the distinction of being the only bootblack in London to apply the polish with the naked hand—"to make the shoe respond like a living creature."

Turn south from Piccadilly to Charing Cross railroad station and you will find Jim Pearce and Chum Harvey, inseparables who have worked together since they left an orphanage.

They, too, mourn the past. The First World War was the best time, they say, when the Canadians and the Australian Light Horse Cavalry were in town. "they were the ones for a shoeshine."

Sell Bond Issue In Half Hour

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government today sold its new $700,000,000 bond issue in the space of 30 minutes.

The Bank of Canada opened subscription books at 9 a. m. EST today and closed them at 9:30 a. m. Finance Minister Abbott reported that the loan was "heavily oversubscribed."

The new issue, biggest in three years, consisted of two maturities: 2¼ per cent bonds running for one year and eight months, maturing July 1, 1955; and three per cent bonds, running for four years, six months, maturing May 1, 1958.

The bank accepted $400,000,000 in subscriptions of the 2¼ per cent bonds and $300,000,000 in the three-per-cent bonds.

Second Victory Loan bonds were acceptable for conversion into the 1958 maturity and the bank reported that it has accepted $200,000,000 worth for conversion.

Mr. Abbott said the total cash proceeds from today's issue will be used to redeem $500,000,000 worth of two-per-cent bonds which mature Nov. 1.

Fine City Man $75, Costs; Driving Impaired

John N. Hayes, 44, 136 Fradette Ave., was fined $75 and $21.50 costs today when he was found guilty of impaired driving.

The charge was reduced from one of drunk driving arising out of an accident on Highway 7, six-and-a-half miles east of Peterborough, September [illegible] when Hayes' car crashed almost head-on with one driven by Mrs. Dorothy May, 45, of 56 Braeside Rd., Toronto.

Mrs. May and her two sons, Stuart, 14, and Donald, 8, were taken to Civic Hospital with injuries caused by the accident. Mrs. May suffered cuts on her left elbow and left knee and a bruised chest, Stuart a lacerated scalp and bruises and Donald a long cut on his face and bruises.

TWO UNHURT

Claude May, 43, father of the family, was sleeping on the back seat of the car when the accident occurred and received only a skinned nose and a shaking up. Hayes was not injured. The May family were returning home to Toronto from their cottage on Belmont Lake at the time of the accident.

OPP Constable Don Lacombe said in court today he discovered Hayes standing by the door of his car when he investgated the accident at about 4:05 p.m. Hayes was swaying slightly, he said, and he had to speak to him a couple of times "before it seemed to register."

Constable Lacombe said the accident occurred about 500 feet west of the crest of a hill and about 1,000 east of another hill. It was raining and, due to the wet pavement, there were no skid marks or indication of the point of impact of the two vehicles, which came to rest about 13 feet apart on opposite sides of the highway.

FINDS BEER, WINE

He said he discovered a case of beer and a bottle of wine, both unopened, in the trunk of the car. He returned to the scene later and discovered the top of a wine bottle and the empty bottle by a cedar tree about 100 yards from where Hayes had been standing.

OPP Constable George Rose, who arrested Hayes, said the accused was unsteady on his feet, his eyes were bloodshot his speech was thick, his breath smelled of alcohol and he staggered slightly when he walked to the cruiser.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, said he had instructed police in such cases to lay a charge of drunk driving and leave the question of a reduction to a charge of impaired driving to be settled in open court. In this case, he was inclined to think there was insufficient evidence of drunk driving for a convicton but thought the circumstances warranted imposing more than the minimum penalty.

Defence Counsel Gordon Farquharson asked Magistrate R. I. Moore, QC, to take into account the fact that the accused was a working man "because otherwise he might wind up with a longer sentence than if he had pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving and got seven days in jail."

Charges of careless and illegal possesson of liquor against Hayes were withdrawn.

Send AWL Soldiers Serve In Far East

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The Louisville Times quotes army sources today as saying 6,900 convicted AWL soldiers have been shipped to the Far East in a crackdown on runaways.

The policy and others covering sterner treatment of runaways has reduced the AWL and desertion rate 30 per cent since last January, The Times says in a copyrighted story.

"The 30-per-cent reduction, when applied to the army's earlier admissions of 20,000 runaways a month, means that by the end of 1953 there will have been 80,000 fewer cases of desertion and AWL than in 1952," the paper said.

Firemen Use Relay Pumps With 2,700 Feet Of Hose

Under the direction of Fire Chief William Sorrie, the Peterborough fire department tried a new exercise Sunday morning: long distance pumping of water through pumper-truck relays.

In seven minutes the regular firemen, working with the part-time firemen of the Bellevue St. station, laid 2,700 feet of hose and had a steady pressure of water flowing through the hose system.

Purpose of this test is to give the firefighters experience in quickly laying hose and linking up pumping trucks at intervals to maintain the pressure. This knowledge would be useful when the nearest hydrant is a long distance from the fire.

USEFUL TRAINING

"We have to be prepared to fight fires that break out in the sparsely populated sections in the north end of the city," explained Chief Sorrie. "Hydrants could be a long way from the actual outbreak; so this is an exercise to train the men for such an eventuality."

"I'll grant you there was some preparation," he said, "but the 2,700 feet of hose—more than half a mile—was laid and water was being pumped within seven minutes."

Many residents seeing the fire trucks thought that a real fire was blazing. To complete the air of reality, an ambulance came speeding to the scene.

The practice alarm was turned in at 9.35 a.m. and was promptly answered by Chief Lockie Longhurst and nine men from the Bellevue sub-station. At the same time the alarm was answered by a pumper from the main station, the complement including Fire Chief Sorrie, Captain Vic Barry and four men.

LAY HALF-MILE

The nearest hydrant was at Barnardo and Dumble Avenues. First the No. 2 pumper from the main station laid 1,600 feet of 2½-inch hose; then the No. 5 pumper from the sub-station laid another 900 feet of 2½-inch hose, and finally 200 feet of 1½-inch hose.

The more-than-half-a-mile hoseline was carrying water by 9.42 a.m.—that is within seven minutes by Chief Sorrie's stopwatch. Location of the mock fire was a property on Sunset Blvd., halfway between Barnardo Ave. and the Chemong Road.

Next time Chief Sorrie is going to try and pump water to the top of the hill on the Chemong Road (by the Sanderson farm), thus theoretically protecting the northern outskirts of the expanded city.

Fog Said Cause Of Two Crashes

COBOURG (ENS)—Thick fog Sunday morning caused two accidents in this district, sending one man to hospital. Police said that William Miller of Toronto was about to pass Frederick Dan, also of Toronto, on Highway 2 at 7 a.m. Sunday.

In the fog at the time, he didn't realize another car was coming until he turned out and in getting back into line again struck a corner of the Dan car, the latter car going out of control and into the ditch.

Dan was taken to Port Hope hospital with chest injuries and bruises. He was not badly injured. The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable Vic Piper of Cobourg.

Near Millbrook Sunday, about 9 a.m. a car driven by Nicholas Broekstra of Millbrook was proceeding in the fog on a county road toward Highway 28 when he came up suddenly to another car. He jammed on the brakes and skidded into the ditch. Damage to his car was slight and he escaped with a shaking up. Provincial Constable C. Meadows of Cobourg investigated.

Yugoslavs Puzzled At News Of Big 3 Trieste Announcement

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE (AP) — Yugoslavs were puzzled today over the latest Big Three pronouncement on the explosive Trieste dispute; but their leaders stood fast in their threat to march in if Italian troops move into zone A.

There still was no official comment on the West's invitation to Yugoslavia and Italy to meet with the United States, Britain and France to discuss the burning Trieste question.

Yugoslavia's chief United Nations delegate. Leo Mates said Sunday in Washington he believed his government might be inclined to accept. But President Tito and other speakers already have declared they feel such a meeting would be of no use if Britain and the United States held in advance to their decision to pull out of zone A of Trieste and turn it over to Italian administration.

BELGRADE PUZZLED

The communique issued by Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden, U.S. State Secretary Dulles and French Foreign Minister Bidault at the end of their three-day conference in London Sunday plunged Belgrade into puzzled, anxious suspense.

But the angry demonstrations that some had expected to follow any unfavorable decision by the Big Three did not take place.

Italian Premier Giuseppe Pella has threatened his government will resign if the West backs down on its latest decision.

The tough Yugoslav leader was quoted as saying, however:

"I wish to say firmly our troops will not fight against Anglo-American troops."

The Belgrade radio broadcast of this statement did not clarify what Tito planned to do if Pella marches his forces into Trieste before the two Western powers pull their 7,000 occupying troops out.

ALLIES TO LEAVE

The three Western foreign ministers in London indicated there had been no change of heart since the original decision Oct. 8 to pull the Anglo-American forces out and let Italy take over. And the troops in the port city continued to work at top speed for an early withdrawal.

The first contingent of British dependents left by train Sunday. Families of American soldiers left by ship last week and more were getting ready to depart as soon as possible.

Tito called the Big Three diplomatic envoys in Belgrade to an unusual Sunday conference to discuss the latest Trieste developments.

Further signs of the growing tension over the issue came in Italy's report that she had ordered three crack divisions north of Trieste on the Yugoslav border on a state of emergency to "counterbalance" recent Yugoslav reinforcements in the area.

Mr. Glazer was employed by the U.S. army in Vienna as an interpreter. He married Mrs. Glazer who had an American-born child by a previous marriage. They came to Canada in 1950.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Dorothy MacLaurin, had fractures of her left ankle and shoulder and his grandmother, Mrs. Frank Chapman, suffered a broken left leg.

Bruce MacLaurin, 9, suffered lacerations of the face and scalp and shock, Gail MacLaurin, 8, strained ankle and bruises, and Miss Rose Marie Shalla of Barry's Bay, Ont., a passenger in the truck, facial lacerations, bruises and shock.

Little Eva Defies Court Goes To School In Slacks

WARRINGTON, England (AP)—Little Eva Spiers defied the Queen's Bench Divisional Court today and went to school—wearing slacks.

She was refused admittance to her classroom and school authorities told her to go home and put on a dress before coming back.

It was a repeat performance of the now famous "slacks case" which has kept Richard Fairclough girls' secondary modern school, two courts and Warrington city council in a tizzy for nearly a year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spiers, 14-year-old Eva's parents, are determined that their girl is going to school wearing slacks to keep her warm. School authorities are just as determined that Eva will wear a dress like other teen-age girls to uphold school discipline.

Last March, the school got the city council to back up its ban on slacks. A court fined the Spiers 10 shillings for keeping Eva at home.

The Spiers appealed the ruling and the fine and a court quashed the whole thing.

But Eva's slack-happy days were numbered. The city council went to the Queen's Bench Divisional Court and won an appeal against the quashing.

Undaunted, Eva went off to school today accompanied by her mother. They got no further than the principal's office.

Emerging after a lively 15-minute session, Mrs. Spiers announced she would continue to take Eva to school every morning—in slacks.

"I am not going to risk Eva catching rheumatic fever again," the mother said. "She has got to be kept warm."

And if the school bars their doors to Eva?

"I'll teach her at home myself,' says Mrs. Spiers.

Post Office Man Addresses Students

NORWOOD (ENS) — Maurice Desrochers, public relations man for the Canadian Post Office Department, addressed the students of Norwood district High School on Friday.

He opened his talk with a brief history of the service. The first postal route in Canada, between Montreal and Quebec, took from three to four days to travel in good weather, he said. By 1927 an airmail postal service was established between Halifax and Vancouver, and at that time it took five days to complete the route. Today it takes 16 hours.

Six points were stressed by Mr. Desrochers, in connection with proper mailing practise:

(1) Write clearly, using no ambiguous abbreviations; (2) place full name and address of addressee on envelope; (3) always leave the lower lefthand side of envelope open for special stickers, i.e., special or airmail; (4) never enclose hard or bulky objects in envelopes; (5) place special stickers on parcels containing fragile goods; (6) always register mail containing money or send a postal order.

He offered a prize for the best composition written on the subject by the students. After his speech, Mr. Desroachers showed two films to the students, dealing with the postal service.

2 Youths Put On Show Before Break-in TORONTO (CP)—Two 17-year-old youths who put on a show before breaking into a theatre Sunday were arrested as they fled the scene.

The unidentified youths entered the building through a roof ventilator. To reach it they scampered over roofs of six adjoining buildings. Scores of citizens noticed them and telephonedpolice to ask what was happening.

The theatre is showing "Knock on Any Door," a film telling the story of a youth who starts a life of crime at 17 and dies in the electric chair at 21.

Small Rice Crop

TOKYO (AP)—Perenially food-short Japan faces its smallest rice crop in 20 years. The nation's latest official rice yield forecast for 1953 plunged from 290,400,000 bushels to 252,000,000. The shortage has been blamed on cold weather, insect ravages and floods.

30 Freighters Can't Unload

MONTREAL (CP)—Thirty lake freighters, loaded with almost 3,000,000 bushels of grain from western inland elevators, were in the port of Montreal today with no place to unload their cargoes.

Shipping men said congested elevators, both here and in the United Kingdom, and an almost steady drop in overseas markets for Canadian wheat have brought an unusually large tie-up of lake ships in the harbor for this time of year.

Shippers said that so far they haven't been able to get any of the new crop into Montreal elevators and little change is likely before navigation closes for the season.

The elevator situation in Montreal was reported common also at Prescott, Ont., Quebec, Trois-Rivieres and Sorel. Tramp ships seeking grain are few, and what little grain is being exported from here is going out in liner-cargo ships.

Finds Many Italians Relaxing About Dangers Of War

Editor's Note: Nowhere in western Europe is there less concern about a possible Soviet military onslaught than in Italy. The average Italian does not regard a Communist as a sinister foreign agent boring from within. He is more likely to see him as a pretty good guy who understands the problems of the plain people. AP reporter Relman Morin talked to Italian farmers, town officials and men in the street to find out why.

By RELMAN MORIN

ALBANO, Italy (AP)—Russia's peace offensive, like a magic wand over western Europe, is changing the cold war into a quiet war.

The new form looks infinitely more dangerous.

It has brought a tendency to relax in building NATO defences. It has contributed to the political tensions among the Western Allies.

But the greatest effect is apparent when you talk to the man on the street.

In Germany, he is wary but not worried about a Soviet military onslaught. There is even less concern in France. And in Italy it seems to have vanished entirely.

More than 6,000,000 Italians voted Communist in the national elections last June. The Reds got about 35 per cent of the total vote, a gain of three per cent since 1948.

Elsewhere in Europe, Communist political strength seems on the downgrade. But in Italy, it gained. Why?

The standard theory is that communism flourishes best in poverty and misery. To a degree, that is true. But in Italy, the standard of living has been rising steadily since the war. The people have worked hard and the government has effectively curbed inflation.

Then why the Communist gain?

Loretto Sallustri is a farmer. He owns four scattered plots of land, the equivalent of about five acres, outside the town of Albano in central Italy.

The Communists captured the municipal government in Albano about a year before the national elections. One of the first things they did was to reduce city taxes on the many small farmers like Loretto Sallustri.

SURE VOTE-GETTER

At the same time they raised taxes on larger landowners. The net result could only be a gain in potential votes. The bigger owners would not vote Communist anyway.

"I wouldn't want a completely Communist government," Signor Sallustri says. "But I want one with more Socialist policies than we have had."

Has his personal condition improved since the war? He says it has.

"I have been working on this land for more than 40 years. In those days, things were much worse. Now, at least, we have meat on Sunday and sometimes during the week."

Official figures show that one out of every 13 Italian families never eats meat.

Loretto Sallustri makes another point—

"The farmer is on the lowest social level in Italy. Why should that be? We produce the food and wine. Why are we not as good as anybody else? The Communists evidently do not think that way about us. The first thing they did was lower the taxes on wine and grapes."

Sallustri's son, Pierino, who is 25, does not agree with his father on many of these points.

Pierino says he voted against the Communists, but he agrees with his father that "they are better administrators." They have that reputation in the bigger cities, like Bologna, he says.

He is of military age, so has some pronounced feelings on war and foreign policy. If Italy were attacked, he says he would fight, but only for defence, "and without enthusiasm." He does not believe there will be a war with Russia.

Plane Ride On Birthday

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. Mabel Boyle of nearby Essex, who used to ride into Windsor on an ox cart, celebrated her 75th birthday Saturday by swooping low over her farm in a Piper Cub aircraft.

Pilot of the craft was Budd Fisher of Detroit, who offered Mrs. Boyle her first flight after she looked through the window of her farm house and remarked that it would be "a nice day to go flying."

During the flight the plane passed over Detroit and Windsor, the Detroit river and then dipped low over Mrs. Boyle's farm so she could wave to members of her family who were watching.

"I saw more country during the 40-minute flight than I've seen in all my 75 years," said Mrs. Boyle, a native of Brantford who has spent most of her life in Essex county.

Jailed For 25 Years In Manslaughter Case

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Paul-Aime Coulombe, 20, was sentenced Saturday to 25 years in penitentiary after being convicted of manslaughter in the shot-gun slaying last Jan. 17 of his cousin, Julien Coulombe.

Sentence was pronounced by Mr. Justice Wilfrid Edge of Quebec superior court.

Coulombe, first charged with murder, was alleged by the crown to have killed his cousin near the Gaspe coast town of Cloridorme over the affections of Raymonde Beaudoin, a former school teacher.

Elect Donald Goudy Press Club President

TORONTO (CP)—Donald Goudy of the Toronto Daily Star Saturday was elected president of the Toronto Men's Press Club at the annual meeting.

Fast Train Derailed

BALTIMORE (CP)—A passenger train travelling 60 miles an hour plowed into a one-ton steel casting lying on the tracks Saturday night but only 12 of the 344 passengers were injured, none seriously. Only the engine of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Arlington" was overturned although nine cars were derailed.

Jet Ferry Pool Pilots Fly Anything To Any Place

MONTREAL (CP)—Members of the world's only "jet ferry pool" are a couple of pilots who might well be the envy of air-minded youngsters with visions of fast travel to far-off places.

John Hackett and Michael Cole are RAF veterans who ferried a Bristol air freighter to Montreal for Trans-Canada Air Lines. But a log-book check shows that in the month before their arrival here they made ferrying trips to Venezuela, with a Canberra jet bomber; to Tokyo, with a Dove, and to the Sahara desert, with a Bristol freighter.

They belong to the Britavia ferry pool, a group of pilots in London who are available to fly anything, anywhere, any time. Although they are civilians they are capable of flying military jet aircraft, and their services are unique in this respect.

They are also called upon to act as personal pilots for VIPs. Sir Winston Churchill, for instance, has flown with Capt. Hackett and co-pilot Cole on many occasions.

CHURCHILL'S "ERROR"

They recall the time they flew Sir Winston to Newmarket so he could watch his horse run there. They warned him that the landing on the racetrack itself, would be bumpy and politely suggested he refrain from taking a drink at that point.

Just as they were touching down Cole looked back and saw the prime minister raising a glass to his lips. It was too late. The plane touched and bumped. The brandy flew over Sir Winston's shoulder and drenched his son-in-law sitting behind him.

"Sir Winston, fortunately, thought this very funny," recounted Cole. "And as his horse won that day as well, it was a fine trip all round."

Other celebrities ferried have ranged from the Duchess of Kent to strip-teaser Gypsy Rose Lee.

"We'd rather fly royalty than film stars any day," commented Capt. Hackett. "Royalty is easier to get along with."

Judge L. Livingstone Dies In Welland

WELLAND (CP)—L. B. C. Livingstone, 83, judge of Welland county for more than 30 years, died here Saturday.

Scotland Yard Hunts Maniac

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard ordered a wide hunt Saturday for a bicycle-riding maniac who attacks little girls. Four reported sex crimes in nine days have made London a city of frightened mothers.

Every available detective joined the hunt. Current police theory is that at least three of the attacks were the work of one man, described as plump and 40.

The big scare started Oct. 8. A swarthy man in a dirty raincoat kidnapped a 13-month-old baby from her Southwark home and abandoned her two hours later, raped.

Next day a man with a bicycle attacked a 13-year-old schoolgirl in the same area. On Oct. 11 four girls reported a man molested them in a nearby park, gave them money and rode off on a bicycle.

Friday three-year-old Marlene Herse was found unclothed and battered on the stairway of a north London tenement. She too said her attacker had a bike.

Bus, Engine Collide

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—The driver of a crowded trolley bus which was rammed by a railroad engine said Sunday he didn't see the big diesel before the fatal impact. A woman was killed and 47 other passengers were injured when the collision crushed in the right rear door of the bus and swung it around against the engine.

23 Freight Cars Derailed Near Sarnia

SARNIA (CP) — Twenty-three cars of a 65-car extra CNR freight train were derailed early Sunday about 13 miles northeast of Sarnia. No one was injured.

The freight was running from Mimico to Sarnia by way of Stratford and Forest.

The cars derailed were in the centre of the train. The locomotive, 31 cars following it and the caboose and 11 cars at the rear stayed on the tracks.

Britain, U.S. Have Decided To Slow Trieste Evacuation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Britain and the United States are reported to have decided to slow down evacuation of their troops from disputed Trieste while they try to resolve Italy's and Yugoslavia's bitter quarrel over the area. U.S. State Secretary Dulles had an appointment to review this potentially explosive problem with President Eisenhower today in a personal report on the London Big Three foreign minister's conference. Diplomatic officials familiar with the Trieste manoeuvring said Eisenhower and Dulles both believed it would be best to move slowly in evacuating some 7,000 American and British troops now garrisoning zone A.

HELP STOP TITO

The idea was that a slowdown would lessen the chance that Marshal Tito will move his troops into the Allied zone rather than let Italian forces take over in accordance with the U.S.-British proposal of last week.

It would also give British, American and French diplomats time to arrange a conference with Yugoslavia and Italy.

Informed diplomats emphasized any decision to delay the troop evacuation would in no way mean the two powers are backing down in their decision to turn over the zone to Italian control.

AMERCAN VIEW

This was the American view of other key world problems which Dulles was reported ready to give the president:

Korea—the state department favors sending special Ambassador Arthur Dean to Panmunjom Thursday on schedule to discuss a Korean peace conference with the Communists.

Germany-Austria — Dulles believes there is only a slim chance the Russians would agree to attend a Big Four foreign ministers conference at Lugano, Switzerland, Nov. 9 to discuss peace settlements for Austria and Germany.

Israel-Jordan—Dulles takes an extremely grave view of Israel's alleged violations along its frontiers of United Nations decisions

Senator MacLennan Dies In Nova Scotia

CHETICAMP, N.S. (CP) — Hon. Donald MacLennan, 76, a member of the Senate since 1940, died in hospital Monday.

Senator MacLennan, a Liberal was credited for being one of the prime movers in the establishment of the Cape Breton Highland National Park and the Cabot trail.

As a young lawyer he married Matilda MacDaniel and they had five daughters and three sons. His varied interests included at one time presidency of the Eastern Journal Publishing Company which published a weekly paper at Port Hawkesbury, N.S.

Death of Senator MacLennan left the Senate standing at 81 Liberals, eight Progressive Conservatives, and 13 vacancies. There are 102 seats in the upper chamber.

Mercy Plane Missing On B.C. Coast

RCAF Begins Search Of Inland Seas; Blame Raging Storm

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four RCAF Canso flying boats and a crash boat are to comb inland seas in Howe sound today for a lost mercy plane. They take over at dawn from a fleet of small fishboats that searched dark, rain-swept waters Monday night for a missing single-engined De Haviland Beaver with pilot, nurse and stretcher case aboard.

It has been overdue here since Monday afternoon on a 125-mile flight from Bridge river, B.C.

BOATS ALERTED

On a theory that the Beaver, a seaplane, may have put down along the rugged Howe sound coast to ride out a storm raging when it vanished, all boats in the area were alerted to be on the lookout.

A fishboat fleet weathering in Horseshoe bay west of here put out into the rain and darkness to sweep the 40-mile coastline of Howe sound with searchlights.

Ross Baker, president of Pacific Western Airlines, owners of the plane, said the aircraft was traced along its route down the tracks of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to the southern terminus at Squamish on Howe sound.

Mr. Baker identified the pilot as Bob Drinkwater of New Westminster and the nurse as Lucille Warden of Langley Prairie, B.C. The patient was known only as Mr. Neumayer.

"The weather was none too good," Mr. Baker said. "We're hoping he put her down on Howe sound to ride it out."

NO RADIO CONTACT

He said weather conditions made it impossible to make radio contact with the plane, even if it were unharmed.

It was dispatched from Vancouver earlier Monday to Gun lake, near Bridge river, to pick up the nurse and her patient. The nature of Neumayer's illness was not known here.

Squamish, where the plane was last sighted, was named from a Pacific coast Indian word meaning "bad winds."

The area is noted for rain and wind squalls. To the north are snow-topped mountains and heavy timber. To the south, the sea and a hundred islands.

Two Holstein Champions Sold

TORONTO (CP) — Two world champion Holsteins changed hands Monday at the all-Canadian Holstein sale.

The sale, sponsored by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada, brought a total of $44,500, an average of $794 a head.

W. K. McLeod of Disraeli, Que., paid $2,600, top price of the sale, to R. D. Graham of Erin, Ont., for Grahaven Milestone Moon, champion junior two-year-old on twice-daily milking for 305 days.

Ourvilla Princess Phyllis, consigned by E. L. Sweet of Belmont, Ont., was purchased by Lockwood Holsteins of Forfar for $1,975. She has a junior three-year-old record of 22,785 pounds of milk and 1,015 pounds of fat.

Highest price paid for a bull was $1,650 paid to George R. McLaughlin of Oshawa for Elmcroft Rag Apple Signor, a six-month-old bull, by Sherman J. Moore and John F. Graham of Lindsay.

Beating Kills Father Of 10

MONTREAL (CP)—A 54-year-old taxi-driver, father of 10 children, died Monday night in hospital after being beaten about the head with a lead pipe and robbed of $2.50.

Police said they are holding three Montreal youths in connection with the robbery.

Hospital authorities said the taxi-driver, Robert Taylor, died of injuries to the head and shoulders eight hours after admission.

Police identified two of the youths detained for questioning as Eugene Beaulieu, 20, a deserter from the Royal 22nd Regiment, and Andre Trudel, 18. The third youth being held was not named; he is 16 years old.

Six-Roomed Alberta House Heated In Winter For $90

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Abundance of natural gas in Alberta gives residents there perhaps the lowest domestic fuel bills in the country.

A survey of the winter fuel outlook by The Canadian Press shows that in Edmonton and surrounding centres an average six-roomed house, despite spells of sub-zero weather, can be heated for about $90 for the winter.

This compares with an average of $150 to $175 to keep comfortable with other fuels in a comparable house in most other parts of the country.

But there are good supplies of coal and oil in all provinces at prices about the same as last year, or slightly higher. Oil is one or two cents a gallon more, and coal is a little higher in British Columbia, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, but about $1 a ton cheaper in Ontario.

IT ALL DEPENDS

No one can say just how much it costs to heat the average home. The type of furnace, the condition of the house—whether it's insulated or not—and the varying local prices of different grades of fuel all enter into the picture.

However, the survey shows interesting comparisons from coast to coast.

Homeowners in British Columbia are more fortunate than most. With the province's moderate temperatures, a six-room home can be heated for $80-$120. There's plenty of wood available at $3.50 to $6 a cord, with coal prices ranging from $15.50 a ton to $21.60 for Alberta hard lump.

Most Alberta coal costs Alberta residents only $8 a ton, but those who burn it in six-room houses may pay about $150 a season in fuel bills. Supplies of natural gas are believed sufficient to take care of the Edmonton area market until 1960.

Across the provincial boundary in Saskatoon, the demand for coal and oil has dropped with the coming of natural gas but coal prices, $18 for top quality, have not dropped from last year. The six-room house heats for about $160 with coal, $175 with oil.

The oil-heating price is $190 in Moose Jaw, where coal prices are up slightly this year. Saskatchewan lignite sells for $8.45 in Regina and Drumheller coal for $18.50.

Consider New Plans End Shipping Strike

If Tie-Up Continues, Boats Will Be Used As Floating Warehouses

MONTREAL (CP)—New proposals for settlement of the 20-day-old strike of Canada's deep-sea merchant fleet will be considered today by a negotiating committee representing owners of the ships.

The committe said that if negotiations fail to settle the dispute, owners will use their ships as floating warehouses to alleviate the shortage of grain storage space in eastern ports.

In a prepared statement, the negotiating committee said it estimates there will be about 15 idle ocean ships either in Montreal or at Quebec by the end of the month with a total grain capacity of more than 4,000,000 bushels.

WOULD PRODUCE INCOME

The committee said it "deplored" the use of ships for storage purposes, but the move would mean that the strikebound vessels would be producing at least some revenue.

The strike was called Sept. 28 by the Seafarers International Union TLC-AFL to back up demands for a 40-hour week and a $50-a-month wage increase.

The statement added:

"More than half of Canada's deep-sea merchant fleet has been tied up for almost three weeks by this crippling strike. Were we to concede to the union's demands at this time, it would drive the Canadian merchant marine from the seas.

Fiesta-Bound Plane Crashes Fear At Least 20 Killed

MONTERREY, Mexico, (AP)—Rescue parties struggled into rugged Devil's Back canyon today to reach the burned wreckage of a government-owned plane that crashed Monday en route to the U.S.-Mexican fiesta officially opening the Rio Grande's Falcon dam. Lack of any definite knowledge of how many persons were aboard the ill-fated plane added to the urgency of the search. Estimates ranged from the officially reported 14 believed to have been on the two-engine plane to 20 or more. Two of those on the official passenger list of 14 turned up elsewhere later, but officials feared others may have got aboard without listing their names.

The DC-3 was one of more than a score assigned to take reporters, officials and entertainers to the dam ceremonies, highlighted by the meeting of President Eisenhower and Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines.

NO SIGNS OF LIFE

The plane smashed into the side of the canyon, only about 15 miles from Monterrey airport. Search planes reported sighting no sign of life around the wreckage.

Col. Radames Gaxiola said several of Mexico's top newspaper men, including Carlos Violante, diplomatic reporter for Mexico City's El Universal; Carlos Septien Garcia, editor of Universal's weekly supplement, and two newsreel camera men, were aboard the plane.

Also missing and believed to have been aboard were four girl dancers from the government's Fine Arts Institute. They had been scheduled to give an exhibition of traditional Mexican dances during the Eisenhower-Ruiz Cortines meeting.

ABOUT 20 ABOARD

Officials at Monterrey airport said "about" 20 persons boarded the plane before it took off.

The confusion over the number of persons aboard arose from the failure of the approximately 250 airlift passengers, who had arrived here earlier on a special train from Mexico City, to take seats assigned to them in the planes.

Ignoring the official plan, many groups of friends had climbed aboard the same plane, taking all the seats and forcing others assigned to the craft to board another. Some planes went out fully-loaded, others only half full.

At Falcon, 100 miles away, the plane was not missed until officials began checking why some of the dancers failed to appear. The wreckage was not located until almost 10 hours after the take-off.

Neutrals Refuse To Drag PoWs To Listen To Reds

PANMUNJOM —(AP) — The delay-riddled Communist efforts to woo 22,400 ex-Red soldiers home to Communism halted indefinitely today after the Reds were turned down flat on demands that the PoWs be dragged to the explanations by force if necessary.

Stung by the rebuff from India, Switzerland and Sweden, the satellite Polish and Czech delegates on the neutral nations repatriation commission walked out Monday and gave no indication when they would return.

The explanations apparently were postponed indefinitely—at least until the commission can get operating again.

MAY DROP TALKS

Observers speculated that the Red walkout could be a prelude to dropping their persuasion efforts entirely in an effort to avoid more of a propaganda whipping than they have already taken in two days of interviews.

Only 19 of the 921 Chinese who heard the Red pleas to return home chose the door to communism.

Despite the lopsided results, the interviews with the 7,800 Chinese PoWs were proceeding smoothly, but the 14,600 Koreans completely stopped the show with a belligerent refusal to even listen to the Red persuaders.

Stalemating efforts by their Indian guards to get them out of their compounds, the Koreans once threatened a mass breakout to make their refusal stick.

DEMANDS DENIED

In the repatriation commission Monday, the Polish and Czech members pressed the Red demands that the Koreans be brought to the interviews by any means necessary.

Outvoted by the other three members, they left.

The Poles and Czechs did not show up today for the usual daily commission meeting and there was no immediate word when they would.

Says Beria Has Secret Papers

BALTIMORE (AP)—The head of an international spy ring with headquarters here said Monday that Lavrenti Beria, former head of Russia's secret police, is ready to release "critically important papers" to the West should anything happen to him.

Col. Ulius L. Amoss, retired army officer who heads the spy ring, reiterated to subscribers to his International Services of Information (ISI) that Beria has escaped Russia.

Amoss said that when Bolshevik "panic" caused Stalin to be "killed," Beria's position became "untenable" and he vanished.

First, however, Amoss said Beria "armed five specially trusted subordinates with critically important papers—including atomic energy plans . . . sent them out of Russia with instructions to hand the plans to Western authorities should anything happen to him."

Soviet officials have since denounced Beria, Amoss said, and are readying a stooge to stand trial as the former police head.

Beria is dissatisfied with this action, Amoss said, and has threatened to release the first of his five folders of secret papers if it continues. Amoss said the threat was relayed to an ISI agent by one of Beria's henchmen.

Major-General Constantine Dies In Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Maj.-Gen. C. F. Constantine, CB, DSO and Bar, died in hospital here today.

The 69-year-old professional soldier retired from the Canadian army in 1943 after 38 years' service. He had been ill for six weeks.

A native of Winnipeg, he received his early education at Upper Canada College in Toronto and entered Royal military College here in 1902. He graduated three years later and was posted as a second lieutenant to the Royal Canadian Horse Artillery here.

He went overseas during the First World War as a captain with the 1st division artillery of the Canadian Expeditionary Force. He finished the war as a lieutenant-colonel, winning the Distinguished Service Order twice and being mentioned in dispatches four times.

ARTILLERY PROFESSOR

He was professor of artillery at RMC following the war and in 1925 became commandant of the college. He was made a brigadier in 1928 and two years later was appointed as officer commanding military district No. 7 at Saint John, N.B., for a short while before going to Halifax in charge of MD 6.

He was promoted to major-general in 1934 and appointed adjutant-general of Canada.

U.K. Soldier Faces Charge Of Cowardice

CATTERICK, Eng. (Reuters)—An English soldier who spent 18 months as a prisoner of war in Korea, today faced a court martial accused of cowardice in an action in which a comrade won the Victoria Cross, Britain's highest award for valor.

Patrick Lydon, a former draftee who had volunteered for another 18 months' service, was attached to the 1st Battalion, King's Own Scottish Borderers, when the Chinese launched a vicious attack on Hill 217 in 1951.

The army prosecutor said today Lydon spent the whole of the actual battle "lying at the bottom of the trench, shivering and whimpering."

He said Lydon refused to fight for the "rather fantastic reason that he had broken his little finger jumping into the trench."

It was believed the first time a cowardice charge had been laid in Britain for more than 30 years, authorities said.

The Hill 217 action was the one in which Pte. Bill Speakman won the Victoria Cross for what he turned into virtually a one-man battle against the Chinese.

Effect Of High Tariffs On Joint Defence Stressed

CHICAGO (CP)—The ill effect of high tariff walls upon the closely-linked economies and mutual defence positions of Canada and the United States was stressed here today by W. J. MacDonaldd, president of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants.

Speaking to more than 2,000 delegates attending the 66th annual meeting of the American Institute of Accountants, he appealed for a closer study of Canadian economy, politics and social characteristics on the basis of the related destinies of both countries.

He said peoples of the U. S. and Canada could not afford to stand idly by when tariff doors were opened and closed on both sides of the border under pressure of short-sighted and vocal minorities.

Mr. MacDonald said that while outnumbered 10 to one, Canada's population is growing faster than that of the United States.

Between 1946 and 1952, Canada's population had increased 17.4 per cent compared with 11 per cent in the U. S.

CITIES WAGE DISPARITY

However, in national income per capita, the average American earns nearly $3 for every $2 earned by a Canadian. He said this was a fact too often overlooked by labor leaders recommending wage parity with the U. S.

He said Canada was ready to turn the first sod of the St. Lawrence seaway.

"Our plans are complete. Make no mistake about Canada's position on that question."

Despite the fact that there were opponents to the seaway plan, neither country could fail to benefit from the low-cost access to foreign trade.

"The hopeful eyes of every civilized country are centred on Canada and the United States," he said. "It is not so much for dollar aid as for moral support from the example of a common front."

Believe Bayonet Murder Weapon, Still Hunt Clothes

TORONTO (CP)—Peter Balcombe, 24-year-old married army officer charged with murdering Marie Anne Carrier last Thursday, proposed marriage to her a few months ago, police said here today. Balcombe, accused of stabbing the 22-year-old reserve army sergeant and tossing her nude body into a ditch near Iroquois, Ont., hid for months the fact that he was married to a London, Ont., girl and the father of two children, police said.

They added that when "pressure" forced him to reveal it to her he apparently promised to marry her after he divorced his wife.

In Quebec City, Lt.-Col. Leon Lambert, deputy-director of the Quebec Provincial Police, said Miss Carrier had refused the proposal that he divorce his wife and marry her.

Col. Lambert said Miss Carrier was trying to "break off" from Balcombe.

"Miss Carrier had recently found out that Balcombe was married and a father and wanted to give him up but the second lieutenant had insisted he was going to take divorce proceedings," Col. Lambert said.

The Quebec police official said he is personally directing an investigation into the motives for the crime. Montreal district provincial police have been called in to investigate because the couple was seen there Wednesday, he said.

Col. Lambert said Miss Carrier left her Bienville, Que., home Wednesday evening telling her sisters she was going to the cinema.

That evening, he continued, Balcombe left Valcartier camp for London, Ont., on a three-week leave.

OFFICER GAVE CLUES

Police found out about the connection with Miss Carrier and Balcombe the next day, through Lt.-Col. Gordon Ross, commanding officer of the reserve unit of which Miss Carrier was a member.

Col. Lambert disclosed he informed Ontario police not to make any arrest in the case until Miss Carrier's body was properly identified.

Saturday Col. Ross drove three of Miss Carrier's brothers to Cornwall where identification was made. Balcombe's arrest followed.

Divorce was never discussed between Balcombe and his 22-year-old wife, Jean, police said in Toronto. As late as eight days ago Miss Carrier was searching for an apartment with Balcombe.

INTENDED FOR WIFE

Police said she thought the apartment was for them after their marriage, but actually it was intended for Balcombe's wife and children. Mrs. Balcombe said at her par-

Helicopter Crashes Two Men Injured

QUEBEC (CP)—Reports reached here today that a helicopter, with a pilot and two engineers of the federal government aboard, crashed Monday near the Quebec-New Brunswick border injuring two men.

They were identified as Roger Forgues, 24, of Quebec and a Mr. Spence of Ottawa. The pilot, whose name was not immediately known, was reported to have escaped injury.

The injured were taken to hospital in Rimouski and left today by ambulance for Quebec.

The helicopter was en route to Cabano and crashed near Lake Rimouski, about 30 miles south of Rimouski.

Eden Suggests Patience On Trieste Issue

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Secretary Eden said today the division of the troubled Trieste free territory along the present zonal border "seems to be the only practicable" method of easing Italian-Yugoslav tensions.

Eden told the House of Commons Britain strongly deprecates the movement of troops by either Italy or Yugoslavia "which can only increase tension and incite public opinion."

"If all concerned will recall the over-riding need for unity between nations who should be good neighbors, I believe we may yet find means of bringing both parties to agree to a settlement."

Earlier Prime Minister Churchill renewed his proposal for an informal meeting of the top leaders of the big powers to seek ways of ending the cold war.

HOPE RUSSIA AGREES

Both Churchill and Eden expressed hope Russia would accept the Western powers' invitation to attend a four-power foreign ministers' meeting in Lugano, Switzerland, about Nov. 9. Eden said he thought those talks would aid in a solution of the German and Austrian problems.

Touching on other international problems, Eden gave this accounting:

Egypt—Anglo-Egyptian talks on defence of the Suez canal were resumed July 28. "I hope to make an announcement within the next few days about the progress of these discussions. They have reached an advanced stage."

Iran—"I hope that a new chapter has opened . . . There is a new government there and to them and to the Persian people the British government wishes sincerely to extend once more the hand of friendship. The Persian government are aware that we are ready to resume diplomatic relations. If this can be done, it will then be easier for us to discuss together the complex problem of Persian oil."

SLOW PROGRESS

Korea—Progress in "consolidating the armistice has been slow and difficult." The political conference has still to meet.

LONDON (AP) — Four Britons each wagered sixpence Saturday in a giant soccer pool that they could pick eight consecutive tie games.

They hit the tie games right on the nose and today got their reward.

For their sixpence, each received £42,938 ($120,226).

Police Beat Back Students In Rome

ROME (AP) — Club-swinging police beat back protesting Italian students in front of the Russian embassy today as demonstrations over the disputed free territory of Trieste broke out in various parts of Rome.

The students answered the police club attacks with sticks. Many of the demonstrators were bruised but no serious injuries were reported.

Hundreds paraded elsewhere, elsewhere, carrying Italian flags, angrily shouting against Yugoslav President Tito's stand on Trieste and demanding the strategic Adriatic peninsula be returned to Italy.

Some demonstrators marched past the Yugoslav legation near the heart of the city but no violence was reported as mobile riot police, armed with sub-machine-guns, guarded the building.

The demonstration in front of the Russian embassy apparently was in protest against the Soviet demand that the Security Council meet soon to appoint an international administration for the area under permanent United Nations supervision.

Find Canadians Plunging Deeper In Debt

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians, increasing their purchases of automobiles and other goods, have plunged deeper into debt, with the total consumer credit bill rising to a high of $1,732,000,000 in the first half of 1953.

This jump of more than $500,000,000 over a 12-month period was due mainly to a sharp rise in instalment buying which swelled to $759,000,000 on June 30—up $358,000,000 from $401,000,000 last year, a Bank of Canada survey showed Monday.

Officials said such a spectacular over-all expansion in the consumer debt normally might be cause for some concern, but for these facts:

NO HEAVY INFLATION

1. Consumer credit had been under government control until May, 1952 and a sharp increase was anticipated with removal of the curbs.

2. There is no evidence of any heavy inflation caused by the big debt expansion.

3. The country's national income is increasing, along with labor income. Under these conditions it is "natural" for some expansion in credit to take place.

The big jump in the debt is caused mainly by the jump in automobile sales. They rose to 292,100 units last year, up from 279,700 in 1951. The portion purchased through a financing plan rose to 42.8 per cent from 29.6.

HELD IN SLAYING—Lieut. Peter Ernest Robin Balcombe, 24, (right) of London, Ont., has been charged with murdering Marie Anne Carrier of Bienville, Que. and dumping her body in a ditch near Iroquois, Ont. Wearing a white T-shirt and army trousers he is shown being taken into custody by constable Norman Hogarth of the Ontario Provincial Police.

B.C. Tug Sinks After Blaze

VICTORIA (CP) — Heroine of many sea rescues on the British Columbia coast, the $750,000 tug Salvage King settled slowly to the bottom of the harbor here Monday after a disastrous fire.

The big tug, owned by the Pacific Salvage Co. of Vancouver, sank at her harbor berth and company officials debated whether to cut the lines and let her roll over.

The tug sank after a watertight bulkhead literally exploded with the pressure of water that had been poured into it.

Police Tighten Security, In Guiana's 'Little Canada'

MACKENZIE British Guiana, (Reuters)—Police Monday tightened security in this "Little Canada" set in semi-jungle 62 miles from Georgetown, where more bauxite-aluminum ore—is mined than in any other place in the world. There has been no strike at the $40,000,000 Aluminum Company of Canada plant, nor has there been any attempted violence since Britain suspended the colony's constitution and removed the left-wing People's Progressive party PPP from power to stem an alleged Communist plot.

But the British frigate Bigbury Bay has sailed downriver after a week's visit. And police reinforcements may be sent from Georgetown to bolster local regulars and the 65-man company security force.

TAKES OVER COMMAND

Maj. John Rowlands, 35, a former Palestine police officer, took over command of the local police Monday. Ted Dodd, a Canadian, is head of the company police.

Company manager R. W. Johnson said PPP elements have tried unsuccessfully to infiltrate the company union of about 2,400 workers. He said the presence of the British frigate had had a "reassuring effect."

This well-kept little settlement, carved out of the jungle on the banks of Demerara river, is easily the most prosperous town, and its workers the best paid, in British Guiana.

Mine workers, with overtime and bonuses, may earn as much as 100 local dollars (about $60) weekly, about three times as much as the highest-paid sugar plantation employee makes.

Pianist Balked: No Francois

Samson Francois, French pianist, has cancelled his North American tour. He was to open the Community Concert season in Peterborough on October 28. That program has therefore been cancelled. Miss Musa Cox, president of the association, said today that a substitute program is now being arranged through New York, to take place later.

The Concert Association hopes to secure Bryon Janis, a pianist of extraordinary excellence, and Horowitz' only pupil. Miss Cox says that confirmation of this should be secured by the week-end and that letters notifying any change in the concert schedule for the season will be sent out to members as soon as possible.

Reasons for the cancellation of Samson Francois' North American tour are not known here. It is rumoured that a case of pink eye has led American immigration authorities to view his entry to the U.S. with disfavour.

George G. McNeillie Dies In Toron'

TORONTO — Funeral services were held here Monday for George Gardiner McNeillie, president of McNeillie & Co., merchant brokers. He died Friday in his office. He was born and educated in Lindsay, son of the late James Richardson McNeillie, clerk and treasurer of Victoria County, and Mrs. McNeillie.

After coming to Toronto, he was associated for some years with the packing house industry. Mr. McNeillie founded his own brokerage company in 1921 and later formed a partnership with J. P. Wright and his sons, W. R. and G. G. McNeillie Jr. Continuing as president, he built up one of Canada's outstanding merchant-brokerage firms.

Member of the advisory board of Grace Church-on-the-Hill, he was also envelope secretary and a former warden of the Church of the Redeemer. He was a member of the Strollers' Club and the Union Club of St. John, N.B. He leaves his wife, the former Alice Winifred Raymond; three sons, James Richardson, William Raymond and George Gardiner McNeillie; a daughter Mrs. L. G. Lumbers; a brother R. G. McNeillie, Montreal, and a sister, Miss Alice McNeillie, Lindsay.

Sees Electricity From A-Power

TORONTO (CP)—Atomic power will create electricity for industry within 10 years, Dr. David A. Keys, head of Canada's Chalk River atomic energy project, told a convention of the Institute of Power Engineers Monday.

At the same time, he criticized existing use of coal to produce heat and power, on the grounds that "coal contains useful chemicals."

This country's entire electrical needs for a year could be supplied by 2½ tons of uranium, Dr. Keys said.

The prisoner talks originally were scheduled to begin the last week in September. After long haggling over interview sites, they finally started Thursday, but two groups of Chinese have met the Red persuaders since.

If the Reds bow out, the UN command still can interview the 23 Americans, one Briton and 335 South Koreans who have said they want to stay with the Reds.

The UN has not given any indication when it will begin and apparently there is plenty of time.

ents' home in the London suburb of Komoka Monday that she knew nothing of the affair.

Balcombe, a slim dark-haired second lieutenant, was arrested at Jean's parents' home Sunday night and charged Monday with the knife-slaying.

Meanwhile, police in the Iroquois district, about 36 miles west of Cornwall, searched today for the victim's clothing. She was nude when found by a farm boy last Thursday. A cheap ring was on her engagement finger.

Marie, a bank clerk nearly six feet tall, was stabbed through the left eye and the stomach and twice in the chest.

ARMY BAYONET USED

Police at first thought the killer used a small paring knife. However, they said today that an army bayonet was the murder weapon. A bayonet and a rifle was found when officers seized Balcombe's car. The bayonet will be examined by Dr. Ward Smith, a medico-legal expert, today.

"I don't think we'll make any search for a knife," a police official said.

Officers in Iroquois were looking for a black taffeta dress, salmon-colored coat, black velvet hat and a black purse.

Exact site of the slaying has not been determined.

Balcombe was hustled into a police cruiser this morning and headed east, presumably to Cornwall to be arraigned on a murder charge.

Police put him on the floor in the rear seat of the car so that he could not be photograhed. They did not say where they were taking him.

The body was sent home by train to Bienville. The girl's seven brothers were at the railway station when the remains arrived Monday night.

Col. Ross said at a press conference Monday Miss Carrier was the "most consistent" member of his mixed unit and a "very important" member of the precision squad.

OFFICER'S BACKGROUND

Balcombe, born in England, went to high school for four years in Montreal. He attended collegiate at Brantford in 1947-48 to complete his fifth year of high school.

His father, then a production executive at a Brantford factory, has since returned to England with the young man's mother.

Later Balcombe took a pre-medical course at the University of Western Ontario, where last year he was an officer in the reserve army. He joined the army last spring, accepting a short-term five-year commission.

U.S. May Cut Manpower For Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator John Stennis (Dem. Miss.), declaring the United States can not continue indefinitely its mapower and financial commitments abroad, today urged a showdown with France on creation of an European army.

Stennis, a member of the Senate armed services committee, spoke out in an interview after Defence Secretary Wilson told a press conference Monday he believed that in the long run, development of new weapons would permit a cut in United States troop strength in Europe.

Stennis, a member of a subcommittee which reported last week after a tour of bases that the U. S. has increased aerial striking power in Europe and Africa, said he thinks German soldiers must be brought into the Western ranks.

IGNORE FRANCE, ITALY

"The next move is up to France, and if she does not agree I think we should make alternative proposals that will include German soldiers and leave France and Italy out. This matter cannot be further delayed."

Formation of a Western European army—projected to include troops from France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—has been stalled for months. Only West Germany has ratified the necessary treaties.

France has delayed action but prospects for ratification there have brightened somewhat. Italy has lately shown signs of balking unless her dispute with Yugoslavia over Trieste is settled to her satisfaction.

MORE OIL FURNACES

Conversion of furnaces from coal to oil continues in Canada's larger urban centres, with considerable changeover reported in Winnipeg. Wood there is used only for kindling coal fires.

In Toronto 42 per cent of homes burn oil, about 55 per cent coal. It costs about $140 to heat the average six-room house with either fuel. Suppliers there as in other large cities say that although there's lots of fuel, delivery problems may arise later if heavy snows block streets and driveways.

Fuel oil prices at Montreal are about two cents a gallon higher than last year, but at Quebec City a slight drop from last year was expected. Coal prices are a little higher, with American anthracite selling at $27.40 a ton. The six-room house heating cost is about $150.

Some furnaces around Saint John N.B., burn hardwood and prices are down to $20 from last year's $22 a cord. Coal prices are like last year and fuel oil is up a half-cent.

In Toronto and Montreal, fewer coal users took supplies in early this year. Dealers blamed warm September weather.

Say Government Falling Down

WINNIPEG (CP) — Forestry men meeting here said Monday the federal government isn't doing its part in protecting the forests that give it hundreds of millions of dollars in tax revenue.

The criticism was made during a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Forestry.

J. R. Johnson of the British Columbia forest service said B. C. forests gave the federal government $130,000,000 in taxes last year and the province took in $15,000,000.

"It is obvious who should pay the greater part of the forest protection bill," he said.

Dr. J. D. Brule, manager of the Lower St. Lawrence Forest Protection Association, said federal taxes on the Quebec forest industry last year amounted to $120,000,000. "In return we got $660 for education purposes."

Musical Revue To Aid Hospital Buildng Fund

LINDSAY (ENS)—The first organized effort on behalf of the hospital expansion fund, the Kiwanis Club of Lindsay's Musical Revue "Honeymoon Hotel" got off to a good start Monday night with packed house attending the first of four shows at a local theatre. The next three nights are already sold out.

The show which combines a play, musical comedy and minstrel show, displayed the amateur talents of some 70 Lindsayites who worked for three weeks in practice under producer George Zarfas of Hamilton.

The Kiwanis Club voted the proceeds of the show, plus program sales, to the hospital extension fund, two months ago. It is expected that some $2,000 will be cleared to contribute to the fund through the show.

LINDSAY (ENS)—Lindsay town council Monday night approved on the recommendation of a specitl committee, the appointment of R. I. Moore QC of Lindsay, as the town's arbitrator in a wage talk with the local firefighters.

The appointment was made after Ald. Bruce Maidens reported, for the committee, that Mr. Moore would be willing to act for the town in the forthcoming arbitration. Charles Dubin, of Toronto will act for the firefighters association.

Originally, the town council had appointed town solicitor A. M. Fulton QC as arbitrator but he later informed them he could not take the post. T. H. Stinson QC was then approached but was not able to serve either.

Most Prices Down On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO (CP)—Most prices slipped a little in active early afternoon stock market trading today.

Golds were the highest group, with a slight rise from their forenoon position. Base metals, industrials and uraniums and New Brunswick base metals dropped slightly. Western oils were still lower.

The golds' rise, so slight as to be insigificant, came as a result of slight gains in one or two junior issues. Holding companies were still in the same position as at the opening, with a few small gains. Seniors were quiet with gains and losses slight and evenly balanced.

Industrials were about the same as in the forenoon with Utilities strong and a few other groups, principally steels and liquors, showing some signs of strength.

Western oils continued downward as most senior issues were still losing. Base metals lost their leading position for the first time in a few sessions as seniors, although still up, lost slightly in a few issues. Juniors were quieter than before noon.

Uraniums and Bathurst - area base metals were not as active as in the forenoon.

LIVERPOOL, England (CP)—An egg that was found in the Gobi desert and is estimated to be 40,000,000 years old was taken out of its museum strong-room here for a scientific conference. The six-inch pear-shaped egg, with a dull leaden-grey shell, is believed the only dinosaur egg in Europe.

Queen Gives Awards To 240 People

LONDON (AP) — The Queen stood for more than an hour today in the state ballroom at Buckingham Palace and handed out awards at a three-a-minute clip.

All told, 240 persons—including a blind man, a man with one leg, and a woman in a wheel chair—filed past for their awards.

The Queen, dressed in a simple dark blue dress and open-toed high-heeled shoes, had a handshake and a smile for each. For some she had a few kind words.

The awards ranged from knighthoods to medals for members of a British Antarctic expedition.

MANY IN ARMED FORCES

The bulk of the recipients were officers of the British navy, army and air force. Some of the others—civilians—w e r e n ' t so smartly dressed, and some of them got a bit flustered and forgot to back away properly after a medal was pinned on.

Several elderly ladies had the worst trouble.

They curtsied properly before stepping up to the Queen, but they forgot all about curtsying afterwards. In their confusion, they just walked away.

The Queen didn't mind. She turned serenely and picked up the next award from a red plush pillow held by an aide.

Holy Land—Britain, the United States and France have asked the UN Security Council to give urgent consideration to the deterioration of relations between Israel and Jordan. "I sincerely hope that both the Israel and Jordan governments will meanwhile refrain from any action which might aggravate the present dangerous situation."

Churchill, in reviving his plan for an informal conference of the top leaders of the big powers, said his government has "not given up this thought," first advanced by him May 11.

The proposal for the Lugano meeting, Churchill said, "involves no changes in our outlook. Our view remains that friendly, informal and personal talks between the leading figures in the countries mainly involved might do good and could not easily do much harm."

Churchill r e c a l l e d Opposition Leader Clement Attlee's statement at a Labor party conference in Margate earlier this month that there is a limit to what one government can do in international matters. The 78-year-old prime minister told the House that was wise advice.

Churchill dodged questions about reports he might fly to Moscow for talks with Premier Malenkov.

"I am afraid I shall be opening very wide doors if I attempt to confirm or deny everything that was carried in the papers," he said.

Churchill's remarks made clear he has not abandoned his proposal for high-level talks of world leaders.

Tells History Of Work Among Blind

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — An authority on all phases of the work of Institutes for the Blind in many lands, E. Baxter Lawley, Superintendent of the Ontario Division of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon here on Monday.

Mr. Lawley, a native of England, became blind in a B. C. mine in 1914. He returned to England where he studied history and social sciences and returned to Canada in 1929 after serving on the executive of the National Institute for the Blind there.

The first school for the blind was in France. Beggary and degradation were formerly regarded as the lot of blind persons, unless their relatives looked after them. In 1819, Louis Braillie, a musician who as a boy was blinded in his father's shoe shop attended a school for the blind. He devised a pin-point system of reading by pins-points and development of the Braille alphabet.

BIBLE IN BRAILLE

T. Edward Armitage, a physician who foresaw blindness, arranged for the first mechanical press to print the Bible in Braille.

In Canada, several schools were in operation before the First World War. As about 150 veterans returned home blind, the question of blind adult education as well as that of children became a problem. It was then that the Canadian National Institute for the Blind received its charter.

The work of the Institute is well known. They first encourge and help a blinded person and try in every way to make him completely self-sufficient.

Arthur K. Loucks introduced the speaker, and he was thanked by Rotarian Harold Carr.

DUTCH-BORN PAINTER AND HIS CELERBATED FAKING MASTER: Egbert Oudendag, whose exhibition of his paintings opens at the Public Library Gallery tonight, was a student of the famous Han van Meegeren after the war. Van Meegeren was such a great expert that he imitated Vermeer and De Hoogh and sold his imitations to the Dutch Government and Herman Goering as if they were genuine Old Masters. For seven canvasses Van Meegeren got seven million guilders, about $3,000,000. He was later prosecuted. Mr. Oudendag, who now lives and paints in Hamilton, painted the portrait of his great teacher (which he holds in his hands) two years before Meegeren's death. The striking portrait in the background is called "Patricia" and is one of many portraits in his Public Library exhibition. Among them are a couple of Peterborough people.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Dutch Artist Shows Portraits New View Of Countryside

Among the Dutch farmers, artisans and professional people who have emigrated to Canada since the war are a few artists. One of them is Egbert Oudendag, a painter now aged 39, who has been in this country four years. He and his wife and two children have taken up residence in Hamilton, where he paints landscapes and portraits. Mr. Oudendag is giving an exhibition of his work in the Peterborough Public Library gallery, and the show opens this evening continuing into next week.

Mr. Oudendag's professional skill is evident the moment one sets eyes on the walls of the main and anteroom; so is his versatility in subject-matter: still lifes, flowers, landscapes, street scenes, a nude, and numerous portraits. Mr. Oudendag specializes in portrait painting.

A characteristic technique marks his works. It is entirely in oils, almost an oil wash. The paint is thin but nevertheless opaque. The result is a high degree of polish where brush strokes are visible only as articulated grace-notes to his style.

This method of painting is academic, in an old tradition, but the manner—the mood —is fresh and modern, European rather than Canadian. One of the more interesting aspects of the exhibition is the way Mr. Oudendag has translated Ontario landscape. He does not see it as rough and riotous and new, but as as reasonably quiet, and civilized. (The scenes on exhibition are chiefly of the Hamilton, Brantford, Collingwood area). They are colorful landscapes, but more serene than most of our native-born Canadian painters, brought up on the School of Seven, allow us to see our countryside.

SKY PROMINENT

As may be expected of a Dutchman, Mr. Oudendag is conscious of the sky, and put a lot of it into his canvases —for instance "Sunset and Barn," a pleasant and striking work. There is drama in his scenes, too, for instance, "Winter" with its snow and pines. Some of his colors are novel to professional landscape painting in this country— pink skies rather than flaming streaks of orange and red (such a pink sky as we had last night at sunset; and yellow-greens, as in his painting of the Nith river near Brantford.

The casual moment is caught with good humour in a small piece called "The Match"— a man and a woman and a cigarette. There is a large blue thing, bright as wall paper in a nursery, called "Blossom," and several other pieces decorative rather than penetrating. "Spring Reflections" (No. 33) is an attractive and memorable canvas, with its outstanding white bush.

MANY PORTRAITS

It is refreshing to see in Peterborough an exhibition with many portraits. A striking one is the big hatted and red "Patricia"; a finely interpretative one is the girl called "Shirley." Of local interest are the portraits of the Rev. Horace Kaye and of Mrs. Ken McCannan of Peterborough. There are some attractive child studies, and, in the anteroom, a full-length, tranquil nude. The painting in all the portraits is characteristic smooth, polished, with great care for skin textures and colouring.

This old convention of acadamic colours and brush technique may be due in part to the influence of Mr. Oudendag's post-war teacher Han van Meegeren, the great and notorious Amsterdam imitator of Old Masters. Van Meegeren had such consummate skill, that he could fool the experts and did in fact sell— for fabulous prices — some of his canvases as genuine Vermeers and De Hooghs. On the whole an interesting, very competent show. —T. J. A.

Will Attend Special Reception

EDINBURGH (CP) — Canadian publisher Roy Thomson, in Britain on a month's visit, arrived from London today to attend a special Canadian-flavored reception at Edinburgh Castle.

Guest of honor at the ceremony, to be held tonight, will be Premier Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia. The premier will unveil a plaque commemorating Scotland's special ties with Nova Scotia.

The plaque refers to the time in the 17th century when King James VI of Scotland empowered the Scottish baronets of Nova Scotia to take possessions of their lands in the new world colony, long since freed of any distant tutelage. There are still more than 100 Nova Scotia baronets in Scotland with titles—but no lands.

Tonight's reception is being given by the minister of state for Scotland, the Earl of Home. Macdonald and Thomson, both Canadians proud of their Scottish origins, are the chief guests. A number of descendants of the original Nova Scotia baronets are also expected to attend.

Took Only Five Beers To Brace Himself Up

COBOURG — (ENS) — Ed. Asleyson, who came to Cobourg early this year with several hundred dollars in his jeans and paid a goodly portion of it in fines on drunk charges, was in court again Monday morning.

He had not been in Cobourg for some months and so the magistrate treated it as a first offence of intoxication and fined him $10 and costs. Chief H. Pearse found him drunk on Saturday night.

Asleyson said it was not a case of intoxication but a matter of bing subject to weak spells. He told the court that he felt a weak spell coming on and went into a hotel and had five beers to brace him up last Saturday.

"I couldn't get drunk on five beers," he said rather disgustedly. "The fact is that I was still weak when I left the hotel and that is what was wrong with me when the Chief saw me."

"He was drunk," said Chief Pearse.

The magistrate agreed.

Men's Club Hears Of Mission In Toronto

A banquet was served at the Kawartha Club Monday evening to open the fall season of All Saints' Men's Club, with a large attendance.

President Ford Warren presided. Guest speaker J. Traviss, an investment broker from Toronto, was introduced by the Rev. M. P. Poole. Mr. Traviss spoke on Toronto downtown mission work, which has been carried on since 1912, and of his particular interest in Camp Woodlands on Lake Simcoe, operated in conjunction with it. Of particular interest was the part played in local mission work by the church layman.

Lloyd Gross entertained with excellent colored pictures taken on his trip to the coronation.

Mr. Traviss was thanked on behalf of the club by Roy Irwin, and appreciation to Mr. Gross was expressed by Gord Millen.

Bethany Church Holds Service For Anniversary

BETHANY (ENS) — Anniversary services were held in Bethany United Church Sunday with the Rev. W. Patterson, of Millbrook, as guest minister. In the morning his text was taken from Hebrews, "Wherefore He is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by Him, seeing He ever liveth to make intercession for them," and in the evening his theme was "Witness Bearing."

The church was decorated with bronze and crimson chrysanthemums and maple leaves.

Miss Jeanne Coulter, Pontypool, was at the organ and the choir, under the direction of Harry Preston, sang four anthems. Mrs. K. Robinson, of Toronto, was guest soloist.

For the past two months the church has been without a resident minister, due to the sudden illness of the Rev. Clifford Grant, who had been newly inducted in June. On Sunday word was received of his death in Wellesley Hospital, Toronto.

The new minister to the circuit, the Rev. Lawrencve Norman, comes from Newfoundland, and with his wife and family had just arrived here Saturday. Mr. Norman was introduced to the congregation on Sunday and assisted in the service with reading the scripture lesson and offering prayers.

The church was crowded to capacity in the morning and well filled for the evening service.

Special music by the choir was enhanced by the assistance of Miss Marilyn Eggleton of Toronto and Mr. Ernest Archer during the evening service.

Dr. Bannister's morning subject was, "They Kept on Going," and his evening topic, "Advance and Dig In."

Dr. D. M. Smith, pastor of the church, was present in the morning and was joined by the Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church for the evening service.

On Interdicted List Woman Fined $25

COBOURG — (ENS) — Mrs. Margaret Byers, Port Hope was fined $25 and costs by Magistrate R. B. Baxter Monday on a charge of consuming liquor while on the interdicted list.

George Hapscott, of Hamilton township was charged with supplying her with liquor but the charge was dismissed when Mrs. Byers told the court that the wine had been purchased by Mrs. Tapscott.

"In view of the fact that you have been recently married, I will let you off with a fine but drinking has been your trouble in the past and the next time I will not be so lenient," said the magistrate.

Lying Witnesses

A case in Peterborough Magistrate's Court last week was noteworthy for the apprehension of the offender and for Magistrate R. I. Moore's comment on perjury. The case concerned a drunken driver.

* * *

The driver, who had several passengers, was swerving along the road in the northern part of the county, rounding turns on the wrong side and otherwise driving incompetently and dangerously. Behind came a Hamilton man with his family. The gyrations of the car ahead angered as well as menaced him. After trying two or three times to pass, only to be edged to the shoulder of the road, Mr. William A. Morrison of Hamilton finally got safely by. He drove forthwith into Apsley and reported his experience to a constable. The policeman set off down the road to investigate, saw that the young driver was dangerously drunk and arrested him. If Mr. Morrison of Hamilton had done as many others do, had stewed in his anger but set aside his sense of public duty because of possible consequent personal inconveniences, the drunken driver might have gone on to involve himself and others in a grave accident. But the Hamilton driver went out of his way to report to the police even though he might have to return to Peterborough later as a witness. He should be commended on his public spirit; indeed, the magistrate did so in court after finding the drunken driver guilty.

* * *

The second point of interest in this case was Magistrate Moore's rejection of sworn testimony by the accused driver and a passenger. Despite the Hamilton citizen's evidence and that of the Apsley policeman, they insisted that the driver was sober, making statements which were untruthful. The magistrate said that it was "as close to perjury as I ever expected to hear". The drunken driver was sentenced to fifteen days in the county jail. Magistrate Moore said he was determined to "stamp out" lying by witnesses who are under oath to tell the truth. While he did not charge either man with perjury, his indictments of their credibility was a stern reminder that perjury is a serious offence.

* * *

Every judge, lawyer and witness to a court action has repeatedly heard testimony given which is untruthful, and not because of imperfect memory or mild prevarication from observed facts, but because it is downright lying. Truth is hard enough to find in court when memories lapse, observation has been inaccurate or events confused, without lying tongues to further confuse. The only lie permitted in court by the law of the land (and for a technical reason) is for a defendant to plead "Not Guilty". Beyond that, the whole truth must be told and nothing but the truth. A white lie on behalf of a buddy in the dock is a black lie—perjury no less. If perjurers were put behind the same bars as those whom their lying was intended to defend, they might better understand the seriousness of testimony on oath.

Conference At Last?

When Mr. John Foster Dulles went to London last Thursday to confer with the British and French foreign ministers, it was a recognition of the importance of Sir Winston Churchill's and Mr. Eden's return to active office. The decision of that meeting to invite the Soviet Union to a four-power conference at Lugano, Switzerland, on November 9th, shows that the importance of their return is not misplaced. The decision as well as the idea stem from Britain, not the U.S. Churchill has had his way. The Lugano conference which he had wanted this month, will be held after all—if the U.S.S.R. accepts the invitation—and its topics for discussion will not be limited to German and Austrian questions. The foreign ministers will also confer on the organization of European security as a whole. This suggests some form of comprehensive non-aggression treaties. And really, it is only through treaties, despite the way "pieces of paper" have been disparaged since 1914—that peace can be underwritten, unless the assurance is sought by armaments and their risk of war. Arms can coerce; they cannot cause agreement.

Another conference seems a shade nearer being realized. A week ago the U.S. (in its guise of U.N. in Korea) accepted Communist China's offer for a preliminary meeting at Panmunjom to "exchange views" on the questions of time, place and composition of the Korean political conference. Previously the U.S. had refused to agree to including non-belligerents like India at the conference table. Has the U.S. attitude happily softened?

A third conference is sought. The British, French and U.S. foreign ministers proposed in London to invite Italy and Yugoslavia to a five-power meeting on Trieste. Since, at the same time, the October 8th decision to hand over the administration of Trieste city and harbour to Italy was reaffirmed, it is unlikely that Yugoslavia will look favourably at a meeting for which the cards are already stacked. Nevertheless, the international prospects for settlement are better than they have been since Churchill and Eden withdrew from action last spring.

A Gray Fedora In Ottawa

Relations between Canada and Russia must be easier than they have been since 1946, because for the first time since the Soviet spy ring disclosures of that year, a Russian ambassador has arrived in Ottawa. If Canada is still in the intermediate diplomatic position between Britain and the U.S.A. that she is traditionally thought to be, this resumption of ambassadorial office indicates less tension between the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.—Britain already being on casual though not cordial terms with the Soviet Union.

The Russian Ambassador, whose name is Dmitri Stepanovich Chuvakhin, arrived wearing a grey fedora. That in itself is as unusual as a Russian ambassador's presence in the Canadian capital. Whenever one sees pictures of Canadian cabinet ministers and diplomats in Ottawa attending some formal outdoor affair, such as the laying of a wreath or the cutting of a knot across a road, they are all attired in black fedoras—Homburgs; a solemn line of cawing black. The new Russian ambassador will not, of course, be able to crow over them in his grey hat, but it, with his reputedly jovial presence, will add a touch of colour to staid Ottawa, we expect. The colour need not be a violent red.

We Need Our Own Critics

Everybody who is interested in the development of music in Canada is grateful for the Carnegie Hall concert last Friday night, when works of six of our leading Canadian composers were performed before a large and important audience. But it is folly to say that Canadian music is now on the map; it is not even on the map in Canada. We have composers, and we have performers, but we have not yet enough performances. And it may be said that our greatest need is for Canadian critics.

What we mean will be understood by anyone who has read what the critics on the leading New York papers said about the music they heard on Friday. The criticism is friendly, a little surprised in tone and a little bit condescending. This is not surprising and it is nothing for us to be huffy about. New York critics are understandably surprised by music from Canada; nobody ever suspects us of any sort of cultural blossoming. New York critics are certainly not going to exert themselves to give detailed criticism of music which they may never hear again in their lives. And they are bound to be a little bit condescending, because every other important country condescends to Canada in the realm of the arts; we have not yet won our place in the international artistic world.

Paradoxically, we shall not be known internationally until we know ourselves better on our home ground. There are not enough concerts of Canadian music, and there are not enough people to whom Canadian musicians can turn for the kind of informed, yet stern, criticism which they need. What single critic of music is there, writing for any Canadian paper or magazine, for whose opinion a Canadian composer cares the toss of a button? Approval by New York critics is important and gratifying, but it comes too seldom. Canadian composers need more criticism of better quality at home.

Criticism is of limited value to a musician or any other artist; the notion that critics make or break creative artists is not suported by history. Criticism is, in the main, intelligent and informed appreciation; the critic should be, not the schoolmaster with the birch rod, but the man whose artistic standard are known and respected. We lack critics of this character in Canada in all the arts, but nowhere so badly as in the world of music. Without them our advancement is likely to be slow and discouraging. The public and the composers need more critics, of the highest qualifications.

NOTES AND COMMENT

It is now possible that thought may be transferred by radio, though little in present programs suggests it.

The closed mind is common enough, but we should like to see more minds closed for repairs.

A doctor says that a dream lasts about five seconds. A daydream can be prolonged for at least half an hour, and we have known pipedreams which lasted for years.

TREATY BROKEN

Moscow To Gain From Trieste?

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW (in London)

IT WAS HARDLY to be expected that Moscow would refrain from making capital out of the Trieste affair. The Russian protest against the "crude violation of the Italian peace treaty" by Britain and America could have been exactly predicted, and it can hardly have come as a surprise to those responsible for the decision to hand over to Italy Zone A of Trieste. The same can be said of the Yugoslav reaction—though here the sharpness of Marshal Tito's language and the violence of the disturbances in Belgrade (Yugoslav capital) do in fact seem to have been more than was bargained for.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS HARD to understand why. Trieste has been a hornet's nest in the past, and will remain so for years to come. As long as British and American troops have occupied Zone A there has been a buffer to soften the impact of mutual hostility between Italians and Yugoslavs. But now that buffer is to be removed.

It is not simply that the Anglo-American reaction has, in fact, set two bitter antagonists face to face with instructions to get on with their quarrel by themselves. This is bad enough; but it could be argued that Britain and America have tired of the thankless and expensive task of holding the ring and decided that sudden and dramatic action might bring both Yogoslavia and Italy to their senses— on the grounds that there is nothing so sobering as a position in which an irresponsible word or action may lead to war. Yet this sort of reasoning would seem to leave out of account the peculiarities of the Italian and Yugoslav temperaments, in which high feeling and national pride may all too easily get out of hand.

✧ ✧ ✧

REASONING on these lines condones what is nothing less than a gamble, with war and peace in the balance; and it is highly questionable whether at this time, in particular, such gambling is a mark of responsible statesmanship. It could be argued that this sudden decision is calculated to put the Italians in a favourable mood towards the European Defence Community, but this is surely a high price to pay for an immediate, and doubtful, advantage.

✧ ✧ ✧

MORE SERIOUS, however, than the immediate effects on the situation in the Balkans are the repercussions of this sudden action in the world at large. The Russian Note was to be expected — in itself it is simply another Russian Note. But it is only a beginning.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHAT WE HAVE DONE is to present the Soviet propaganda machine with some very useful ammunition; and on top of that we have given Moscow a first class opportunity to make a new approach to Tito. It tunity to make a new approach to Tito. It is improbable that Tito is at all inclined to turn his back on the West and throw himself into the arms of the Kremlin. But, at the very least, we have put him in a position where he can begin to play off East and West against one another. At the same time, we seem to have gone out of our way to discourage any dawning belief among the Soviet satellites of Eastern Europe that the West might make more trustworthy sponsors than Moscow.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR QUITE APART from the rights and wrongs of the Italians and the Yugoslavs, we have ourselves gone back on a treaty. Russia will make the most of this fact, not merely by using it to embarrass us directly, but also by holding up Britain and America as countries whose word cannot be believed.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE FACT that our wrong is, in practice, only a technical wrong, is really neither here nor there. The Russians, as we know, thrive on technicalities, and the last thing we want to do is to provide them with examples, Technically, America and Britain have in fact violated the Italian peace treaty, to which was appended the Statute of Trieste. This treaty was signed by twenty-one nations, including Yugoslavia—and, of course, the Soviet Union. It provided for a provisional settlement of the Trieste problem by setting up a free territory under an independent governor, responsible to the United Nations Security Council. Pending the implementation of this province, Yugoslavia was to administer Zone B, garrisoning it with up to ten thousand troops; Britain and America were to administer Zone A with up to five thousand troops apiece. The dividing line between Zone A and Zone B, the so-called "French Line," marked the place where, when fighting in the second world war ended, the Yugoslavs and the Western allies stood facing one another; and where they have gone on facing one another ever since.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE STATUTE OF TRIESTE was stillborn because Britain and America on the one hand, and Russia on the other, could never agree on a governor. Yugoslavia, it will be remembered, was completely under the domination of Moscow in the days when this problem was being thrashed out. In effect, therefore, the free territory has been divided under military occupation between Yugoslavia and Anglo-American forces. The preparatory stage of implementing the statute is still in being. Since the military occupation was originally approved by the signatories to the peace treaty, no one could raise any effective objection. It was a temporary situation which, because of circumstances outside anyone's control, hardened into a permanent situation. What we have done now, in effect, is proclaim that is an impossible situation and announce our intention of evacuating Zone A and handing it over to Italian administration.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE HAD no technical right to do this except by agreement with all the signatories of the treaty. And it seems a curious time to lay ourselves open, by hasty and impatient action, to the charge of treaty breaking. There is a good deal to be said for an occasional sign from the Western Powers that they are still capable of firm and decisive action; but if that is our intention in Trieste, it would be advisable to wait until we have a cast-iron case.

SONG AND DANCE

A man bought a canary from a pet shop. "You're sure this bird can sing?" He said, suspiciously.

"He's a grand singer."

The customer left. A week later he reappeared. "Say! This confounded bird you sold me the other day is lame!"

"Well, what do you want—a singer or a dancer?"

'Terrible Thing To Be Killed By A Bull'

(W. H. Colclough, Vancouver, in the Stratford Beacon-Herald)

"Shep saved me all right; otherwise the bull would have killed me", said the 60-year-old Fraser Valley farmer, from his bed in his comfortable farm-home. Painfully he moved his right arm, which was held in a cast, and then continued: "I got out of it with a broken arm, three broken ribs, a crushed ankle and a cut on my ear. But I was lucky. Another minute, and it would have been all over—but 'Shep' came in".

"Was the bull vicious?", we asked, rather stupidly.

"Last week I would have said not a bit vicious. I raised him from a calf. He is now three years old, and all that time he has been as docile as a setting hen. For some time I have been taking him out for a short walk in the yard. That morning I figured on letting him out in the big field for a spell, and we were almost up to the field gate, when he hit me like a cyclone. He knocked me down; but I managed to grab his horn and ear, and was almost on my feet when I went down again, and say, Mister, it's a terrible thing to be killed by a bull. Just when I thought it was about over 'Shep' came in from I really don't know where, and he sure made that bull forget me for a minute or two—and I had time to get out of the yard. Good old 'Shep'."

The handsome Scotch collie was the hero of the hour, and here he was stretched in his master's bedroom—usually forbidden territory—with his long nose on the floor, held by a paw on each side. His brown eyes looked with admiration on his master, while his big, feather-like tail beat a rhythmic tattoo on the carpet.

"Shep" has the run of the house now. "He always will", observed the farmer. "Even the wife says there is nothing too good for 'Shep'." In the meantime, "Shep" was obviously trying to say, "Oh, shucks; it was nothing".

Why do they do it? Shortly before this farmer nearly lost his life, a farmer was killed by his bull not far from Goderich, and another man was trampled to death in Quebec. Every year a dozen or so good men lose their lives in this fashion. Apparently, there are some men who refuse to accept the possibility that their bovine purchase may change instantly from a quiet, docile animal into a raging cyclone of destruction. Experts tell us that there is no such thing as a safe bull, and that to ignore this fact means the loss of human life at regular intervals.

However, there are farmers who never forget that there is a potential killer under their barn roof. These men are always on the alert, and an eternal vigilance sees to it that no harm is ever done. In the above case, it was one of those trigger-happy Jerseys which almost killed his master. We understand that, while they frequently rate only 1,000 pounds, they are more dangerous than their 2,000-pound cousin, the Hereford. When it comes to mere man, the writer hasn't any preference, and would run just as fast from an enraged Hereford as from a spit-fire Jersey.

Letters To The Editor

THE VANISHING WOODUCK

Sir: Congratulations to Joe Montemiglio of Lindsay for his shooting of a solitary defenceless wooduck. One of God's most beautiful and fast disppearing birds. That's one woodduck that you, your friends and I will never see.

RUEFUL.

THOUGHT VULTURES WERE STORKS

Sir: In reply to Mr. Pammett's letter, (Secretary of the Nature Club), we would like to state that we are ignorant in recognizing the different species of said birds and did not take them to be turkey vultures as we are sure had Mr. Pammett been in our place neither would he. We thought that they were of the stork family and, as our families are big enough now, thought that they would be better shot down.

Yours very truly.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled . . . Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. (Matt. 5:6,8.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Ask and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you: for every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth: and to him that knocketh it shall be opened . . .

Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way, that leadeth to destruction, and many there be which go in thereat: because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it . . .

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7:7,8,13,14,28,29.)

✧ ✧ ✧

The spake Jesus again unto them, saying, I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life. (John 9:12.)

She Was Indeed!

(Montreal Star)

As a loyal Montrealer we are pleased and proud that an institution of learning in this city has been asked to settle —and we trust has settled —a question of great historical importance. Not only is history involved in the determination of this long-awaited decision: a certain degree of curiosity has survived the passage of many centuries and may now be finally allayed, since a learned professor at McGill has let it be known that the Queen of Sheba was white.

We do not greatly wonder at the puzzlement of the Hollywood film company which wants to make a picture in which the Queen of Sheba appears. Manifestly it would be better to determine the lady's colour before embarking on taking her picture. It would have been easy enough to fall into the error under which so many of us have laboured, and assumed that when in Solomon's immortal love poem somebody said — or sang more probably—, "I am black but comely. O ye daughters of Jerusalem" it was Balkis herself letting the local ladies know that the newcomer was not to be despised.

The Song of Songs tells us little about her genealogy but we can gather enough to be sure that her first appearance must have been at least striking, and her effect upon Solomon considerable. A wise woman was the Queen, as we read in "The Butterfly that Stamped." But even that more intimate picture of her gives no hint of her colour.

So Maqueda (Balkis, to her friends), was white. Just as well perhaps that one of our long preoccupations may now be laid aside, only to be succeeded by another. How comes it that she was connected with Africa by legends, as the McGill savant says, if she wasn't African? She was white, was she? All right. Tell us more about her.

Canadian Soldiers Happy To Return From Korea

SEATTLE (AP)—For most of 250 Canadian soldiers who arrived here from the Far East Monday it was just another leg of a long trip home. But for Signalman Murray McNicol it was a trip right into his family's new backyard.

McNicol's parents moved from Toronto to Edmonds, just north of Seattle, while he was overseas.

"I know I couldn't be happier," he said, "even if I don't know anybody around here."

Lieut. Fred Sykes of Brockville was impressed by the pine trees.

TREES LOOK GOOD

"I'm not quite home," he said, "but the pine trees here look almost as good to me as Canadian pine trees. I haven't seen a pine tree for a long time."

Sykes has been in the Far East for 13 months.

Homecoming for Lieut. Bernard Wallis of Kitchener will be "terrific," but his big moment is about two weeks off.

It will be two weeks before Wallis can see his wife, now teaching school in Trinidad. "She didn't know I was coming in time to get home to meet me."

Court No Place To Speak Woman's Name

The age of chivalry is not dead. Or if it is it apparently won't lie down.

Pleading guilty to a charge of assaulting his landlord, Fred Bye, 41, of 406 Aylmer St., Monday refused to give evidence in his own behalf on the grounds that there was a woman involved.

The landlord, William Cinese, who laid the charge, said he had told Bye Sunday night to turn off the kitchen light because he was burning too much electricity. Bye had struck him twice, inflicting a cut over his left eye which required seven stitches to close it. Then he had kicked him.

Bye appeared to be sober at the time, Cinese said.

Given the opportunity of replying to Cinese's charges, Bye declined. "I'm letting him have his way now but I'm going to appeal it," he said.

"Don't plead guilty and then appeal it," Magistrate R. I. Moore, QC, warned.

"That's what I'm going to do," Bye said. "Its a matter of another woman. That's why I don't want to bring it up here."

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, said it wasn't a very gentlemanly thing for Bye to knock the older man down and kick him.

"I don't think I put the boots to him," Bye said. "I'm not that kind. I knocked him down twice."

"Thirty days in the county jail," said the magistrate.

Engineers Begin Moving City Of Thetford Mines

MONTREAL (CP) — Engineers are giving the Eastern Townships city of Thetford Mines a new lease on life, but to do so they are moving part of the downtown area lock, stock and barrel.

The city's future was threatened a few years ago when mining engineers found that asbestos mining operations in the area were undermining land and endangering sections of the town.

Faced with the alternative of closing down the mines and reducing the city of 16,000 to ghost-town status within 20 years, the mining companies decided to rebuild the threatened sections elsewhere.

The main line of the Quebec Central Railway and Thetford's main street front on mine property.

MOVE RAILWAY

A $5,000,000 scheme, started last August and jointly financed by the companies, will relocate most of the city's commercial district, provide a new railway station and shunting yard, shift 100 private homes, and move the town waterworks to a new site.

The plan, to be completed next August, also calls for laying eight miles of main-line railway tracks and spur lines to the mines, building a new railroad bridge over the Thetford river, construction of new highways and provision of sewers and power lines.

But, Thetford people say, "it's cheap at the price. It gives the mines another 100 years of life at cost of little more than $50,000 a year."

LIFE-BLOOD OF TOWN

Mining is the life-blood of Thetford and the neighboring communities of East Broughton and Robertsonville to the north, and Black Lake and Coleraine to the south. The mines and mills produce 80 per cent of the world's asbestos.

Trouble at Thetford was a result of the very success of mining operations in the area. Rich in mineral, asbestos has been dug out of the ground by open pit methods since deposits were first discovered late in the 19th century.

Production was cheap. Instead of sinking shafts and boring underground tunnels to recover the ore, the top soil was simply stripped off and the mineral shovelled out. But the resulting pit grew deeper —and wider.

That—and not shortage of ore—was Thetford's problem.

In open-cast mining the walls of the pit must never slope at a steeper angle than 45 degrees. For every foot dug down, two feet are needed at the surface. Sooner or later lack of space halts operations.

3 SEPARATE MINES

Originally there were three separate mines. After 60 years the three became just one large hole, each company pushing back its surface boundaries as digging went deeper.

A few years ago, with the three mines digging at 500 feet below the surface the hole had grown as large as it could.

Hoping to stave off closure in the midst of plenty, engineers evolved a block-mining technique.

"Instead of extending the surface area," the engineers said, "why don't we drive a hortizontal shaft in along the sides of the pit, dig out the ore, and then fill it up with waste sand to prevent cave-in."

SAND FILL FAILS

It didn't work. "We found cracks developing in the surface, parallel to the face of the slope," said George W. Smith, president and managing director of one of the mining companies, the Bell Asbestos Company Limited.

"It was apparent sand-filling would not prevent land sinking. It was quite a shock. At the Bell we only had one block of ore left we could mine safely, cutting the life of our mine down to 20 years at the most. The position at the other two mines was even more critical."

"The only alternative was to relocate the railways and the business centre—and do it fast," Mr. Smith said.

Not Allowed Drink On Reserve

BELLEVILLE (CP) — Mohawk Indians on the nearby Tydendinaga reserve said Monday they are not allowed to drink in a beverage room at Shannonville in the heart of the reserve. The licensed Shannonville hotel stands on land leased for 999 years from the Indians.

The band members told the legislature's select committee on Indian affairs they cannot understand why they should not be able to drink in a beverage room on their own property. They said they also object to the defence department trucking beer and liquor to the air force station built on the reserve.

The committee is on a four-day tour of eastern Ontario reserves.

Dual Role In Cabinet

VICTORIA (CP) — Attorney-General Robert Bonner was sworn in Monday by Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace as minister of education to replace Mrs. Tilly Rolston, who died last week in Vancouver. 4 Nominated To Contest By-Election In Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Three men and one woman Monday were officially nominated to contest the Oct. 26 provincial by-election in Niagara riding.

They are Grant Donald of Niagara Falls, Liberal; Arthur Jolley of Niagara Falls, Progressive Conservative; Pat Spain of Fort Erie, CCF; and Mary Price of Welland, Labor-Progressive.

Mr. Donald has served as a member of the Niagara Falls city council for the last 15 years and is vice-president of the Ontario Municipal Association. He has been employed by the Canadian National Railways for 29 years and is 52.

Mr. Jolley is a 42-year-old building contractor who served with the RCAF during the Second World War. He is a member of the Niagara Falls city council and vice-president of the Greater Niagara Chamber of Commerce.

NO EXPERIENCE

Pat Spain has had no previous political experience, but at 27 is vice-president of the Niagara CCF association. He is a member of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) and editor of the local's newspaper at a Fort Erie steel plant.

Miss Price, 40, is a secretary. She has long been associated with the Labor-Progressive party there and is active in labor circles throughout the Niagara peninsula.

The by-election was forced when William Houck, the sitting Liberal member, resigned to contest successfully the seat in the Aug. 10 federal election.

Dustlike pumice is thought to cover the surface of the moon.

Housewife Raped In Break-in

EDMONTON (CP)—An Edmonton housewife was raped and her maid beaten after two men broke into their home during the week-end demanding payment of a $2,000 "gambling debt."

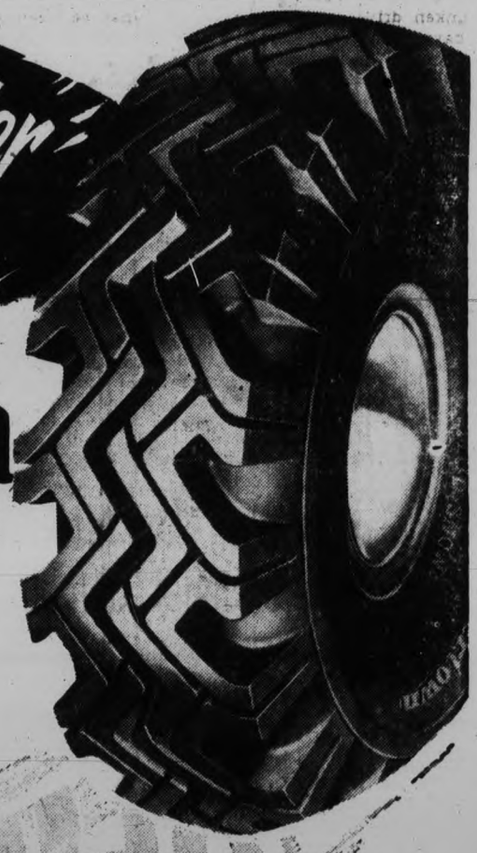
Alvin Lloyd Funk, a construction worker, appeared in magistrate's court Monday charged with rape and car theft, and was remanded Oct. 27.

The housewife, not identified in police reports to newspapermen, was in bed and her maid preparing to retire when the intruders entered Saturday through an unlocked door.

The housewife told police she was awakened by a man who said he wanted $2,000 he had won from her husband in gambling. Later he attacked her while holding a knife to her back.

Put Private Interests First Governor Claims

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan said Monday chief obstacle to United States participation in the proposed St. Lawrence seaway development was the opposition presented by sectional and "sometimes narrow" interests in the U.S.



These groups put their own private interests ahead of those of the nation as a whole, he said.

Addressing the 25th annual Windsor Rotary Club's International Day luncheon, he said it now is anyone's guess how the U.S. congress will vote when asked again to join Canada in the project.

"Canada, by taking the initiative, I am certain, will give the needed impetus to the joint proposition."

Basketball will be starting shortly here and running right through till late spring. A good indoor winter game for girls and fellows. But let us have less whistle-tooting and more sustained action this season. We are in complete agreement with the Windsor writer who says: "We hope that local cage officials will get up to date and eliminate the whistle tooting on fringe fouls and borderline violations in the back court. In the past few campaigns, too many games have been spoiled by officials who persisted in handing out a foul everytime a player touched another." The scribe feels strongly on the point and goes into more detail thusly:

* * * * * *

"A slap on the wrist, unless it is done deliberately or when a player is shooting for the hoop, shouldn't call for a foul. Many defensive players take a swat at the dribbler in the back court and accidently hit the dribbler's hand or wrist. Why halt the game and hand out a free throw? It certainly isn't deserved. The game of basketball today is just a steady parade to the foul line. Let's hope this season the officials will leave their whistles in their pockets more and ignore the numerous petty fouls which pop up in front of them. The sooner that we return to the basketball of the 'good old days' the better." It's worth a thought up this way, too.

Puck Season Lengthens

Forty games hath the schedule, not counting exhibitions and playoffs. With 20 of the loop fixtures at home. That's the TPT Petes' OHA senior "B" schedule. Golly, we can remember when the NHL only went in for from 30 to 40 games, and they were paid pros! Artificial ice sure make a difference, and the Petes are in league play in October where it was Christmas or after when they started not so many years ago. They can go until out in April, or May, if necessary, now, but 10 years ago they had to finish by about the middle of March or move playoff games to artificial ice centres like Oshawa. Time marches on.

* * * * * *

The schedule as it affects Eddie Redmond's local squad is in tonight. Run the shears around it and keep it for reference. The Petes open against Oshawa playing in Bowmanville this Saturday night, Oshawa playing all "home" games in that centre this season since their own arena burned down. Orillia comes here a week from this Friday to open the home OHA season for the TPT-ers. Games are at 8.30, except for a nine o'clock touch in Bella Villa on Friday nights. Top four clubs playoff in semi-finals, first vs. fourth, and second vs. third, a best-of-seven set. Finals must be over by March 20. Winner then goes down the provincial senior "B" path after the title presently held by Kingston Goodyears.

Keep The Sticks Down

St. Kitt's columnist has a timely item on avoiding puck penalties. In part, he writes: "The jolting bodycheck, without the defender racing ahead to make it charging, will do more good in the long run than a dozen high sticks, and keep the rearguard in play. The other way, he's only asking for penalties and every coach and player knows how costly that can be at times. Tutors seem to concentrate more on scoring plays and let the defence do it any way they wish, often with disastrous results." Yes, we like the bodycheck but it can miss often, also, and blocking back of the blue line —and skating 'em off— as so ably demonstrated here in recent years by Drake Jopling and Johnny Godfrey is probably the best bet for defencemen.

* * * * * *

Coach Tony Kotowski is whipping the Orfuns through stiff grid drills this week to have them in the pink for the return ORFU intermediate "A" group final in Cobourg on Saturday aft. Orfuns are down six points and must take this deficit up Saturday or hang up the gear for the year. If they erase the Ghosts, Orfuns proceed right into provincial finals against the Western Ontario winner the end of the month. Cobourg sought permission to use three late signers for the group playoffs but the ORFU turned 'em down. There are a few injuries on each squad at present, but we believe the betting will be pretty even on the Saturday scrap. It'll draw a huge Central Ontario crowd.

Finds Canada Can Now Afford Big-Time Professional Football

CHICAGO (CP)—Canada is proving it can afford big-time professional football on a scale comparable to that in the United States, Chicago Tribune sports writer Edward Prell says in a four-article survey of the Canadian game.

"The sport now is on such a sturdy foundation that the clubs are in general agreement they want no working pact with the National Football League, which would eliminate wild bidding for American stars," Prell writes.

"The Canadians . . . have learned that bulging gate receipts induced by the imports make it financially feasible to bid for them. Two years ago they weren't so sure. . ."

Prell visited Montreal and Winnipeg, saw a couple of games, and talked with numerous coaches and players of Big Four and WIFU teams. He writes that when an American first sees a Canadian field he gets "the impression he is looking at the action through a magnifying glass." In comparison, football in the U.S. is played "on a pygmy area."

He explains that Canadian gridirons, including end zones, are 65 by 160 yards, or 10,400 square yards, as compared with 120 by 53⅓ yards, or 6,400 square yards, in the U.S.

Prell's articles generally are complimentary to the Canadian game and note that most U.S. experts who join Canadian teams get to like the brand of football played.

He says Canadian-born players are not underpaid and that many of them rival or surpass the American imports in both skill and salary. He quotes coach George Trafton of Winnipeg Blue Bombers as saying:

"Don't get the idea these Canadian boys are pushovers. This Kwong (Normie Kwong of Edmonton) is out of this world. Edmonton has a great kicker, Rod Pantages, and he's one of the highest salaried players in the conference. They've got a lot of tough linemen up here, too."

Golfer's Handicap

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont. (CP)—Ravens are a new hazard on the local golf course. Roy McMillan drove a new ball over a slight rise and followed, just in time to see a large raven snatch the ball and fly away with it.

Riders Trip Eskimos In 20-19 Fight

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Saskatchewan Roughriders tripped Edmonton Eskimos 20-19 Monday night on Edmonton's home territory, thus handing the powerful Eskimos their first defeat of the season at home.

The Saskatchewan club, billed as possible tail-enders in the Western Interprovincial Football Union before the season started, have accounted for three defeats and now have won four games in a row. They hold second place, two points in front of of Winnipeg Blue Bombers who decisioned Calgary Stampeders 18-6 in Calgary Monday night.

Edmonton, with an eight-point margin in the league, already has wrapped up first place.

SWEET FOR FILCHOCK

The triumph of the Roughriders was sweet for Frankie Filchock, Rider coach who replaced Glenn Dobbs in the quarterback slot. Bounced as Edmonton coach after last season, Filchock produced a sparkling passing and ground attack.

Saskatchewan majors were chalked up by halfback Bobby Marlow, end Harry Lampman and Bill Todd. Halfback Rollie Miles connected for two major scores for the Eskimos. Frankie Anderson took a Claude Arnold pass for the third Edmonton touchdown.

Neil Armstrong paced the Blue Bombers to their triumph with two majors. Lorne Benson connected for the other and all three were converted by Bud Korchak. Stampeders hit the scoring column only in the final minutes with a touchdown by end Al Endriss on a pass from Keith Spaith. Glen Christian converted it.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

If you're seeking the standout Canadian athlete of the year, don't look for the party among the men. You'll find her among the alleged weaker sex, and, of course, Marlene Stewart is the name. She's the darling of the golf links and has been for a couple of years.

As winner of the British Open, the Canadian Close, and finalist in the Canadian Open, Marlene capturned the imagination of a nation. As the sports figure of the year in Canada, she's a complete standout, with whose feats or glamour no Gordie Howe, no Rocket Richard, no Teeder Kennedy, in fact no male, can compete.

Already admirers wonder if she doesn't even now rate with the very best of women players ever produced in this country, a matter on which this column declines to commit itself. But she's a great golfer, and a loveable sort of wholesome kid.

The little freckled-faced lady, born at Chinook, Alberta, but playing from Fonthill, Ont., packs not only tremendous skill, and will to win, but a stout heart, the poise of a veteran, and concentration that even Ben Hogan himself cannot excel. Two years ago, then only 17, she had developed concentration to a point that she apologized to an opponent at the outset of a match: "I hope you won't think I'm rude, but I never talk on the golf course."

And now, at 19, Marlene plays a precision-like game that astounded British golf experts. Marlene Stewart is not merely a Canadian who won the British Ladies' Amateur, she is the youngest golfer to do it and as the London Daily Herald put it "the smallest and certainly one of the greatest women champions in the world."

Marlene Stewart was born with the lure of golf in her veins. Her home in Fonthill is only a short walk from the nearby Lookout Point links, and as a wee tyke, she was there daily, shagging balls for professional Gordon McInnus. Now Gordon is only a little bit of a chap, himself, and perhaps for that reason, he became interested in little Marlene. She took to the game as the average kid takes to ice-cream. At 15 years, she already was displaying amazing determination, and equally amazing potential skill. Weighing little over 100 pounds, she drove with volcanic force, and at closer range, deveolped a style of driving straight for the pin, which today remains one of her trade-marks.

She has won honours, plaudits, the love of a nation. At 17, she won three titles, the Ontario Amateur, the Canadian Open and Close. But through it all, and perhaps because of it, she has remained a sweet, pleasant, unspoiled girl, a typical Canadian youngster, natural, and unaffected.

Your comments and suggestions for this column will be welcomed by Elmer Ferguson, c/o Calvert House, 431 Yonge St., Toronto.

Reibel Bidding Strongly For NHL Rookie Award Displaces Howe In Scoring

MONTREAL (CP)—It's a little early yet to give the National Hockey League rookie award to Earl Dutch Reibel, but the way the Kitchener kid has been cutting up it wouldn't be surprising if a number of veterans joined newcomers in demanding there oughta be a law. With the season two weeks old, Reibel the rebel, up from Edmonton of the Western Hockey League, has already displaced Gordie Howe himself as the league's leading point scorer. What's more, he's thumbing his nose at such contenders for the throne as Ted Lindsay and Maurice Richard.

With Howe and Lindsay, it's all in the family. Reibel's 11 points in six games were a welcome contribution to the Detroit cause and a mighty factor in putting the Red Wings in first place.

Reibel collected six assists for his first week's play in the NHL and then splurged with four goals and one assist last week.

HOWE TWO POINTS BACK

The league's official statistics show Howe with nine points, two behind Reibel. The ace right-winger who has won the point-scoring title the last three seasons, counted one goal and two assists last week.

The best harvester of points last week wasn't Reibel but Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion, who helped himself to three goals and three assists. He now has eight points, tied with Lindsay, who added four assists.

After two weeks of campaigning the first three teams are only two points apart. The Red Wings lead with nine, one point ahead of Montreal and two ahead of Toronto. Boston Bruins, with two fewer games played than the Wings and Canadiens, have split even in their four games, a credit of four points, one better than New York. Chicago Black Hawks have managed only one draw in six starts.

Terry Sawchuk is setting the pace among the goalies with a goals-against team average of 1.33.

Poole Scores 51 Points On His Kicking

TORONTO (CP)—Ray Poole, 30-year-old American whose football claim to fame rests on his kicking ability, is proving to eastern Canada fans he is probably the deadliest field-goal and convert kicker to show in years.

The six-year veteran with New York Giants who came to Montreal Alouettes this season with the reputation as one of the best ends and field goal kickers in the National Football League, has scored 51 points on his punting.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Gene (Choo Choo) Roberts on top of the Big Four scoring list with 67 points, just six more than Poole who has been gaining steadily on the Ottawa Rough Rider the last two weeks. Roberts has scored five touchdowns, five field goals, 26 converts and one single against Poole's two majors, nine field goals and 24 conversions.

CONSISTENT SCORER

Roberts, native of Bonner Springs, Kas., has been a consistent scorer since he came to Canada three years ago.

Avatus Stone of the Riders, early - season leader, is in third place with 52 points. Stone, who jumped Chicago Cardinals this year for the Ottawa club, holds a 12-point lead over Hamilton Tiger - Cats' Lou Kusserow and Chuck Hunsinger of the Als, tied for fourth position with 40 points each.

Kusserow, from New York Yankees, and Hunsinger, veteran with Chicago Bears the last three seasons, have scored eight touchdowns each for their points.

John Mancos, from Kent State college in Ohio, leads Ontario Rugby Football Union scorers with a 71-point total. The Kitchener-Waterloo halfback has scored 13 touchdowns and six singles.

Gino Fracas of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs, is headed for the intercollegiate scoring title with 30 points on four touchdowns and 10 converts.

G. K. Garnett Heads Boxing Federation

QUEBEC (CP)—G. K. Garnett of Saint John, N.B., Monday was elected president of the Canadian Boxing Federation at its annual meeting. He succeeds Wilfrid Samson of Quebec.

Other officers elected were: Emile Gauthier, Montreal, first vice-president; R. H. Chandler, Moncton, N.B., second vice-president; Dr. L. Williamson, Edmonton, third-vice-president; Genel Letourneau, Quebec, national commissioner; and L. Laidlaw, Saint John, secretary.

Las Vegas Track Proves Failure

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Besieged by trouble from opening day, the Desert race track of the Las Vegas Jockey Club has suspended operations after racing only 11 of its scheduled 67 days.

The last racing day was Sunday, when the attendance was 3,927 and only $122,312 was wagered through the parimutuel machines. The $4,000,000 establishment opened Sept. 4 with fanfare and high hopes. But a tote-board went haywire and bettors couldn't determine what they were going to get for their money.

The crowds found the betting too slow, sometimes having to wait a half-hour for the prices to be posted. Attendance dropped.

The sporting crowd is back at the gambling casinos.

Odds Favor Olson 11 to 5 Turpin Puzzles Fight Fans

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—What's with Randy Turpin? That's the puzzler for the fight mob trying to stab a winner as odds favoring Bobo Olson hold steady at 11 to 5 in Wednesday's middleweight title bout at Madison Square Garden.

Olson is a known quantity. The Hawaiian is a busy, cute fighter without too much wallop. Turpin used to be a rugged, awkward fighter who manhandled Sugar Ray Robinson like he never was handled before. But what is he today?

The British Negro did his best to confuse the experts with his sporadic training at Grossinger, N.Y. He had three capable sparmates but boxed only five times in three weeks. In the last week he worked only once, or, at least, only once publicly.

"He hasn't done enough boxing to suit me," said Jack Solomons, the London promoter. "When I watched him he appeared out of distance (off on his timing).

"I talked to George (manager George Middleton) on the telephone Monday and he was as happy as could be. He said he didn't want to tell me his weight on the phone but not to worry.

NOT IMPRESSED BY OLSON

"I was not impressed by the Olson that fought Hairston (Eugene Hairston, who was stopped by Bobo in 1952). Perhaps he has improved since then but a man that can't punch hard can't beat a Turpin."

American managers and trainers, baffled by Turpin's strange training routine, are picking Olson almost to a man.

"He's a better fighter," said Whitey Bimstein, veteran trainer. "I saw him (Olson) when he was just a punk kid, boxing Tommy Yarosz. He can do anything the other guy does and keep going all night."

"What do we know about Turpin?" said Harry Stickevers, manager of Paddy Young who lost to Olson in the American title bout last June. "I've got to lean to Olson. Paddy feels the same way."

Al Wejll, Rocky Marciano's manager, advised: "Pick Olson and don't make a mistake." Irving Cohen, manager of Rocky Graziano, a former middle king, also picks Bobo.

Freddie Brown, veteran corner man, casts a solid dissenting vote.

"I like Turpin to knock him out," said Brown. "When he hits him, he'll know he got hit. Young staggered Olson a few times and did nothing about it. Olson is too slow for this fellow."

NEW YORK (AP)—Gaye Stewart of Buffalo Bisons, the team that had the weakest offence in the league last season, holds first place in the American Hockey League point derby, according to statistics released today.

Stewart has three goals and four assists for seven points. Seven players are tied for second with six and another five have five points. Only Joe Lund of Buffalo and Willie Marshall of Pittsburgh have managed to notch four goals.

Harvey Bennett of Providence holds the goal-tending lead with a 2.00 average, including the only shutout to date.

2 Football Players Die Over Weekend

NEW YORK (AP) — Two high school football players died during the weekend, bringing to eight the number of grid fatalities in the United States since the start of the season.

Other deaths have included three college players and three high school athletes.

Earl King, a Clay, West Va., high school player, died after being hurt in a game Friday night. Doctors said he died of a combination of shock and weak heart.

Lewis Robertson, a 17-year-old Alexandria, Va., high school player died after he left the field at half-time of a Saturday night game. He complained of dizziness at the time. Athletic officials said the boy injured his head a week ago.

Dutchmen Report 13 Injuries

KITCHENER (CP)—Taking inventory after their Ontario Rugby Football Union Senior weekend series against Toronto Balmy Beach, Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen Monday reported a long list of injuries.

Of 13 injured players, two are probably out for the rest of the season. They are flying wing Al Auchterlonie and linesman Al Finch, both of London, Ont. Auchterlonie suffered a broken hand but there is a slight possibility he may return late in the season. Finch has a cartilage injury, expected to keep him out of action until next season.

The other injured players, although not in top condition, will be used against Brantford Redskins in Kitchener Saturday. They are Paul Amodio, Nat Pagnan, Carl Totzke, Jack Mancos, Huck O'Connell, Bill Needham, Gerry Tuttle, Al Wade, Syl O'Hara, Don Siemon and Andy Gilmour.

VISIT TO NEW ZEALAND—The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will live at Government House, Wellington, N.Z., during their week's visit to that city next January. The comfortable, two-storey residence of Governor-General Sir Willoughby Norrie and Lady Norrie was built in 1910 and is set in extensive grounds, with flower beds, lawns and groves.

NEW ZEALAND HOSTS—Governor-General Sir Willoughby Norrie and Lady Willoughby will be hosts to the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh when the Royal couple visit New Zealand next January. Sir Willoughby, a commander of the 30th Corps in the Libyan desert campaign in the Second World War, was appointed governor-general of New Zealand in 1952.

Queen Visits New Zealand During Summer Season

By R. A. KENNER

AUCKLAND (Reuters) — The roar of guns firing a salute to the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will echo round Auckland's yacht-filled harbor as the royal liner Gothic enters port here Dec. 23.

Escorting the Gothic will be the cruiser Black Prince — which leaves Auckland naval base Nov. 28 to meet her at Panama. A close escort of smaller ships of the Royal New Zealand Navy will join the Gothic over the last few miles to the New Zealand coast.

At the moment the Queen steps on to New Zealand soil, the first reigning sovereign to do so, royal salutes will be fired and after a civic reception the royal party will drive up a tree-bordered avenue to Government House, where the Queen and the Duke will be in residence during their five days here.

In New Zealand, December and January are summer vacation months and to enable the Queen and the Duke to enjoy their 39-day visit formality is being cut to a minimum.

The royal couple will see amid the decorations the crimson blossom of the native pohutukawa—New Zealand's christmas tree. Everywhere multi-colored flowers will splash their color in the greatest Christmas floral display ever held in Auckland.

A major consideration in planning is to make sure that all city and suburban children have an opportunity to see the Queen. Some 30,000 children of school age will be marshalled in a grassy basin on the verge of public gardens.

QUEEN WILL BROADCAST

The Queen will make her Christmas broadcast to the British Commonwealth, marking the first time the royal Christmas message has been broadcast from outside the United Kingdom.

At Waitangi (Weeping Waters), the Queen will visit the site where, in 1840, the sovereignty of New Zealand was ceded by Maori tribal chieftains to Queen Victoria.

Many descendants of the chieftains who signed the treaty of Waitangi, the "Maori Magna Carta", will give the Queen and the Duke their first real Maori welcome, but the main demonstration of affection and loyalty will come when they reach Rotorua, in the heart of the hot springs district.

Near Rotorua lies Wairakei, (Waters of Adorning) and there the Queen and the Duke will see the most varied concentration of geyser and hot springs activity in all New Zealand.

The Queen and the Duke will see the end of the old year and the beginning of the new at Waitomo ("Water Passing Through a Hole"), renowned for its caves and grottoes, a fantastic fairyland of stalactite and stalagmite formations.

REST PERIOD

While at Rotorua, the Queen and the Duke will enjoy their first rest period. They will spend five days at Moose Lodge, a palatial home built on a headland overlooking a lake.

Later, in their tour of the south island, the royal visitors will have a holiday break at "Longbeach," a manor-like farm home built by an early settler.

The highlight of their stay in Wellington will be the Queen's opening of a short special session of Parliament, on Jan. 12, the first by a reigning sovereign.

Paper Publishes Again

SEATTLE, (CP) — The Seattle Times resumed publication Monday after a strike that brought a 95-day closure. An American Newspaper Guild (CIO) strike over the amount of wage increases closed the afternoon newspaper for more than 11 weeks. The newspaper remained closed another two weeks during negotiations between management and mechanical department unions.

Dreams Come True For Couple, 65

Retire on $200 A Month for Life!

A popular Halifax grocer and his wife recently retired on $200 a month for life. Their dreams of security and comfort have come true, thanks to a decision the grocer made in 1923.

It was then he took out a Confederation Life Insurance Pension Plan which included $20,000 insurance protection. He had just opened his store . . . and with the baby and the payments on his home, he had only so much left for retirement plans. It was a pleasant surprise when his Confederation Man told him how easily his dreams could come true—without risks or investment worries.

You'll be pleasantly surprised too at how easily you can make your dreams come true — and protect your loved ones at the same time—with a Confederation Life Pension Plan with Insurance.

Plan To Study U.K. System For Prisoners

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature's select committee on reform institutions Monday decided to study the English system of unconditional discharge of prisoners.

It reached the decision after chairman W. J. Stewart said the present Canadian system leaves a mark against a convicted person for life. It meant the offender was persecuted as well as prosecuted.

D. W. F. Coughlan, Ontario's chief probation officer, said that under the English system a person given an unconditional discharge has no conviction registered against him.

NOT ADHERED TO

Mr. Coughlan, former juvenile court judge, said that, while by law juvenile records are not to be used in adult courts, "unfortunately the rules of the juvenile court act have not been strictly lived up to."

Earlier, a former prisoner at the Don jail said the treatment of mentally ill patients at the jail is not much ahead of the dark ages.

In an anonymous letter to the select committee, the former prisoner said he saw one mental patient senselessly beaten by a trusty. Another patient, he charged had been beaten twice by a trusty and a guard and tied to his bed for the rest of the night.

National CCF Council To Meet November 14

OTTAWA (CP) — The national executive of the CCF party announced Monday that the party's national council will meet in Ottawa Nov. 14.

The meeting will be attended by between 75 and 100 provincial officials of the party, national officers, members of the party executive and members of Parliament.

The council will consider plans for organizational work in various parts of the country and for the 1954 biennial national convention of the CCF.

City Council Plans Parking Meter Test

TORONTO (CP) — City council Monday night voted to test the Red Ball parking meter which mayor Allan Lamport has championed during weeks of bitter debate over the type of meter to be installed on west-central Spadina avenue.

By a vote of 14 to 9, council adopted a board of control recommendation to test three types of meters, including the Red Ball, on city streets for a year.

Sees No Improvement

MONTREAL (CP)—Dr. Harold Hillenbrand of New York, secretary of the American Dental Association, said Monday there is no "clinical proof" that anti-enzyme, pastes are better than other types.

Dr. Hillenbrand, here to attend the annual meeting of the Canadian Dental Association, said at a press conference "no dentifrice has yet proved its therapeutic value—and this applies to chlorophyll and ammoniated dentifrices as well."

On public drinking supplies, he said only about 10 per cent of the American people "are at present covered by fluoridation—either natural or induced."

Fluoridation was important early in life to prevent tooth decay and its effects were "continuous through life."

Sees Major Expansion In Port Of Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier Monday night forecast that development of the St. Lawrence seaway will result in a major expansion of the port of Montreal.

Mr. Chevrier, in an address prepared for the Alumni Association of Ste. Marie College, said Montreal was bound to expand its trade and commerce with the coming of the seaway.

He predicted further harbor expansion and said "already consideration is being given to the development of the south shore in the Laprairie basin area for harbor purposes."

Would Abandon United Nations

TORONTO (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, owner of a group of British newspapers, said Monday, the United Nations should be abandoned.

The Canadian-born member of Prime Minister Churchill's wartime government said in an interview that the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States should be kept at home and that "meddling" in the domestic affairs of foreigners should be stopped.

He said Italy was armed by the United States and Yugoslavia by Britain and added:

"Now they are ready and they may embroil all of us. Next the United States and Great Britain will join together to arm the Germans. When that operation is over, we will have something to take our minds off the antiquated seaport of Trieste."

Crash-Lands Plane

TIMMINS (CP)—Gordon Lyons, 20, of St. Catharines crash-landed his plane at nearby Montrock Monday while returning from a visit to Iroquois Falls. The plane was extensively damaged, but Lyons was uninjured.

Man Found Shot

KINGSTON (CP)—Joseph Nicholas Balla, 63, was found fatally shot Monday at his home at Cloyne 50 miles north of here. Friends said he had been despondent for some time.

Canada Works To Produce Cheap Chemical

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—Research on a cheap and simple way to produce ethylene oxide — the expensive chemical essential to the manufacture of synthetics—has been transferred to Ottawa from Akron, Ohio.

The oxide, known as the "milk of industry," is used to produce about 20 industrial chemicals. These chemicals are then used to manufacture anti-freezes, detergents, synthetic fibres and leathers, cellophane, explosives and other similar products.

E. R. Birchard, president of Canadian Patents and Development Ltd., said Monday a new-type test reactor has been built by National Research Council scientists. Experiments with the reactor have been "very successful," he said.

LENGTHY RESEARCH

Present research on a cheap way to manufacture ethylene oxide was launched more than 11 years ago by the late Dr. Adrien Cambron, former head of the division of applied chemistry of the research council. The method now being tested is known as the "cambron process."

Ethylene oxide is produced in huge quantities in Canada and the United States to meet the growing demands of the synthetic industry. However, the existing process is both expensive and complicated and the amount manufactured has never met the demand.

Scientists said perfection of the Cambron process will save industry millions of dollars annually.

Newsprint Production Hits All-Time High

NEW YORK (AP)—World production of newsprint paper rose to an all-time high last year, it was reported Monday by the Newsprint Service Bureau.

Output for 1952 climbed to a record 10,611,000 tons—an increase of 3½ per cent over 1951. This was the first time since the end of the Second World War that production was in approximate balance with over-all demand, the bureau said.

Canada again led the world, accounting for 5,687,000 tons or 53½ per cent of total output.

Dublin Pair Begin Lawsuit For Leprechoun Kidnapping

DUBLIN (Reuters)—What may be the first lawsuit in history involving the kidnapping of a leprechaun is being threatened by a Dublin couple.

Kathleen and Mick Maguire claim they found the fairy in question under a mushroom in Dublin's Phoenix Park last August.

They admit he was dead but they and their neighbors promptly pronounced him "a real little leprechaun with perfect features and one leg crossed over the other."

What it was the Maguires found they promptly put it in a bottle and took a booth at the Crumlin Fun Fair to display the sprite for the public.

SAY FAIR LIABLE

Folks paid threepence a look and in seven weeks the Maguires collected £35 ($98).

But one day, Kathleen says, four country lads came to look and snatched the bottle away, and to this day no sign has been seen of them.

The Maguires hired a lawyer who sent a letter to Gordon Hunt, manager of the fair, claiming the fair was liable for the loss of the leprechaun and demanding £100 compensation.

Hunt insists he was not responsible.

Fears Subway Will Not Pay

TORONTO (CP)—Alderman William Dennison said Monday there are indications the nearly-completed Toronto subway will never be a paying proposition.

Speaking at a city council meeting, he said that with costs of building the subway steadily increasing the "glowing things" first promised by the Toronto Transportation Commission now have changed to "a pretty dark picture."

He made the remarks as council debated a final $18,000,000 debenture issue to complete the five-mile subway, scheduled to go into operation next March.

The work is to be completed on or before April 30, 1954 provided an appointment can be arranged with the Ontario Municipal Board before then. Otherwise, the time for completion will be extended accordingly.

The city will pay Mr. Culham $2,000, which will include his fees and personal expenses. The city will draft the final proposal, print the plans, type or mimeograph the bylaws and pay advertising charges.

Some discussion was initiated Monday night by Mayor Hugh Waddell who wanted to ensure that all Mr. Culham's fees and personal expenses were covered by the $2,000.

Ald. H. T. Rehill, a member of the planning board, said they had been given to understand the amount would cover all Mr. Culham's personal expenses while staying in Peterborough and travelling to and from the city. The city would bear other expenses, such as advertising.

WORK TO BE DONE

Mr. Culham had informed the board there was a lot of work to be done with the department of planning and development before the bylaw would be taken to the municipal board for approval.

"The city has had dealings with Mr. Culham before and I am sure he will process this matter to the best of his ability and to our mutual satisfaction," His Worship said. "But I just wanted to clarify the matter of his expenses for purposes of the agreement."

Under the agreement, Mr. Culham will perform the following services:

Review the city's official plan.

Review the General Land Use Plan. sometimes described as the Master Plan.

Review the zoning regulations under which the city planning board and city council have been administering changes in the use of land up to the present time.

Review the draft bylaw now being prepared by the city engineer.

Survey the area contained in the city with a view to bringing existing land uses up to date and to study on-the-ground proposals which have been made towards zoning the area.

Consult with the planning board, prepare a zoning bylaw and present it to council.

PUBLIC MEETINGS

Attend public meetings called by the planning board to explain the meaning and purpose of the bylaw to interested ratepayers, to hear and consider objections which may be raised by them and to enlist public support for the bylaw.

Assist the city solicitor and attend hearings before the Ontario Municipal Board for approval of the bylaw.

Assist city officials in preparing descriptions of the various zones in the schedule attached to the bylaw.

Mr. Batten, who comes from a strong PC family, is a member of the legal firm of Currelly and Foster.

He attended Brailey's public school in North Monaghan and PCVS. Later he went to Victoria College, University of Toronto, and Osgoode Hall. He was called to the bar this year.

Mr. Batten is single and is assistant scoutmaster at Trinity United Church. While going to Victoria College and Osgoode he was a member of the PC club.

His father, Henry Batten,is president of Peterborough PC Association.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Here is a list of the officers for 1953-54; Senator Iva C. Fallis, Gordon K. Fraser and the Hon. Harold R. Scott, honorary presidents; Richard B. Batten, president; Mrs. David B. Rogers, 1st vice president; Gordon Lupton, 2nd vice president; Kenneth Hill, Treasurer; Mrs. Paul Thompson, secretary; and four members of the advisory board—James Juby, Frank Foster, Peter Labranche and Mrs. Floyd Curtis.

Mr. Batten thanked his fellow YPCs for electing him and predicted that their political party was "on the threshold of greater things and not in the wilderness as in the last 18 years".

His predecessor, Mr. Foote, was not eligible for office because of a rule that a president cannot remain in office more than one year. Actually, Mr. Foote served only part of a year. He succeeded Robert Faulkner who was forced to resign when he moved from this district.

AGAINST FLUORIDATION

At a recent meeting of Ontario Board of Health officers in Toronto, Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH in Peterborough cast the only vote against the motion to introduce fluorine of any nature into city water. Insufficient research into the effects of fluoridated water was the reason for his disapproval.

90-Minute Session

City Council Rattles Off Decisions

Debate was practically non-existent in city council Monday night when the following items were accomplished in a 90-minute session:

Approval of the city engineer's plan for the future development of the city's industrial property on Lansdowne St. west of Erskine Ave., showing proposed streets, drainage ditches and railway sidings, with the services of a surveyor to be secured to survey the property and registration of that portion likely to be developed first.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Authorized the mayor's appointment of the property committee to meet with a small committee representing the Public Library Board regarding the action to be taken to provide the city's library needs for the next 15 to 20 years, having in mind the extent of renovations which might be warranted at this time on the present library building.

Authorized the city solicitor to prepare bylaws covering the following local improvements: Sewer on Hopkins Ave. from the west limit of Hopkins Ave. to the east limit of plan 193; sewer on Rosedale Ave. from the west limits of Hopkins Ave. to the east limit of plan 193; crushed gravel road on Hopkins Ave. from the west limit of Hopkins Ave. to Manorhill Ave.; crushed gravel road on Rosedale Ave. from Weller St. to Hopkins Ave.

Granted building contractors with options on building lots in the Queen Elizabeth sub-division an extended period until May 1, 1954, to complete the foundations of the houses they intend to build and instructed city clerk to continue his efforts with the builders to co-operate by providing lots to those builders who are proving themselves most active in the construction of homes on the subdivision.

Instructed the city clerk to forward an account to the Board of Education for $6,160.60, purchase price from the city of five acres of land on the Queen Elizabeth subdivision for the extension to Queen Elizabeth School.

No Bombast City Council Rolls Along

No Time Lost As Aldermen Wade Through Items

Sweet reasonableness seemed to be the prevalent mood of the city fathers Monday night as they despatched a host of items in a 90-minute session of city council—reasonableness and brevity.

Ald. T. D. Miller easily copped the prize for long-windedness—if it could be called that—simply by reading off the list of recommendations from last Tuesday's marathon meeting of the finance committee. But even this was curtailed when Ald. Miller omitted the names of all the artisans and tradesman for whom licences were recommended.

Even ceremony was cut to the bone. After third reading of the bylaw replacing ex-Ald. Norman Graham by Rupert "Bob" Knox, Mayor Hugh Waddell welcomed the new council member to the inner sanctum of council ritual with a few snappy but gracious remarks in which he hoped Ald. Knox's "sojourn with us will be happy and profitable for us all." Ald. Knox hoped it would too.

NO DISSENT

Possibly the event was significant of the lack of bombast and flowery rhetoric which marked the meeting. At any rate, when Ald. Miller proposed that the mayor be given reserved parking space in a corner of the city hall parking lot, there was not a dissenting voice.

Ald. Miller said the parking lot often was filled up during the day because of the new parking regulations in the city hall area. As a consequence, he had found, when he was acting mayor, that there were several times when he couldn't find a place to park when he had business in the city hall—business that as a rule came up every day.

His Worship seemed just as pleased with this move as everyone else but said it wasn't solicited on his part. No-one seemed to think it was.

Of course there was more than that to the parking problem. There always is.

Ald. A. B. Burrows brought up a point about the new parking signs around city hall. They permitted only one hour's parking at any time but people seemed to think they could park as long as they wanted after 6:00 p.m.

"At the present time people are breaking the bylaw," he said, glancing around the room. There was a bit of fidgeting but the mayor said the point had been discussed by the special traffic committee who might like to reconsider the point Ald. Burrows had raised.

City Clerk E. A. Outram, who is chairman of the traffic committee, said they would consider the matter in their meeting this week. He suggested putting signs up inviting the public to use the city hall parking lot on Saturday evenings and Sundays.

Come to think of it, Ald. Burrows was on the ball all the way through the meeting. He let little, if anything, escape his notice. But he kept his remarks brief and to the point. Witness the following pithy exchange.

When the tenders for snowplowing the city streets this winter were approved (Sorry to have to bring this subject up but it illustrates an important point) Ald. Burrows wanted to know what advantage there was in using tractors for the job.

"It's cheaper," explained the mayor.

"Tractors cover the ground faster than horses," elaborated Ald. P. J. Anglesey.

And that was that. No windy oratory, no recriminations—just reasonableness and brevity.

A Reminder

June's prime pest of the Kawartha lakes, returned in small but vigorous numbers over the weekend to plague the few who took advantage of the ideal weekend weather to revisit their cottages. Apparently the sun fooled the small voracious insects into believing that summer was returning.

Man Charged With Entering Eight Cottages

Charged with breaking and entering eight cottages on Clear Lake, Frank Grant, 32, of Toronto, was today remanded a week for sentence when he pleaded guilty to all counts.

Grant, described by police as a "drifter," was arrested last Tuesday in a cottage owned by Max Comstock, Peterborough funeral director. It is believed the accused had been living in the cottage.

Grant had stolen a quantity of clothing and some blankets from the various cottages, and all these goods, with the exception of two jackets worth about $7 each, had been recovered in good condition.

Provincial Constable Gordon Gray told court today that the accused had signed statements admitting all eight breakins and the thefts from the cottages. The statements were admitted as evidence when Grant told court they were made voluntarily.

AWAIT RECORD

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, asked for a week's remand on the case. He said the police department was now awaiting reply to a query about the accused's record.

"Grant wants to get all outstanding charges against him cleared up. He doesn't want to have anything hanging over his head," the crown remarked.

Owners of the cottages are: Peter King, Mrs. Daisy Barnard, Max Comstock, James Spencer, H. I. Walker, Grant Gillespie, Edward Bradshaw, and James Gillespie.

Bishop Praises Television Use

KITCHENER (CP)—A Roman Catholic bishop praised television as a blessing today because "it makes more free time available on radio."

Bishop J. C. Cody of London, Ont., told delegates to the 33rd annual national convention of the Catholic Women's League of Canada:

"If it is possible for your organization to get more radio time now and learn to produce good programs, it may mean a foot in the door for television programs in the future."

He also said TV sets should be equipped with locks. The bishop said that sets which could be locked would prevent children from being exposed to many "ribald programs which emanate from the United States."

He praised some programs now being produced in Canada but said vigilance to "guarantee the future development of TV in Canada."

The convention opened Monday night. Lieutenat-Governor Breithaupt of Ontario welcomed delegates on behalf of the province. Bishop Joseph F. Ryan of Hamilton also welcomed delegates.

Firm Buys Tannery In Omemee

Will Be Converted To Produce Stationery, Cards

OMEMEE (ENS)—The abandoned tannery in Omemee—long an eyesore to residents and motorists traveling along Highway 7—is under going renovations. It has been bought by a Toronto firm, Regal Stationery Co. of 103 Simcoe St.

R. G. Brown, secretary, told the Examiner today that when the former tannery building is fixed up it will gradually be converted into a factory manufacturing greeting cards and other stationery lines, and it will also serve as a warehouse.

The plant will be supplementary to the one in Toronto.

At present the Toronto company is discussing plans for use of the building with architects. They expect it will be two or three years before they are fully established in Omemee.

The building and property were bought from the trustees of the North American Leather Co. that went out of business in the village about five years ago. Details of the transaction were not revealed.

When the tannery folded it was employing about 60 people and was the major employer of labor in the village. Omemee residents are hoping that the stationery company will give a stimulus to the economy of the village.

W. S. McCartney is president of the company.

Harold Freeman Heads 93rd Battalion Assoc.

For his third term, Harold Freeman, was elected president of the 93rd Battalion Asociation this week at its annual meeting. Other officers are Herb O'Hearn vice-president, Al Gibson, secretary, F. Oxley, treasurer and B. Deck, chairman of the local entertainment committee.

The 50 members attending were told that since the 1950 reunion 21 brigade members have died. The success of the last reunion in May was discussed and plans for the next reunion in 1956 were started.

The 93rd Battalion this year is expecting to march as a unit on Remembrance Day.

Collier Refloated

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP) — The 3,500-ton collier Alexander Leslie was freed Monday from a sand bar nine miles south of here after running aground in Lake Erie during a thick fog Sunday. A power failure which cut off the Erieau foghorn was blamed for the mishap. The tugs Atomic from Amherstburg and Superior of Detroit pulled the ship off after some of her 5,000 tons of coal cargo had been transferred to a lighter.

20th Century One Of Speed Saksena Says

BELLEVILLE—The 20th century is a century of speed in which physical and scientific phenomena have revolutionized human thought processes, said His Excellency R. R. Saksena, Indian High Commissioner to Canada, in an address to the Belleville Rotarians Monday.

This revolution presents the challenge of our time, the speaker said, and success of our adjustment to it will determine the future of mankind. Technology has concentrated power in the hands of two nations who are bitterly opposed to each other, and each one capable of destroying the world.

Describing the United Nations as a "forum for the expression of opinions and creation of public opinion throughout the world," Mr. Saksena stated that the UN does not have sufficient strength to insure peace.

EQUALITY OF MAN

Nations must recognize that the ultimate basis for the establishment of peace is international brotherhood, which is rooted in the equality of man concept.

Mr. Saksena said that India, while not claiming infallibilty, is working with "love and compassion" to explore every avenue to a just peace.

He described poverty and disease as the real enemies of mankind, and said that before nations can hope to relieve these prime problems, it will be necessary to reduce international tension and bring about a secure peace.

Mr. Saksena was given a civic reception here. He met members of city council and was introduced to Rotarians by Mayor Haigh. Mr. Saksena also addressed assemblies at Belleville Collegiate and Albert College.

Paper Unions Meet Nov. 2

MONTREAL (CP)—Unions representing most of the employees of pulp and paper mills in Ontario will meet in Toronto Nov. 2 to discuss policy in the wake of a strike vote.

Employees in most of the mills voted Sunday in favor of strike actions to support demands for wage increases.

In announcing the Toronto meeting Monday, a spokesman for the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers (AFL) said also that a meeting between the unions and employers will be held Nov. 3.

He said that at the meeting with employers in Toronto efforts will be made to avert a strike.

To Choose Party Leader

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Liberal party will choose a leader at its annual meeting here April 8-9, the management committee of the Ontario Liberal Association said Monday. The party has had no official leader since the resignation of Walter Thomson in the spring of 1952.

Award Firemen Increase

TORONTO (CP) — All Toronto firemen, except the chief and deputy chief, were awarded a $150 yearly wage increase retroactive to last April in the report of an arbitration board handed to city council Monday. Firemen had asked for a $5.50 weekly increase but the board cut their demands by $100. Decision of the board, Mr. Justice J. K. MacKay, Senator A. W. Roebuck and G. Beaudoin, was unanimous.

GIRL SLAIN—Marie Carrier, 22, of Bienville, Que., a member of the Canadian Army Women's Auxiliary Corps, has been identified as the victim of a sadistic slaying. Her body, nude and stabbed five times, was found in a ditch near Iroquois, Ont., about 30 miles east of Brockville.

SLAIN GIRL IN ARMY—This is a recent photo of Marie Anne Carrier, 22, of Bienville, Que., whose body was found, nude and stabbed five times in a ditch near Iroquois, Ont., 30 miles east of Brockville, Ont. She was a sergeant in the Canadian Army Women's Auxiliary Corps. An army officer, Lieut. Peter Ernest Robin Balcombe, was arrested at London, Ont., and charged with the murder.

Murdered Girl's Record Praised By Army Officers

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

QUEBEC (CP)—The commanding officer of the reserve army unit in which Marie Anne Carrier was a sergeant Monday praised the 21-year-old girl's record in the armed forces.

Lt.-Col. Gordon J. Ross, commanding officer of No. 103 manning depot, a mixed unit, said at a press conference that Miss Carrier was the "most consistent member" of his unit and a "very important member of the precision squad." She lived at nearby Bienville.

Miss Carrier's nude and stabbed body was found Friday near Cornwall. Ontario Provincial Police are holding 2nd Lieut. Peter Balcombe of London, Ont., for murder.

HIGHEST ADMIRATION

"There was no one in the unit for whom we had a higher admiration," Col. Ross said. "We consider Sgt. Carrier had everything we would want to have of anyone in the army."

"She had the highest possible integrity, was co-operative, active and willing."

Also at the press conference was Brig. Frank J. Fleury, eastern Quebec area commander, who said he has ordered his officers to give police all possible assistance.

HOPES JUSTICE DONE

"Whoever the murderer is we hope he will be brought to justice and get what's coming to him soon—be he in the army or out."

Brig. Fleury quoted Mrs. Carrier as saying her daughter was out with Lieut. Balcombe last Monday and Tuesday nights.

Col. Ross said Sgt. Carrier was last seen Wednesday night when her 18-year-old sister Therese left her alone at their mother's house.

MISSED PARADE

The slain girl missed last Thursday night's regular parade at 103 manning depot, where she was a member of the mixed unit, not of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Col. Ross said that on Friday Capt. M. V. Cummings, senior CWAC officer in the unit, telephoned the house and was told by a member of the family that Anne Carrier had not been home since Wednesday evening.

"I got a list of her friends from the mother and tried to find out whom the daughter had been out with.

"Friday afternoon, I reported to Brig. Fleury the disappearance of this girl and gave the brigadier the name of the officer with whom she had been out Monday and Tuesday."

TERRIBLE SHOCK

In London, Ontario, Mrs. Jean Balcombe, wife of the officer charged with murder, fought back tears Monday and said: "It was a shock, none of us knew anything about it."

The pretty mother of two small children sat with her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Gray in the spotless living room of the Gray farm home near here and said that she never heard of Miss Carrier.

Mrs. Balcombe said her husband had a three-week furlough after being posted from Wainwright, Alta., to Valcartier, Que. She and the children had lived with Balcombe at Wainwright and moved to her parents' home until a home was found in Valcartier.

"He went up to Valcartier last week to arrange accommodation for us," Mrs. Balcombe said. "He got back here early Friday."

Mrs. Balcombe's father, said: "We don't want to get mixed up in this business."

MISSED EARLY REPORTS

He asked for a Friday newspaper so that he could look at an earlier account of the slaying.

"We just didn't pay any attention to it then," he said.

Mrs. Balcombe was in training to be a nurse and Balcombe was taking his first year of a pre-medical course at University of Western Ontario when they first met in 1949.

They were married at St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral in London in May of that year and both left the university. Balcombe joined the Royal Canadian Regiment in London in May 1951 and went to Petawawa military camp.

"Since then he has been moved around so much," the 22-year-old wife said.

Close to tears and biting her lip during most of the conversation, Mrs. Balcombe said she wasn't sure where her husband's parents were.

Gets Damages—At Last

TORONTO (CP) — Three years and two court cases after he was struck by a streetcar, Albert C. Rudd, 65-year-old washroom attendant at Union station, was awarded $4,500. Rudd, who suffered a broken back, was found to have been 40 per cent negligent. Motorman George Schroder and conductor Grant Patterson, Toronto Transportation Commission employees, were found 60 per cent negligent.

Lays Cornerstone

MONTREAL (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton Monday laid the cornerstone of the $600,000 administration building of the Royal Canadian Navy's supply depot at suburban Ville La Salle. The depot provides equipment for naval ships and establishments on both Canadian coasts and for 22 naval divisions across the country.

Defending Self Still Disturbing Peace, Fined

The nature of British justice was discussed briefly in police court Monday when two youths appeared on charges of causing a disturbance.

Mervin Switzer, of Gooderham, and Lewis Smith, of Apsley, were each charged after what Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, described as "just a fight" in front of the Legion Hall in Apsley Saturday night.

Switzer pleaded guilty and Mr. Bradshaw pointed aut that it was his first tangle with the law in several months.

"I think the only fault the accused has is drinking," Mr. Bradshaw said.

"He's not old enough to drink is he?" Magistrate R. I. Moore, QC, inquired of 18-year-old Switezr. "I'm being lenient with you this time. But the next time will be third time and out. You just can't handle liquor."

His Worship fined Switzer $15 and $2.50 costs.

The course of justice with Smith was somewhat more roundabout. At first he pleaded not guilty and asked for an adjournment. But after a quiet talk with the OPP in the hall he returned to the courtroom and asked to be allowed to plead guilty.

"I might warn Smith that it doesn't matter who started the fight," the Crown Attorney said. "If he took part in it, he was disturbing the rest of the public."

"That may be true but it's not very British," said the magistrate.

"He can defend himself to a certain extent."

Smith was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Prisoner Of War Plans To Marry

TORONTO (CP)—L. Cpl. William Bell, 29, believed the last of Canada's prisoners of war to be repatriated by the Communists in Korea, returned home to Toronto Monday and said he hopes to marry during his 60-day army leave.

"My girl's name is Elva Hartley and she lives in Manitoba," he told reporters who met him at Malton airport. "I guess I'll travel west to get her as soon as I'm cleared by Sunnybrook Veterans' Hospital."

L. Cpl. Bell was captured at Little Gibraltar last Oct. 22.

How many products do we get from crude oil?

From eggs; a hen can expect just one product—chicks. But from crude oil, Imperial refines 679 different products, ranging from weed killers to heavy asphalts. And that is not all—crude oil also supplies petroleum gases and other raw materials for plastics and synthetic rubber.

Oil plays a large and growing part in our everyday living. How many of these questions about it can you answer?

Oil supplies are vital to defence. The gasoline required to move one armoured division 100 miles would run your car for 10 years? 95 years? 350 years?
→ The average family car could be operated for 350 years on the gasoline needed to move an armoured division 100 miles.

The average weekly pay cheque of Canadians in 1939 would buy 84 gallons of gasoline. How many gallons will today's cheque buy 79? 135? 93?
→ Even though gasoline road taxes are higher in all provinces, today's average pay cheque will buy 135 gallons.

Scientists believe oil was formed from the remains of tiny sea creatures which lived millions of years ago. Would you say oil is found in rock? pools? swamps?
→ Oil is usually found far underground in the tiny pores of rock such as limestone or sandstone. The word petroleum is derived from the Latin "petra" and "oleum"—rock oil.

How much will the oil industry spend each week this year to find and develop oil fields in western Canada $2¾ millions? $6 millions? $12 millions?

Canada Only Place In World Offering A Better Life

Canada is the only country in the world that can offer the European a better life, said George Rader, addressing Rotarians at their luncheon on Monday.

Formerly an agent of the Norwegian underground movement in the past war and now sales manager for the Maur Products outlet in the city, George Rader is six months out from Norway.

SOCIALIST COUNTRY

"Today Norway is a strict socialistic country. It is impossible for the individual to expand or form any enterprise without the express approval of the finance minister. Many are leaving the country, finding it impossible to live there.

"To own a car in Norway is a supreme luxury. It costs in the vicinity of two years' wages. An ordinary suit is worth one and a half months' wages and even cigarettes per package are equal to two hours' wages.

"There is only one country in the world today which can offer the European a better life, and that country is Canada. She is the country of the present and the future. On my behalf and on the behalf of all who come here, I am thankful for the chance and only hope that we shall be worthy of the treatment we have received."

STUDIED IN ENGLAND

Born in Boston, Mr. Rader decided to maintain his Norwegian citizenship and at the age of 21 moved to England to finish his studies. While there he completed an officer's training course and when war broke out in 1939, he returned to Norway and served as the top gunnery instructor in that country.

"In April of 1940 a German battleship entered the Oslo Fiord and made its way slowly towards the harbor. Refusing to identify itself it was eventually sunk by off-shore cannon and it was later learned that the ship carried 5,000 German storm troopers pledged to seize the capital. Similar events took place in various parts of my country on that date and for the next four years Norway was to feel the oppressors' heel."

Although Mr. Rader was quite reticent to mention personal experiences during the war, another member of the head table pointed out that the speaker had, at one period, spent a "holiday" cruising about the Oslo Fiord in a radio equipped craft, reporting on the movements of enemy shipping.

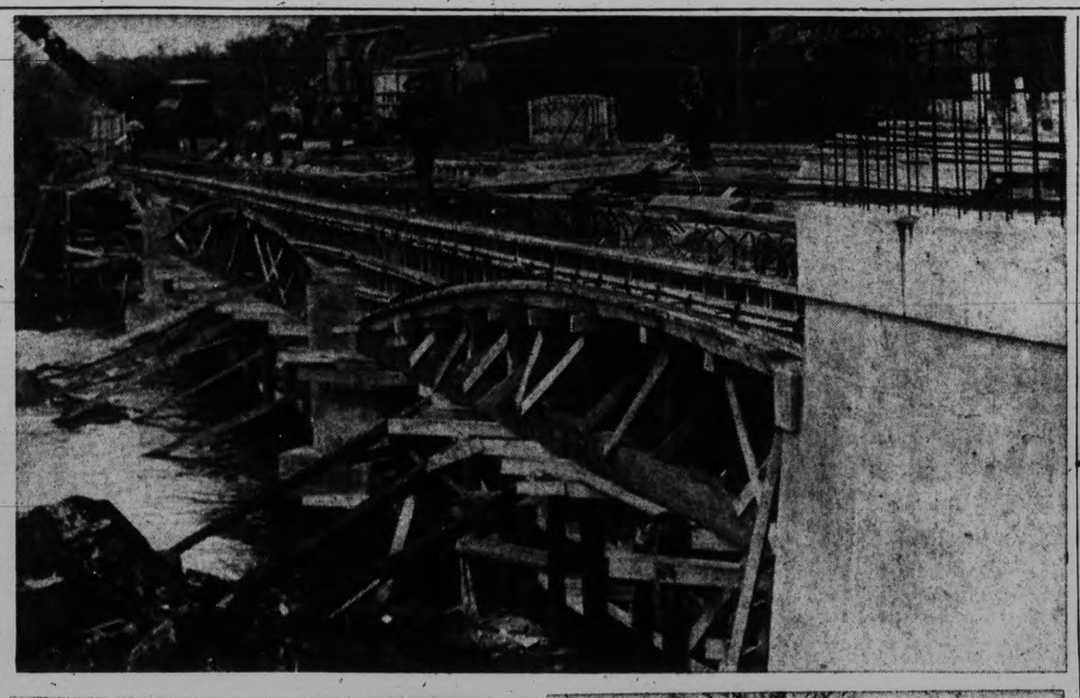
"The history of Norway dates back to 3,000 B.C., although written manuscripts are not available beyond 700 A.D. It is around this time that we learn of the escapades of the Viking. During this age the people of Norway spread to every corner of the then known earth, and some that were not known. Leif Ericson discovered America in the year 1000 or thereabouts, when he landed in what he called Vinland, some district of the New England States. Of interst is the fact that the City of Dublin, Ireland, was founded by these people in the year 840 and that Paris surrendered to the Vikings in 825 A.D."

UNITED UNDER KING IN 872

"The first union of the people under one king came to Norway in 872 and remained so until 1380 when our country was conquered by the Danes. Sweden and Norway remained in their hands until 1814, and then joined forces until 1905. From that date on Norway became an independent country and, ironically enough, was forced to choose a king from the Danes.

"Before the Germans invaded Norway, the country, although not rich in natural resources, was comfortably established. Fishing, the major industry, accounted for more than 1,000,000 pounds of fish a year and this was exported to all parts of the world. Next biggest industry was pulp and paper and by-products, and the only country to compete with us was, of course, Canada. During the war, Norway owned the largest whaling fleet in the world and a merchant navy numbering 2,500 ships, each of 1,000 tons or more.

"My conception of the tourist trade in Norway has changed somewhat since entering Canada, but there is one attraction there which no other country can boast of, and that is the 'Midnight Sun.' This is a rare phenomenon, peculiar to that portion of the world. During a certain season, the sun can be seen at midnight on clear nights."



Returning to the subject of war and its effects on his country, Mr. Rader gave some statistics illustrating the loss. Approximately 10,000 people lost their lives during that four year siege, including 4,000 sailors, 3,500 underground agents, 1,100 women, and 800 in concentration camps. The remainder were executed or tortured to death.

"I still marvel how some of my compatriots managed to survive. Some worked in the bush under forced labor, living on nothing more than a baked potato a day."

Mr. Rader spoke in the place of District Governor Ray Jessup, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Joaquin Serratosa Cibils, president of Rotary International, has proclaimed this week as World Fellowship Week.

Mr. Radar was introduced by club president Paul Irwin and thanked by Thomas Taylor.

TAKING SHAPE—The new concrete bridge at Burleigh Falls, started early this year, is rapidly taking shape as construction men (top photo) build forms and pour cement. At the same time work is continuing on the new approach to the Falls from the south and on the new route through the tourist centre. Meanwhile, the new bridge work at Young's Point has been started. There workmen are clearing trees and bush for the new route through the hamlet and building culverts (lower left). The right-of-way passes down the old main street (lower right) meeting Highway 28 at the hill north of the hamlet. The new route goes across the water about 400 feet west of the old bridges. On the south side of the river only clearing bush has been done.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Charges Fly In Divorce Trial

By JAMES BACON

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The first day of the John Wayne divorce trial caused more eyes to blink than the smog did.

The actor's estranged wife accused him of drunkenness, wife-beating and some extra curricular love-making with actress Gail Russell.

Wayne angrily denied all and countered with a few charges of his own.

Mrs. Wayne's counsel presented 22 specific instances of cruelty and the Wayne forces countered with 31 against her.

Life with Wayne, his wife said Monday, was six years of fists and missiles. She said he kicked her, cursed her, dragged her around by one foot and bashed her on the nose. Always, she said, the real villain was alcohol and Wayne was a willing apologizer when the stuff wore off.

IN SELF-DEFENCE

Wayne countered that the only times he laid hands on his wife was purely in self defence against what he termed her alcoholic rampages.

He accused her of spending so much time drinking and gambling at Las Vegas, Nev., that she returned home exhausted and with swollen ankles. Wayne said the latter condition resulted from too much standing up at bars and crap tables.

Mrs. Wayne said her husband once came home from a studio party and told her he had spent the night with Miss Russell at her home. This, she added, was after he had entered the house by kicking the door down.

Wayne replied:

"Why did she have to drag that poor kid's name into this? I never had anything to do with Miss Russell except to make a couple of movies with her. True, we had a party at the end of a picture. Every studio and company does. Everybody was there from technician to star. I came home at 2 a. m. and broke in the front door, not because I was drunk but because I had no key and my wife refused to open the door.

"I'm no saint but this is ridiculous."

NASTY HABIT

Wayne said his wife had a nasty habit in Mexico of frequenting bars with other men, then picking up the tabs with the actor's money. He also charged her with entertaining a male friend for a week at their Encino home while Wayne was in Honolulu making a movie.

Lawyer Jerry Orsenthal, counsel for Mrs. Wayne, 14 years younger than the 45-year-old star, declared of his client:

"This bewildered girl learned the horror of the bottle under the guidance, tutelage and even under the roof of Mr. Wayne."

MLA Loses Job Then Resigns For By-Election

VICTORIA (CP)—Percy Wright, who walked off his job to represent Victoria riding as a Social Credit member of the legislature, resigned his seat Monday night to make possible a by-election that is intended to seat a B.C. cabinet minister.

Mr. Wright said at a Social Credit constituency meeting here he was giving up his seat to allow a by-election for Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, defeated in the June provincial election in the neighboring riding of Oak Bay.

Mr. Wright, officially told 12 hours before that he no longer worked for the city of Victoria, also said he would try to regain his post as assistant city clerk.

NO DATE GIVEN

Almost all the provincial cabinet except Mr. Gunderson, holidaying in Peru, attended the meeting. The by-election date was not announced.

Mr. Wright emphasized that the decision to resign—"one of the hardest" of his life—was his own. He had not been asked to do so.

A civil servant for almost 23 years, he walked off his job the day the first session of the 24th legislature opened. City council declined to give him leave of absence on grounds that such a leave for political office was illegal under municipal law.

Mr. Wright reported to work Monday and talked with his superiors, city clerk Frank Hunter and city manager Cecil Wyatt, then walked out jobless.

He said he asked Mr. Wyatt if he still worked there. A definite "no" was the answer.

REPORT ANYWAY

Later, the former member said he plans to report to city hall "every morning for a week, if necessary," until he gets his job back.

The constituency meeting voted to wire Mr. Gunderson to ask him to run again. Acceptance will mean that the minister will contest a by-election for the second time in little more than a year.

He was appointed finance minister after Social Credit elected 19 members and formed a minority government in 1952.

Premier Bennett chose Mr. Gunderson and Attorney-General Robert Bonner from private life. Both gained seats following by-elections in ridings vacated by elected members.

Mr. Wright lost $3,000 in legislative pay when he resigned. His city hall job carried a salary of $4,800 a year and pension.

Gilmour Church Celebrates Anniversary

A capacity congregation observed 115th anniversary services at Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church.

The order of worship was conducted by the Rev. Wm. Leaton. Guest speaker was Rev. Dr. Kitchen one time pastor at Reaboro, Missionary to India and at present teacher at McMaster University.

The choir sang several suitable numbers, assisted at the organ by Mrs. C. Telford. Mrs. Ralph Scott was soloist for the evening service.

Dr. Kitchen took his text from the last verse 40th chap. of Isiah. "But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint."

"Anniversary occasion is an opportunity of uplifting of enthusiasm, after which we continue our labours with renewed strength," he said. "Lift up your hearts in thanks to God for the fruitful years of the church in the past. God is constantly renewing strength of his people," he stated. "All of us recognize the necessity of renewing our strength with good food from day to day, so it is with spiritual strength," he said. "It takes longer to regain strength than to lose it. "We take for granted he stated, "the normal routine and forget it takes only a little virus or germ to strike us suddenly, either fatally or make us invalids for years. The Prophet Isiah says the same thing is true in our spiritual life. Daily tasks are constantly laying demands upon our mind and spirit. Solution to the problem is in the realm of the spirit. Those who wish to renew their strength must wait upon the Lord".

In the evening service he spoke of the "New India, the Independent India" established the past six years.

He took his text from Mathew 16th-18th verse. "Upon his rock I will build my church and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it."

Dr. Kitchen had returned to India after an absence of many years and he was impressed with the great progress of the church. He was impressed too with the importance of the church in all the areas which he re-visited. He was aware of the threat of communism and the burdens it put upon the churches there.

SLIGHTLY INJURED in a minor accident Monday midnight was city Police Constable William G. Scott, whose motorcycle, above, skidded and went out of control rounding a curve on Victory Crescent. Constable Scott had both legs scraped, but was otherwise unhurt. Damage to the motocycle was not extensive. Fellow motorcycle officers said that if the constable had not released his grip on the handlebars, it is likely he would have been injured seriously. A passerby, Doug Nesbitt, is shown holding the cycle upright.

Kenya Plans New Measures For Terrorists

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—The war against terrorism in this once carefree colony entered its second year today with the government announcing new measures of retribution against the anti-white Mau Mau movement.

Governor Sir Evelyn Baring told the colony's legislative council that all land owned by past and present Mau Mau leaders will be confiscated, and terrorist chieftains will be banished from the colony forever.

The governor said the seized land would be used for clinics, schools and, agricultural experiments. He said entry of Kikuyu tribesmen — among whom the dread movement originated—into African areas would be controlled "for some years to come."

FIGHT NOT OVER

The government also would push development of agriculture and industry, which he admitted has bogged down since the Mau Mau nightmare descended on the colony.

Baring said Kikuyus who went back to preserves would not be allowed to return to European-settled areas, and Kikuyu independent schools which had been banned will not "in any circumstances" be reopened.

The governor declared "the military campaign (against the Mau Mau) will be pressed to conclusion."

In the view of Gen. Sir George Erskine, British East African commander, this is likely "to go on for a long time yet."

NEW CHANCELLOR — Dr. Samuel Beatty, right, chats with Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, left, Governor-General of Canada, and Dr. Sydney Smith, president of the University of Toronlto, shortly after his installation as chancellor of the university. Dr. Beatty, who retired last year as dean of the faculty of arts, succeeds Mr. Massey. The ceremony was held recently in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the founding of University College, now part of the Universtiy of Toronto.

Decided On Accident Cause But Was Action Criminal?

Magistrate R. I. Moore Monday reserved judgment on a charge of dangerous driving against Thomas O'Donohoe, 33, Port Hope, sales representative of an electrical supply manufacturer, who was involved in a two-car head-on collision on the Lindsay highway, just inside the city limits opposite the Kawartha Furnace and Supply Shop May 21.

The three-hour hearing occupied the full afternoon of court as it shifted from the court room to Civic Hospital where bedside evidence was taken from Mrs. Edward Cochran, 35, of Bridgenorth, who has been confined to hospital for practically five months since her right leg was broken in two places and her left leg in one place in the accident. It required 57 stitches to close cuts in her scalp.

The drivers were the only occupants of the two vehicles. O'Donohoe's face and right leg were lacerated, his nose was broken and he suffered shock and concussion. He was in hospital two weeks. In court Monday he said he had suffered a lapse of memory and couldn't remember anything at all about the accident.

He had had dinner with a business colleague in Peterborough that evening and had one drink of rum but his recollection of what happened after that was confused. He couldn't swear when he left the house.

REMEMBERED BLINKER

The last thing he remembered with any clarity was the amber blinker light on the highway but he didn't remember driving towards Lindsay. The next thing he remembered was his wife coming to see him in hospital. He thought at the time it was the night after the accident but it turned out to be two nights after.

CARS HIT

Mrs. Cochran's evidence was that she had left Bridgenorth about 8:15 p.m. to drive to Peterborough. She had just come over a steep rise, going about 35 miles an hour when she saw a pair of headlights right in front of her. She just had time to put her foot on the brake and turn off the ignition when there was a loud crash and her car seemed to swerve but she couldn't tell in what direction it swerved.

In his argument defence counsel Don Bark stressed the conflicting evidence of defence and crown witnesses as to the time when the accident occurred in relation to a heavy downpour of rain which concided with a tornado in Sarnia that day that swept a large portion of Southern Ontario.

OPP Constable John Cawood said it was raining very heavily when he was dispatched to the scene. He had been at Indian River beforehand and had noticed a strong wind preceding the deluge which he described as "worse than a cloudburst."

Corporal Fred Rawlings who, with Constable Don Lacombe, arrived at the scene about 15 minutes before Constable Cawood, said it started to sprinkle as the cruiser pulled away from OPP headquarters at Charlotte and Park Sts.

SLIGHT DRIZZLE

Mrs. Cochrane said before setting out from Bridgenorth she had waited for the storm to let up. There may have been a slight drizzle as she drove along and she thought there was a light wind. It was raining when she was lifted out of the car to be placed in the ambulance.

Miss Mary Ford said a car in which she and another girl were driving was the first one on the scene after the accident. They had left the Fireside restaurant, about a mile and a half or two miles north, about 8:00 p.m. It was raining and very windy. The rain didn't interfere wth driving but the driver had to fight against the wind. The road was wet and quite slippery.

Constable Cawood said the two cars had come to rest on a plateau about 400 feet long between two steep rises in the highway. O'Donohoe's car was on the west portion of the highway facing north. Mrs. Cochran's car was about 22 feet north of this, facing south-west and straddling the double solid white line. There was debris on the highway between the two cars. He couldn't recall any skid marks. There was about $650 damage to each of the cars.

Mr. Bark argued that it was mere conjecture to say how O'Donohoe's car got on the wrong side of the road. It might have been due to the wind.

CONFUSED

"That's the sad part of it," Magistrate Moore commented. "The accused admits he was confused. But what caused his confusion? We don't ordinarily associate confusion with concussion. I agree to a great extent with the argument that there was a lack of criminality on the part of the accused. But if you're going to rely on medical evidence you're going to have to present it."

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Q.C., submitted that Mrs. Cochran had given direct evidence that the accused had been driving on the wrong side of the highway and the onus was therefore on the accused to explain it. He also submitted the cloudburst had not occurred until after the accident.

"There is no question in my mind of who was negligent," Magistrate Moore said in reserving judgment. "But was there criminality involved?"

Dangerous driving is a criminal offence.

Council Seeks Special Laws

PORT ARTHUR (CP) — City council here Monday night called on the federal and provincial governments to pass special laws to ensure an all-Canadian gas pipeline from Alberta.

Mayor F. O. Robinson's resolution, unanimously supported by council, appealed to the citizens and organized groups of the Lakehead to support the move for an all-Canadian line.

The mayor waved an issue of an Oct. 18 edition of the Duluth News-Tribune which said that a second $7,000,000 refinery had been built at Superior, Wisc., "to process Canadian crude oil."

"I don't want to bring politics into the council chambers," Mr. Robinson said, "but it seems to me that during the last federal election, we were led to believe that plans for another big refinery at Superior were just so much hokum. Yet here is the official announcement that it is opening."

Copies of the resolution will be sent to all Ontario centres with populations of more than 5,000.

Attempted Murder Charge Is Laid

LARDER LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Glenning Herron, 37, of Larder Lake was charged Monday with attempted murder after police chief Stan Timmerman said he was attacked by an ax-wielding man Sunday night.

Chief Timmerman said he was called to settle a domestic fight at a Larder Lake home when attacked. He disarmed his assailant.

Larder Lake is 100 miles northeast of Sudbury.

Liberals' Election Victory Not Impressive-R. Michener

Despite their sweeping victory in August the Liberals got only 48 per cent of the Canadian electorate's vote, Roland Michener, MP for Toronto St. Paul's, reminded a Peterborough audience Monday night.

Mr. Michener, a former provincial secretary, was addressing the Peterborough Young Progressive Conservative Association at their annual meeting. He reviewed the tactics of the last election campaign and the future prospects of the PC party.

After stating that the Liberals got the support of less than half of the electorate, Mr. Michener said that it took 33,000 votes to seat a PC candidate and only 15,000 to seat a Liberal. So the final figures of 170 seats for Liberals and 51 seats for PCs were "not really as representative of the election results as one might expect".

Even in Quebec where the PCs elected only four candidates they got about 407,000 votes to the Liberals 800,000. So "it's not such a discouraging picture", he commented.

NATIONAL PARTY

Mr. Michener stated that the PCs are a national party. No party is a national party, he said, unless they have a majority in Ontario and Quebec. The CCF party, for example, has only three members east of Port Arthur.

He warned against Canada drifting into a state of three or four strong parties.

"Government in this country has worked most successfully when we have had two parties," he said.

In Great Britain the trend has been toward the Conservatives and Labor; and the once-strong Liberal party has practically disintegrated. There is no comparison between what is happening to the British Liberals and the Canadian PCs, he said.

"The PCs are so strong in Ontario and Union Nationale are so strong in Quebec that many people feel they are the opposition to the Liberals."

Mr. Michener said the PCs have four or five years ahead of them before another election. By that time there may be some changes. The two big changes he suggested were the retirement of Premier St. Laurent, and realization by the electorate of the PC's policies.

On the subject of policy, he said that George Drew "has given the lead as no other Canadian has done with his preoccupation with the development of the Canadian resources." The Liberals are preoccupied with social security measures, he said, though the PCs also support family allowances, pensions, and some of these necessary measures.

He quoted from Prime Minister Churchill's recent address at Margate as the statement of Conservative principles, in both Canada and Great Britain. Said Mr. Churchill:

CONSERVATIVE PRINCIPLES

"Our Conservative principles are well known. We stand for the free and flexible working of the laws of supply and demand. We stand for compassion and aid for those who, whether through age, illness or misfortune, cannot keep pace with the march of society.

"We stand for the restoration of buying and selling between individual importers and exporters in different countries instead of the clumsy bargaining of one state against another, biased by politics as these must necessarily be."

Mr. Michener said the PCs stress three things: freedom, security and opportunity. Dealing specifically with opportunity, he criticized the Liberals for failing to develop Canada's natural resources, for a faulty foreign trade policy, and for lack of policy on immigration.

"We're now left at the whim of the Americans and their fickle tariff, and our trade relations are doubtful."

"The government has been in office too long," he said.

Other speakers were Gordon K. Fraser and the Hon. Harold R. Scott. Chairman was Pete Labranche.

Bethel Marks 61st Church Anniversary

OMEMEE— (ENS) — The 61st anniversary of Bethel United Church was marked Sunday by capacity congregations at morning and evening services which were both conducted by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt.

Mr. Zufelt's morning sermon emphasized corporate worship, based on the text, "In whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the spirit." In effect, he said, God can take us with our varied personalities and talents and build us into a church.

At the evening service, using the text, "For they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them; and that rock was Christ," he dealt with the meaning of Christ to the individual.

For special music, a male quartette composed of Mr. Zufelt, Laverene McKee, William Weir and Sheman Harrison sang twice at each service.

There was also a solo by Sherman Harrison in the morning and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harrison at the evening service.

Lack Knowledge Of Bible–Archbishop

LONDON (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said today people lack a knowledge of the Bible that was common to all sections of British society 100 years ago.

Now a quotation from the Bible, he said, "would ring no bell in the minds of vast numbers of people. It would be received with the same frigidity as a Latin quotation is received in the House of Commons."

He referred to a campaign, "The Bible Speaks Today," to be inaugurated in St. Paul's Cathedral tonight. He explained:

"The common purpose of the whole campaign, which is being supported by all the churches which are associated in the British Council of Churches, is to focus attention upon the Holy Bible. It will lead up in the middle of next year to the celebration by the British and Foreign Bible Society of its 150 years of history."

Lumber Co. Fined $25 Failed To Send Books

COBOURG (ENS) — Milne and Son Lumber Company, RR 1, Cobourg, was fined $25 and costs Monday on a charge of failing to return all unemployment insurance books after receiving notice to do so. The evidence in the matter was given by George Clinton, resident auditor.

Gordon Milne, member of the firm, said it was a case of neglect on his part. His company was located at Rice Lake. Insurance stamps were not available in the required denomination at the post-office there and he always forgot to bring the books with him when he came in to Cobourg.

Glenn Gould's Technique Excellent At Piano Recital

Glenn Gould is a very serious young Canadian pianist, who plays in a somewhat withdrawn and scholarly manner. Although his style at the keyboard is marked by a good deal of mannerism his playing does not, as yet, show strong individuality; only time will tell whether he will bring more to his music than the excellent technique and careful study which are his principal characteristics at present.

The audience which assembled to hear him on Monday night was paid the compliment of a first-class program. If Mr. Gould becomes a popular pianist it is probable that concert managers will want him to include more numbers of popular appeal on his programs, and we hope that he will resist; it was a great pleasure to hear an evening's piano playing without the usual group of second-rate numbers which end popular programs.

So determined was Mr. Gould that his program should be on the highest possible level at all times that he did a courageous thing, and repeated the Alban Berg sonata which ended the evening, instead of playing a few shorter encores. This provided the audience with a valuable and truly musical experience, although the Berg does not sound any odder to modern ears than any other music written 45 years ago, it is not easy listening, and it was good to be able to hear its rhapsodic strains twice in succession. This sonata may once have been a shocker, but now it sounds as pleasingly romantic as Debussy.

Mr. Gould began his program with Orlando Gibbons' Pavane and Gaillard for the Earl of Salisbury and in this number he did not seem to have taken the measure of the rather unresponsive instrument which Peterborough provides for piano recitals. It is not a really bad piano, but it takes wheedling, and Mr. Gould did not wheedle it effectively until he came to the Bach Partita No. 5, which he played splendidly. His serious and intelligent approach to music was evident when his playing of Bach was contrasted with the dramatic yet lyric quality which he brought to the Beethoven Sonata in A Flat Major.

The audience, which had been gathered by the University Women's Club, received the program with warmth and pleasure, and a degree of understanding which suggests that Peterborough is becoming one of Ontario's best audiences.

Mr. Gould may become an important pianist: It is too soon to venture an opinion on that point. He has the groundwork and he has plainly a store of musical scholarship which he has not yet fully digested. His future development in the spiritual realm— for that is what distinguishes the first-rate performer from the competent one— cannot be foreseen, but his chances seem good. May we say, however, purely as a matter of presentation, that courtesy toward an audience demands a more disciplined platform manner than he has yet acquired. R.D.

Urges ABC War Be Outlawed

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Pope has urged that nations consider outlawing "ABC war"—war of atomic bombs, biology and chemistry.

The Pope put his plea in the form of a question to some 400 delegates from more than a score of nations to an international congress of army medicine. He received them in audience Monday. His speech was released today by the Vatican press office.

"Is it not possible," the Pope asked, "to proscribe and effectively eliminate ABC war by international accords?"

Science, said the Pope, is "certainly not good, if one has the perverse intent to use it to harm others, or unjustly cause them damage."

Certainly, he said, a forceful spirit and bravery, when duty demands, are great virtues.

"But," he added, "to wish to provoke a war because it is the school of grand virtues and a chance to practise them, should be labelled as a crime and folly."

West Germany Making Play For Canadian Market

OTTAWA (CP)—West Germany is making a big play for the Canadian market in a double-pronged drive to increase exports to Canada and boost investment in Canadian industry.

Trade officials report dozens of inquiries from German business men seeking to establish new industries in Canada. Others have already set up shop in many of the provinces.

They have established machinery, cement, shoe tanning and optical industries in Newfoundland; a foundry, textile, watch and toy companies in Quebec; a camera plant in Ontario; and a pipe mill in British Columbia.

This German investment has taken place in the last three years, officials said. They predicted there will be more to come.

CANADA IS TARGET

The republic's interest in Canada has caught the eye of the overseas press. The Manchester Guardian, in a dispatch from Bonn last Saturday, said Canada is Germany's biggest target in a trade drive now in progress.

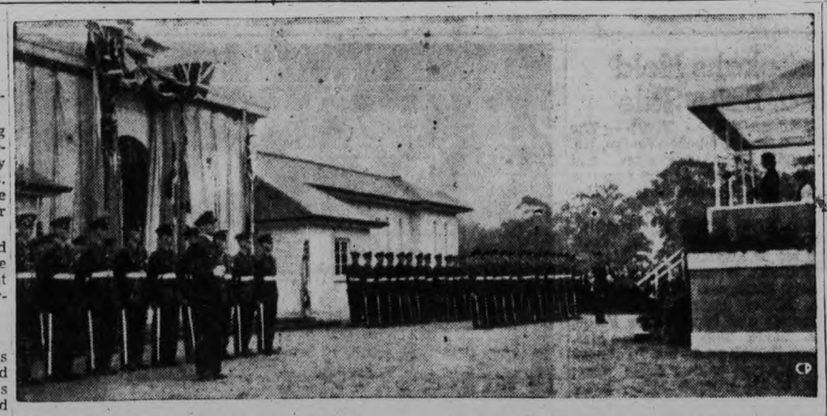
It said projected German industrial interprises in Canada number about 200, half of which would be in Ontario. Officials here doubted there would be anywhere near that number.

The Guardian said Canadian provincial governments are thinking of opening offices in Germany, but so far there is no report here that any are planning to do so immediately.

But that takes nothing away from the strength of Canadian-German trade. Since the German economy bounced back on its feet after the Second World War, trade with Canada has been growing vigorously.

TURNS TO CANADA

The republic, cut off by the Iron Curtain from East Germany's rich agricultural lands, has been buying a lot of food and other raw materials from Canada.



Canada, undergoing a booming industrial expansion, requires precision tools and other machinery which West Germany produces. But those products are also made in Britain, which gets a lot of her dollars from Canadian trade.

"The challenge to Britain is bold and open," said the Guardian. The competition is "perfectly fair, but that does not make it less dangerous."

FIFTH BEST CUSTOMER

West Germany now is Canada's fifth best customer—up from 23rd in 1950. Canada now is Germany's 10th best customer, up from 22nd in 1950.

Canada's exports to the republic rose last year to $94,863,000—expanded about six times from $13,214,000 in 1948. Imports last year were $22,629,000—about 13 times larger than the $1,729,000 in 1948.

Plan To Build Plant At Whitby

TORONTO (CP)—Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Co., Ltd., today announced that it plans immediate construction of a tire-manufacturing plant on a 56-acre site at Whitby, Ont.

The plant is expected to be in operation by the spring of 1955 and will initially employ about 200 people. Some of the present operations of the Toronto Queen street east works will be transferred to Whitby to make room for production of other products.

J. P. Anderson, president, in making the announcement, said consumption of truck and passenger-car tires in Canada has increased by 205 per cent in the last 20 years, by 38 per cent in the last six years, and indications are for a possible further rise of another 50 per cent by 1962.

Canada Needs Alert Press

TORONTO (CP)—One of Canada's foremost editors said Monday the country's democracy would be less drowsy and less in peril if it had a more alert, informed and responsible press. "You just can't bring up a nation on comic strips," said M. Grattan O'Leary, vice-president and associate editor of the Ottawa Journal. "You cannot give our youth an understanding of democracy, or an awareness of their obligations to society, with Blondie, or Dagwood, or Little Orphan Annie—and much less with the bust measurements of Miss Marilyn Monroe." Mr. O'Leary's address to the Toronto Canadian Club was punctuated with criticism of Canadian radio and press; of the "nice" and "genteel" people who feel themselves above politics; and of a "class of intellectual snobs and phoneys worrying over what they call culture."

"The simple truth is that if a nation gives to its people true education, culture will take care of itself."

LACK "KNOW-WHY"

True education was not technical instruction. One of the tragedies of the age was that it is all know-how and no know-why; all facts and no knowledge, all specialization and no wisdom, all signposts and no destination.

"Unless this nation ceases its separation of scientific progress from moral purpose; unless it tries to find out what freedom is about, what democracy is about and what true education is about; unless it comes to understand that liberty is not easy to get and not easy to keep—then it must court indictment before the bar of history, invite and deserve that saddest of all things in the human story: The epitaph of a vanished freedom."

BLAMES THE PRESS

The press also had failed in its duty, said Mr. O'Leary. He said there are "honorable exceptions—newspapers, some of them in this city. . . who know about democracy and who care for it." But he added:

1. Too many newspapers in Canada wear the label "independent" to disguise a cowardly neutrality.
2. Too many newspaper publishers do not seem to know what the press and democracy should be about.
3. Too many politically illiterate writers for the press think Canada's political history began after the 1930s.
4. Too many newspaper publishers seem to imagine that the function of the press is to compete with Hollywood in cheapness and vulgarity.

TOO MANY HANDOUTS

5. Too many newspapers are content with government "press handouts" when they know or should know that no government can be trusted to present itself to the governed—to purvey its own information.

"Personally, as a newspaperman I am sick and tired of hearing newspapermen talking about press freedom, forgetting that press freedom is a bilateral contract.

"The freedom of the press was not won for the sake of the press. It was won for the sake of the people.

"And if the time comes when the press ceases to fight for the freedom of the people, then the time will follow, and quickly, when the people will no longer fight for the freedom of the press."

Strong Principles Needed To Opp. Modernism

KITCHENER (CP) — Strong Christian principles are needed to oppose modernisms that include a business career as the ideal of young women rather than a home and motherhood, Bishop Joseph F. Ryan of Hamilton told delegates to the 33rd annual convention of the Catholic Woman's League of Canada.

Bishop Ryan said that the role of the mother fell away from its high place a generation ago and a business career became the goal of young girls.

"Mothers of families were hard put to fight the ensuing evils of birth control, juvenile delinquency and threat of broken homes through divorce," he said.

It was up to mothers to bring back religious instruction to the home, he said, and impart goodness, knowledge and discipline and so "remain the leading lady in things that really count."

Boyd-Flynn Wedding

Bethel United Church was scene of a wedding of wide interest on Saturday when Rosaline Nellie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn of Omemee, became the bride of Pilot Officer Eric Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Boyd of Truro, Nova Scotia.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt, with a background setting at the altar of yellow and white 'mums. Wedding music was played by Mrs. G. Connell of Omemee and Miss Dorothy Connell was soloist. Before the service she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and during the signing of the register "Because."

A ballerina length gown of French lace with strapless bodice and tiered scalloped lace and net skirt over taffeta, topped with a lace jacket scalloped to match the skirt. Her headdress was in sweetheart shape of white net trimmed with seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of snowdrift 'mums and Bettertime roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

Only bridal attendant was Miss Barbara Latchford of Peterborough who wore a nylon French lace ballerina gown in mauve, the bouffant skirt held out by a crinoline and finished with a scalloped edge at the hem to show a pleated nylon net underskirt. Her headdress of pleated net was in tones of mauve caught with tiny pearls and her mittens were of mauve lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow and mauve 'mums.

Pilot Officer Douglas Carr attended the groom and ushers were Pilot Officer Andy Bergeron and Pilot Officer Rene Barrett.

A reception was held at the bride's home with guests being present from Manitoba, British Columbia, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and other points in Ontario.

Mrs. Flynn received in a soft blue crepe dress with silver trimmed bolero and was wearing a navy velvet hat and corsage of pink Rapture roses.

When going away on their honeymoon trip by motor the bride wore a winter white faille suit dress with black accessories and had a corsage of pink Pinocchio roses.

They will leave in Greenwood, Nova Scotia.

Answer Korean Appeals

St. John's Anglican Church Women's Auxiliary, Evening Branch (EB), held their monthly business and devotional meeting Monday evening in the Parish Hall. Mrs. Margaret Montgomery presided. Archdeacon W. P Robertson recited the prayers and also gave an interesting talk on the prophet Isiah. Miss Margaret Dainton read the opening chapter of the study book for this year, 'Africa Steps Out'. It was decided to start knitting socks immediately in answer to the urgent appeal for the children of the East and Korea, and a donation of $5 was voted to the "Barley for Korea" appeal. Members were reminded of work to be completed for the church bazaar on November 26th. Dainty refreshments were served with Mrs A. B. Burrows and Mrs. F. Marshall as hostesses.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother Objects To Daughter's Boy Friend

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a busines woman, the mother of a 14-year-old daughter and 10-year-old son. My children are cared for by my sister, who lives with me. My problem concerns my daughter.

All summer she went with a boy, two years her senior. They went to movies, for sodas. and walks. The boy refuses to work and has a widowed mother. I don't like his manners, and, in brief, he just annoys me. Every morning they had long telephone conversations, tying up the line when I wanted to reach my home. My daughter thinks we ought to give her more liberties. For instance, her girl friend can stay out until 10 o'clock and Margie can't. She cheerfully helps at home—does beds, irons her clothes and washes dishes. Am I being unreasonable. I let her have a birthday party at Christmas, but never again. All the children think about is kissing and lights out.

MRS. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

TYPICAL TEEN-AGER

ANSWER: Perhaps you're not unreasonable, but I do feel you lack understanding of adolescents. Nothing your Margie does, as described in your letter, is cause for concern. Her actions are typical of a 14-year-old, and her co-operation with household tasks certainly doesn't indicate a rebellious teen-ager. Friendships, at this age, are apt to be unstable, with the best friend of today becoming one she will scarcely speak to in a week. Your position as a business mother apparently leads you to seek near-perfection in your child, and may also make you impatient with her.

Since she is inclined to go with a group, she'll undoubtedly have a succession of boy friends and about the boy she's been seeing, his difficulties are mostly adolescent, too.

She should be in every evening at the time set (except for special occasions), and her weekend dating should be limited. As for parties, don't refuse arbitrarily to have another, but encourage the young people to dance, rather than indulge in games.

Point out the fact that kissing games are popular with the preteen group and that young people in their teens should be preparing for the social life of the future by becoming accomplished dancers, bowlers, etc. Above all, don't scold the child too much. An occasional heart-to-heart talk will accomplish more than constant nagging.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My sister had to get married when she was 16. Now, my father won't let me even go out with a boy, although I'm almost 14. I'm sure the reason is that he still holds a grudge against my sister.

M. W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your father is not holding a grudge, he's merely being more cautious with you than he was with your sister, and justifiably so. I'm sure everyone in the family, including your sister and her husband, were very distressed over her plight. They don't want to see it duplicated, which is certainly easy to understand. Parents can't be too careful regarding a 13-year-old girl's dating.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Do you think a woman of 34 is too old to marry a boy of 20. Our daughter is very well educated, has a good position, but she has never been popular with the opposite sex. Now she has fallen in love with a 20-year-old soldier and says she will marry him. Do you think she can be happy

WORRIED MOM

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: No one can predict the success or failure of a marriage. All we can do is measure the possibilities and probabilities. The probability of a successful marriage between your daughter and her soldier are slim indeed. At 20 he's more likely to be looking for a mother than a wife.

Urges Follow Up

KITCHENER (CP)—A program of follow-up work with new Canadians was urged Monday for the National Catholic Women's League.

Mrs. Fred Drake of Regina, national president, told delegates to the league's annual convention that such aid was necessary to immigrants.

She also suggested the formation of more discussion groups to "offset ignorance of the church among Catholics."

The league heard membership and financial reports from provincial presidents.

The British Columbia membership was 6,147; Alberta 7,323; Saskatchewan 5,048; Ontario 45,514; Quebec 5,400; Nova Scotia 4,007; Prince Edward Island 2,015. Figures for other provinces were not available.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Replacing Sugar By Honey To Reduce Calory Count

Usually I am so occupied with the topics that I want to discuss with you that I forget the patient people like the writer of this letter:

Dear Mary Moore: I read your receipts every day and I have tried a number of them . . . we have quite a bit of honey and I bake a lot. I have a family of seven, and I would like to know how much honey I can use in place of sugar for cakes, pies and cookies for a cup of sugar—how much honey should I use . . . Mrs. C. D.

✧ ✧ ✧

Anyone who expects to conduct a column of this type successfully certainly ought to have enough sense to put some honey recipes in it once in a while. I think I'm right when I guess that I haven't given you a honey recipe in over a year.

An interesting thing about honey is that one tablespoon of it provides 70 calories, while 1 tablespoon sugar provides 100 calores BUT since honey is two and one-half times sweeter than sugar if you use ½ tablespoons honey on your cereal in the morning you will have it a little sweeter and consume only half the calories that you would if you used 1 tablespoon sugar.

Also, in using honey we are getting protein value, a good supply of calcium and phosphorus and Vitamin B as well. Pretty good isn't it?

Rule 1: When substituting honey for sugar in your own recipes reduce the liquid by ¼ cup. Product will be sweeter though.

Rule 2: Add ¼ teaspoon soda for each cup of honey used.

Rule 3: Add ¼ teaspoon salt for each cup of honey used.

Rule 4: Honey baking must be done at moderate temperatures or its fine flavor is destroyed.

Rule 5: When boiling honey be sure to use a large dish as it has a tendency to foam and boil over.

I heard them say- they never tasted a more delicious cake!

Only a LITTLE scrap of conversation... but it was a BIG moment!

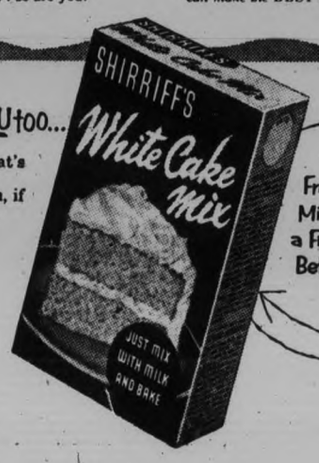
It can be YOURS this easy way:

In goes Freshness!

Yes, you put "freshness" into your cake yourself, by adding dairy-fresh, whole milk. Shirriff's White Cake Mix is as complete as a good cake mix should be . . . rich with sweet, creamed shortening, yolks of graded eggs, Shirriff's famous flavourings, fine cake flour . . . but NO skim milk powder as in ordinary mixes. You need fresh milk for extra flavour, richness, keeping qualities.

Up up goes your Cake!

You get the surprise of your life when you open that oven door! Here's a cake that rises to the heights . . . and takes you with it. Heights of success you've only dreamed about! You know if it's high, it has to be light and fine textured and extra good. Hurrah for fresh, whole milk cake mixes . . . Shirriff's are expert cake makers . . . and now . . . so are you!



It's Magic!

Yes, Magic . . . White Magic . . . your beautiful white cake made with Shirriff's White Cake Mix. For cakes that are talked-about . . . there's no slightest doubt about the cake mix to use. It's Shirriff's . . . a magic word passed from one good cook to another! But behind that magic word is a simple common-sense explanation: Only food experts can make the BEST mix for a cake!

Shhhsh! People are talking about YOU too...

Now that you're cooking with Shirriff's! But that's the kind of talk a good cook thrives on! Shirriff's have been thriving on it for years and so will you, if you'll just remember: Only food experts can make the BEST mix for a cake!

Fresh, whole Milk makes a Fresher, Richer, Better-Keeping Cake

I will have to give you recipes for batters using honey, but I can say with assurance that when you use honey to sweeten a pie ½ cup is plenty—you have to scrape out honey that clings to side of cup of course.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

(using all honey as a sweetener)

Two cups sifted cake flour, 1½ teaspoons baking soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup butter or shortening, 2 eggs, 1¼ cups honey, 3 squares melted unsweetened chocolate, 2/3 cup cold water, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Sift together sifted flour, soda and salt 3 times. Cream butter, add honey and beat very well. Add ¼ of the flour and blend well. Add eggs one at a time and blend well between additions. Add melted chocolate and beat. Add remaining flour alternately with the water and vanilla. Beat well. Bake in 2 9-inch layer pans, paper-lined and buttered, at 350 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes.

PLAIN CAKE

This is more satisfactory when you use ½ honey and ½ sugar in the quantities called for in your regular recipe.

HONEY DREAM BARS

One and one-quarter cups flour, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 1/3 cup butter, 2 egg whites, ½ cup honey, ½ cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon baking powder, 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup each cocoanut and chopped nuts. Combine first 3 ingredients to make a crumbly mixture. Pat into shallow pan about 8x12 inches and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 minutes. Beat egg whites stiff, add honey and brown sugar gradually, beat until mixture peaks then fold in remaining ingredients Spread this over baked crumb mixture and bake about 40 minutes in slow oven of 300 deg Fahr. When cold cut into bars with sharp knife. This is one of the nicest cut cookies you will ever taste.

I would gladly give Mrs. C. D. other recipes and sources to write to for them.

Wants To Die With Partner

KANSAS CITY (AP)—"The only thing I want to do now is die in the gas chamber with Carl."

That remark was attributed Monday to Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, confessed kidnapper of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease. The Carl she referred to is 34-year-old Carl Austin Hall who admitted slaying Bobby and burying the body in Mrs. Heady's back yard.

The police officer, who declined use of his name, also quoted Mrs. Heady, a 41-year-old divorcee, as saying she wanted to be buried in a cemetery near Clearmont, Mo., where she was born.

Mrs. Heady has declined to read religious tracts brought to Jackson county jail by various church organizations.

"I have never had anything to do with religion during my life and I don't intend to start now," she was quoted as saying.

Aid Program Cut Off By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Secretary John Foster Dulles disclosed today the United States has suspended a $100,000,000 aid program for Israel because he believes the Israeli government is defying a United Nations ruling.

Dulles said the Eisenhower administration has decided to defer any aid allocations to Israel until it abides by a UN order that it stop trying to divert waters from the River Jordan along the Syrian fronter.

Dulles told a press conference the United States believes Israel should respect a decision, ordering a halt to this project, made by Gen. Vagn Bennike, Danish chief of the UN truce supervision group along the Palestine frontier.

He estimated the amount involved for Israel was about $100,000,000. Allocations for Arab governments from foreign aid funds, he indicated, are continuing to go forward.

Everything Quiet At Barnes Plant

HAMILTON (CP)—All was quiet at the Wallace Barnes plant here this morning, as cars carrying workers drove past the picket lines without interference.

Members of Local 520, UE, kept strict observance of the Supreme Court injunction limiting the pickets on each gate to four in number.

Members of UE are now preparing for the all-Hamilton labor meeting summoned for tonight to protest the court injunction.

Discover Skeleton

RIDGEWAY (CP)—Workmen excavating along the shore of Lake Erie Monday uncovered a skeleton of what may have been one of the original Indian inhabitants of this Niagara peninsula district.

The bones have been turned over to provincial police for investigation.

TANGLED WRECKAGE of the RCAF Vampire jet (above) crashed at Cartierville airport in Montreal last Saturday carrying its 25-year-old pilot to his death. The plane overshot the runway while making an emergency landing and burst into flames after hitting a deep ditch.

Lift Secrecy On New Plane

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Part of the secrecy was lifted from the U. S. air force's supersonic F1100 Super Sabre fighter plane today as the first production model came off the line.

But as North American Aviation Company threw an arrival party for the swept-wing big brother of the F-86 Sabre, the company and the U. S. air force carefully withheld much of the F-100's performance data.

The air force has announced the Super Sabre is its first operational jet fighter to exceed the speed of sound in level flight.

Announced dimensions for the F-100 shows the razor-thin wing has a span of 36 feet, with the body 45 feed long and 14 feet high.

A Pratt and Whitney J-57-7 jet engine powers the fighter, which has a service ceiling above 50,000 feet and a combat radius of more than 575 miles.

The new, heat-resisting metal, titanium, is used extensively.

City Council

Judge Quashes 2 Indictments Against Captain

CAYUGA, Ont. (CP)—Mr. Justice E. R. Chevrier today quashed two indictments against Capt. Harris, charged with "accepting commissions and demanding compensations" in connection with trucking operations for an army camp at nearby Hagersille.

Capt. Harris was charged last August.

Mr. Justice Chevrier ruled that one indictment was not laid within the prescribed two-year time limit while the other did not possess the essential legal requirements.

Submissions for the quashings were made by defence counsel J. J. Robinette of Toronto. They were heard without calling a jury or arraigning the accused.

Cayuga is 20 miles south of Hamilton.

AT NEXT SITTING

Trial of WO Edward Parton, of the Hagersville army camp, on application of crown prosecutor J. Bain Munro, was traversed to the next sitting of the Supreme Court, with no date set. W. W. Leach, of Dunnville, defence counsel agreed to the postponement.

WO Parton is charged that in December, 1951, in London, "being a person in the employment of the government of Canada, unlawfully accepted compensation in the amount of $300 from one Hugh MacLennan for the purpose of favoring the said Hugh MacLennan in procuring contracts for the said government of Canada for trucking vehicles and stores, contrary to section 158, subsection B, of the Criminal Code."

Anti-Reds Shoot Policemen

BERLIN (AP)—Four Communist police officers have been shot to death by anti-Red bands in Soviet-occupied Cottbus, East German authorities confirmed today. Cottbus is a town of about 50,000 population 70 miles southeast of Berlin.

The Cottbus party newspaper said the police "lost their lives in the fight against the Fascist underground movement."

Three of the officers were killed, apparently in an ambush, last Saturday. One was slain a few days earlier.

The Communists were silent as to the fate of the unnamed assailants.

The shootings confirmed Western reports of deadly resistance to East German Communist rule since the June 17 workers' revolt. The people's police suffered heavy casualties in that uprising.

New French Offensive Brought To Standstill

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—The French offensive in Indo-China begun last Thursday has come to a standstill after an advance of 16 miles.

French Union troops who broke out of the southern tip of the Red river delta and drove into the foothills of the Vietminh-held plateau of central Viet Nam have made no progress since Sunday.

Instead, they have been ordered to mop up Vietminh pockets in the terrain already captured, consolidate their positions and search for arms-dumps concealed in caves on the wooded mountain sides.

The offensive, which the French say was intended to have only limited objectives, may be resumed later but at present there is no intention on the part of the French high command to press on.

Knee Injury Forces Krol Retirement

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's Mr. Football has ended his playing career.

Joe Krol, ranged among the all-time stars of the game and considered by many as the outstanding Canadian-born player of the last 20 years, announced his retirement Monday night.

His decision was hastened by a knee injury suffered in the dying moments of Sunday's Big Four game in Montreal when he handled the ball for the last time for Toronto Argonauts against the Alouettes.

The 34 - year - old triple - threat backfielder from Windsor, Ont., began his big-time career as an intercollegiate all-star for the University of Western Ontario Mustangs in 1939. In the years that followed he played on six Dominion championship teams and won all-star ranking in every league in which he played.

ALWAYS A NATURAL

From his earliest appearances after he was graduated from Assumption College in Windsor to the Mustangs, Krol won speedy recognition as a great natural player. He seldom made an unnecessary move on the field, but showed a knack for filling holes on defence or opening them on the attack.

In recent years, when Argonauts used him almost exclusively as a kicker, Krol continued to show his best form under difficulties. He seemed to produce his best punts with a wet ball, against the wind, or when rushed by a bad snap or poor protection against an opposing line.

But Krol is best remembered as the passing, running, place-kicking wizard who seemed to be a whole football team by himself in the 1940s.

Moving from Western to Hamilton Wildcats of the senior Ontario Rugby Football Union, he sparked them to the Grey Cup, accounting for seven points himself and throwing a touchdown pass to defeat Winnipeg RCAF Bombers 23-14 in 1943. The following year the Wildcats defeated Toronto Balmy Beach 9-8 in their league final, Krol scoring all the points.

Krol joined the Argonauts in 1945 and scored another personal triumph in the Grey Cup final, running 60 yards for one touchdown, hurling two touchdown passes and kicking two converts, as Toronto blanked Winnipeg 35-0.

In succeeding years, he and Royal Copeland became the "touchdown twins," both equally dangerous on either end of a passing play and almost unstoppable in the open field.

In 10 full seasons since he joined the Wildcats, Krol has scored more than 400 points in scheduled play. Twice he won the Eastern Canada scoring crown—in 1944 when he scored 48 points for the Wildcats and in 1946, his most prolific scoring year, with 63 points for the Argos.

Krol injured his knee in preseason practice this season and appeared in only two scheduled games. His first start Oct. 10 saw him in action late in a disastrous Argonaut rout by Hamilton. He promptly pulled a typical play, passing off a kick formation for one of his team's few long gains.

It was a similar spot appearance Sunday that ended his career. Moving into the game in the final quarter, he took the ball from quarterback Nobby Wirkowski and attempted to throw a pass off a Statue-of-Liberty play. But a Montreal attacker broke through and threw him down hard, aggravating his knee injury.

DENIES DISSENSION TALK

OTTAWA (CP)—Jim McCaffrey, president of Ottawa Rough Riders, Monday branded as "all rubbish" published reports that his Big Four football club may be torn by dissension among the players and friction between some players and coach Clem Crowe.

The Riders were beaten 33-24 by Hamilton Tiger - Cats Saturday, their third straight loss. Hamilton scored all their points before Ottawa got moving late in the third quarter.

"We just played so badly that we couldn't come back in that second half," McCaffrey said. "We just haven't been in there at all in the last three games and when we did start to roll, it was always too late. Dissension in the team didn't beat the Rough Riders on Saturday. We were beaten before this one and there was no suggestion then by anyone that dissension caused the defeats.

"There is no foundation for reports that the players were not pulling together."

Some fans Saturday chanted "we want Karpuk." Halfback Pete Karpuk was fired Friday by Crowe for "indifference."

Crowe himself was in seclusion.

LACROSSE STAR DEAD

COMOX, B.C. (CP)—Searchers Monday found the body of Jack Green, 22-year-old Vancouver lacrosse star, missing since Saturday on a hunting trip.

A standout goalie, Green played with Vancouver Pilseners in the Intercity Lacrosse League, and in 1950 led Vancouver Burrards to an upset victory over New Westminster Adanacs and into the Mann Cup final.

GATHERUM BACK TO QHL

DETROIT (AP) — Dave Gatherum, rookie goalie for Detroit Red Wings, will be sent back to Sherbrooke of the Quebec Senior Hockey League tonight with two other players.

The National Hockey League champions announced Monday that Gatherum, utility forward Marcel Bonin and defenceman Jim Hay will return to the Canadian club.

Gatherum was called to sub for regular goalie Terry Sawchuk, when Sawchuk was injured a week ago Saturday. Sawchuk played Sunday night when the Wings downed Montreal 4-0.

WHAT NOW?—Bonnie, his poodle, seemed to be asking the question when Charley Dressen rejected a one-year contract at $40,000 to manage the Dodgers. Her master answered it by agreeing to manage the Oakland club of Pacific Coast League.

Old-Timers Impressed With Earl Sande

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Old-timers as well as present-day racing officials and observers agreed today that Earl Sande hasn't lost any of the riding skill that made him the United States' premier jockey in the golden '20s.

It is just that at the age of 54, "the handy guy" hasn't the stamina to ride a full day's program every afternoon.

"He still has the quality that makes great riders," said Marshall Cassidy, steward representing the Jockey Club at New York tracks.

Cassidy is one of racing's experts who saw Sande when he roared out of the west in 1918 to begin a career matched by few in the sport.

LOOKS THE SAME

"From the stands, he looks almost identical to the Sande of 25 years ago, crouching low and with his head down riding all-out to win; you recognize him instantly," Cassidy said.

Eddie Arcaro, acknowledged top rider of the present generation, said he couldn't compare the Sande of today with other years.

"I was just starting out west when Sande retired, and I never saw him then. I have seen him a few times since he returned, and I think he'll make the grade, for he looks awfully good on a horse.

"But it all boils down to the kind of horses he gets. He hasn't had a lot of good ones yet, but we're all rooting for him."

Another who was impressed with the grey-haired rider who's back in the saddle because "I need the money" is Clem McCarthy, veteran announcer who described the Kentucky Derby and other major races for many years.

CAN TEACH OTHERS

"I guess I saw him ride in 200 races, many of his greatest," said McCarthy. "When I saw him again the other day, I could see that he'll teach a lot of the younger riders how it should be done."

Sande, who said he felt fine, had no illusions about taking six or seven mounts an afternoon at his age.

"Naturally, it isn't in the cards to ride as often as I used to, because it is physically impossible.

"But, my head's the same, and with a couple of mounts a day, I know I can ride well.

"Riding was rougher in the old days, and is much different now with the moving pictures taken of all races. You have to be so careful not to bother or interfere with another horse."

Church Celebrates Anniversary

COLDSPRINGS— (ENS)— The anniversary of St. Paul's United Church was observed Sunday. The Rev. John Kitchen of Orono was guest preacher for morning and evening services. Mr. Kitchen is a former missionary and has spent 31 years in China. At the morning service he took as his subject "The Church," taken from St. Luke's gospel. He divided his sermon into three parts: 1 the church is the fellowship of believers; 2, the church is an expression of our faith; 3, the church is the House of God.

"How to Meet the Detours of Life" was the topic of the evening sermon, taken from Paul's Epistle to the Philippians.

Special music was sung by the choir with Miss Edith Hoskin at the organ. A duet was sung by Mrs. P. Harris and Bill Little, and a solo by Mrs. Harris, accompanied at the piano by Bill Little. A quartette composed of Mesdames C. Minifie, C. Timlin, and Messrs G. Buttars, and B. Little sang one hymn. Mrs. C. Minifie and Mrs. C. Timlin sang a duet. Warren Buttars accompanied at the piano for the hymns.

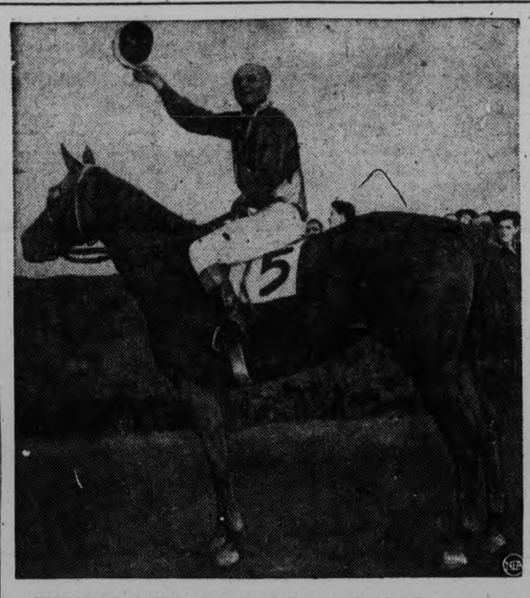
Cavan United Church Observes Anniversary

CAVAN — (ENS) — Anniversary services for Cavan United Church were held Sunday, with a former pastor, the Rev. J. R. Trumpour of Little Britain, minister at both services. Mr. Trumpour has not preached here since 1939.

Topic of his morning sermon was "This Anniversary is Your Thanksgiving Day," and in the evening he spoke on "The Light in the Face of Jesus Christ."

The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Milford Byers sang several anthems, and Fraser Carr sang a solo. Mrs. Byers also sang a solo. Miss Estella Hetherington, organist of St. Andrew's Millbrook, was organist for both services.

Union Head 36 Years W. L. Hutcheson Dies



INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — William L. Hutcheson, 79, general president of the AFL carpenters union for 36 years and a towering figure in the American labor movement, died in Methodist Hospital here today of a heart ailment.

The veteran labor leader was brought to the hospital Oct. 12 for a stomach examination and suffered a heart attack Oct. 15 before the tests were completed.

Hutcheson, one of the few Republicans among top union officials, stepped down from the active presidency of the 822,000-member union Jan. 1, 1952, and was succeeded by his son, Maurice A. Hutcheson.

VAST CHANGE

The Clyde at Glasgow was a small, shallow stream before it was dredged a century ago to accommodate great shipyards.

FIRST IN 21 YEARS—Earl Sande, 55, back in the winner's circle for the first time since his retirement in 1932, doffed his cap to cheering thousands after riding T. F. White's Miss Weesie to victory in a six-furlong race at Jamaica, N.Y. The daughter of Jeep-Miss Mud paid $27.10.

Oratory Contest Held In Bethany

BETHANY (ENS) — Murray Smith, with his topic "The Story of Old Ontario," won first prize in the public speaking contest held for pupils of Bethany School on Friday evening. Phyliss Bristow, speaking on "The Machine Age," placed second, and Dianne Bigelow, with "The History of Bethany School," was awarded third prize.

Other competitors were Colleen Durham, "Florence Nightingale"; Donna Durham, "The Maple Leaf, Our National Emblem"; Donald Smith, "Television"; George Scott, "The Visking Products"; Leone Jordan, "Our Village School"; Bruce Wright, "My Trip to Ottawa"; and Leone Smith, "How Scientists Developed Canadian Wheat."

Hope Rayson was chairman for the evening and Emory Smith distributed prizes. Judges were Mrs. Earl Argue, Mrs. Robert Sisson and Mrs. P. Sargison, with Mrs. Argue giving their decision and reasons for same; also giving the students some good advice on how to become better public speakers.

Musical numbers were given during the evening by all the pupils and Murray Henderson and Phyliss Bristow sang a duet.

Winners of first and second prizes will compete in the Manvers township finals to be held in Bethany on Wednesday, where the competition is open to all the schools in the township.

Battles Bear

YUBA CITY, Calif. (CP)—Bryan Arritt, confined to a wheel-chair since he was a boy, was sitting by a deer run Sunday when along came a bear. Arritt, 50, shot the bear but the animal charged. Arritt shot it three more times and then, as the bear kept on coming, Arritt clubbed it to death with the empty rifle. The bear, dressed, weighed 226 pounds.

Question Police Officer For 10 Hours In Inquiry

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police investigators, holding their inquiry behind closed doors, today continued digging into reports the FBI has discovered discrepancies in police accounts of the Greenlease kidnapping case.

One of the officers who arrested Carl Austin Hall, the confessed kidnap-slayer of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, was questioned periodically for 10 hours Monday.

The investigation by chief of police Jeremiah O'Connell centres around the handling of two suitcases in which about half of the $600,000 ransom money was recovered. Some $300,000 still is missing.

Patrolman Elmer Dolan, who O'Connell said is not under suspension nor held on any charge, was the first witness called.

CAN'T QUESTION OFFICER

Lieut. Louis Shoulders, Dolan's superior officer in the arrest, was under a physician's care for a nervous condition and was reported unable to appear for questioning at this time.

But chief O'Connell said Shoulders will be questioned "as soon as his doctor says it will be all right to do so."

Dolan, one of three witnesses questioned Monday, told reporters afterward that he had been instructed "not to talk."

Shoulders, whose ailment was attributed by the physician to the officer's work on the case, withheld from reporters a full explanation of the reported discrepancies, but said:

"I can explain to the proper authorities every move I made."

ARREST FOLLOWED TIP

The arrest of Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady followed a tip to Shoulders by taxi driver John Hager that Hall was armed and spending money on a big scale.

O'Connell said Hager will be questioned today "if we are able to reach him."

EXAMINE HOTEL ROOMS

Officers also made a half-hour examination of the rooms in the apartment hotel where Hall was arrested and the ransom money recovered was found.

Police also are expected to question four special officers of Newstead police district headquarters, where the kidnappers were taken after their arrest.

The other two witnesses heard from were Mrs. Jean Fletcher, manager of the apartment hotel where the arrest was made, and police Cpl. Raymond Bergmeier, acting desk sergeant who booked Hall after the arrest.

The inquiry was ordered by the police board after published reports that the FBI had found discrepancies in police reports on the arrests.

But the board said it had no reason to believe any officers connected with the case had not given "all the information they have."

Thousands Of Veterans Have Failed To Use Re-Establishment Credits

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The veterans affairs department has $38,000,000 it's trying to spend if the right men will only apply for it.

The department says thousands of Second World War veterans have so far failed to take advantage of re-establishment credits to which they are entitled. The exact number hasn't been calculated.

While the department worries about this problem, it is busy paying out re-establishment credits to men who fought in the Korean war. Up to Aug. 31, the government had paid out almost $900,000 for 6,000 Korean veterans.

Officials Monday gave several reasons why many Second World War veterans have not applied for re-establishment credits: Some picked up their basic gratuities for service and forgot they were entitled to other benefits; some could not qualify immediately after the war for credits because their uses are limited; some wanted to wait as long as possible so they could put their credit to the best use.

The Canadian Legion added another reason: Some veterans are still so "fed up" with military red tape they don't want to face the additional paper work involved in collecting their credits.

TEN-YEAR LIMIT

Time limit for use of the credits is 10 years from date of discharge or 10 years from Jan. 1, 1945, whichever is the later date. That means that all Second World War veterans who haven't yet applied for re-establishment credits have at least until Jan. 1, 1955, to do so.

Nearly 1,000,000 men and women were discharged from the armed forces after the war. Up to December, 1952, almost $470,000,000 had been paid to them in basic gratuities.

At the same time, $283,283,000 had been spent on re-establishment credit for certain specific rehabilitation purposes and as an alternative to university or vocational training, settlement under the Veterans' Land Act or business ventures.

The basic gratuity amounted to $7.50 for each 30 days' service in the western hemisphere plus 25 cents for each day of overseas service. Besides this, the overseas veteran received an amount equal to seven days' pay and allowances for every 183 days' service abroad.

Re-establishment credit is also a direct grant which does not have to be repaid. It is equal to the basic gratuity but is not paid to the veteran in cash but is paid on his account.

The credit is limited in its uses. Largest percentage after the Second World War—$169,000,000—went for furniture.

Lindsay Man Awaits Sentence On Forgery

LINDSAY (ENS)—A 29-year-old Lindsay man who claimed to be a radio announced, but who had turned to forgery to pay some money he owed in Lindsay was remanded a week for sentence Monday after he pleaded guilty of uttering a forged cheque for $35 on Sept. 23.

James O'Neill, who had lived in Lindsay for only four months, pleaded guilty to the charge, which was laid by E. W. Honey, a retired Lindsay minister on whose account O'Neill wrote the bogus cheque to pay a bill with his employer, William Yerex of Lindsay. A. T. Lacey, appearing for the accused, said that an attempt would be made at restitution. O'Neill was ordered held until information could be obtained from Sault Ste. Marie, pertaining to a similiar charge there.

Trustees Open — Workshop

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The Public School Trustees' Association of Ontario opened its 1953 workshop here Monday with the St. Catharines board of education as hosts. C. H. Hulse of Ottawa gave the president's address and mayor John Franklin of St. Catharines welcomed the delegates. Dr. Louis Blake Duff of Welland was principal speaker at a luncheon.

Start For Arctic But End Up In Quebec City

OTTAWA (CP) — An Eskimo family and its dog team, which started a 50-mile Arctic trip on an icebreaker last week, will end up at Quebec City instead because the icebreaker went to help another ship in distress.

From radio messages from the icebreaker N. B. McLean, the transport department Monday pieced together this story:

The McLean picked up the Eskimo family and dogs at Resolution island, off the southern tip of Baffin island, to take them to Fort Burwell, 50 miles away. She never got there.

HELP SHIP

The 884-ton Halifax freighter Arctic Prowler lost a propeller shaft last week off Resolution island and asked for assistance. The McLean took her in tow and Monday completed a 900-mile haul to Cape Normand in the gulf of St. Lawrence.

The McLean was to rendezvous there with the Halifax tug Foundation Vera, which will tow the Arctic Prowler the rest of the way to Halifax.

The McLean will continue home to Quebec City, taking the Eskimo family 1,500 miles away from their home. She is expected there later this week.

Serious Situation With 4,000 Jobless

BRANTFORD (CP) — A United Automobile Workers Union (CIO) delegation Monday night told city council that a serious situation has been caused by the 4,000 unemployed persons in Brantford.

Robert Lockyer, secretary of Local 458, on behalf of the union asked council to send a delegation to Ottawa in search of either public works projects or an increase in Unemployment Insurance payments to help the unemployed through the winter.

City council agreed to give the delegation's presentation full consideration.

Troop Liner Delayed At Quebec

Mooring Lines Foul Ships' Propellers, 850 Soldiers Aboard

QUEBEC (CP)— Departure of the 20,000-ton liner Samaria, bound for Europe with 850 Canadian troops, was delayed today when mooring lines fouled the ship's propellers.

The Samaria dropped anchor a short distance down the St. Lawrence river and awaited tugs.

The liner was due to be towed back into Quebec harbor. It was expected she will continue her voyage later today.

The Samaria is carrying 850 replacement troops for service with the 27th Canadian Brigade in Germany. The troops include the 2nd battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, No. 54 Transport Company of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps and No. 25 Field Ambulance.

Power Project Aids Defence Pearson View

OTTAWA (CP) — Relationship of the St. Lawrence power project to continental defence was stressed by External Affairs Minister Pearson in his conversation Tuesday with State Secretary Dulles at Washington, officials here said today.

They said that this, in effect, is what Mr. Pearson told the American state secretary during their 30-minute meeting:

Unless the St. Lawrence power project is started by next year, there will be a 20-per-cent power shortage in Ontario by 1959. Power rationing would start at a five-per-cent shortage.

Half the industrial production of Canada is concentrated in Ontario, which exports to the U. S. items important to American defence, such as nickel and aircraft engines.

If power rationing became necessary, output of materials vital to continental defence would be slowed.

The immediate concern for Canada—an indirectly the U. S.—was more hydro power. At the moment, this far outstripped concern over construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Give N.S. Earth To Edinburgh

EDINBURGH (CP)—A handful of earth in the grounds of old Edinburgh Castle is a symbol today of the 300-year-old link between Scotland and Nova Scotia.

Early in the 17th century the Scots sent settlers to the New World and established links with Canada's seaboard province. Tuesday, in a ceremony on the esplanade of Edinburgh Castle, Scots and Canadians gathered to commemorate those early bonds.

Premier Angus Macdonald of Nova Scotia, who has been visiting Scotland, unveiled a plaque describing how the Scottish baronets first took lawful possession of their distant lands.

"Nova Scotia more than 300 years ago was annexed to Scotland by a fiction," said Macdonald. "Let me complete the task today by depositing . . . a handful of Nova Scotia earth.

"Thus the fiction becomes a reality and Nova Scotia and Scotland are united in soil."

Alcoholic Meter Made For Drivers

NEW YORK (CP)—An "alcoholic meter" which decides if an automobile driver is sober enough to drive has been invented by Alfons Siedenhans of Munich, Germany.

Before the driver can start his car he must breathe into the meter device, electrically attached to the car. If his breath so overpowers the meter that it staggers to the "danger" mark, the car won't start.

If the driver's breath is only "moderately alcoholic" the gadget will allow him to start the car but proceed only at speeds not exceeding 35 miles an hour.

Siedenhans will exhibit the device at the world motor show here in February.

First U.S. Prisoner Asks To Be Repatriated From Reds

PANMUNJOM (AP)—A smiling United States soldier quit the Communists today and said it is "more than likely" that some of the other 22 Americans who cast their lot with the Reds will change their minds. Apparently in good health Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson of Big Stone Gap, Va., was turned over to the United Nations command today. He was the first of 359 unrepatriated Allied PoWs to return to the Allies. "It sure feels great to be back in the hands of the Americans," Dickenson grinned to reporters at the short transfer ceremony. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Van Buren Dickenson, who live in a remote cabin in the southern mountains, were joyous.

"If you can," his mother told a reporter, "I wish you would get a word to him—tell him nobody hereabouts thinks hard of him for what he done, and we will all give him a big welcome home."

Dickenson was one of 23 Americans, one Briton and 335 South Koreans the Reds said refused repatriation to remain under Communist rule.

CHANGED MIND

Dickenson changed his mind with no coaxing. The UN command has not started efforts to persuade former Allied soldiers to return.

The Communist explanations to 22,400 North Korean and Chinese PoWs, meanwhile, were cancelled again for the fourth straight day.

The neutral nations repatriation commission, which has custody of the balky PoWs, made the announcement without details.

Delegates from all five nations making up the commission sat in on the meeting and quickly validated the return of Dickenson.

Dickenson, wearing a blue Chinese PoW uniform, snapped a smart salute as he walked up to a U.S. marine major who received him at the transfer tent in the neutral zone.

After the 10-minute transfer process, Dickenson was whisked by helicopter to the evacuation hospital in Seoul for a medical check-up and processing.

APPROACHED GUARD

Dickenson made up his mind to come back some time before 10 o'clock Tuesday night. The soldier approached an Indian guard,

Court Rulings May Affect Thousands Of Motorists

TORONTO (CP)—Thousands of Ontario motorists may be affected by two Supreme Court rulings Tuesday by Mr. Justice G. A. Gale. Each decision, in effect, is a new law for the province on charges laid under the Highway Traffic Act. Mr. Justice Gale, ruling in each hearing on a stated case from a magistrate, held that a charge of careless driving must disclose only one offence and that a person cannot be charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

The careless driving case involved Max Weinberg of Toronto, acquitted by magistrate W. W. McKeown on a charge under section 29 of the act with "unlawfully driving. . . without due care and attention, or without reasonable consideration for other persons using the highway."

AGREES WITH DEFENCE

Magistrate McKeown agreed with defence counsel C. L. Dubin at Weinberg's trial that such charges created two offences but senior magistrate Thomas Elmore disagreed with that opinion. Mr. Dubin argued that the fundamental principle of criminal law was that the information "must disclose one offence only."

The right-of-way case was submitted by magistrate J. C. Dunlap of Lambton county. He had ruled that Russell Haggins had "unlawfully failed to give the right-of-way" to another motor vehicle.

Mr. Justice Gale said Magistrate Dunlap was in error.

Mr. Dubin argued that failure to yield the right-of-way may create a civil liability and result in the person behind held negligent. But, Mr. Dubin added, the act does not make it an offence punishable by a fine.

Seven Cars Crash In Fog

THAMESVILLE (CP) — Heavy fog shrouding No. 2 highway early Tuesday was reported the cause of an accident involving seven vehicles and injuring several persons.

A chain reaction of accidents started after a two-car collision in a fog pocket about a mile west of here.

One car proceeding cautiously through the fog was struck from the rear by the second. Someone managed to flag down an approaching gravel truck, but a fully-loaded transport plowed into the back of the gravel truck.

Then an old model car piled into the transport and two more cars followed into the wreckage.

Harry McEachren of Thamesville, jammed in the cab of his transport for almost half an hour, is in Chatham Hospital suffering undetermined injuries. William Saunders of Toronto, driver of one of the cars, was also taken to Chatham hospital with leg and arm injuries.

Reappointed Directors

OTTAWA (CP)—H. J. Symington of Montreal and B. L. Daly of Winnipeg have been reappointed directors of Canadian National Railways, Transport Minister Chevrier announced today. Both have served on the CNR board since 1936.

Card-Playing Council Takes Offensive Against Judge

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—The card-playing council of Essex county took the offensive Tuesday as the battle of the county courthouse entered a new phase.

A few weeks ago, Judge J. A. Legris said the council should quit playing cards and get down to the business of replacing the present courthouse, which he termed antiquated and overcrowded.

Council, which cheerfully admits a yen for card-playing—in recess periods only—agreed Tuesday to join Windsor officials in investigating the need for a new building. But councillors took time out to fire a few barbs at the judge.

Reeve William Morris of Tilbury North township suggested that the courthouse is "perhaps in better shape than its critic."

"We have spent money on the roof, but I doubt if the interior is warped," said the reeve. "The ungentlemanly way in which he ha been bruiting about seems to show me some warping in the interior of the critic."

Reeve George Hayes of St. Clair Beach, emerging from "our usual euchre game" in noon recess, presented a set of tiddly-winks to the council and suggested that Judge Legris might care to take on some members in a friendly match.

There was no comment from the judge.

Man Missing 11 Days In Woods

Lodge, 2 Buildings Destroyed By Fire, Grudge Suspected

PARRY SOUND (CP)— Police suspected foul play today in the disappearance of William Fleming, 60-year-old Toronto hunter missing for 11 days in dense bush 30 miles north of here.

Fleming vanished after telling relatives near North Magnetawan that he was going out for a few hours to hunt partridge. Relatives said he knew the area.

He disappeared eight weeks after fire destroyed his main hunting lodge and two smaller buildings at Miner's lake in the area. The Ontario fire marshal's department is investigating the possibility of arson and police believe someone had a grudge against Fleming.

Real Wild West Gunfight Staged

ROUYN, Que. (CP)—A 51-year-old farmer died today of four bullet wounds police said he suffered in a "real wild west" gunfight between two men on a lonely road near here last week.

Albert Belisle, a farmer at Val d'Or, Que., 65 miles east of here, was fatally shot in the fight police said broke out during a weird robbery attempt last Wednesday.

Roland Dumont, 32-year-old theatre manager here, was charged Monday with shooting with intent to injure.

Police said Belisle had approached Dumont and offered to sell him some high-grade gold. That night the two men went out in Dumont's car to where the ore was supposedly hidden.

Belisle is said to have pulled a gun on Dumont and ordered him to hand over his money. Ontario Provincial Police said nine shots were fired; three by Belisle and six by Dumont.

Israel Denies Defying UN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel today denied it is defying the United Nations in its development of Jordan river resources.

A statement released here and in New York by Israeli diplomatic missions also declared that "it would be unfortunate if any government called upon to consider this intricate and important matter (of Middle East water development) did not enter the investigation with a completely open mind."

State Secretary Dulles told a press conference Tuesday that the United States has suspended allocation of an aid program to Israel, estimated at about $60,000,000 because the Israeli government is pressing its water development plan in defiance of a United Nations truce team decision following a complaint by Syria.

The Israeli statement recognized that Gen. Vagn Bennike, chief of the UN truce agency, had recommended that there be no water diversion at present but made the points that (1) Israel can appeal to the UN Security Council on any interpretation of the armistice agreement, and (2) "in the meantime, no water diversion is taking place."

The statement concluded:

"Therefore, any suggestion that Israel is 'defying' the UN would not be either legally or factually accurate."

Elimination Of UN Called For By Malan

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (Reuters)—Prime Minister Malan today called for reorganization or elimination of the United Nations, which he described as "a cancer which gnaws at world peace and quiet."

He told the Orange Free State congress of his National party that the time has come when the UN should either be radically reformed or scrapped.

The congress has before it a motion calling for South Africa to withdraw from the UN on the grounds of its high costs and the fact that "irresponsible people" were allowed to appear before it and make hostile charges against South Africa.

Malan said South Africa is not opposed to the idea of a world organization. The object of the UN was to bring peace and quiet to the world, but the opposite had been the case.

Constable Testifies Truck Lights Off

CORNWALL (CP) —Constable E. D. Zalman of the Ontario Provincial Police today testified that examination of Max Roodman's truck showed its lights were off and it contained no battery the night a Colonial Coach lines bus hit it. The bus crashed into the Williamsburg canal near Morrisburg, drowning 20 passengers.

Const. Zalman was the first witness at the trial of the bus driver, Lorne Chesebrough, 28, of Kingston, charged with dangerous driving already been committed for trial. The 40-year-old Roodman has on a manslaughter charge.

Const. Zalman said there were no reflectors on the rear of Roodman's truck.

Important Statement

LONDON (AP)— Britain's Randolph Turpin is expected to make an important announcement after his world middleweight championship fight against Bobo Olson in New York tonight, some of Turpin's close friends said today. They gave no indication as to the nature of the statement. British sports writers have speculated that Turpin plans to retire.

Remand Officer For Week Without Plea

CORNWALL (CP)—Peter Balcombe, 24-year-old army officer, today was remanded without plea for a week on a charge of murdering Marie Anne Carrier last Wednesday.

Balcombe showed no emotion when Magistrate P. C. Bergeron of Cornwall read the charge. The accused, a second lieutenant stationed at Valcartier, Que., was dressed in army trousers and a dark blue sport shirt.

He was led back to Cornwall jail several minutes after he was brought before Magistrate Bergeron.

Balcombe was represented by George A. Stiles of Cornwall, who was asked by the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Law Association to be his counsel. The Ontario government's select committee on reform institutions, meeting here, requested the association to supply counsel.

Even as the reserve army sergeant's coffin was on view to thousands of people in a nearby Levis funeral parlor, Balcombe arrived in Cornwall.

An estimated 8,000 persons walked past the girl's coffin and funeral parlor officials expected more today, the eve of her funeral.

While police were gathering evidence in Quebec, London, Cornwall and Montreal, experts were reported conducting tests on Balcombe's rifle and bayonet and a carpet in his automobile.

In Toronto, police said Balcombe had kept his marriage secret from Miss Carrier for months and little more than a week ago she had helped him look for an apartment. Police said the girl thought the apartment was for them after their marriage, but actually it was for Balcombe's wife and children.

Police said divorce was never discussed between Balcombe and his wife, Jean, 22.

Good Weather One More Day

TORONTO (CP)—The unseasonable warm weather in central Canada during the last 10 days is scheduled to continue today and most of Thursday before giving way to showers and slightly cooler air moving in from the west.

Weather officials today forecast clear skies and above-average temperatures until late Thursday when rain from Manitoba will move into northern Ontario and spread south to the Toronto area by Friday afternoon.

The forecast high for today at Windsor is 78. A high of 72 was expected at White River.

Dirt-Laden Fog Knocks Out Power

BRANTFORD (CP) — Dirt-laden fog knocked out 25-cycle power over a wide area for several hours this morning. Consumers on 60-cycle power were not affected.

Hydro officials said the combination of moisture and dust particles caused several poles on feeder lines to catch fire.

Police had to direct traffic as traffic lights went out. Many factories were at a standstill. Most circuits were restored by about 8 a. m.

5 Killed In Crash Of Mercy Plane, Gamble Failure

VANCOUVER (CP)—The bodies of five plane crash victims were flown here early today: the tragic sequel to a pilot's desperate gamble to bring a badly injured miner to hospital through stormy skies. The plane, a single-engined de Havilland Beaver owned by Pacific Airlines, crashed on Monday in the mountainous Garibaldi Park area 55 miles north of here on a mercy flight from Bridge River, B.C.

All five persons aboard were killed. They were: Bob Drinkwater, 33, of New Westminster, B.C., the pilot; Lucille Worden, 21, of Langley Prairie, B.C., a nurse; Joseph Neumayer, of Pioneer Mines, B.C., the injured man; and Lawrence Hamilton of Pioneer Mines and Ernest Maple of Goldbridge, B.C., passengers.

Their bodies were recovered by a ground party which reached the wreckage late Tuesday after it had been spotted from the air.

SPREAD OVER WIDE AREA

The wreckage was spread over a wide area and was burned. One wing was apparently sheared off by a tree and the fuselage was found several hundred feet away.

Russ Baker, general manager of Pacific Western Airlines, who spotted the wreckage from the air, said the flight never would have been made in such poor weather on a scheduled trip.

"Bob would never have attempted to fly in weather like that if he didn't feel that injured man's life depended on getting through," he said.

Drinkwater, an experienced bush pilot, flew to Bridge River Monday afternoon to bring Neumayer, suffering head injuries, to hospital at Vancouver. Maple and Hamilton boarded the plane there despite warnings of the poor weather.

The pilot was apparently following the Pacific Great Eastern Railway tracks and flying low beneath the cloud cover. The wreckage was found near Garibaldi Station on the railway, 15 miles north of Squamish, B.C.

Jagan Prepares To Argue Case

LONDON (Reuters)—Dr. Cheddi Jagan, deposed premier of British Guiana, arrived here today to argue his case with officials who suspended the colony's constitution on grounds that he was leading it toward Communism.

He found the British House of Commons already in argument over his case. A formal debate is scheduled for Wednesday, but Socialist members today began peppering Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton with questions.

They included:

1. What grounds he had for saying Jagan's Peoples Progressive Party was Communist-inspired.

2. The source of a charge in a government statement Tuesday that there was a plot to "set fire to Georgetown," the colony's capital.

Lyttelton fended off most of the questions.

Breaks Sonic Barrier, Airport Plate Glass

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The airport's plate-glass windows, as well as the sonic barrier, were shattered Tuesday during the first public demonstration of the United States Air Force's F-100 super Sabre fighter plane.

Test pilot George Welch boomed through the atmosphere—and the sound barrier—at a speed exceeding 720 miles an hour.

Pressure waves reverberated as Welch pulled out of his supersonic dive. Six big plate-glass windows flew apart in the airport administration building. Twenty-seven smaller windows also were broken.

N.S. Sailor Wins Praise For Rescue Work

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP)— Leading Seaman Bruce S. McDonald, 24, of Dartmouth, N.S., was commended Tuesday for the part he played in rescue operations following the crash of a twin-engined United States Navy patrol boat.

The plane crashed Monday night within 50 yards of the newly-commissioned Canadian frigate Prestonian, of which McDonald is a crew member. Six of the 10 persons aboard the plane were rescued. Bodies of the other four were recovered by divers.

McDonald was commended for his "prompt action" by Capt. Allen Smith, Jr., commanding officer of the United States naval station here.

COXSWAIN OF BOAT

McDonald was coxswain of a small boat which put out after the plane crashed in St. George's harbor here, where the Prestonian was moored, after attempting a landing at Kindley field. It was on a routine training flight from Quonset, R.I., to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

McDonald told The Canadian Press he saw five men floating in the water. He brought the motor cutter alongside one of the survivors, who said his back was broken.

McDonald said he did not lift the man into the cutter for fear of aggravating the injuries, but towed him to a bigger U.S. air force crash boat which had just reached the scene.

The Canadian seaman then headed the cutter back through the oil-slicked water to pick up three more men, all injured. They were also taken to the crash boat.

Say Russians Hold Canadian

CAMP FRIEDLAND, Germany (CP)—Dutch former prisoners-of-war returning after almost 10 years in Russian prison camps said today that a Canadian is among prisoners still held by the Russians.

The repatriates said a Canadian "air force colonel" is being held at Russia's Cherbakov camp, but they were unable to give his name. They described him as having a slightly dislocated lower jaw.

(The RCAF has no rank of colonel. A Montreal couple Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fischer, said last week that they had heard their son, who was conscripted into the German army during the Second World War, may still be a prisoner of the Russians. They said their son was in Yugoslavia when the war started and was drafted by the Germans.)

(The external affairs department in Ottawa said at the time that the department is "making inquiries through the appropriate channels.")

The Dutch repatriates returning today were captured by Soviet forces during the Second World War after they had been conscripted into German units. They said at least two Americans and 120 Europeans from seven countries still are being held along with the unidentified Canadian.

No Injuries Reported

2 Freighters Collide In St. Lawrence

QUEBEC (CP)—A small Italian freighter collided with a heavy Montreal-bound Norwegian freighter early today in the St. Lawrence river 31 miles west of here. Department of transport signals say no one was injured.

Reports reaching here said the ships collided in dense fog near Portneuf, Que., 130 miles east of Montreal. The Italian ship was identified as the 1,450-ton Carla Maria G and the Norwegian ship is the 7,258-ton Stugard.

The Maria was bound out of Montreal and was believed to be carrying grain. The Stugard was bound for Montreal from Halifax.

The Maria ran herself aground to avoid sinking following the collision. The Stugard stood by until she saw that the Italian ship was in no danger, then proceeded to Montreal.

Later the Maria freed herself and turned toward Quebec. A tug set out from here to tow her to port if necessary.

The collision occurred at 4.42 a. m. EST at a point where the St. Lawrence river is less than two miles wide.

The collision was reported to have occurred off Pointe au Platon, a spot where the river winds between Portneuf county on the north shore and Lotbiniere county on the south.

The Stugard was reported to have struck the Maria near the bow on the starboard side. Damage was not immediately estimated.

The Stugard was reported to have a large dent in her bow, but was not taking water. While more heavily damaged the Maria was able to proceed under her own power.

The Maria was involved in a collision about 90 miles off Halifax in August with the Shelburne schooner Robertson. The Robertson's men abandoned ship and were picked up by the Maria.

Tito Makes New Threats On Trieste

3 Italian Divisions Face Yugoslav Forces Along Frontier

TRIESTE (CP)—An uneasy quiet lay over this disputed free territory today in the wake of new threats by Yugoslavia's President Tito and demonstrations by students in Italy.

Three Italian divisions face Yugoslav forces along the 90-mile-long frontier, manoeuvring on the heels of Tito's warning that his government would regard the handing over of any part of the free territory to Italy as "aggression" whether Italy sent troops to the area or not.

Yugoslavia and Italy have long been vying for the territory, and the dispute entered a new and crucial phase nearly two weeks ago when Britain and the United States decided to move out and hand over zone A of the territory to Italy. Zone B has been under Anglo-American administration since the end of the Second World War.

PREPARE WITHDRAWAL

British and American forces continued today to move equipment to the docks at the port of Trieste itself, preparatory to the withdrawal, adding to the anxiety of the residents.

In Rome, students broke out of their classrooms for the second straight day to tangle traffic in demonstrations for Trieste. About 1,000 high school and university students, carrying Italian and Trieste flags and shouting "down with Tito" marched through downtown Rome as police watched, but did not interfere.

Youths of the neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement scattered leaflets calling on Italy to stand firm against "Yugoslavia, the ally of Russia."

Police, backed by a few troops, continued to stand guard at the British, U. S. and Russian embassies and the Yugoslav legation.

TROOPS MOVE IN

The Italian defence ministry announced Tuesday night that two more divisions, armed with American-made tanks have joined an infantry division already dug in along the Trieste frontier.

Italian sources claimed the Yugoslavs have distributed steel helmets and automatic weapons to all able-bodied civilian men on the Yugoslav side of the frontier.

The United Nations Security Council meanwhile voted to postpone debate on the dispute until Nov. 2 to give Britain, the U. S. and France time to work out a solution through direct diplomatic action.

Soldiers' Complaints Natural Army Says

OTTAWA (CP)— Army headquarters said Tuesday it was "not unnatural" for returning Korean soldiers to complain about the severity of the 25th Brigade's training program since the cease-fire.

"You might say," a spokesman commented, "that the boys have had to revert to peace-time soldiering. No doubt it has come as quite a shock to some of them."

He was commenting on a report from Vancouver that some of the 250 soldiers just returned from Korea expressed discontent Tuesday over "too much spit and polish" within the brigade since the armistice.

The spokesman said the troops' complaints reflected the "normal let-down" to be expected when a unit is withdrawn from the fighting line.

Springville Marks Church's 120th Anniversary

SPRINGVILLE (ENS)—Sunday marked the 120th anniversary of Springville United church. Special services were held with the Rev. I. G. Pollock of Peterborough as guest minister. The congregations of Fairmount and Mount Pleasant withdrew their services for the day and joined with Springville for this occasion.

The church was filled to capacity for the morning service when Mr. Pollock preached a thoughtful sermon on the topic "Jesus and Ordinary Folk."

"This is a day," said Mr. Pollock, "when there is a tremendous need for the gospel. Ordinary people feel that they are caught up in great events whether they like it or not. Abraham Lincoln said 'God must have loved ordinary folks because He made so many of them'."

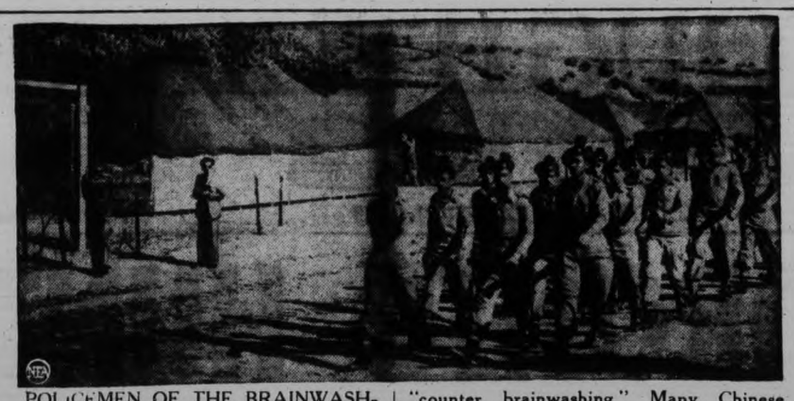
He said that sometimes we may think that the little churches are not doing a big enough job in service and praise to God but "it encourages us when we remember that God called the ordinary people to do His work.

Special music at the morning service was sung by the choir assisted by Mrs. John Knox of Norwood.

At the evening service Mr. Pollock preached a sermon on the text, "Christ is risen and alive for evermore." He urged the congregation to set their affection on the things of God above and not on the things of the earth.

In opening the service, Mr. Pollock referred to the fact that our Sunday's celebrate the anniversary of Christ's resurrection. He said "Do we think of the risen Christ in a way that is near reality. Some churches celebrate the resurrection by a sudden change from darkness to light. It didn't happen like that at all. The resurrection happened as naturally as sunrise, not with a great splash into the history of the world. It slipped into the common life of common men."

Christmas is a great day when you celebrate the birth of Christ. How would it be if we just used electric light on the birthday of Faraday, the scientist? Or if we just used our autos on the birthday of Henry Ford?



Anniversaries, he said, are celebrated with tremendous praise and big things that should be in our everyday life.

Mrs. Adam Sands of St. Giles' Presbyterian Church was guest soloist at the evening service.

TRAIN WRECK AT BALTIMORE — The engine and first nine cars of a New York to Washington passenger train lie derailed and askew after its engine struck a steel beam protruding from a derailed car of a freight train. Pennsylvania railroad spokesmen said no one was seriously hurt, but that about 15 persons suffered minor injuries.

Say Hungary Selling Art Masterpieces

VIENNA (AP) — Diplomatic sources here said today that Communist Hungary is attempting to sell in the West masterpieces from Budapest's National Art Gallery.

The gallery included paintings by Raphael, Tintoreto, Murillo and others collected by the Austro-Hungarian emperors and princes. The informants said some of the paintings are being shipped to the United States as "diplomatic luggage" in the hope of interesting American art collectors.

The diplomatic sources said many of the pictures had been removed from the gallery because they "offended the taste" of the Communist government and were replaced by works by "progressive artists."

Security Council Outvotes Soviet On Trieste Issue

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) The United Nations Security Council voted Tuesday night over Soviet opposition to hold off debate on the Trieste issue, and cleared its decks for an exhaustive inquiry into the explosive Palestine situation.

The council faces its next Palestine debate Thursday when it takes up Syria's complaint that Israel is endangering Middle East peace by diverting the waters of the historic river Jordan.

During two wrangling sessions Tuesday the council pushed through a United States call for a full-dress inquiry into the alleged border incidents between Israel and her Arab neighbors, including the recent Israeli attack on the Jordan village of Kibya in which Jordan claims 66 persons were killed and the village flattened.

Gen. Vagn Bennike, chief of staff of the truce supervision organization in Palestine, has been summoned to report on the general Palestine situation. He left Jerusalem by plane Tuesday night and is expected to arrive here later this week.

FURTHER COMPLICATED

The tense Middle East issue was further complicated Tuesday night when Israel fired off a counter-complaint, demanding that the council take up a charge that the Arab states violated the 1949 armistice agreements, engaged in illegal blockade measures and refused to negotiate a peace.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli radio reported a fresh incident Tuesday night, claiming troops of Jordan's Arab legion fired across the border at a group of Jewish railway workers near the city. No casualties were reported.

At the close of its meeting Tuesday night, the council overrode Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky's demands for immediate action to internationalize Trieste. It decided to postpone the issue until Nov. 2, to give the Big Three time to try to settle Trieste's future through diplomatic moves.

Had Enough Of Red Life Prisoner Says

SEOUL (AP)—An American war prisoner who quit the Communists and was returned to the United Nations command today told a press conference: "I had enough of their life."

Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, 25, of Big Stone Gap, Va., refused to answer almost every controversial question about why he first elected to stay with the Reds.

"I did not want to stay with the Communists any more," he said when asked why he had changed his mind.

OTHERS MAY CHANGE

Dickenson was among 23 American war prisoners who originally refused repatriation. The others are being held by Indian troops in the Panmunjom neutral zone pending a final decision on their fate.

Dickenson told reporters after he was returned to the Allies that it is "more than likely" that some of the other Americans will change their minds.

However, he refused to tell dozens of correspondents at an evacuation hospital here anything about his former comrades.

Dickenson was asked if force was used to convert him to communism or to keep him from returning home.

"I don't think I should answer that," he replied.

Cobourg Council Handles Routine Business

business occupied a brief council meeting Tuesday night. The Sidbrook Development Company notified council that they were waiting for the municipality to formally take over the sewer system constructed in that housing subdivision. Pending return of the town engineer from his holidays, action on the request from the Sidbrook housing development was postponed.

A letter from the Municipal Board in regard to the Benedict subdivision, asked for information as to how many houses were there at the present time, houses to be erected and other information. However, the town clerk pointed out that until the Court of Revision had sat to consider any appeals against the assesment and until the P.U.C. had been consulted as to water services, nothing could be done and the matter was laid over for future action.

Dr. A. R. Richards wrote the council to seek re-imbursement for building the "ramp" on Rankin Boulevard. Councillor Otto Curtis felt that the subdivider was responsible under an agreement but Mayor Jack Burnet said that this was prior to the passing of the bylaw. This matter was also tabled pending the accumulation of more information on it.

Councillor Curtis asked if any information had been collected by the town engineer in regard to paving of certain streets but in view of the engineer being away it was left until his return Councillor Louis Caine asked if all the people had been considered on that street when the sanitary sewer was laid on Tremaine Street.

TWO NOT INCLUDED

Mayor Burnet admitted that there were two residents who had not been made participants in the sewage plan but there was no reason why they should not be and the necessary steps would be taken in due course, he said. Councillor Caine declared that the drainage was none too good on Cottesmore Avenue. On motion it was referred to the board of works.

Councillor Charles Johnston told the council that he had made a survey of the street lighting system in Cobourg in co-operation with the P.U.C. and there was no doubt that it would be a big task to make the necessary changes. He thought that 36 lights could be changed this year, only a small portion of the job and the rest of it done next year. The street lighting was hampered by tree foliage and it was felt that lowering the lights or trimming the trees higher might help. On motion it was left to the fire, water, and light committee to take whatever steps necessary.

Finance Chairman Otto Curtis wondered if the various committees were running over their estimates. The town clerk, Jack Ewart, replied that all the committees were at the line which divides the blue from the red side of the ledger. He hinted care would have to be exercised to stay out of the red.

Parking Meter Receipts Increase With Each Year

Since parking meters were first installed in Peterborough, motorists have dropped $216,245.54 worth of coins into them, $187,176.22 into street meters and $29,069.32 into meters on the city parking lot in the old market square.

The first meters were placed on city streets on May 12, 1947. Those on the parking lot began operating on July 21, 1951.

Meanwhile, revenues from the meters are increasing year by year, it was revealed in the monthly report to city council of City Clerk E. A. Outram.

Receipts for the year ending September, 1953, were $26,196.78; 1952—$23,318.47; 1951—$22,975.03; 1950—$21,199.32.

Street meter receipts for September, 1953, were $2,848.53; 1952 — $2,525.94; 1951 — $2,626.88; 1950—$2,838.68 and for city square meters in September, 1953, they were $1,362.98 and for the same month in 1952 they were $827.53.

An error in the previously reported receipts from city square meters in August of this year was noted. They were $1,375.79 and not $1,016.50 as shown in the report.

TOTAL RECEIPTS

Total receipts at the city clerk's office during September were $7,620.13 and included $410.20 from licences; $1,918.11 from police court; $95.81 rest room money; $2,848.53 from street parking meters; $1,362.98 from city square meters; $652 from parking tickets; $135 from marriage licences, $59.50 from bicycle licences and $138 from dog tags.

Compared with the $652 from parking tickets collected last month, $368 was collected in September, 1952, $411 in 1951 and $348 in 1950. At the city parking lot, 375 parking violation cards and 30 courtesy tickets to visitors were issued.

Total fines and fees collected in police court amounted to $2,197.23, of which the city received $710.47, the provincial treasurer $473.64, the justice of the peace $268 and witnesses $11.22.

352 CASES

There were 352 cases disposed of, of which 289 resulted in convictions and 63 were withdrawn. Of the convictions, 211 were under the Highway Traffic Act, 22 under the Liquor Control Act, 23 under the traffic bylaw, 15 under the Criminal Code, 11 for illegal parking in the city parking lot, four for drunk driving, one for impaired driving, one under the Railway Act and one of being mentally ill.

Vital statistics showed the birth rate this year about the same as last. The death rate was higher in September of this year than for the same month in 1952 but the total for the year was down.

There were 144 births last month and 143 during September, 1952. To the end of September, 1953, the total number of births for the year was 1,385 and for the same period last year it was 1,381. There were 46 deaths last month and 36 during September, 1952. There were 380 deaths to the end of September this year and 389 during the same period last year.

Of the 144 births recorded, 87 were to city residents and seven were to unmarried parents. Of the 46 deaths registered, 25 were to city residents.

Should Sell Confidence In Product

A saleman isn't selling a product —he's selling a state of mind, Raoul Daigneault of Montreal told the Sales and Advertising Club, Tuesday night at its annual "retail night."

The salesman's purpose is to create a state of mind for a customer so that the customer will be happy with the product. To create that happiness, the salesman must know his product to prove to the customer what a good buy this product is.

Mr. Daigneault, director of French publicity and special marketing investigator with Cockfield, Brown and Company of Montreal, illustrated his talk with habitant anecdotes and lessons in talking without words.

But besides offering good advice ot the retail salesman, Mr. Daigneault took a not-too-gentle swipe at the salesman and their bosses.

"Today customers are doing more than their share in buying something they want," he declared. The salesman too often was not doing enough. He didn't know his product well, he failed to prove to the customer that the price was a good one, and his appearance in many cases was against him.

"This situation is embarrassing because of a sort of misrepresentation," said the speaker. In a store's advertising, the potential customer sees something he wants but the salesman isn't interested enough in the customer or the sale, or the producet, to complete the transaction.

On the other hand, good salesmen have rendered the world magnificent service. They not only provide a customer with something he wants, they ensure his happiness with the product.

For a salesman, the first and most important place for a salesmanship was in the home. "You must sell yourself to your family, your wife and children; then sell yourself to the community," he advised his audience.

Mr. Daigneault was introduced by Donald Loucks and thanked, bilingually by Bill Nash. Chairman for the meeting was club president John Madden.

Bill Hamilton, executive director of the Advertising and Sales Club Federation, spoke briefly on a national campaign planned by salesmanship and advertising, and the contribution both make to reducing the price of goods. Andy Rutter detailed plans for the club's "manufacturer's night," when members will tour the Quaker Oats plant.

St. Andrew's Holds Anniversary Service

LAKEFIELD (ENS) — Anniversary services at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church were well attended.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd, BA of St. Paul's, Peterborough, preached in the morning from Mark 2:3 "A certain man came to Jesus borne of four. They were intent on one purpose, of bringing a man to Jesus and nothing turned them back."

Baptism, teaching, preaching and the sacrament of the Lord's Supper are the four bearers which have brought us to be Christians. The Christian church is built around these things."

In the evening the Rev. Gilbert D. Smith of St. Giles' spoke from Mark 10-17. "This young man was facing a great crisis but was not prepared to pay the price. Many people today are in the same situation. They are searching for satisfaction in material things and social position.

Our only hope of eternal life is not what we have but what God has done for us."

Special music at these services consisted of two anthems by the choir with Mrs. H. Trude at the piano, solos by Mrs. Donald Hendren and Miss Jean Clark, and a trio composed of Mrs. Hendren, Mrs. H. Kaye and Mrs. T. Chaplin.

Votes To Hire Janitor's Helper

HAVELOCK (ENS)—A special meeting of the Norwood District High School Board was held Monday, for the purpose of considering an application from the caretaker of the school, James Dallman, for an increase in his salary from $3,000 to $3,600 a year and also that he be given an assistant caretaker for all the year.

Mr. Dallman was present and submitted a list of the duties which he was performing and an estimate of the time taken by him and spare work of four others.

It was decided thaat $3,400 be paid Mr. Dallman per year effective January 1, 1954, and he is to provide and pay for all part time help and in the event of any change by the Board, or Mr. Dallman, a 30 days' notice to be given. The property committee will draw up the contract with Mr. Dallman.

It was also decided to advertise for a full time assistant caretaker, applicants to consult Mr. Dallman as to duties, hours, etc., the duties to commence January 1, 1954.

Mr. Hamblin reported that considerable trouble is being experienced with the ventilation system in the auditorium. Also the stoker and the drier in the home economics room are not working properly. Mr. Hamblin said it seemed to be difficult to get the firms to put their respective installations in good working condition.

Mr. Hamblin said there were no safety valves in the science room and suggested that two be installed as a safety measure and also a stop water tap as a convenience.

Mr. Buck, reporting for the property committee, said that top soil could be obtained at $1 a yard and fertilizer at $5 a truck load for the Pearce lot now a part of the site. He said some covering should be put over low spots in the disposal bed. These defects and additions were left to the property committee.

Principal J. H. Caskey presented a letter and circular from L. S. Beattie, superintendent of secondary education regarding the organizing of night classes in shop, commercial, and home economics departments, and also the amount of grants that would be paid by the department.

It was decided that the management committee advertise giving details and number of students required to start classes which it is hoped will start November 1.

In the evening service the Rev. T. E. Kennedy of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was also present and assisted in the prayer service. Mr. Kewley's evening sermon was entitled "It's All Yours." The choir sang two anthems and a solo was sung by Miss Eleanor Calder.

London Charges Red Plan To Burn Guiana Property

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — British Guiana generally expressed surprise today over official British charges that the colony's ousted leftist government plotted to burn business property and homes of government officials and white men.

But officials of the People's Progressive Party, which controlled the government before Britain revoked the colony's constitution Oct. 9 and fired six cabinet officials, took the line that the accusations were an imperialist - inspired concoction brewed by the London government and its representatives in the colony.

The charges were made in a white paper issued in London Tuesday. The London government said its information came "from reliable sources" who were not named.

TROOPS SENT

The white paper said British troops sent to Georgetown foiled plans to turn the colony into a totalitarian state. It isted 11 charges against ousted Prime Minister Cheddi Jagan and his regime, ranging from the fire plot to plans to rewrite the colony's school textbooks with a political bias.

In Frankfurt, Germany, en route to London, Jagan today labelled the white paper charges "pure nonsense." Asserting the PPP had no links with the Russians, he declared "our chief aim is just to improve the very low and miserable living conditions of our people."

Jagan said he is en route to the British capital to see Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton "to find out the exact cause" of his ouster and the suspension of the constitution.

The white paper asserted the fire plot was to be put into effect if the colony's constitution were revoked, its left-wing ministers arrested or if Jagan's cabinet were challenged by Britain's governor, Sir Alfred Savage.

Visitors Instal Kin Executive

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)— Officers of the Kinsmen and Kinette Clubs of Campbellford were installed at a special dinner meeting Monday night. Present for the installation were a trio of Kinsmen from Kingston headed by past District Governor Harold Anglin, who spoke briefly.

Officers were installed by Jack Abernethy of the "limestone city" club. Kinette senior officers are: President, Frances Hall, treasurer, June Bull; secretary, Jean Tinney. The new secretary of the Kinsmen Club, Bill Taylor, was also installed, as were the other Kinsmen officers, who have held their posts for some time.

A vote of thanks from the local clubs to the Kingston delegation was moved by Kinsman Bill Taylor.

The past District Governor, Harold Anglin, clarified the age question by explaining it is no longer possible for a Kinsman over 40 years of age to hold office, although such persons may retain their club membership.

Kinsmen president Ray Hall conducted the meeting.

Democracy Cannot Be Enforced

Speaking to the Canadian Club of Toronto, Mr. Grattan O'Leary, editor of the Ottawa Journal, said that he would be glad to see Canada deny passports to people who did not vote. We do not know how accurately Mr. O'Leary has been reported, or how fully, but we should be unhappy to think that he really meant this.

* * *

If people are so silly, and so heedless of their rights and obligations, that they do not vote, we fail to see what good purpose can be achieved by making them vote. They would certainly take all their silliness and heedlessness into the voting-booth with them, and their votes would reflect the foolishness of their opinions. If they lack the wit to vote without pressure, why should we be bound by decisions which they help to make under pressure?

* * *

Democracy is not a system, but rather a climate of opinion. It does not thrive on force and regulations, but on freedom, and that freedom includes the right to be shiftless and stupid. Manhood suffrage is still an experiment, and it is possible that we shall find that it is an unsuccessful experiment. We hope that this will not be so, but we cannot exclude that possibility. All that we can say is that our present voting system, imperfect and vexatious though it may be in several respects, has provided Canada, since Confederation, with a succession of governments in all of which we can take some pride. At their worst, they have been dull and honest; at their best, they have been first-rate.

* * *

Forcing people to vote is undemocratic. It is a way of saying, "You're a free man, damn you, and you'll behave like a free man or else we'll lessen your freedom." People cannot be compelled to behave like free men, and we must get used to the idea that in our democratic society there are some fools, some knaves, and quite a number of people who have the mentality of slaves. What is the good of forcing them to vote? Better education, which Mr. O'Leary also praised with his accustomed eloquence, is the only instrument for their salvation.

Getting Warmer?

There have been late October days as warm and fine as this in other years but these last three weeks of almost uninterrupted gentle weather, taken together, seem exceptional. Is Canada getting warmer? Last winter, you remember, was one of the mildest in memory. An Englishman who came to this country six years ago said to us this morning: "My first winter in Peterborough was what I had expected; cold, crisp, lots of snow. But there has been nothing like it since." Will he proudly be able to tell his grandchildren, sloshing about in habitual January rains and picking roses in March, that he remembers Canada when we had real winter snow and zero weather?

The question is not merely regional or national. There are indications of warmer climate all over the continent, as if the torrid zone were being pushed north and the Arctic ice-cap were destined to melt. Tropical fish have been found in Boston and as far north as Maine. The great sardine fisheries of Portugal are being invaded by warmer-water fish, and sardines are now most plentiful off Norway and Nova Scotia and other northern coasts. Shrubs which formerly could not survive a southern Ontario winter are now flourishing. Last week a turkey vulture was caught in Peterborough—either a turkey vulture or a black vulture, its identification has not yet been certified. Neither bird is normally found in this area; their habitat is farther south, or southwest in warmer areas.

Despite enthusiasms for winter sports and children's delight in snow, there is a rosy-eyed hope among people who live in north temperate or intemperate zones that perhaps there is something in all this talk and these signs of a warmer climate. (One of the commonest phrases heard on the street today is: "Wonderful weather . . . Wish it would last until Christmas.") To cater to these hopes, enterprising publishers and scribblers are already busy turning out articles and books on the "revolution" in our weather, the "Creeping Attack of the Tropics" and so on.

We regret to inform our readers that, despite the signs and the capital being made in print from them, there is not one word of proven scientific truth in the assumption that this northern hemisphere is getting permanently warmer. True, the average temperature in some parts has risen a degree or two in the last few years, but this may be only part of a short cycle. We may be back to hard, long, grim winters even within two months, or two years. However, we might as well grin and bear the wonderful days while we have them, hope for the continuance of the best, and wallow in the torrid stories while we stick our feet in the oven next month.

Suppose Crime Did Pay?

We are growing weary of the catch-phrase "Crime does not pay." Is that the worst we can say of crime? Suppose crime did pay? Would that make crime less criminal? What is wrong about crime is not that it does not pay—there is plenty of evidence that if often does pay, very handsomely—but that crime is against morality and against the law.

Only the cheapest kind of thinking is content with the notion that a thing is bad if it does not pay. We are sick of hearing important matters discussed in terms of whether they pay or not. We have seen an adjuration to business men to practise the Golden Rule "because it always pays"! We have even heard Christianity praised because it pays! This sort of thinking is contemptible.

Of course, many people who talk in this way do not mean precisely what they say. They would not dream of regarding Christianity—or Judaism, for that matter—simply as a profit-making scheme, or a code of business ethics. But they talk as they do because they do not think of what they are saying.

It is important that we should always think what we are saying. It is important that we should condemn crime because it is contrary to public and private morality, whether it pays or not. To say that "Crime does not pay" is to offer a challenge to daring people who always think that they can make something pay through their superior cleverness. Let us confine ourselves to saying that crime is wrong, for that is what we really mean.

The I.Q. Nonsense

From Miami, Florida, comes the startling news, issued by a gathering of psychologists, that the Intelligence Quotient tests so often applied to schoolchildren are "tremendously unreliable." So unreliable, in fact, that a child can vary as much as 35 marks out of 100 when given an I.Q. test two days running. The psychologists also reveal to us that the age at which a child begins to walk or talk does not mean much.

If the psychologists expect us to swoon at these tidings, they will be disappointed. We knew all that they have told us long ago. Even when a child we were well aware that nothing ever goes quite according to plan—at least, not with human beings. Nor were we impressed by I.Q. tests, of which we had direct experience. We always did poorly at them, being ranked as "Normal-Dull" or something of the sort; consequently, we never thought that they were much good.

We were always frightened by I.Q. tests. The teacher who was applying them invariably assumed a falsely cheerful, yet furtive, air, like a doctor who is going to give you a worm-powder in a spoonful of sugar. The teachers were so delighted with their own cleverness, and so happy to be playing psychologist, that most of the children were suspicious, alarmed and unnerved by their antics, and did badly in the tests.

We recall one boy, however, who made a brilliant mark on his I.Q. test. The teacher was supposed to keep such information to herself, but she could not hold in the fact that there was a boy in our class whose I.Q. clearly marked him as a genius. We all knew who he was; he was a clever, but insufferable person. That was 28 years ago and the genius is now an accountant at a woodyard. His genius apparently was not strong enough to overcome his objectionable personality.

There is an old saying, which psychologists do not seem to have heard. It is: "Fools should never be shown anything until it is finished." What is the use of measuring the intelligence of children, all of whom are growing, and none of whom are growing at precisely the same rate? A good teacher knows which child is stupid, which is lazy, which is ahead of the others, which is just going through one of those lulls in growth to which most children are subject. I.Q. tests are unlikely to reveal anything which a capable teacher does not know already. The time to judge the intelligence of men and women is when they have reached maturity. And then no I.Q. test is needed. Life applies the tests, and life never makes public all the answers.

Verne Created Science Fiction

By ALBERT MOUSSET

THERE is hardly a writer whose works have won a wider popularity than those of Jules Verne— they have been translated into almost all languages— nor a more lasting popularity, for, a century after Jules Verne's death, they still hold a more than honourable place both in bookshops and on the stage. But their most remarkable merit is that they familiarized the previous generation with the inventions that were to be realized by our own.

With an exceptional gift of foresight aided by great care in documentation, he anticipated discoveries which his contemporaries never knew, or which are even, for our own generation, but dreams for the future, such as interplanetary voyages or the exploration of the centre of the earth. "The most improbable things occur to my mind," he used to say, "and yet perhaps they are not so improbable. What one man is capable of imagining, another is capable of realizing."

✧ ✧ ✧

JULES VERNE had three passions: the sea, music and freedom. They explain that longing for space that is reflected in all his works. He began as a playwright under the patronage of Alexander Dumas; but his true vocation seems to have been awakened by his reading an article by Edgar Allan Poe in the "Musee des Familles", which gave him a taste for fantastic adventures and obsession with the unknowable and the infinite possibilities of the future. He reproached Poe with transgressing to no purpose the laws of physics and mechanics. So he vowed he would pass his own speculations through the filter of science.

It was an age which saw the beginnings of the great discoveries that were to revolutionize the world. Experiments in aerostatics housed a wild enthusiasm. Jules Verne assumed the inventors to be in possession of the engine without which their discovery would find no practical application. His first novel, "Five Weeks in a Balloon," is a voyage through the cosmos as seen by a man of the nineteenth century. It was a tremendous success. A Parisian publisher acquired exclusive rights for the publication of his works for twenty years at a rate of two books a year. An unknown genius had created the scientific novel.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM THAT TIME ON, Jules Verne was obsessed with the idea of unfathomable depths, the depths of the sea, the air and the inmost earth. His "Voyage to the Centre of the Earth" explores pale internal seas peopled with antediluvian species and petrified vegetation lighted by a diffused phosphorescence. He completely won over the general public, from the smallest children, fascinated with the marvels he described, to men of letters who found in him the natural poetry that creates its own symbolism.

This approbation of the lettered public was confirmed by the "Journal des Debats," which published in serial form the "Voyage from the Earth to the Moon." The fundamental ideas of this fiction had so scientific a tone that they were attributed to Humboldt or Herschell. And the enthusiasm they aroused was so great that the newspaper was flooded with letters. There were many offers for an expedition to the moon with the novelist. "Parisians are truly intrepid," the author wrote to his brother. "Some of them want, willy-nilly, to embark on my projectile!"

✧ ✧ ✧

JULES VERNE thought that, in the boom of industrial progress, young America must contain secrets that escaped the old world. So he went to New York, crossed the Canadian frontier and visited the Niagara Falls. During the crossing he questioned the men of the crew, who, two years before, had taken part in the laying of the first transoceanic cable. From this transatlantic trip he drew another novel, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." The sea, in this work, comes to life with its anger, its tenderness and its mysteries. The author identifies himself with its hero, Captain Nemo, the seaman who plays the organ in his cabin and who, with the mentality of a man of 1848, bears treasure to the peoples who are struggling for their independence.

One day Jules Verne happened on a tourist agency pamphlet which revealed to him that with the new engines of locomotion, a voyage around the earth was but a three months' trip. This was the origin of "Round the World in Eighty Days," which is regarded as his masterpiece. The novel appeared in serial form in the "Times." It made his fortune over-night. The sales of the paper boomed. The shipping companies begged the author, with the promise of a sensational bonus, to bring his hero back under their flag. And it will be a long time before the average Frenchman has any other picture of Russia than that of which he has retained from "Michel Strogoff."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE fame of Jules Verne knew no bounds and yet Fate dealt him a cruel blow. A madman shot him in the foot with a revolver. Confined to bed for many months, he gave up both travelling and his life in Paris and settled in Amiens, where he ended his days in the modest role of a town councillor. He had "cast anchor"; but he kept on writing, and his last works, like the first ones, are those of a visionary: he predicted the seaplane, television and the future of the cinematograph. "He would be unjust," said Maurice Donnay "who, in a literary history of our time, did not give pride of place to this sort of scientific prophet."

And what illustrious evidence has proved this judgement correct! Jean Charcot tells us that the bookshelves of "Pourqoi Pas" contained all the works of the famous novelist. The inventor, E. Belin, admits that the enlightening enthusiasm of Jules Verne, his cosmic outlook and his sense of an interplanetary life turned his studies towards the problem of television. The aviator Byrd, flying towards the Pole, said: "It is Jules Verne who is leading me on". And Charles Richet: "The great idealist novelist gave the lead both in the direction of aerostatics as well as of planes heavier than air." One day Lyautey had hot words with a bureaucrat who, opposing certain innovations, said: "All that, General, is Jules Verne stuff." Lyautey replied, "But, my friend, for twenty years now progressive peoples have only been following Jules Verne!"

An American Opinion: "Thanks for Making It So Easy to Commit Suicide!"

A Great Horse For The U.S.

By JOHN HISLOP

ROYAL CHARGER, sold recently by the Irish National Stud for a high price, is probably the best purchase American breeders have made since Nasrullah. Conversely the Irish Government appears to have made a financial blunder in selling him, a proved success, and acquiring Tulyar, an unknown quantity, as a sire.

A chestnut horse by Nearco out of Sun Princess, by Solario, Royal Charger is a magnificent individual, well made and strong, but showing fine quality as well. He comes from the same female line as Nasrullah and Mahmoud, who are well known in America, and as Fair Trial, an outstanding sire in Britain. Other good horses from the same family are Migoli, one of the best middle-distance horses in Europe of his day, and Tudor Minstrel, a brilliant race horse in distances up to a mile.

In training, Royal Charger did not mature early, twice running second in five attempts as a two-year-old, and he did not show his true merit until he was three years old. Although game and tough he was lazy, and he always ran in blinkers. As a three-year-old he won the Challenge Stakes (six furlongs), and an unimportant race of a mile. He also finished third in the 2,000 Guineas (a classic race of a mile) and was second in two other good-class mile races.

At four years he won the Queen Anne Stakes, a top-class seven-furlong race at Ascott and the Ayr Gold Cup, a top-class, six-furlong handicap he walked over for another race, was three times second in top-class handicaps, on each occasion being beaten by a head or a short head, and giving a great deal of weight away; was beaten by a head in the Challenge Stakes, and two short heads in the King's Stand Stakes, a top-class five-furlong race at Ascot. He then retired to stud. Although he had a considerable amount of stamina in his pedigree, Royal Charger was a sprinter; his best distance being six furlongs.

As a sire he has proved even more successful than as a racehorse, getting such fine animals as Royal Serenade (now in U.S.A.), Happy Laughter, the best three-year-old filly of 1953 and winner of the 1,000 Guineas (one mile), a classic, and Sea Charger, winner of the Irish 2,000 Guineas (one mile) and Irish St. Leger (one mile and six furlongs).

Unlike himself, the majority of Royal Chargers' progeny come to hand early and win as two-year-olds, and many of them stay much better than their sire.

✧ ✧ ✧

ONE important aspect of Royal Charger as a sire is that he has got his best racehorses from "rough-bred" as opposed to "class bred" mares. This has been emphasised by the fact that although for six years the Irish Government selected ten of the best-class mares available, and mated them with Royal Charger, of these sixty matings only about three or four winners resulted. All the good racehorses sired by Royal Charger were out of mares by unfashionable sires such as Coup de Lyon (maternal grandsire of Happy Laughter), Pasch (maternal grandsire of Royal Serenade) and Walvis Bay (maternal grandsire of Sea Charger).

This aspect will not affect breeders in America so much as it did those in Britain or Ireland, because most of the mares mated with him will be of American blood, and thus represent an outcross; but breeders having highclass imported English mares might not get such good results from mating them with Royal Charger as might be hoped for. And although one cannot make hard and fast rules in bloodstock breeding, I would suggest that American breeders using Royal Charger should send to him their toughest, least fashionably bred mares, whether they be American or imported, rather than those of the best quality and pedigree.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now Peter and John went up together into the temple at the hour of prayer, being the ninth hour. And a certain man lame from his mother's womb was carried, whom they laid daily at the gate of the temple which is called Beautiful, to ask alms of them that entered into the temple; who seeing Peter and John about to go into the temple asked an alms . . .

Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. And he took him by the right hand, and lifted him up: and immediately his feet and ankle bones received strength. And he leaping up stood, and walked, and entered with them into the temple, walking, and leaping, and praising God . . .

And as the lame man which was healed held Peter and John, all the people ran together unto them in the porch that is called Solomon's, greatly wondering. And when Peter saw it, he answered unto the people, Ye men of Israel, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye so earnestly on us, as though by our own power or holiness we had made this man to walk? The God of Abraham, and of Isaac, and of Jacob, the God of our fathers, hath glorified his Son Jesus; whom ye delivered up, and denied him in the presence of Pilate, when he was determined to let him go. But ye denied the Holy One and the Just, and desired a murderer to be granted unto you; and killed the Prince of life, whom God hath raised from the dead; whereof we are witnesses. And his name through faith in his name hath made this man strong, whom ye see and know: yea, the faith which is by him hath given him this perfect soundness in the presence of you all. (Acts 3:1-3,6-8, 11-16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray . . . . For thou are not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness: neither shall evil dwell with thee. (Ps. 5: 2, 4.)

Witness Judgement

(From a Letter in the Montreal Gazette)

All other Protestant denominations in the Province of Quebec owe the Witnesses of Johovah an everlasting debt of gratitude for the persistent, costly and courageous fight through the courts of this province right up to the Supreme Court of the Dominion to establish the supreme right of distributing religious pamphlets and a civic by-law is not valid that would interfere with these rights.

The judgement will also have a heartening effect on the Baptists of Northern Quebec who are now languishing in a prison at Val d'Or for exercising their rights of religious freedom. Likewise those Christians who suffered mob violence at Shawinigan Falls and Langueuil while quietly holding a meeting inside their place of assembly.

It can be understood by all who can read this far-reaching judgement of the Canadian Supreme Court that there is now no religious "iron curtain" in the Province of Quebec.

To Jehovah Witnesses should go the credit for obtaining this final judicial, liberating and history making pronouncement. Protestants of other beliefs can now "thank God and take courage."

The Province of Quebec had its own way in abolishing appeals to the Privy Council and this is the first decision of major nation-wide importance and significance rendered by the Supreme Court of Canada.

Much Time Lost

(Vancouver News-Herald)

Flight time from Vancouver to Victoria is somewhere around 20 minutes. But it takes between half and three-quarters of an hour to get from downtown Vancouver to the airport and about the same length of time from the airport at the other end to downtown Victoria.

Between Montreal and Ottawa, the flight time is about 35 minutes. Yet it takes longer than that to get from the centre of Montreal to the airport and also from Ottawa's airport to the city.

There are other situations like this in Canada and many in the United States where more time is taken in getting to and from the airports than in making the air trip.

The possibility of cutting down the disproportionate time spent on the ground on short flights present a challenge to those whose business it is to see that air travel is efficient.

A Belgian airline has taken the first step in this direction. Flying between Brussels, Amsterdam and other cities within its short-hop schedules will soon be the most up-to-date helicopter for civilian service. Between the airlines people and our town planners some way should be devised to provide modern form of transportation. If European cities can do it, it should be possible to do it here.

Canadian Navy Takes Over Radio Station

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Navy has taken over from the United States Air Force operation of the Arctic radio station on Padloping island, the defence department said Tuesday. The island lies off the east coast of Baffin island, across Davis strait from Greenland.

The station carries out meteorological observations and pro .des radio navigational aids for aircraft flying the northern route between North America and Europe as well as those operating in Canada's far north. The transfer took place several days ago.

The station was established by the USAF, with approval of the Canadian government, during the Second World War under the code name Crystal III. The station will be taken over later by the federal transport department.

TWO DIE IN FIERY CRASH—Policemen watch the personal belongings of passengers who were aboard the four-motored Eastern Airlines Constellation that crashed and burned shortly after taking off from New York's International Airport. Two persons died in the crash and 23 miraculously were saved. The pilot of the Puerto Rico bound plane said he noticed an engine was afire as the plane became airborne. He cut off the fuel and the crash followed. At least 18 of the survivors were injured and many of them are in serious condition.

Testifies On Money Arrangements In Connection With Distillery

NEW YORK (AP)—Marco Leon, a former partner in a Canadian distillery operation, testified Tuesday regarding financial arrangements in connection with turning over operation of the distillery to a American bootlegging group, one of whose partners, James Rutkin, seeks to recover $22,500,000 in a civil suit in federal court.

Rutkin contends he was defrauded of that amount by Joseph H. Reinfeld, one of his former bootlegging partners; three other individuals and two liquor firms, as a result of various dealings.

Rutkin, 54, now is serving a four-year term for income tax evasion.

Leon said that when arrangements were made in 1931 for the sale of the L. L. and B. distillery in Chatham, Ont., Reinfeld and his associates agreed to put up $1,000,000 and take over the distillery's liabilities. Leon said that the Reinfeld group agreed at that time to give him and his two partners in the distillery 10-per-cent interest in the new distillery operations, plus a payment of $250,000 from future profits.

In the trial before Judge Thomas F. Murphy and a jury, Leon testified that Reinfield had agreed to share because Leon quoted Reingive his group only a 10-per-cent feld as saying that he (Reinfeld) and Rutkin were partners and, besides, "he (Reinfeld) had to take care of the other partners."

NO WRITTEN AGREEMENT

Leon said that when a suggestion was made to see a lawyer and put the proposed agreement in writing, Reinfeld was reported to have said: "If you don't take my word for it, then forget about it." Rutkin's lawyer, Maurice Edelbaum, indicated later that no written agreement was ever made.

Earlier, Edelbaum read into the record the transcript of the pretrial examination of Harry Low, of Tilbury, Ont., another partner in the L. L. and B. distillery. The testimony concerned financial arrangements made in and about the year 1928 in connection with the opening of the distillery.

Testimony by Leon brought out that shortly after he obtained the licence to operate the distillery on Sept. 17, 1931, alleged secret manipulations between Samuel and Allen Bronfman, also named as defendants in the suit, and Reinfeld, led to the sale Dec. 15, 1931, of the distillery to the Bronfman brothers through a foreclosure of a mortgage.

UNDER IMPRESSION

Leon testified that he was under the impression that when the licence was obtained, the distillery would be operated by the Reinfeld group. He said the alleged secret negotiations were unknown to him until the day before the sale.

Leon also testified that Charles Burns, another partner in the L. L. and B. distillery, was paid $24,500, through him (Leon) in settlement of the suit brought in Montreal in 1933 against the Bronfman brothers as a result of sale of the distillery.

Frontenac Jail Staff To Get Increase

KINGSTON (CP)—Members of the Frontenac county jail staff will soon have a salary increase if members of the county council act favorably on r e c o mmendations made to it Tuesday.

W. M. Nickle, Progressive Conservative member for Kingston in the Ontario legislature, said that efficiency and discipline could only be maintained if the salaries of the jail staff were commensurate with abilities desired.

Sheriff C. H. Wood said he felt there should be a wage boost of from $200 to $300 a year.

Bennett Plans By-Election On November 24

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced Tuesday a by-election will be held in Victoria Nov. 24 to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Percy Wright, Social Credit member.

Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, defeated in the June provincial election, will be the Social Credit candidate. Both the Progressive Conservatives and the Liberals are expected to contest the seat. The CCF may also.

Mr. Wright, a surprise victor in Victoria, traditionally Liberal seat, is out of two jobs now.

He was assistant city clerk when he entered the election campaign, but on his election to the house he was refused a leave of absence. A municipal law prohibits such leave for political purposes.

When the legislature opened five weeks ago, he left his city hall job, and Monday, on returning to his desk, found he was automatically fired.

Monday night he announced his resignation from the legislature.

Garage Blast Injures 2 Men

MONTREAL (CP) — Two men are in serious condition in hospital from burns suffered when trapped in a garage that exploded and burst into flames Tuesday.

Cpl. G. J. St. Amant, 44, of the RCAF, was blown from the building by the explosion which blew out most of a 10-inch wall. Also seriously hurt was Marcel Lacasse 21, an employee of the garage. Three other persons were released after treatment.

Damage was estimated at $65,000. Cause of the explosion was not known.

Decides Accused Was Drinking, Sent To Jail

A night-long ride in July that ended in a ditch north of Apsley came close to its conclusion Tuesday when Magistrate R. I. Moore sentenced Bernard Collins, 23, of Toronto, to seven days in jail for drunk driving.

Defence counsel John Corkery said after the conviction was registered that he would appeal it.

Collins, an army veteran of the Korean war, was injured July 28 when the car he was driving left Highway 28 about two miles south of the Haliburton county border.

It careened 127 feet along the six-foot shoulder, and an additional 118 feet to the tree after dropping into a four-foot ditch. The car, a 1952 sedan, was almost a total loss. Damage was estimated at more than $1,500.

The three passengers in the car—Shirley Ray and Shirley Robinson of Bancroft and Paul McLeod of Toronto—said they did not see Collins take any liquor during the ride.

WRONG TURN

The ride started at a lodge on Paudash Lake. From there the quartet went to Bancroft, then to Maynooth, and "a wrong turn" at Maynooth took them to Combermere. They turned around at Combermere and six miles southwest of Bancroft at Bow Lake, the car went off the wrong side of the road and stuck in the soft shoulder.

A farmer used his truck to pull them out. At this time, witnesses said, it was about 4:30 a.m.

Some slight damage was done to chrome trim on the car and the two men decided to go to Apsley to have repairs made. The girls both testified they wanted to return to their lodge, but the boys assured them they'd be only an hour getting the car fixed.

They never did reach Apsley. A decision was made to take the girls back, and shortly afterward the accident occurred. None of the passengers gave a clear account of it.

Constable Jack McKendry, OPP officer at Apsley, testified he came to the scene before Collins was taken to Bancroft Red Cross Hospital. The accused smelled of alcohol, said the officer.

This evidence was corroborated by former chief constable at Bancroft, Roy Robinson, w h o s e daughter was a passenger in the Collins car.

An empty rum bottle found near the car was placed there by McLeod, McLeod testified. Constable McKendry said two full bottles of rum and two unopened cases of beer were found in the trunk of the car.

At the conclusion of the crown's evidence, Mr. Corkery moved for dismissal, saying there had been no evidence at all that Collins was drinking.

Magistrate Moore said that in view of the empty bottle found near the car—of the same brand as the two full bottles in the trunk—he was entitled to draw the inference that Collins had been drinking. There was as well, he said, the evidence that the accused's breath smelled of alcohol.

Mr. Corkery argued that crown witnesses had testified that the accused had not been drinking, and therefore the magistrate was not entitled to draw such an inference.

Magistrate Moore said he believed he was entitled to draw it, and would.

The farmer who pulled the car from the soft shoulder at Bow Lake, Alex Tinney, testified that Collins wasn't drunk and implied there were no signs he had been drinking. McLeod testified that he had been drinking, but Collins hadn't.

Magistrate Moore commented after McLeod's evidence that "the last witness's evidence certainly settled it."

Collins did not testify. He pleaded not guilty, and is still using crutches as a result of a hip injury suffered in the crash.

Talks Failure In Ship Strike

MONTREAL (CP)—Unsuccessful efforts were made Tuesday to find a basis for settlement of the 20-day strike of crew members of Canada's deep-sea merchant ships.

A negotiating committee, representing owners of the strike-bound ships, met to consider new proposals for settlement of the strike. If accepted by the committee, the proposals would have been presented to officials of the Seafarers I n t e r n ational Union (TLC-AFL) bargaining agent for the striking seamen.

However, said one official, the negotiating committee could not agree to the new proposals.

The strike was called by the SIU Sept. 28 to support demands for a 40-hour week and a $50-a-month increase in pay.

GRANT'S SPORT CORNER

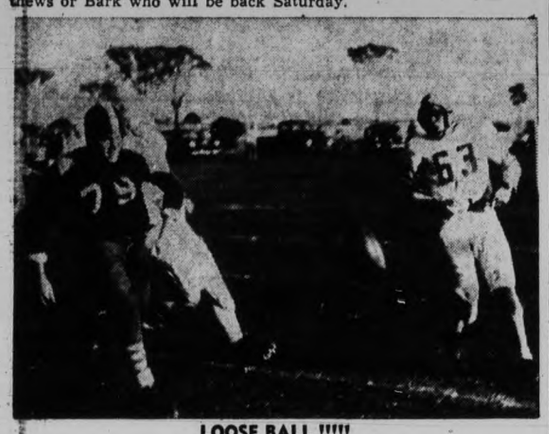
By DON GRANT

One title in, possibly others to come. That in brief is a quick summary of the football scene in Peterborough to date.

Coach Johnny Lynch's senior St. Peter's Saints were too powerful for the St. Michael's College Kerry Blues this season. They walked away with the two-game series, the Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" title and the McKinney trophy.

It's a shame that so powerful a team with so much experience is limited to such a short season.

With such players as quarterback John Hickey, backs Gord Snape, Bob O'Rourke, Dick Foley, and others, all former juniors, the Saints should have entered COSSA play. Although they didn't have the size for senior "A" company, they certainly would have had the experience to see them through to the COSSA senior "B" championship.



While the senior Saints play out several exhibition games, Tony Kotowski's Orfuns are drilling nightly for their return game with Cobourg Galloping Ghosts.

The Orfuns should be working on pass defence. In early games, even the fan with the barest of facts on football, could see this was the club's big weakness.

Ghosts' quarter, Don Hatt, in the last two games with the Orfuns, has passed well. Behind good blocking, Hatt has had time to cleverly deceive the Orfuns, picking the receiver the Orfuns least expected. He could cost the Orfuns the group title.

The Orfuns do not have to worry about the plunging and running. In Bill Huntley and Blair Thomson they have more than a match for anything the Ghosts can muster. Their gains last Saturday were lost to silly offsides and minor roughing penalties.

Even though the Orfuns were without kickers Jack Matthews and Don Bark, the Ghosts didn't edge the Orfuns by much. Ghosts' Jones looked well against the punts of Ron Hodson and Jim Milligan but he is looking the other way when competing with Matthews or Bark who will be back Saturday.

LOOSE BALL !!!!!

Therefore it boils down to a problem of stopping Hatt's passing and Jack Reeves-Jim Sillers receiving. If the Orfuns do that they will advance into the playdowns. Well here's hoping, Orfuns.

PCVS SENIORS A CHANGED TEAM

Meanwhile Bev Goulding seems to be solving his problem, inexperience, with his PCVS Garnet and Greys. After a slow start they are gradually resembling the teams of old.

The PCVS mentor has a fair backfield in Chuck Geale, Bob McKinney, Barry Hollingsworth and quarterback Terry Roberts. Roberts is gaining confidence, and beginning to attempt a few passes and to mix his plays. The trio of plungers all have the style of last year's Murray Grafstein. McKinney perhaps is a little lighter on his toes.

Howard Hempstead (he helps Bev) has improved the line which is centred around veteran Larry Forbes. But the big fellows have their off moments, depending largely upon how Forbes is playing. A shoulder injury still causes Forbes some pain but he continues.

The Garnet and Grey should take the group over Oshawa next week, although they're down 10 points. If they do win, they will find the going rough from therein, since they lack depth which the Niagara district teams usually have.

JUNIOR SAINTS HEADED FOR COSSA TITLE

But again to St. Peter's and this time the junior Saints who seem to have a better-than-average chance to become the COSSA junior "B" champions.

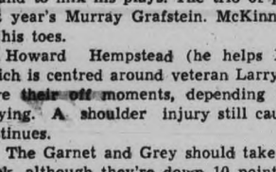
Coach Lynch has built a strong club using a few veterans and a number of greenhorns who have advanced quickly. Like the seniors the junior Saints are too strong for their opposition, at least up this way.

Ron Board with several years experience mostly as a backfielder is using that experience to advantage at quarter as he kingpins the attack. Ploughboy Ray Allen, Don (Dink) Masterson and Jack (Killer) Kane have capably filled in vacancies in the running attack.

Yes, the Saints could be in again this year in junior "B".

Another bright picture on the collegiate front is the showing of the Kenner Collegiate Rams. In their debut games, the ones that counted against St. Peter's, the Rams only gained experience, but they learned a great deal to PCVS' and Lindsay's regret in exhibition games.

The Rams, except for an exhibition or two, are finished for the season but they'll be back next year with a contending junior "B" team. Ken Wass brought along Bill Hendry, Les Scharf and Harry Gravelle nicely in the backfield. He has also brought out the best in linemen Bob Druery, Don Findlay and others. They'll all be back.



Coaches Al MacQuarrie and Charlie Ward had another rough year with the PCVS juniors. They had to start from scratch and the boys didn't advance as quickly as they hoped. They were slow in picking up the fundamentals, particularly in tackling and blocking.

But like Kenner, there's another year and perhaps another title as the boys pick up the experience that they needed so badly this year.

NAMED TO HALL OF FAME

MONTREAL (CP)—The selection committee of the Canadian Amateur Athletic Hall of Fame Monday night named George Genereux of Saskatoon and Doug Hepburn of Vancouver to membership. Cullen Leading Scoring Race In Junior OHA

TORONTO (CP)—Brian Cullen of the league-leading St. Catharines Teepees topped scorers in the first five games of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A schedule.

The little Teepee centre scored eight goals and assisted on six others for 14 points in the first five games up to and including Sunday's contests.

Bill McCreary and Bob Attersley of the third-place Guelph Biltmores are close behind with 13 points. McCreary has seven goals and six assists while Attersley has five goals and eight assists.

Hugh Barlow of St. Catharines is fourth with nine points while four other players are tied for fifth with seven points each. They are Wally Maxwell of Toronto Marlboros, Al Smith of Barrie Flyers, Ralph Hicks of Kitchener Greenshirts and Grant McDonald of Galt Black Hawks.

TIED FOR LEAD

Al Buchanan of Kitchener and Marv Edwards of St. Catharines are tied for the lead in goaltending. Both have 2.6 goals-against averages for five games. Johnny McNamara of Toronto St. Michael's is third with a 3.33 average.

The leading scorers:

	G	A	Pts.
Cullen, St. Catharines	8	6	14
McCreary, Guelph	7	6	13
Attersley, Guelph	5	8	13
Barlow, St. Catharines	5	4	9

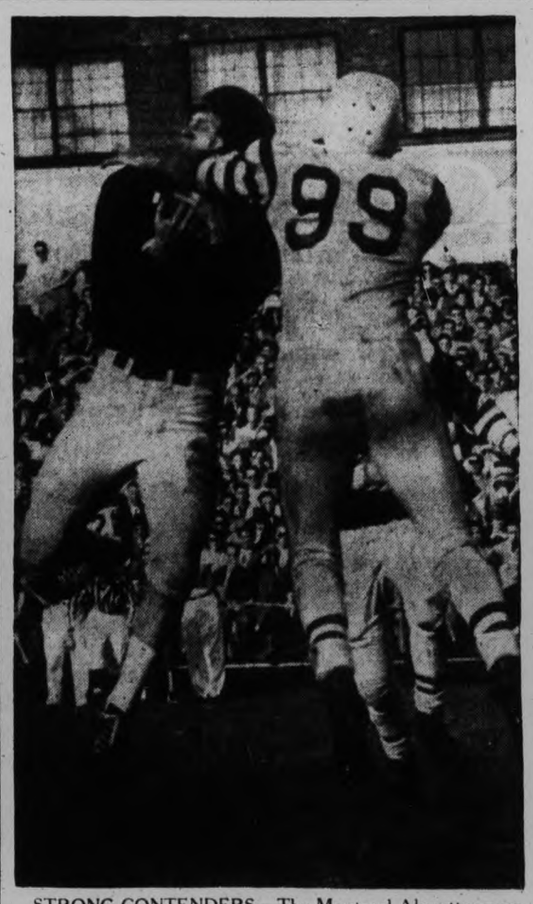
Taylor Future Being Studied

TORONTO (CP)—The question of whether Blake Taylor will play football this season has been placed in the lap of the Ontario Football Union.

The big fullback has been feuding with Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Big Four since the season opened. He is their property but no longer wants to play for them. He works in Galt and wants to play with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen of the ORFU.

The Big Four clubs, including the Tiger-Cats, have finally given him permission to play with the Dutchmen on the understanding if he wants to return to the league he will go to Hamilton. The Canadian Rugby Union has agreed to waive its Oct. 1 deadline on signing players if the ORFU permits Taylor to join the Dutchmen.

The ORFU executive is faced with a ticklish problem since the addition of Taylor would strengthen the Dutchmen considerably and possibly harm the playoff chances of Toronto Balmy Beach and Sarnia Imperials, all strong contenders.



Ridgeway Sulky Star Leading Race Driver

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. ZAP)—William (Bud) Gilmour, 21-year-old budding sulky star from Ridgeway, Ont., was the leading driver of the fall meeting at Saratoga Raceway.

Gilmour had 14 firsts, seven seconds and four thirds in 41 starts for an average of .469, it was announced today.

Aubrey Rodney, defending fall titleholder, was second with .392. The veteran Saratoga Springs reinsman also took the season title with .386 for the summer and fall meetings.

Gilmour did not compete in the summer meeting.

STRONG CONTENDERS—The Montreal Alouettes moved into a first place tie in the Big "4" standings over the weekend with a 39-11 win over last year's Dominion Champs—the Argos. The pin-point passing of Sam Etcheverry plus the fine catching of Red O'Quinn, above, Joey Pal, Ray Poole et al added to a strong running attack led to the one-sided score. That's Copeland trying to knock the ball down.

IT'S A HABIT NOW—During the past several years the St. Peter's High School seniors have developed quite a habit; it's winning the Ontario Catholic Conference senior "B" championship. Fielding their strongest team in years this season, the Saints easily won the title and the McKinney Trophy from St. Michael's College of Toronto. The championship team includes (top photo): back row, Terry Fitzpatrick, Coach John Lynch, John Hickey, Paul Kingdon, Bernie Heffernan, Dick Foley, Irv Kubica, Gord Whatman, Ab Ryan, Frank McGillen, Dave Quinlan, Jim Feeley; middle back row, Bob Fair, Bob O'Rourke, Garry Kearns, Leo Braniff; second from front, John McGee, Frank Gooley, Bob Quinn, Art Fair, Gord Snape, Tom Peirson; front row, Paul Ridley, Jack O'Neill and Clare Fitzgerald. Quarterback Hickey (right, lower photo), Coach Lynch and plunger Snape hold the trophy.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Owen Sound Shuts Out Niagara Team 6-0

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Owen Sound Mercurys, Ontario Hockey Association Senior A finalists for the last three years, bounced to the top of the standings with a 6-0 shutout over Niagara Falls Cataracts in their first league appearance of the season Tuesday night.

In the only other senior hockey action in the province Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Greyhounds trimmed North Bay Trappers 4-1 as the Trappers opened their 1953-54 home schedule in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern group series.

On their home ice the Mercurys had little difficulty with Niagara Falls, league newcomers. Roy Leckie led the goal-getting parade, counting twice. Herbie Carnegie and Bill McComb each fired a goal and three assists. Tommy Burlington and Ray McCallum got the other goals.

TURNS AWAY 51 SHOTS

Niagara Falls netminder Don Lockhart had a nightmare, turning away 51 shots. Bobby Gillson made 38 saves.

In North Bay the Trappers commanded most of the play but they couldn't get by Tommy Donachey, Greyhound goaltender. Donachey saved the game for Sault, letting in only one goal and stopping 36 shots. Boofey Casola only had 28 to handle in the North Bay nets.

Ron Lay, Terry Biocchi, Jim Johnston and Ted Roney each bagged a single marker. Eddie Marineau's slap shot in the second saved the Trappers from a shut out.

Action in the OHA loop tonight includes Chatham Maroons at Sarnia Sailors and Owen Sound at Stratford to tackle the Indians.

Trainer's Sensational Suspension Talk Of British Turf World

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP)—The talk of the turf today is the sensational suspension of P. J. (Paddy) Prendergast, a fast-talking, fast-moving trainer from County Clare who looks after the largest stable in Europe.

The story in brief is this: Prendergast is the most famous trainer in Ireland. Among his patrons is the president of the Republic of Ireland, Sean O'Kelly. And this season horses "trained by P. J. Prendergast, Ireland" are cleaning up some rich races on the English turf.

Last week, at the height of Irish Paddy's success, the English Jockey Club ruled that no more entries will be accepted from Prendergast for racing under Jockey Club rules.

CLAIM ERRATIC RUN

The ban was based on the seemingly erratic running of a Prendergast racer named Blue Sail. In two starts in Ireland, Blue Sail finished nowhere. Then last Oct. 10 he came to England for a fairly good two-year-old race at Ascot and just failed by a neck to catch the English horse Plainsong.

The Jockey Club says it won't tolerate such discrepancies in form. The Irish, for their part, claim Blue Sail was just finding his true ability and was running at Ascot over a longer distance, which suited him. Now the Irish Turf Club is to hold a second inquiry this week.

The case has aroused unusual attention because of the prominence of Prendergast. He had 27 horses entered for the 1954 Epsom Derby, including a possible winter-book favorite for the famous three-year-old race.

This is Moonlight Express, a strapping dark bay colt by Blue Train which once sported the racing silks of the late King George VI. Moonlight Express smothered his rivals in his one race in England this season and Prendergast is known to regard him as potentially the greatest horse he has ever handled.

Olson Holding Firmly As Favorite

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl (Bobo) Olson, the hustling Hawaiian from San Francisco, holds firmly as the 11-to-5 favorite to whip Britain's moody Randy Turpin in their 15-round middleweight title fight at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Although his strange training methods have been as unorthodox as his awkward fighting style, the 25-year-old British Negro said flatly: "I'll prove I was right. I'll win and bring back the championship to England."

Olson, poker-faced and quiet, said calmly: "I'll take the title." Then he left the rest of the talking, as usual, to manager Sid Flaherty.

"Olson will win," was the studied comment of Ray Robinson, who fought them both twice. The two will battle for the crown the great Sugar Ray abdicated nine months ago.

OLSON AGGRESSIVE

"Olson is aggressive and very busy," said Robinson. "He gives you no room and he thinks fast. Turpin can't go back. I found that out. Olson will keep coming."

Even the visiting British writers and London promoter Jack Solomons have soured on their headstrong Randy.

"I don't approve the way Turpin has trained," said Solomons. "He should have boxed more. His timing is off. If it goes 15 rounds Olson will win."

Turpin hasn't boxed since last Thursday. Despite his peculiar tactics and the big odds against him, the Briton's name is still magic at the box office.

The International Boxing Club opened its windows today with more than $110,000 in the till. IBC managing director Harry Markson said the scrap will lure about 17,000 fans and about $175,000. Radio-television receipts will add another $60,000 to the pot. Each fighter will collect 30 per cent or about $57,000.

Hold Matinee Of NHL Game For Writers

TORONTO (CP)—Conn Smythe, managing director of Toronto Maple Leafs, held a special matinee for Toronto hockey writers Tuesday to show them the movie of Saturday's National Hockey League game here with New York Rangers.

The game ended in a 1-1 deadlock and Smythe attempted to show that a disallowed goal scored by Eric Nesterenko in the third period was a mistake on the part of referee Gerry Olinski of Kitchener. It appeared that the films sided with Smythe.

The goal was disallowed because Olinski said Bob Solinger, a Toronto winger, was in the crease. But the movies showed that Solinger was hook-checked by a New York defenceman with such force that he spun around, lost the puck and glided into Rangers' goaltender Johnny Bower. Nesterenko grabbed the puck and fired it into the New York net.

According to NHL rules such a goal should have been allowed or a penalty shot awarded to Toronto.

PCVS-SPS Exhibition Off Due To Tourney

The exhibition senior high school football game at Riverside Park this Saturday has been cancelled because of the Red Feather tournament in Toronto, some of the players wanting to take in this tourney, Coach Bev Goulding of PCVS has announced. The game was listed between PCVS and SPS.

Oshawa will not represent this district in the Red Feather play, as it has been ruled that Oshawa's team is drawn from two schools there—instead of one as required—the OCVI and Central Collegiate. Hence, Alliston High will represent Central Ontario in Red Feather competition. Meantime, Oshawa and PCVS settle their playoff series on Oct. 31 in Peterborough, Oshawa being 10 points up on PCVS.

Experts Call It Wrong Again Detroit Red Wings Back On Top of NHL Teams

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

A few months ago, when Detroit Red Wings failed to make the Stanley Cup finals, it was whispered in National Hockey League circles that the five-time league champions were on the decline. But today things are back to normal. The Wings are on top as usual, and observers are wondering how many more tricks general manager Jack Adams has up his sleeve. So far, Adams has produced two surprises from his farm system: A centre who can outscore the mighty Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay and a goaltender who can stop just as many pucks as Terry Sawchuk when the regular Detroit goalie gets hurt.

Since the Wings don't usually play two netminders at the same time, rival sharpshooters are likely to be spared the attentions of Dave Gatherum for a while, provided Sawchuk stays in one piece. The 21-year-old Fort William rookie, who allowed three goals in as many games, has departed for Sherbrooke in the Quebec Hockey League.

REIBEL SOMETHING ELSE

But Earl Reibel is something else again.

Since Sid Abel retired to his coaching job in Chicago two years ago, the Wings have lacked a centre who could keep pace with Howe and Lindsay, the most formidable pair of wingmen in hockey today.

In six games, Reibel actually has overshadowed his famed linemates. The 22-year-old Kitchener, Ont., product who led the Western Hockey League in scoring last season with Edmonton Flyers, tops the league with four goals and seven assists for 11 points, leading both Howe and Lindsay in every department.

Disgruntled Montreal sports writers, upset by the failure of high-priced Jean Beliveau to live up to his advance billing with the Canadiens, are asking why the big Quebec centre doesn't abandon his slap shot and get his shots away as deceptively as Reibel.

BEST ROOKIE

Conn Smythe, general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, took one look at Reibel and pronounced him "the best rookie by a city block."

Reibel and his mates will be on display in Toronto for the first time tonight in the only NHL game scheduled. The third-place Leafs, who suffered their only loss of the season when Gatherum blanked them at Detroit, need a victory to pull into a first-place tie.

The remainder of the league sees action Thursday, with Montreal visiting the winless Chicago Black Hawks while the fourth-place Boston Bruins visit New York to protect their one-point edge over the Rangers.

...D CALVES BRING MONEY — ...n annual event at the Fryeburg, Maine, Fair is the "Calf Scramble," where the so-called calves are actually six-month-old steers. Each of the teen-age participants, armed with a piece of rope, tries to capture a steer and bring him to the winner's circle. With this accomplished, the contestant gets to keep the calf, and feed and care for him for a year. At the next fair, the animals are auctioned off and the captor gets to keep the money, which at times amounts to $1,000.

Report 20% Of Population Out Of Work

BRANTFORD (CP)—Nearly 20 per cent of the estimated 15,000-man working force in Brantford and district is out of work, although the city is experiencing one of its biggest building booms.

Some 2,644 persons, including 528 women, were on the unemployed list as of Oct. 15. Most of them depend on the two main industries in the area—farm implement factories and textile plants.

Both industries are hit by la of contracts. One plant, the Cockshutt Plow Co. Ltd., has been closed to its 1,600 employees since July 31.

There are about 52,000 residents in Brantford and adjacent areas.

SERIOUS SITUATION

The employment situation was termed serious by the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) Monday night. Robert Lockyer, secretary of Local 458, asked city council to send a delegation to Ottawa in search of either public works projects or an increase in unemployment insurance payments through the winter.

Some local officials do not consider the problem serious. The national employment office here said Tuesday that most of the unemployed will be back working before long.

The Cockshutt company will take about 500 men back about Nov. 1. More will follow.

ILLNESS DOES SLOW NAGUIB DOWN —Wearing striped pajamas, Egypt's President Mohammed Naguib, takes time to confer with Maj.-Gen. Abdel-Hakib Amer, commander in chief of the Egyptian army. The "strong man" of Egypt was suffering from fatigue and kidney trouble on a trip to Alexandria and was confined to his bed. But conferences with his military chiefs had to be carried on.

Unemployment Insurance Law Changed

OTTAWA (CP)—Amendments to unemployment insurance benefit regulations governing money received on separation from employment and for holidays were announced Tuesday by the unemployment insurance commission.

A commission spokesman said the changes were made following representations from a number of unions and employers. He said they represent an easing of the regulations covering money received on separation from employment and a more equitable method of paying benefits for holidays.

Under former regulations a worker who received a gratuity or gift from an employer on termination of employment could not immediately receive unemployment insurance benefits. He was not able to collect until the period represented by the gift of money had elapsed.

NEW REGULATIONS

The new regulations stipulate that all gratuities received on termination of employment will be disregarded in determining whether a person is entitled to benefits. However, the commission said that this regulation does not apply if the employee plans to return to work and receives wages under any guaranteed wage plan. It also will not apply to persons such as civil servants receiving retirement leave credits or those paid wages in lieu of notice. In these cases the employee must wait until the period represented by the money has elapsed.

Passenger Traffic Shows Drop Of 30 Per Cent At Halifax Port

By JACK BEST
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX (CP) — Despite a minor windfall from the recent New York dockers strike, passenger traffic through this port is down 30 per cent from last year.

But both the amount of freight handled and the total vessel movement have increased.

Port manager John Mitchell says only 48,000 passengers passed through Halifax in the first eight months of 1953, compared to 70,000 last year.

The decrease is attributed to a government decision to bring immigrants out during the summer instead of the winter. Passenger traffic dropped nearly 20,000 from January to April.

Difficulty of finding new homes and jobs for new Canadians in the bumper immigration winter of 1951 led to the revised policy. It also involved a matter of dollars and cents, since inland ports are closer to the destinations of most settlers.

ONLY 70,000 IN '53

More than 100,000 travellers were routed through this port in 1951. If the present rate continues, only about 70,000 will be handled all this year. Montreal and Quebec, open only part of the year due to the St. Lawrence river freeze-up, are expected to show at least a proportional increase.

The fact that freight traffic has continued to increase can be set down to brisk international trade in general and world demand for Canadian wheat in particular. During the six months ended April 30, a peacetime record of 14,000,000 bushels of grain moved from the port.

Whether this mark can be equalled this winter is questionable, since grain output in practically all producer countries is reported increasing.

ELEVATORS CLOGGED

Two consecutive bumper crops in Canada resulted in elevators here and at Saint John, N. B., being clogged throughout the summer for the first time.

Next year probably will see even greater stockpiling here as a new grain elevator, due for completion by Dec. 1, will add 2,000,000 bushels to the present 2,500,000-bushel capacity.

Mr. Mitchell estimates freight shipments have doubled since before the war. Last year, exclusive of naval vessels, more than 6,000 ships with a net registered tonnage of nearly 11,500,000 passed through the port. This represented an increase of more than 3,000,000 tons since 1948.

Cargo loaded and unloaded in 1952 amounted to 4,546,000 tons, a four-year increase of nearly 1,000,000 tons. The total this year is expected to show a further jump.

Nelson On Trial For Wife's Murder

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—George Nelson, 23, of Stamford township went on trial here Tuesday for the murder of his 19-year-old wife, Patricia.

He pleaded innocent to the charge that he beat her to death in suburban Grantham township last July 17 with an iron bar.

Crown attorney Lloyd Goodwin said that early July 17 a man, whom he would later identify as Nelson, came to the Lincoln county jail here and led a turnkey to his car parked out in front.

The battered body of Mrs. Nelson was found in the car. She died several hours later in hospital.

Brooke-Popham Dead

HALTON, England (Reuters)—Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, 75, Britain's Far Eastern commander-in-chief in the early part of the Second World War, died Tuesday. He retired from active service in 1941 after the Japanese had swept through defence positions in southeast Asia for which he was responsible. At the time he was severely criticized for "unpreparedness." He contended he was never sent the supplies he pressed for.

Favor 2-Year Term

TORONTO (CP) — The toronto metropolitan executive committee agreed Tuesday to ask the Ontario government to legislate a two-year term for all municipal councils and boards of education in the metropolitan area. An executive resolution must be approved by the metropolitan council before it is forwarded to the provincial government. Toronto's voters have repeatedly defeated the proposal in recent years.

Says Keeping Of Records Stigmatizes Man For Life

TORONTO (CP) — Keeping of criminal records indefinitely sometimes tends to "stigmatize" a man who makes one misstep in his youth and goes straight the rest of his life, W. B. Common, director of public prosecutions for the attorney general's department, said Tuesday.

Mr. Common approved in principle a suggestion by W. J. Stewart (PC—Toronto Parkdale) that single offences should be stricken from the record after a man has proved that he won't return to crime.

He was speaking to a gathering of the legislature's select committee on reform institutions of which Mr. Stewart is chairman.

Mr. Stewart said although the committee will likely recommend extension of the probation system it does not mean that the committee is in favor of softening up the law.

"We are making no attempt to approach the subject with a desire to mollycoddle those who break the law."

Reforms Minister Foote said provincial prisons are not rest homes and hoped members of the committee stayed on the job long enough to discover this for themselves.

The minister's remarks followed a charge by the Rev. A. D. Downer (PC—Dufferin - Simcoe) that the province's institutions "are almost like rest homes." Mr. Downer said: "There is no such thing as hard labor in our institutions."

A real probation system would cut Ontario's prison population by half within a few year, the Rev. Martin Pinker, secretary of the International Prisoner's Aid Societies, told the committee.

Queen's Tour In Australia Will Cover 12,500 Miles

By RICK STEVENS

SYDNEY (Reuters)—When the 15,902-ton liner Gothic, carrying the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, steams through "the heads" of Sydney harbor Feb. 3, she will be bringing here the first reigning monarch ever to visit Australia.

The Royal visitors' first glimpse of the Dominion-continent will be a panorama of beautiful days, attractive headlands and houses and gardens clustered around the foreshore.

On the shores of this harbor, the forefathers of today's Australians founded the first settlement a century and a half ago. Here, too, convicts from Britain once came as exiles.

Many of Sydney's 1,620,000 people will crowd the miles of foreshore to watch the Royal ship steam down the harbor, escorted by vessels of the Royal Australian Navy.

The Gothic will drop anchor at Farm Cove, so named because there the first farm was established in Australia in 1788, and the Queen and Duke will transfer to the Royal barge for an official reception, headed by governor-general Field Marshal Sir William Slim and Prime Minister Robert Menzies.

EXTENSIVE ITINERA

That will mark the beginning of a tour of Australia which will take the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh more than 12,500 miles before they leave Fremantle April 1.

They will visit 50 or more country places in addition to the larger cities: Sydney; Melbourne; Brisbane, "city of seven hills", Adelaide, known here as "the city of churches," Hobart, second oldest of the Australian state capitals; Perth, on Australia's west coast.

Travelling by air, the Queen will be able to see much of the outback of this "brown continent" with its thriving provincial cities and "bush" towns.

These visits will bring the Queen and the Duke in contact with aboriginal place names such as Wagga Wagga (meaning "many crows") and Benalla ("a musk duck").

The Queen will open the Australian federal Parliament and several state parliaments.

Outside the whirl of official receptions, banquets and garden parties, the Royal visitors will also have the opportunity to meet some "dinky-di" Australians—the furry, snub-nosed koala bear, the platybus and the kangaroo.

FIVE FREE DAYS

They will see, too, the Australian bushland, with its gum trees, golden wattle and plant life.

During the 58 days of her tour, the Queen will have only five days free from engagements. There will be others when she is free for an evening, or half a day.

Some newspapers here have been calling for an eleventh hour revision of what they describe as the "split second" tour program. They say the itinerary will impose too heavy a strain on the Queen and spoil the pleasure of her visit.

Newspaper criticism began after a statement by the director of the Royal tour organization, Lt.-Gen. F. H. Berryman, that timing for the program was so precise that it took into account the number of seconds which the Queen would take to walk down the ramp from the Royal aircraft to the ground.

Gen. Berryman, in reply, said he used the phrase "split second" timing to illustrate "the kind of efficiency we must have in our organization—not the kind of schedule it would be presumptuous to impose upon the Royal party."

TO LAND AT SYDNEY — The Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh will arrive at Sydney February 3 next to begin their 14,450-mile tour of Australia. The Royal couple will spend two months on the island continent. This is an aerial view of Sydney which stretches away to the Pacific Ocean in the far background. Behind the famous harbour bridge is the city's business area with (right centre) some of the docks for ocean liners. Capital of South Wales, it has a population of 1,610,000.

Wheat Stockpile Jumps 22%

OTTAWA (CP) — The world's bread grain production may decline slightly this crop year from last year's all-time high, but the wheat stockpile in Canada and other major exporting countries has jumped by 22 per cent.

The bureau of statistics Tuesday reported that the United States has forecast world bread grain output in 1953-54 at about 255,000,000 short tons of wheat and rye, down 9,000,000 tons from last year.

However, the wheat stockpile available for export and carryover in Canada, the U.S., Australia and Argentina rose to 1,920,500,000 bushels on Sept. 1, a 22-per-cent jump from 1,572,400,000 bushels held a year ago.

Stocks on Sept. 1 with last year's figures in brackets: Canada 768,600,000 bushels (716,000,000); U.S. 981,700,000 (813,60,00); Argentina 114,700,000 (1,800,000); Australia 55,500,000 (41,000,000).

AUSTRALIAN KOALA — The koala, a small quaint animal, is found only in Australia which will be visited by the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh next February. The koala, easily tamed and perfectly harmless, feeds on certain species of eucalyptus trees. This pair is shown climbing one of the trees.

Campanella Heads Major League All-Star Team

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's slugging catcher, heads the 1953 major league all-star team, one of the strongest squads ever put together.

Campanella, whose 41 hom runs and 142 runs batted in are the highest ever reached by a big league catcher, drew all but five of the 179 votes returned by the Baseball Writers' Association of America in response to the Associated Press' eighth annual all-star poll.

The team boasts seven .300 hitters, including the two league batting champions, the RBI and slugging kings, a home-run leader, four players who have hit 30 or more homers and five who have pounded home 100 or more runs.

PITCHERS CHOSEN

The pitchers are Robin Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies and Warren Spahn of Milwaukee Braves. Each won 23 games to tie for the most in the majors. Roberts beat out Washington's Bob Porterfield for righthanded honors, received 132 votes to 30. Spahn easily topped Chicago's Billy Pierce for lefthanded honors, 116 to 40.

Six of the 10 players are new to the all-stars. The four holdovers from 1952 include Phil Rizzuto, shortstop; Al Rosen, third base; Stan Musial, left field and Roberts. Musial made the squad for the seventh time, missing only once since the all-star team was inaugurated in 1946.

The world champion Yankees placed only one man—Rizzuto—on the team while Brooklyn Dodgers, whom they defeated in the world series, placed three men. They are outfielders Duke Snider and Carl Furillo in addition to Campanlla.

THE ALL-STAR TEAM

First base—Mickey Vernon, Senators (.337)

Second base—Red Schoendienst, Cardinals (.342)

Third base—Al Rosen, Indians (.336)

Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees (.271)

Left field—Stan Musial, Cardinals (.337)

Centre field—Duke Snider, Dodgers (.336)

Right field—Carl Furillo, Dodgers (.344)

Catcher—Roy Campanella, Dodgers (.312)

Pitcher (righthanded) — Robin Roberts, Phillies (23-16)

Pitcher (lefthanded) — Warren Spahn, Braves (23-7)

Quebec Downs Kitchener 6-4

KITCHENER (CP)—Quebec Citadelles Tuesday night won their first game in five starts in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series by defeating Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts 6-4.

The win puts the Citadelles into an eighth-place tie with Hamilton Tigers. Kitchener is in second place.

The Shirts led for 17 minutes of the first period on the first of three goals by rightwinger Rene Rochet. Stan Parker tied it at 17:33 and Leo Amadio put Quebec in front with the first of his two goals at 18:45.

The teams divided six second-period goals.

Mike Ratchford, former St. Michael's player, scored the insurance goal early in the final period. Other Citadelle scorers were Clermont Doyon and Gaston Pelletier. Cressman tallied the other Kitchener goal.

Cleveland Swamps Syracuse By 8-1

By THE CANADIAN PRESSS

Glen Sonmor and Jack Stoddard, the former New York Rangers, accounted for five goals as Cleveland Barons swamped Syracuse Warriors 8-1 Tuesday night in the Barons' home opener of the American Hockey League season.

Sonmor bagged three goals and assisted in another while Stoddard notched a pair and had two assists. Eddie Olson, Jack Gordon and Fred Glover scored the other Cleveland goals.

The Barons' new goalie, Emile Francis, had a shutout until midway in the third period when Billy Gooden scored while two Cleveland players were in the penalty box.

Remember When—

Lefty Grove, then a young pitcher for Baltimore Orioles of the International League, took a shellacking from Kansas City in a little world series game 30 years ago today. Grove was yanked in the first inning. But his fast ball later was poison to American League batters when he played for Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox.

MILES IN SECOND PLACE

WINNIPEG (CP) — A speedy little Negro halfback from a small North Carolina college piled up five touchdowns in two week-end games to vault into second place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union individual scoring, nine points behind leader Bud Korchak of Winnipeg.

In the best individual performance of the season, Rollie Miles of Edmonton Eskimos scored three majors against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Saturday night and two more Monday night against Saskatchewan Roughriders to run his season's point total to 55.

Statistics compiled by The Canadian Press show Korchak collected seven points in the weekend double-headers to raise his total to 64 on one touchdown, nine field goals, five singles and 27 converts. Both Korchak and Miles were named to last year's Western all-star team.

Miles, a third-year import, replaced teammate Billy Vessels, the Oklahoma flash, as runner-up and also as tops in the touchdown department with 11. Vessels, with 10 majors, was held scoreless during the weekend, and dropped into a third-place tie with another Eskimo tackle Wilbur Snyder from the University of Idaho. Snyder booted eight converts to raise his point total to 50.

CURLING GREAT DEAD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frank Cassidy, 68, one of Canada's curling greats who gained his fame as skip of the Winnipeg "kids' rink" more than 40 years ago, died in Los Angeles Monday, friends in Vancouver learned Tuesday.

Cassidy headed the kids' rink in 1909 and 1910, taking the top awards in the Manitoba Curling Association bonspiel. He also introduced the "long slide," now used throughout Canada.

Will Dedicate Dressing Rooms

TORONTO (CP) — Dressing rooms to be used by crippled children for their swimming classes under the guidance of Gus Ryder of the Lakeshore Swimming Club will be dedicated Friday night at the club's pool in suburban New Toronto.

The dressing rooms, built at a cost of $10,000, were made possible largely through a grant of $6,500 from the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. The money was raised by the Ontario Sport Writers and Sportcasters Association at their annual sports celebrities' dinner.

Officials from both organizations will take part in the dedication ceremonies. A plaque perpetuating the occasion and the source from which the funds were derived will be mounted in the dressing rooms.

Classes for handicapped swimmers are held each Saturday at the New Toronto pool and at Oakwood Collegiate in Toronto. Instruction is free and any handicapped person may attend. The instructors include Cliff Lumsden, world's champion professional swimmer.

Alliston High School Red Feather Team

TORONTO (CP)—Banting Memorial High School of Alliston will represent the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association in this weekend's Red Feather football tournament here.

Officials of the annual gridiron show said Tuesday that Oshawa Collegiate, originally scheduled to carry the COSSA colors, had withdrawn in favor of Alliston. Oshawa officers said they unknowingly used ineligible players in a game against Banting last week.

The two-day tournament will see St. Catharines meeting London Central and Hamilton Westdale playing Toronto Danforth Tech Friday night with Alliston meeting Ottawa Fisher Park and Toronto Etobicoke playing Sudbury Tech Saturday.

Midland Loop Golfers Given Prizes

Prizes were distributed for season play in the Midland Golf League at a windup "do" held at the Peterborough Golf Club for fellow players from Oshawa, Cobourg, Port Hope, Lindsay and Kawartha. President Joe Watson made the presentations. The league trophy, first given by R. M. Glover, was won by the Port Hope team of K. Rowden, F. Bulger and R. Bulger.

Dick Oulmet presented the Calvert Cup for the best gross score in the first flight, this going to Frank Bulger of Port Hope. Other gross and net prizes went o P. Atman of Lindsay, Mel Akers of Kawartha, E. Reynolds, C. McDougall, J. Lake and Phil Pryde of Kawartha, while J. Watson, G. Whatman and F. Graham of Peterborough won in their flights. H. Willis of Port Hope and T. Tape of Kawartha were other winners. Kawartha finished the league season to Port Hope, with Peterborough third. The evening ended with dancing.

Pembroke Plans Legal Action

PEMBROKE (CP) — Pembroke Lumber Kings and Memorial Centre Commission said Tuesday night they will take legal action to protect two hockey players claimed by Ottawa Senators of the professional Quebec Hockey League.

A statement released following a meeting here said defenceman Butch Stahan and forward Emile Dagenais had been dealt with "most unfairly" in a ruling made at Ottawa.

At Ottawa, the heads of the National Hockey League and Canadian Amateur Hockey Association ruled Tuesday that three players, who moved from Ottawa to the Northern Ontario Hockey Association senior league this season, are the Senators' property and ineligible to play elsewhere this season.

The ruling dealt with Stahan and Dagenais, who moved to Pembroke, and Ed Mulligan, who switched to the Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds.

The club and arena commission said they have retained Ottawa lawyer Royden Hughes "to take immediate legal proceedings to clear once and for all the status of these players."

Hard Luck Hurler Gets Most Shutouts

NEW YORK (AP)—Washington's Bob Porterfield, a hard-luck hurler for most of his big-league career, and rookie Southpaw Harvey Haddix, in his first full season with St. Louis Cardinals, were the 1953 shutout kings of the majors.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press Tuesday showed Porterfield topped the American League with nine shutouts. Haddix set the pace in the National League with six.

For Porterfield, the 1953 season was a big change from his showing of a year ago. In 1952 he was on the losing end of seven shutouts and his won-lost record was 13-14. He registered 22-14 this year.

Haddix joined the Cards at the end of the 1952 season after serving a two-year hitch in the army. He appeared in seven games, winning two and losing two.

R. Mahoney Leads

R. Mahoney had high single this week in the Girls' City Bowling League with 291 while Peg Hawthorne led for two games with 531. The blind score of 367 was split by Phyllis Richardson and Mary Martin with 366 each for two games. Bassel's, Collis and Sunocos blanked Cardinals, Sevenaires and Curtin's in that order as 2-1 wins went to Black's over Austin's, and Marines against Aces.

Good singles were P. Hawthorne 268 and 263, B. Morrow 268, R. Pearse 265, L. Crocker 261, H. Hunt 359, D. Mason 236, A. Wilson 235, B. Belisle 234, J. Castle 460, B. Morrow 456, R. Neat two-game efforts were: J. Castle 4660, B. Morrow 456, R. Mahoney 448, R. Pearse 434, H. Hunt 432, M. Hawthorne 427, M. Williams 417, L. Martin 416, A. Stinson 414, M. Thompson 406, B. Alexander Trophy Passes From Amateur Hockey

OTTAWA (CP)—The Alexander Trophy has passed from the Canadian "amateur" hockey scene.

W. B. (Baldy) George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said Tuesday the three-year-old trophy will be returned to CAHA headquarters by its present holders—Halifax Atlantics. The reason: Lack of competitors.

Emblematic of the senior, semi-professional hockey championship of Canada, the trophy was presented to the CAHA in 1950 by Field Marshal Lord Alexander, governor-general at that time. George gave this account of its history, and its demise:

The CAHA, realizing that senior amateur hockey competition was being dominated by a few powerful clubs, decided in 1950 to set up a special country-wide grouping to be known as the "major series."

The Alexander Trophy was to be presented annually to the champions of this group. The Allan Cup was to continue to be emblematic of the championship of the Canadian "senior league."

Both groups were to come under the jurisdiction of the CAHA, although there was an understanding that professional players could be signed up by major series clubs. Senior leagues were to be strictly amateur in character.

Composition of the major series was made up from four senior leagues: the Western Canada, the Ontario Hockey Association, the Quebec Senior League and the Maritime Senior League.

Allan cup competition was provided by senior teams not connected to any of these groups.

But, one by one, the major series clubs have dropped out until now only the Maritime league remains.

25-YARD RUN—Rod Pantages (80), kicking halfback of the league-leading Edmonton Eskimos, starts a 25-yard run again Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Western Interprovincial Football Union game at Edmonton. He is protected by tackle Leon (Willie) Manley (66) with Ron Kelly (88) Bomber halfback, trying to get through to stop the run. Edmonton won 32-9.

Won't Affect Football Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even if the Supreme Court should outlaw baseball's reserve clause in players' contracts, professional football wouldn't worry, Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, and George Preston Marshall, owner of Washington Redskins, agreed Tuesday.

Last week two minor league baseball players and a minor league club-owner challenged the legality of the reserve clause. Supreme Court justices, who still have the cases under consideration, wanted to know whether the appeals before the high court would affect contracts in football or any other sport.

Attorney Raymond Jackson, representing organized baseball, said he thought football contracts differed from those in baseball.

"They certainly do," said Marshall. "We don't have any reserve clause."

Curlers Decide Playoffs To Be Round-Robin

TORONTO (CP)—The 89th annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association decided Tuesday that the playoffs which decide the Ontario representative to the Canadian single rink championship will consist of round-robin play this year.

In former finals the eight district representatives met in a knockout series which called for three draws, all in one day. The round-robin will necessitate seven games, at least 2 1-3 days.

The association turned down a proposal to reduce play in the Silver Tankard, Burden, Globe and Mail and Governor General's Trophy competitions from 16 to 12 ends.

Another proposal to adopt the new rules of the Dominion Curling Association was postponed until next year's annual meeting.

R. Brodie Ness of Kingston was elected president. Other officers: W. O. Tudhope of Orillia, vice-president; E. V. Vallance of the Hamilton Thistle Club, second vice-president; and W. E. McMurtry of Toronto, secretary-treasurer.

The Movie Column

Shirley Booth Gets Glamor In New Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Shirley Booth, the incumbent Oscar winner, is before the cameras for her second picture—but not as the sloppy housewife of "Come Back, Little Sheba."

When I saw her on the set of "About Mrs. Leslie," she was dolled up in a handsome suit and fancy hairdo. She plays a Beverly Hills boarding house operator who has a lengthy affair with a government official (Robert Ryan).

She gets the full glamor treatment in the film, with 33 costume changes, including a negligee.

Winning the Oscar in her first picture has put her on a spot, Miss Booth commented.

PREFERS CHARACTER PARTS

"Will the public want to see me in a different sort of a role?" she asked, admitting that she herself didn't know. But she added that she thinks the success of "Sheba" was a healthy sign.

"I had never entertained the notion of doing pictures," she said, "because I was only interested in doing character roles. They have never seemed to worry much about character parts in the movies, although that is what make the English and French pictures so great.

Obviously favoring the stage, she indicated she wouldn't settle down to a movie career exclusively.

NOT FUSSY

"I like California when I'm out here," she reported, "but I just bought a new home on Cape Cod, and I want to get some time there. I like the stage, and I'm not easy to cast for pictures.

"Besides, I'm not one of those people who have to act to live. I suppose I felt that way when I was younger. Now I like it when I'm playing an interesting character and can make it grow.

"But if I weren't acting, I would not miss it. I could have a wonderful time puttering around and painting, either rooms or canvases."

Couple Get Damages

WALKERTON (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ross of Culross township Tuesday were awarded a $5,634 judgment resulting from a highway accident March 28. The accident occurred on No. 4 Highway near Teeswater when the Ross car was struck by a vehicle owned by Mrs. Basil Cassidy of Teeswater. Mrs. Cassidy was ordered by Mr. Justice R. W. Treleaven to pay the court costs.

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (Reuters)—Prime Minister Daniel Malan said Tuesday the question of South Africa becoming a republic must be decided by a special general election. Malan did not say whether he planned such an election in the near future.

Inducted As Chaplain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flt. Lt. S.M. Parkhouse of Fergus, Ont., Tuesday was inducted as chaplain of RCAF station Winnipeg.

Private Ownership Asked For Forests

WINNIPEG (CP)—Private ownership of more of Canada's forest lands was advocated Tuesday by a pulp and paper company official.

George B. Amidon of the Ontario-Minnesota Pulp and Paper Co. Ltd. suggested to the Canadian Institute of Forestry convention that the large percentage of forest land in public ownership is retarding progress in forest management.

"It seems evident," he said, "that forest industries permanently established and farmers or other individuals who have land dedicated to the growing of timber crops will do a better job of managing their own forests than they do on someone else's land."

He said 86 per cent of all productive forest land in Canada is under public ownership.

Gave False Age To Get Pension

BANCROFT (ENS) — A 68-year-old Coe Hill man who pleaded guilty to charges of false declaration in respect of old age pension cheques was given a year's suspended sentence by Magistrate R. C. Jackson.

Crown evidence was given that W. R. O'Brien was awarded the old age pension some time in March. He received a cheque for $107 in May to cover the intervening period. This cheque was cashed by Mr. R. C. Rollins of Coe Hill.

O'Brien later wrote to the pension authorities stating that he had not received his pension for the above period and another cheque for the same amount was sent to him with instructions that the first cheque, should it be found, was to be returned. The second cheque was cashed for the accused by Wannamaker's store of Coe Hill.

Defending counsel J. D. O'Flynn pleading for leniency in view of the age and hitherto clean record of his client, stated that restitution in full had been guaranteed by a relative of O'Brien.

A pitched battle in the beverage room of the Arlington Hotel, Maynooth, on Friday, Oct. 2, resulted in six Maynooth men being charged with causing a disturbance.

Daniel Scott, Elvin Scott, Kinley Scott, Lawrence Green, Reginald Flynn and Jack Flynn were fined amounts ranging from $10 to $15 and costs. Harry Musclow of Beachburg was fined $50 and costs on a charge of driving with impaired ability.

Charged with speeding Earl Allison of New Carlow was fined $25 and costs.

Victor Noffke of New Carlow and Gerald Harris of Cobourg, charged with having liquor in a public place, each paid fines of $15 and costs.

Births, Deaths Up

TORONTO (CP) — There were 11,340 babies born in Ontario last month. A total of 3,821 persons died. Ontario government statistics issued Tuesday showed there were 11,020 births and 3,574 deaths in September of 1952. Marriages totalled 4,995 last month compared to 5,994 for the same month last year.

Fishing Trip Successful Get 40 Perch, Duck, Rod

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Vincent Westfall is circulating a duck story and friends say it sounds a little fishy.

They refuse to swallow the story hook, line and sinker, as the saying goes, even though Vincent has the hook, line, sinker, rod and reel and a creditable witness to back up his story.

It goes something like this:

Vincent, an industrial relations official at Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Ltd., went fishing with his father-in-law, Cleve Mousseau on nearby Lake St. Clair. While cruising in their motor boat they came upon a wounded duck.

They decided to put the bird out of its misery by killing it with a stick.

Upon pulling the duck into the boat, Vincent noticed a fish hook and gut leader hanging from its bill. He pulled the rest of the line from the water and found an expensive casting rod and spinning reel attached to the other end.

"It was the strangest fishing trip I ever had," he said. "We got about 40 perch between us and came back with three rods and reels after starting out with only two."

They also had a duck dinner.

Vincent's guess is that the wounded duck probably picked up the fish hook while diving for food. The rod had presumably been lost overboard by a fisherman.

Highland Lament Played For Piper

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The strains of a Highland lament are to sound a final tribute today at the graveside of one of Canada's outstanding pipers.

The plaintive notes of the familiar Scotish air "Flowers of the Forest" will be played on the pipes during last rites for James Hamilton in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Hamilton, declared Canada's champion piper in Banff in 1928, played the same lament countless times during a lifetime of piping contests and Highland Games he attended regularly across the continent.

He won awards in Cleveland, Detroit and Chicago and international recognition for organizing pipe bands in both Canada and the United States.

Major Hugh Ferguson, pipe major of Sarnia pipe band, is to play the lament at the graveside.

Court Will Be Asked To Rule On Income Tax Returns

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada will be asked to rule at its forthcoming session whether income tax officers may be required to produce a person's income tax return in court at a criminal trial.

Hitherto, income tax returns have been regarded as secret. But in a majority decision last year, the British Columbia Appeal Court gave a judicial opinion that they may be produced as evidence at a trial.

The judicial opinion was sought by the B.C. government after the refusal of Vancouver income tax officials to produce in the B.C. Supreme Court the income tax returns of 27 men charged with keeping betting houses.

APPEALING OPINION

The federal government is appealing this judicial opinion to Canada's highest tribunal. This is one of 37 cases slated to be heard by the nine judges at sessions of the court getting under way today.

The tax returns case involves the B.C. Appeal Court opinion that the returns must be produced on order of the judge to allow the court to determine whether their contents are admissible and relevant as evidence and whether they are prejudicial or detrimental to public welfare.

Also involved is the Appeal Court opinion that the crown or the accused may subpoena tax officials to produce the returns and testify orally so the court may decide whether they should be used as evidence.

Save Fisherman

TRENTON (CP) — Two men Tuesday saved the life of an unidentified fisherman who fell into the Murray canal here. Gerry Finlan and Albert McMurdo found him clinging to a log and pulled him ashore. The fisherman drove off without identifying himself.

Fast Passenger Train To Windsor

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway announced Tuesday inauguration Nov. 30 of a new passenger train which will make the 226-mile run between Toronto and Windsor in four hours and five minutes. Officials said it will be the fastest railroad run over that distance in Canada.

The schedule calls for seven intermediate stops including a 15-minute pause at London, Ont.

The train—known as the Dayliner—will be made up of two new stainless steel, self-propelled diesel cars, manufactured by the Budd Company of Philadelphia.

Aching Feet

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—William Wright, who has retired after 32 years as a meter man, figures he walked about 90,000 miles checking meters. Apart from that, he walked several miles home from work each day.

Private TV Station Now In Operation

SUDBURY (CP)—Canada's first privately-owned television station went into operation Tuesday night here.

CKSO-TV officially began broadcasting at 5:40 p.m. EST with a series of fully-controlled test patterns. The first films are to be shown at irregular intervals today and for the balance of the week. The first regular programs will begin telecasting Sunday.

Prior to the opening the only television stations operating in Canada were three CBC stations in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal.

The station will telecast American shows and others prepared by the CBC. Studio shows have been in rehearsal for more than a week.

Cyclist Killed

TORONTO (CP)—Frank Haney, 16, was fatally injured Tuesday when he rode his bicycle into a parked car. It was Toronto's 50th traffic fatality this year.

MINOR FIRE ALARMS

Fire trucks from the Aylmer St. station went out on a false alarm at 4:15 a.m. today to the Great West Saddlery Co., 201 George St. At 8:46 p.m. a flooded oil burner was reported at the home of Mrs. J. J. Quinlan, 273½ McDonnel St. No extinguisher was necessary.

NO PERMISSION GIVEN

Firemen used a handpump to put out a fire of burning leaves that was lit Tuesday night by Max Board, 321 Simcoe St. The bonfire was not out of hand but, Chief William Sorrie explains, permission must be obtained from the fire department before a bonfire is started. The phone number is 5713.

The total cost has been $1,650,000. Additions or new schools have been added in every section of the city, with the bulk of the construction going on in the area south of Lansdowne St. The new schools are Kenner Collegiate on Monaghan Rd., Cameron St. School and Armour Heights on McFarlane St. Additions have been made at Queen Mary, Grove, Prince of Wales, Parkhill and Confederation.

Not 3 Months But 10 Days Enough For Now

Disappointed but still somewhat happy, Norman Woods, 47, of Toronto was whisked off to county jail this morning where he will spend the next 10 days.

Woods was happy he received the jail sentence but disappointed because it wasn't long enough. He had asked Magistrate R. I. Moore for "three or four months" on the hill after pleading guilty to a vagrancy charge.

"Things haven't been going so good," he explained, contending a lengthy sentence would help "straighten things up". The charge had been laid after Woods entered the police station Tuesday night and asked to be sent to jail.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, suggested Woods' sentence be set for five days while Magistrate Moore commented: "It's not very often one finds one so willing to go to jail.

"It's rather difficult", he continued, "to hand out a sentence of that length. However I'll give you 10 days on the hill and see what happens".

Week Of Hiccoughs

COBOURG (ENS)— Dick Heenan, well-known Cobourg man who has a farm near Grafton, is in hospital with a prolonged attack of hiccoughs. He started to hiccough a week ago and relief has only been for short periods of time. He was taken to hospital last week where the attack was stopped and he returned home but on Sunday they started up again and he was returned to hospital. Every measure known to be effective has been tried but so far the results have not been permanent.

Credit Girl, 10 With Saving Children's Lives

A 10-year-old Immaculate Conception school girl is credited with saving a group of schoolchildren from being hit by a speeding car at the Hunter and Mark St. intersection late Tuesday afternoon.

The quick-thinking Grade VI pupil was Mary McCarthy of 180 Dufferin St. Mary was doing school safety patrol duty when she saw a westbound car heading for the intersection at too fast a speed to stop.

She didn't panic. She remembered her school safety patrol training. Sizing up the situation, she dropped her sign to her side thus preventing any more children from entering the hazardous crossing. By doing so she probably saved a number of them from serious injury or worse.

The car skidded and zig-zagged past the school children. A full report of the incident was made by Patrol Captain John Thompson to Constable Don Mackay, director of Peterborough's School Safety Patrol.

A charge will likely be laid against the driver.

"Mary did a fine job," said Constable Mackay. "She probably saved several lives by remembering her training in an emergency and doing her duty."

Polio Strikes 5 In Emily Twp.

LINDSAY (ENS)—Five cases of polio have been reported in Emily township, reports Dr. G. M. Earle of Omemee, MOH for the township.

One man, a Downeyville farmer, has died, two severe cases are listed, and the remaining two are considered mild. One of the cases is in the village of Omemee.

Seven schools in the northern part of the township have been closed for two weeks, says the MOH. Fowl suppers, special church services and other functions have been cancelled during the past week.

Hens Grow Up So Do Eggs Prices Shrink

Bacon and eggs are going to cost a little less, through the courtesy of the hens.

Egg prices to farmers today made their third successive drop in a week. Grade A large eggs are worth 60 cents a dozen, mediums 45c and pullets 41c. A week ago, prices for the same grade and sizes were 65c, 58c and 43c.

The decline is a seasonal thing, although some observers of the agricultural scene feel egg prices have been too high lately. Retail price of a dozen grade A large has been as high as 83c this week.

Reason for the decline is an increase in the number of hens laying. What were pullets in the spring are now hens, and their eggs have grown along with them.

After a brief lag, retail prices should reflect this drop in the farmer's selling price.

Grade A medium eggs show the greatest decrease—from 58c a dozen a week ago to 45c a dozen today. Pullet eggs are down only two cents, from 43c to 41c.

More Canadians Working Full-Time Now

OTTAWA (CP)—More Canadians were at full-time work in mid-September than at any other time in Canada's history.

The government's monthly report on employment today showed an estimated 4,896,000 employed more than 35 hours a week. This topped the June record by 8,000.

The report said the annual seasonal decline in employment set in immediately after the peak was reached. By the end of September, employment had fallen off by more than 100,000.

The report added:

"By Oct. 1, however, it was apparent that labor demand had reached its peak and had begun its normal seasonal decline. On the other hand, labor supply declined during September as many students and other short-time seasonal workers withdrew from the labor force."

The number of persons without jobs and looking for work was lower on Sept. 19, 84,000, against 92,000 a month earlier.

The report said all regions except the Atlantic area shared in the September improvement over the August employment total.

"Best Public School In City" Armour Heights Opened

Armour Heights School—described as the best public school building in Peterborough—was officially opened on Tuesday night in a short ceremony with some 300 members of the public, as well as trustees and board of education officials, attending. There are eight regular classrooms and a kindergarten in the $240,000 school, accommodating 330 pupils from Ashburnham.

Armour Heights is the second public school in Ashburnham. Members of the board of education's accommodation committee began looking for a suitable site five years ago, realizing that the large housing developments there would make another school necessary.

Building of the school was financed by the city issuing debentures for $250,000. As these sold below par the actual receipts were $246,569. The firm of Charles Huffman Ltd. got the general contract, being the lowest of five firms bidding on the job. To date the expenditure on the building, furnishings and equipment has been $234,640, including $3,200 for sodding, paving and grading.

NOT COMPLETE

The yard and playground have not yet been completed but board members are hopeful that the city will enclose the draining through the property so that the area can be levelled for a playing field.

"We believe that Mr. Huffman and his workmen have given us the best public school in Peterborough to date," said G. Wilson Craw, chairman of accommodation.

Mr. Craw said that the school was named after the Rev. Samuel Armour, the first Church of England clergyman in Peterborough. He came here in 1826, was the first rector of St. John's Church and was the first headmaster of the government school.

The plain log building—serving the double purpose of church and school—was at McDonnel and College Sts., now part of Central School playground. Mr. Armour remained interested in education, acting as chairman of the Common School Commissioners of Cavan township. He died in Cavan in 1853.

NEW FEATURES

The new school, built on McFarlane St., incorporates several of the most modern features. Traditional lathe and plaster interior finish has been done away with; there is radiant heating (and solar heating on the sunny side of the building); and it is the first school in Ontario, perhaps Canada, to have vinyl tile on the floor. (This tile is plastic strengthened with asbestos fibres and doesn't require waxing and polishing).

Mr. Huffman also pointed out that all the desks and chairs in the school were made by the board's own maintenance staff, resulting in "a considerable saving to the taxpayer."

In the short program in the school's kindergarten, Principal W. L. McNeil welcomed the visitors, commended the board of education on the building that has been erected, and asked for the co-operation of parents so that the children would have the best possible education. He thanked the parents for their consideration during the hectic days of getting settled when the school opened after Labor Day,

Stanley Adamson, chairman of the board, presided during the opening program.

New Phone Line To Ease Pressure At City Hall

You think your friend's telephone is busy all the time? You should try calling city hall. Chances are all you'll hear in return is the intermittent buzz of the busy signal.

It's not as bad as it was. In June two direct lines into city hall were added to the original five, but City Council has decided to have another installed.

In spite of the fact that this summer there were seven direct lines into city hall, people still complained of getting busy signals when they telephoned during August. So City Clerk E. A. Outram had the telephone company make a check.

From August 31 through to September 4, there were 17 busy signals recorded. Another check was carried out from September 8 to 11, and in these four days there were 94 busy periods when there were insufficient lines to take care of all calls.

At first it was thought the greater number of busy periods might be due to the opening up of school health services by the department of health. So a follow-up check was ordered from September 21 to 25. There were 41 periods with insufficient service recorded, and on one day, September 23, there were 25 busy periods.

The city clerk came to the conclusion that the situation was a permanent one, so he discussed it with telephone company officials. They gave their opinion that the present lines into city hall were operating at peak capacity, and any spurt of telephone activity would overload them.

Accordingly City Council has decided to have one additional line installed. The cost of $20 a month will be distributed among all departments benefitting from the improved service.

Mob Driven Off From American Office

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—A mob tried to storm the American information office here today but was driven off by soldiers of the Arab Legion. Windows and signs were smashed and a car belonging to the U. S. embassy was wrecked.

The attack came after demonstrators angered by recent clashes with Israel had marched on Premier Fawzi El Mulki's office and demanded that an Arab replace the British commander of Jordan's Arab Legion.

The legion, considered the most efficient fighting force in the Middle East, is commanded by Brig. John Baggot Glubb, the colorful Briton who organized and trained it. Although British-financed, it is Jordan's army and many of its officers are Jordanians.

Don't Salute

Citizens who wonder what military organization has moved into town should be advised that the boys in khaki are Department of Lands and Forests men. Attending a two-day meeting here all are dressed in neat battle dress uniforms and soft field caps. Those in civilian dress are the very top brass from Queen's Park.

Crossing Street Boy Hit By Truck, Hurt

Four-year-old Patrick Deck of 482 Reid St. at noon today was knocked down by a truck at Reid and Murray Sts. He has a five-stitch cut over the right eye, scrapes over the left eye, and a large bump on his head.

The boy was darting across the road, from behind a parked car, when he ran into the path of a pickup truck driven by James Gosselin, 25, of 30 Ware St. He was knocked down and Gosselin picked him up and took him to the Peterborough Clinic on Charlotte St.

Five stitches were required to close the cut over the right eye. Then he was taken home.

The accident occurred opposite 315 Murray St., about 50 yards east of the Murray St.-Reid St. intersection. Constable Bob Muldon investigated.

The injured boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Deck.

Stolen Truck Recovered 12 Hours Later

Only 12 hours after a truck was reported stolen on Charlotte St., city police left for Scarboro this morning where two men are being held by police there.

Identified as Donald McCabe, 23, of 4 Russell St. W., Lindsay, and John Hogan, 23, of 80½ Queen St., Lindsay, they will be charged with stealing the vehicle.

The truck belongs to W. B. McChesne of 183 Lock St. At approximately 8:20 Tuesday night, McChesney reported the vehicle had been stolen, and set the time of the theft at between seven and 7:45.

At the time it had been parked on Charlotte St., near the new Woolworth building.

Later police were informed by Scarboro officers the truck had been located and the two men were being held.

City's Fire Loss $2,115 In Sept.

Estimated fire loss in the city during September was $2,115. Of this $855 was to buildings and $1,260 was to contents. Fire Chief W. D. Sorrie stated in his monthly report to City Council.

The fire department responded to 14 alarms during the month, 39 by telephone, four from boxes and one sprinkler alarm.

They used 350 feet of 2½-inch hose, 450 feet of 1½-inch hose, 1,600 feet of ¾-inch hose, 19 booster tanks, 18 hand pumps, 299 feet of ladders, 336 square feet of tarpaulin, two gas masks, two inhalators and boat and motor twice. They travelled a distance of 180.8 miles.

Drills and lectures were carried out during the month at the central station and one practice was held by the substation volunteers.

There were 294 inspections during the month, three by Chief Sorrie and 291 by inspectors, including nine re-inspections.

Brig. Geoffrey Walsh To Speak At Dinner

Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, CB, will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the United Services Institute in the officers' mess at Peterborough armouries Thursday, October 29, at 7 p.m.

This is a first meeting of the Institute since the summer vacation, and its executive are hoping to for a large attendance of members. Brigadier Walsh is director-general of military training in Canada. His name was recently mentioned in connection with the 27th Infantry Brigade at Hannover, Germany, and it is likely that he will have something interesting to say to the Institute about those Canadians in their service experience in the occupation of West Germany.

Land For Cottages Becoming Scarce, Population Grows

The increase of Ontario's population during the past few years, and the desire of more and more citizens to avail themselves of the natural resources and recreation areas, is a foremost problem with the Department of Lands and Forests. This is the keynote of the current regional meeting being held today and Thursday in Peterborough. The meeting of 25 or more officials of the department from Ottawa to Toronto is a prelude to what they can all expect at the large annual meeting in Queen's Park in early January: development of existing and new recreational areas, and juvenile education.

Under chairmanship of regional forester W. B. Greenwood of Peterborough one of today's first subjects on the long agenda was recreational planning.

The Kawarthas, a long-established area parcelled out to individual landowners, is a sample of the pressing need of more places for the general public.

There are very few of them in this district and, until a department policy established a few years ago of reserving two Crown lots in every ten for access to public water areas, there would be no place for citizens to enjoy without trespassing on private land.

COMMERCIAL USE

Some district forestry heads thought that the department should make a firm stand on large waterfront alotments which were set aside for commercial purposes and not used as such. In many cases they said that it was a case of individuals using this land-grabbing scheme to acquire as much private property as possible without the intention of fulfilling plans that were put up to the department in the first place.

Chief of the division of lands and recreational areas W. D. Cramm of Toronto pointed out that there were existing bylaws to take care of such cases and that the department could withhold land patents if the original plans of property owners were not complied with.

"The whole situation must be tightened up," said Mr. Cramm, "for we have reached the point in Ontario that there is not enough recreational land to cater to the increasing population of the province."

The problem confronting the department, and they admit that it is a serious one, will be how proposed and existing areas are to be developed. After the department does the initial development, who carries on from there. The department? municipalities? What sort of local commissions should be set up and who should sit on them? They hope to find some of their answers following the outcome of the general meeting this coming January.

HUNTING CAMPS

The use of abandoned lumber camps by private hunting clubs was another phase of discussion. After a few district foresters had pointed out the difficulties of tenantry that stemmed from the use of old camps, it was suggested by some of the executives present that it was a matter for district level decisions. And as a matter of hunting safety, no more camps should be allowed in these cut-over areas than the area can now support.

Chief of operations and personnel P. O. Rhynas headed a discussion on salaries and classifications. Departmental travelling exhibits, junior educational methods, public relations and the use of standardized signs were other subjects that were discussed during the morning session of the meeting. An hour was also taken to discuss accounts and accounting practices.

Under the broad heading of forest protection at the afternoon meeting, suggested amendments to legislation, aerial operations, communications, personnel training, fire prevention and county forests were discussed.

The subject of reforestation was headed by division chief G. H. Bayley who talked of land purchases and nursery stock shipments.

At today's session from the immediate region were district foresters A. B. Wheatley of Lindsay and A. L. Leman of Tweed; biologist Charles Weir, Gordon Buie and zone foresters John Bell (Peterborough - Northumberland) and M. D. Kirk (Durham-Victoria-Haliburton) and district men from Napanee, Perth, Rockland, Kemptville and Orono.

Following discussion groups on Thursday on timber management and fish and wildlife a dinner at night will bring the regional meeting to a close.

Sunday Tilt Criticized Loop Executive Quits

HALIFAX (CP)—The entire executive of the Nova Scotia Junior Football League, headed by a Roman Catholic priest, has resigned following criticism of Sunday games by a Protestant group.

Rev. Daniel Rourke, president, and other executive members said they resigned rather than stir up a religious controversy.

Criticism of Sunday games came from the Halifax presbytery of the United Church of Canada.

Cmdr. A. Pratt, new vice-president, said entertainment for service personnel is "a major problem. . . . It is not a commercial enterprise . . . and with over 1,000 men to care for on Sunday it is an outlet."

Modern Navy Becoming Reality Now

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy said today its long-range plan to provide a modern fighting force is starting to become a reality this year.

In a statement marking Navy Week it said two notable additions to the active fleet have been the Algonquin, converted from a "V" class destroyer to an anti-submarine destroyer escort, and the modernized frigate Prestonian. The two ships were stripped of their superstructures, rebuilt and rearmed to meet the threat of the modern submarine.

Both warships are geared to the atomic age and can go into battle without a man appearing on the upper decks. The captain directs operations from an enclosed bridge. Two other frigates, modernized along the same lines, will be in service before the year ends.

PLANS MATURING

The navy said plans for a 100-ship fleet have begun to reach fruition. Besides the new Canadian-designed destroyer escorts—five launched, nine more on order—and the aircraft carrier Bonaventure being built in Ireland, other major items in the shipbuilding program include 20 wood-and-aluminum minesweepers, 12 of which have been launched, the Arctic patrol ship Labrador, which will be ready for duty next year, and eight seaward defence patrol craft, now being built.

Sugar Beet Yield

RAYMOND, Alta. (CP)—Estimated production of this district's sugar beet fields this year is 11 tons an acre. The value of the crop, produced by 1,600 growers on 34,700 acres of land, is estimated at about $6,000,000.

RCAF Band Displays Talent In Novelties, Serious Music

By HAROLD THEOBALD

In a program rather replete with musical novelties, the Central Band of the RCAF, Ottawa, conducted by Flying Officer Carl Friberg, entertained a large audience in Brock Ballroom Tuesday night.

Variety was the spice of this concert in which the band itself, after a vocal introduction, opened conventionally with the "Ballet Egyptian" by A. Luigini. It returned here and there to the melodic line, and meanwhile digressed into several novel features and modern rhythms and emphasis on dissonance. The performance was clever in its studied departures which were evidently aimed at pleasing present day taste of concert crowd majorities.

Only the aces of the air do stunt flying in the RCAF. That kind of performance demands virtuosity, and likewise with the Friberg band in applying its abilities to novelties. Too much stunting leaves a sense of fidget and frazzle, at least for those who are soon satisfied with the modern concepts.

VOCAL CHORUS

Fifteen of the young musicians comprised a vocal chorus that began the concert with a snappy salute to the audience, leading into "The Squadron Song." They were heard later in "Captains of the Clouds," the march song from the film of that title in which the Central Band extended its reputation and acclaim beyond Canada. The chorus was accompanied in its numbers by the remaining instruments, and sang with impressive effect their closing hymn of the evening, "The Airman's Prayer."

The Egyptian Ballet disclosed at the outset the band's clarity and depth of tone, and also instrumental proficiency as reflected in some of the reed and French horn combinations written for color and atmosphere of the East.

The clarinet soloist in "Capricious Aloysius" Sgt. Bertrand, played with a sensitive command of his instrument, and was followed by the agile tympanist Sgt. Neils Lund in one of the novelties entitled "Worried Drummer." He gathered, as near to him as he could arrange them, apparently the entire complement of the percussion section, and went to work on them.

Incidentally Sgt. Lund is just as serious with his "tubs" as any of the other soloists, an attitude which naturally could be taken for granted. He has been a student of the tympanist of the New York Philharmonic orchestra who has been teaching only four pupils in Canada. Sgt. Lund was one of them, obtaining his musical degree in the last year.

DRUMMER

Obviously F. O. Friburg included this "Drummer" number as a special attraction or feature stunt. And, Sgt. Lund got around fast among his own tympani, the bass drum and cymbals, side drum, tambourine, castanets, triangle, wood block, sleigh bells and whip. Possibly there are other gadgets but that appeared to be the entire range of percussion. In spots, he was busy with both hands in different directions, and brought out probably a snow scene effect with whip in one hand, drum stick in the other, and the sleigh bells in his mouth.

The component groups of the instruments made much of the melody of "Loch Lomond," a delightful item, and the six trombones of the 52 pieces in this band were smoothly assertive brass, and rather comic.

Sgt. Les Fox, who presided at the bass drum, presented another novelty, a sketch of the outlines of a fairy tale about the king and three sisters, one of them very beautiful, the castle and other props of that kind of narrative. Exaggeration both in the recital by Sgt. Fox and the band's parodied response was thoroughly amusing.

On the other hand, the Central RCAF band has such a comprehensive library and repertory that it seemed as if the conductor wrote his program to furnish more of that kind of entertainment as appeal to present day audiences, omitting some of the splendid things which one would like to hear from a talented band that plays here too infrequently.

ORIGINAL SUITE

A special number was "The Capital City Suite," composed by Sgt. Ken Campbell, who plays a bass clarinet, in a series of impression of Ottawa. One of its three or four parts suggested "confusion square", the War Memorial plaza at Sparks and Elgin Streets at 5 p.m.

Sgt. Campbell made a lot of his opportunity to splash dissonance in that crowded and noisy scene in the Capital, but he also wrote interestingly in the different moods of the other sections of his suite.

There was one selection which the band also presented admirably. It was "The Canadian" composed by Col. James Merritt of the Salvation Army, sparkling with melodic ideas some of them suggestive of familiar Canadian tunes. It was entirely pleasing, and as might be expected offered few lines for the reeds.

The band was introduced by Frank Harvie, president of the Peterborough Wing of the RCAF Association, sponsors of the concert, to whom the large audience should be grateful.

Queen Losing Secretary, Served 33 Years

LONDON (CP)—Sir Alan Lascalles, probably the only man who ever received a knighthood in a train, is to retire as the Queen's private secretary after 33 years of service with the Royal Family.

Sir Alan, 66, is to be succeeded at the end of the year by Sir Michael Adeaner it was announced from Buckingham Palace.

Sir Alan, known to friends as Tommy, first joined the palace secretariat in 1920. From 1931 to 1935 he was private secretary to the Earl of Bessborough, then Governor-General of Canada, and helped in preparations for the Ottawa Trade Conference of 1932.

He accompanied King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on the Royal tour of Canada in 1939 and it was then that the accolade of knighthood was dispensed in unusual circumstances. Sir Alan was knighted by the late King on a train speeding to Washington from Niagara Falls, Ont.

The retiring secretary has long been one of the principal men behind the scenes of Buckingham Palace. Now serving his fourth sovereign, he acts as one of the chief links between the Crown and the government of the day.

Sir Michael Adeane is 43 and has been assistant private secretary since 1952. He is a grandson of Lord Stamfordham, who was private secretary to Queen Victoria and King George V.

It was decided to accept the government grant of $3.00 to be used for educational purposes. Mrs. Fred Faux and Mrs. Aubrey Wood are delegates to the annual central area convention in Toronto in November. A message of thanks was given for a basket of fruit.

It was decided to hold a bingo party Oct. 30 to aid in the purchase of new linoleum for the hall. The fortnightly card parties will be resumed for the coming season.

Miss Jessie Davidson, a delegate to the ACWW convention in Toronto, gave a splendid report.

Lunch was served by the committee in charge.

More Witnesses Called At St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police officials today called witnesses ranging "from a police clerk on up" in the third day of their closed-door investigation of possible irregularities in police handling of the Greenlease kidnap-slaying.

Police Chief Jeremiah O'Connel, heading the panel of police officials holding the inquiry into the arrest of the kidnappers here and the recovery of half of the $600,000 ransom, indicated, however, that the key witness may again postpone his appearance.

O'Connell said the panel today would hear about five more witnesses, but he did not know whether Lieut. Louis Shoulders would be included. It was Shoulders, acting on a tip from taxi driver John Hager, who arrested Carl Austin Hall and Mrs. Bonnie Brown Heady, the confessed kidnap-killers of six-year-old Bobby Greenlease, and recovered about $293,000 of the ransom.

Hager was questioned for six hours by the panel Tuesday.

SHOULDERS UPSET

O'Connell said he talked to Shoulders Tuesday and found him "still emotionally upset." Shoulders' physician said the officer suffered a nervous condition after overworking himself on the case.

O'Connell also said the inquiry might move to Kansas City to question Mrs. Sandra June O'Day, "if the FBI will let us talk to her." Mrs. O'Day, held as a material witness, has admitted staying with Hall the night before his arrest Oct. 6.

The inquiry was ordered by the board of police commissioners Sunday after published reports that FBI agents were investigating possible discrepancies in the police reports in their search for the missing $300,000 ransom.

HAGER QUESTIONED

Following the lengthy questioning of Hager, O'Connell refused to say whether the taxi driver's testimony differed from his earlier statements to police and reporters.

Hager told reporters before testifying, however, that he had been "hounded so much by this thing that my wife has become a nervous wreck."

"All this because I decided to tip off Lieut. Shoulders. It's gotten so I wish I had never called the police. And you can bet your bottom dollar I won't call them again on anything."

New Choir Sings At Anniversary

WESTWOOD (ENS). — The harvest home thanksgiving service was observed on Sunday evening in St. Michael's Anglican Church. There was a large attendance and the church was decorated with flowers and vegetables, fruit and nuts.

The Rev. A. J. Patstone, of St. George's Anglican Church, Hastings, conducted the service. Mr. Patstone spoke from the text, Romans 8, verse 22: "For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now."

A newly-organized choir of young people led in the singing and sang two special numbers. The members of the choir are: Anne Wood, Wayne Pacey, Valerie Stanley-Jones, Jeannette Reed, Fred Pulfer, Bobby Middlebrook, Bronwyn Stanley-Jones, and Malcolm Pacey.

Special Envoy Leaves For Conference In Korea

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special envoy Arthur Dean leaves for Korea today to determine when, where and on what conditions the Far Eastern Communist powers are willing to negotiate a Korean peace settlement.

State Secretary Dulles, having directed this "practical step" to sound out the Red Chinese and North Koreans, called on Moscow, meanwhile, for "revealing" evidence on what Rssia intends to do concretely about a settlement there.

At a press conference Tuesday and in a New York speech Tuesday night, Dulles made it clear he is thinking only of dealing with the Reds on specific issues and that he intends to allow them no opportunity to create what he called "the illusion of agreement."

He did not tie this directly to Prime Minister Churchill's reaffirmed interest in exploratory talks that would include President Eisenhower and Premier Malenkov but it seemed evident he thought little of the Churchill project.

PLAN TALKS

Dean, with a staff of eight advisers and assistants, will talk with United States military and diplomatic leaders in Tokyo Friday and with President Syngman Rhee and U.S. officials in Seoul Saturday. He will go to Panmunjom to meet with Red Chinese and North Korean representatives Monday.

In preparation for the mission, Dean met Tuesday with representatives of the 15 other United Nations members which fought in the Korean war. He will be representing them in his talks.

The Reds have served notice they will again insist on inclusion of neutral powers. State department officials said Dean can listen to what they have to say but cannot negotiate on this issue.

Dulles discussed in take-it-or-leave-it terms a proposal for negotiations on Germany with Foreign Minister Molotov. Foreign Secretary Eden, Foreign Minister Bidault and Dulles agreed on the offer in London last Saturday.

PREVIOUS PROPOSAL

The Western powers had previously proposed that Russia negotiate on German unification. The Western officials figured the "evasive" replies which Moscow made reflected Kremlin fear of a weak Communist position in Germany and possibly other factors, such as preoccupation with internal problems and a desire to frustrate the West whenever possible.

Prior to the London meeting of the Western Big Three, the U.S. had argued that Russia's latest response probably was conclusive evidence that the Reds would not meet on Germany now. The Russians had ignored a bid for Molotov to sit down with the three foreign ministers at Lugano, Switzerland, Oct. 15.

Britain and France, however, are reported to feel that further effort should be made. Hence the Western powers now have proposed that Molotov meet with them at Lugano Nov. 9.

Iroquois Band Against Getting Voting Rights

CORNWALL (CP)—The Ontario legislature's committee on Indian affairs was told Tuesday by the St. Regis band of Iroquois Indians that it was unanimously against provincial voting rights being extended to them. The band also rejected extension of liquor privileges.

Chief Dave Benedict said his band is not yet ready to vote. He said that when "we are ready, we will ask you."

The band lives on Cornwall island reserve and, unlike many tribes, has made slow educational progress. It is considered that it may well be close to 50 years before the general level of development equals that of the Tyendinaga band or the Six Nations reserve.

Last Gold Mine Closes In North Quebec

NORANDA, Que. (CP)—The last copper and gold mine operating in this northwestern Quebec area was closed down early today when some 400 workers of the Waite Amulet mine went on strike.

The workers struck at midnight after last-minute negotiations on the issue of union dues checkoff broke down. They voted last week to strike, with 88 per cent of the men favoring a walkout.

The work stoppage raised to more than 3,000 the number of men on strike in this area. The other mines shut down are Noranda, which employs 1,600 miners alone, Quemont and Normetal. The smaller mines are subsidiaries of Noranda.

RESIST CHECKOFF FIRMLY

T. E. Little, Waite Amulet mine manager, said after a negotiating meeting Monday that the company was prepared to discuss all points outstanding in the dispute, including higher wages, if the union withdrew its demand on the checkoff.

However, Pat Burke, area supervisor for the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL), said that the company has not offered to discuss anything except a wage increase and that only if the checkoff were dropped.

The union has insisted on the report of its nominee on an arbitration board as the basis of negotiations. The report favored a 22-cent-an-hour wage increase, a 44-hour week, six statutory holidays, shift premiums, a pension and welfare plan and union security involving the checkoff.

DOROTHY DIX

Slow-Paying Tightwad Of Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: I married Stuart six years ago—when I was 16 and he was 17. We now have two little girls, whom we adore, but here is my problem: Stuart waits until the last minute to pay a bill, and he is so distressed at parting with a penny that I had to go to work for food and clothing money. I pay a nursery school to care for the children.

My husband won't pay the rent until the landlord threatens to take the case to court. The same goes for all utility bills. He earns a good salary, but what he does with the money I don't know. There's hope for a drunkard or philanderer, but what does one do with a man of this type? SYLVIA

HOARDER OF CASH

Answer: You sum up a miser very completely by placing him in so hopeless a position. They are almost impossible to reform. Your method of solving the problem, which follows that adopted by most women with your trouble, is, as it happens, the worst one. The minute a parsimonious husband realizes that his wife will go to work to buy the groceries, he'll sit more firmly on his hoarded pennies and refuse to part with one of them. You might enlist the help of one or more of the utility companies, who are disgusted themselves with the futile efforts to make your mate pay his bills. Deprived of one of these utilities for a time may make him realize how far he has tried their patience.

And here's another solution which I know has worked—at least temporarily. When dunning letters begin to roll in, you refuse to put another cent on the table until the bill is paid. If necessary, take yourself and the children out to meals, but don't feed Stuart.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: For several years Ted was more or less my steady, until I met Jim on vacation this year, I realized that I had more fun on dates with Jim than I ever had with Ted, and began falling in love with him. I told him about Ted—and the next day he left me without even saying goodbye. I haven't heard from him since. I don't know whether he was jealous, or thought I was leading him on. I would very much like to see him again.

DOLLY M.

ANSWER: It seems to me that Jim was genuinely attracted to you, but didn't want to barge in on another fellow's territory. There may have been some reason, too, why he felt he shouldn't pursue the acquaintance. Perhaps he had a girl friend home to whom he owed loyalty. There's no reason why you shouldn't try to find out something from him. Give him a call or write him an invitation to a gathering at your home. If the overture is rejected, all you can do is call it another summer romance that curdled.

DEAR MISS DIX: In June when I left school I parted from a boy I like a lot. There's no chance of our paths crossing—except by accident. He lives in another part of town and I thought of passing his house to see if I could see him, although it's out of my way. I also know some of his friends. OLGA

ANSWER: Don't be so obvious in your pursuit of the boy as to go miles out of your way to pass his house. Rather, get the help of a mutual friend in your quest. Mention more or less casually that you'd love to know how X is doing and would like to see him again. Someone is bound to pick up the gambit and offer to arrange a double date.

National representative of the CWL to the Children's Film Library committee of Canada, Mrs. George V. Davis of Toronto said that efforts are being made to arouse public interest in CFL films for Saturday matinees rather than "crime and love pictures."

A secular materialistic society lacks moral weapons to fight communism because its philosophy is too similar to that of its opponent, Dr. Doris Boyle, head of the social science division of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., told the convention.

"Some of the results of our unhealthy moral conditions are evident in the problems of Canada," she said and cited housing shortages, labor-management tensions, increasing family break-ups, rising delinquency and race hatreds.

Council of Women's History Shows Many Civic Benefits Outgrowth Of Organization

As October has been set aside as "founder's month" for the Councils of Women throughout Canada, Peterborough Local council of Women has paused to review its history over the past 40 years— since 22 societies agreed to federate and formed a council here on May 15, 1913.

Justifiable pride may be felt by the women who have had a part in forming the resolutions and suggestions that have been put forth by the Council in those years. Always their motives have been for the betterment and the furtherance of civic life.

Two projects of undeniable merit have been undertaken in 1953— schooling for mentally retarded children, and, housing for older people. The first is already a reality; the second is nearing a climax.

Groundwork investigations on both of these matters has been quite thorough. To be so it has required that present president Mrs. A. W. Nelson and the active members assisting her gave considerable amount of their personal time and effort.

Back in 1918 Well Babies' Clinics were discussed by the Local Council of Women but it was not until 1922 that they were developed with financial donations to the council. By 1931, 1,200 babies were being cared for at the clinics. In 1933 the City Council found it necessary to cut the grant given and Local Council held a tag day so that they might be continued.

Supervised playgrounds were started through the Council, also in 1918. All the money on hand, $150 for equipment and $125 for salaries was given over to this project and later a sale of rags and papers netted $145 which was given. In 1920 the Board of Education took over the playgrounds.

It was suggested in September 1919, to the City Council by the Local Council of Women, that a Community Centre Building be erected as a memorial to the war heros. The war memorial in Confederation Par! was later erected instead. Local Council supported the Memorial Community Centre fund-raising project in 1946 with a donation of $50 from the treasury, as well as personal donations from members and are still hoping for realizaiton of their idea.

In the very first year of its existence, Council was instrumental in securing medical inspection in the Public Schools. The value of mothers' meetings in schools was discussed and several groups were formed in the city which brought about the Home and School movement here in 1918. The need of policewomen was another matter taken up by the first president, Mrs. J. C. Davidson and several years later the first Police Matron here was appointed.

A Public Library reading room was opened in 1921 due to the efforts of Local Council who were to be responsible for volunteer attendants. During the second World War they arranged for the reading room to be open on Sundays for the convenience of servicemen. Also, the child and famly welfare committee collected books for the children's library at the Dixon House.

After many requests had been made by Local Council, a Juvenile and Family Court was set up in Peterborough in 1945. A request to City Council to appoint Local Council members to committees dealing with public affairs resulted in several appointments, and members served on the City Planning Committee and acted as hostesses for the display of the proposed city plan produced by Dr. Faludi.

Though Local Council of Women is not an money-making organization it does have almost annual social functions which produce revenue for the operating expenses, and from the balance donations have been made at times of need throughout the years. One scholarship is now given to the head girl at PCVS.

Numerous recommendations and suggestions have been made to the City Council and the Provincial Government and the Dominion Government through affiliation with Provincial National Councils of Women. In many cases there has been no visible effect as yet; others have come after 20 years or more.

It was in 1919 that the Local Council sent a request to the Government to continue the manufacture and sale of margarine. In 1924 a resolution went to the city asking to have the date of municipal elections changed from January 1st, and in this year also the Council supported a resolution asking that Armistice Day be celebrated as Memorial Day and that it be separate from Thanksgiving Day. In 1931 the Council endorsed the Mothers' Allowance and the Old Age Pension. In 1946 the women asked that a Vocational Guidance Counsellor be installed at the Collegiate.

The Local Council sent forward a resolution in June, 1951, expressing their opinion that the license of persons convicted of drunken driving should be suspended permanently when lives had been taken. Though this has not been accepted fully, a change in the laws affecting this situation has been made.

An investigation of fire hazards in the city, after a fire in which four men lost their lives, was conducted by the women and recommendations were sent to City Hall.

A large amount of volunteer work in civic interest has been done by the Council, including the setting up of the TB Christmas Seal Campaing committee in 1945 through which funds were obtained to have 2,000 students and food handlers given free chest X-rays. A tag day for the Civic Arena building fund was sponsored and four flags in the arena were presented by the Local Council.

Archives of the Council up to 1945 were compiled by Mrs. Edmund Wand and have been printed in book form. Mrs. W. H. Morton is now the archivist and she compiled a short history for the 40th anniversary public celebration held on October 15th, which has been the basis for this account.

GROVE SCHOOL

Date for the general meetings was changed to the first Tuesday of each month by the Grove Home and School Association at the meeting Tuesday evening. President Mrs. Stan Whitfield presided and made announcements. An executive meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. Stewart, 445 Cameron St. on October 27 and the regional conference will be October 31.

Principal Mr. J. Barnard thanked the Association for the banquet given on September 25 in honor of teachers of the graduation class and Miss M. Jory, retired school nurse. The attendance prize was won by Mr. Barnard's class.

Guest speaker was Mrs. J. R. Henderson, branch librarian whose talk was on "Adventures in Reading." She stressed importance of parents allowing children to pick out their own books at the library. Also that parents can cultivate a child's interest in books between the ages of two and five by reading to them frequently.

Piano and vocal numbers were contributed by June Moore and Joan Bennett and they and the speaker were afterward thanked by Mrs. G. Stewart.

Refreshments were served at the close by Mrs. J. Patterson, Mrs. G. Carson, Mrs. G. Rutherford, Mrs. L. Cromie and Mrs. Harold Porter.

MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK (ENS) — George A. Young, high school principal was the speaker at the Home and School Association meeting held in the school on Monday evening. He told of the work of the newly re-organized students' council which had run off the field day successfully, as well as treating the newly initiated Grade 9 pupils to a party. They were now busy with plans for commencement to be held Dec. 4 and 5. One thing he liked about a smaller school, he said, was the personal contact with pupils and with their parents. This made it possible he felt to solve any problems a pupil might have.

Any academic subject in the high school curriculum, which any pupil wished to have, was being taught in the school. Typing was given in Grade 9 and 10, and in the future a pupil would be able to have his business training as well as his junior matriculation by the end of Grade 12.

Mrs. M. E. Hobbs introduced the speaker and Mr. H. V. Kent and Rev. W. H. Heustin expressed the associations thanks

Mrs. B. B. Dawson, the president, introduced the new secretary, Mrs. James McMaster, and the new publications convener, Mrs. J. H. Raper. She also told that Mrs. W. W. Kennedy had consented to act as convener for short talks at each meeting on world understanding.

Alex Gilbert, the retiring president, was presented with a past president's pin. The presentation was made by the associations first president, Mrs. B. E. Ingham.

The Rev. Margaret Butler reviewed two leaflets on sale at the publications table. One was called "A memo to parents on emotional needs of children", and some needs listed were the sense of belonging, the sense of achievement, freedom from fears, the feeling of being loved, and the sense of sharing. The other "A philosophy of discipline" advocated a middle road in discipline with the purpose of having the child achieve self-discipline as he grew older.

Mrs. A. Gilbert read an appeal for the fund to establish a building as national headquarters. It was asked that each member should contribute 25 cents to the "quarters for headquarters" fund.

The meeting divided into two groups, one of parents of high school students, and the other for those with children attending public school for the discussion of problems. The high school group was led by Mr. Young and the public school one by Mrs. L. J. Stuart and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy.

MR. AND MRS. QUENTIN L. LEWIS, the bride formerly Miss Marion Rose Forsyth of Havelock, were pictured as they signed the register of Havelock United Church on Saturday. They will live in Cleveland, Ohio.

Bringing Up Baby

Hint: Collected by Mrs Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Crying is a perfectly natural part of a young baby's life. Hungry? Pin sticking the little one? Need a diaper change? Got a bit of colic? All these "reasons why" can be and are handled from day to day. But new things to cry about come into any baby's world. Even a normal, healthy infant will cry for things he wants and at those he doesn't want. But with patience and perception, it's amazing how soon even brand new mothers learn to distinguish between legitimate crying and unnecessary tears.

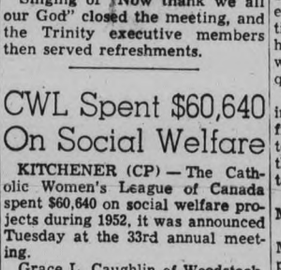
* * *

Patience pays too, when you launch baby on his first solid foods. (Remember textured food is quite different from easy-to-slide-down liquids.) A "trial run" at solids may well be easier with Gerber's ready-to-serve Cereals. For Gerber's have the nice-next-to-the-tongue texture . . . the bland, pleasing flavors infants respond to. Even more important, they're enriched with the vitamins and minerals growing bodies need. Five for mealtime interest: Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, and Wheat.

* * *

Cries from stinging eyes during shampoo time can often be eliminated if you rub a bit of vaseline over baby's eyebrows and nose. Wonderful how it stops suds from trickling into little eyes.

* * *



Bib tip! Large plastic bibs really cover baby, keep clothes cleaner. And once over with a damp cloth, food driblets disappear.

* * *

Send for this lovely Baby Spoon! Famous Wmthrop design in heavy silver plate! Regular value $1.25.

Yours for only 25 cents plus one box top from any of the five Gerber Baby Cereals—Mixed, Rice, Barley, Oatmeal, or Wheat. Address Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 17, Toronto 18, Canada.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Baked Rice And Tuna Stuffed Peppers

In some communities because of the frost, farmers gathered their green peppers early and sold them quickly at a rather low rate. "Rather low!" What am I talking about? One of my neighbors who has a farm 12 miles out of town telephoned me very late on Saturday night to ask how many peppers I could use. I said 12. He said, "What do you mean, bushels or baskets" ? I said, "Horrors, no —12 peppers!" He had 100 bushels to dispose of.

I raised my purchase to a 6-quart basket—cost 25 cents. So we had peppers raw, fried, baked, relished, sauced until they were coming out of our ears. Since I made up a new stuffed baked pepper recipe that we liked for its flavor and low cost I'm using it as the main dish in today's menu.

Vegetable Soup
Baked Rice and Tuna-stuffed Peppers
Autumn Succotash
Broccoli with Mock Hollandaise
Pear Salad Delight with Cheese Wafers
Or
Wolf River or Gravenstein Apple Pie with Cheese

This is a vegetable-packed meal appropriate in this season, when there are so many colorful vegetables available.

BAKED RICE-AND-TUNA-STUFFED PEPPERS

Six medium peppers (I used 3 sweet red and 3 sweet green), 1 7-oz. tin tuna (broken tuna flakes will do and cost about 24 cents), 2 cups cooked rice, 2 tablespoons grated onion, ½ cup grated cheese ¾ cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and cayenne, 1/3 cup water. Cook the rice by adding 1½ cups cold water and 2/3 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon of butter to 2/3 cup raw rice in large saucepan. Cover and turn on heat as low as possible. Cook until all water is absorbed—about 30 minutes at very low heat. To this rice add the drained and broken up tuna, the grated onion, cheese, milk, salt, pepper and cayenne. Gently mix. Slice top from washed peppers and trim out seeds and ribs. Cut these in halves lengthwise if they do not have flat bases. If they will stand up leave them whole. Fill with the rice-tuna mix. Place on baking dish, pour water around. Bake at 350 degrees Fahr. about 50 minutes or 1 hour or until peppers are tender. Baking time may be shortened by parboiling peppers 10 minutes.

AUTUMN SUCCOTASH

Cook 1 pint shelled out fresh limas, 15 minutes, then add the corn cut from 5 medium cobs, after draining off all of the cooking liquid. Now add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper and ½ or 2/3 cup sweet cream or top milk and simmer 10 minutes or bake until some of the moisture has dried off. This is wonderful.

PEAR SALAD DELIGHT

(This is a specialty of a well-known restaurant in the suburbs of Chicago.)

For each serving, split a ripe Bartlett pear, and core and pare it, and marinate in French dressing ½ hour. Drain. Place on bed of lettuce and garnish with three rosettes or balls of cream cheese at centre of each half pear. Allow a small space between each rosette and in this space place whole blanched almond, and around the base of the pears put blanched almonds. Garnish further with tiny slivers of maraschino cherry. Lovely with wafer-thin cheese crackers. If you wish you can substitute white cream cheese with Roquefort to which you have added a little cream to make it workable.

In October when I taste an apple pie made from Gravensteins or Wolf River apples, I think it is the best apple pie ever. For a 9-inch pie you will need 6 or 7 cups sliced, pared, cored apples, ¾ to 1 cup sugar, ½ to 1 teaspoon nutmeg or cinnamon and about 1½ tablespoons butter for dotting over. I baked my Wolf River apple pie last night for 50 minutes at 425 degrees Fahr. I'm not one to boast (much!) but the pie is gone and there were only three of us.
